

How to Call the NEWS-STAR or MORNING WORLD

All departments	4800
City Editor	292
Editorial Room	3263
Business Office	3268
Mail Room	4728
City Editor	292

Monroe Morning World

And NEWS-STAR

VOL. III—NO. 189

Complete Exclusive Morning Associated Press Service

MONROE, LA., SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

Full Coverage on Markets, Sports, Social and Local

PRICE FIVE CENTS

THE WEATHER

LOUISIANA: Partly cloudy and somewhat unsettled Sunday; Monday generally fair.

ARKANSAS: Partly cloudy to cloudy; thundershowers in east portion, colder Sunday; Monday partly cloudy, warmer.

MONROE: Maximum, 84; minimum, 64. (River stages on Page 14.)

OUACHITA PARISH YOUNG FOLK WILL MEET AT MONROE

Inter-Church Youth Council Sponsors Conference, Opening Saturday

ALL CHURCHES INVITED TO SEND IN DELEGATIONS

Registrations Will Open at First Methodist Church Annex Here

The Ouachita parish conference for young people, sponsored by the Inter-Church Youth Council of the Twin Cities, will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1. It was announced by T. H. Tyson, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association.

Registration will open Saturday morning, April 30, at the First Methodist church, it was announced, and invitations have been sent to all churches in the parish having Sunday schools, asking them to send delegations to the conference. A large number of young people are expected, and young people of all churches in the Twin Cities are urged to attend.

The opening session Saturday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, will be presided over by Miss Frances Griffin, president of the Inter-Church Youth Council, and the period will be devoted to songs and worship, led by Joe Meek.

Will Name Committees

At 9:45 o'clock, committees will be appointed, after which Miss Griffin will deliver the welcome address. The response will be made by Miss Gertrude Gilliland of Chapel Hill. Following the addresses, a special number, "What's This?" by "Uncle Van" Carter, of New Orleans, will be presented at 10 o'clock, to be followed by a period of special music.

Mrs. V. S. Garnett will introduce the theme of the meeting, "Sharing World Highways with Jesus," and discuss the different treatments of it.

After the introduction of the theme, the conference will be divided into five discussion groups, led by Miss Thomas F. Jett, Miss Lucyle Godwin, Miss Frances Butler, Rev. Henry A. Ricker, and T. Harris Tyson, each group taking a different aspect of the theme for its discussion period.

Miss Katie McGee will preside at the session Saturday afternoon, at which Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, will deliver an address, "Highway Filling Stations."

Discussion groups will meet from 2:15 to 3:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, which will be followed by a recreation period under the direction of Miss Godwin.

Following the afternoon recreation period, a discussion of "The Highway of Christian Unity" will be held by Mr. Carter, in round-table fashion.

At 6:20 o'clock Saturday night, a banquet will be held in the First Methodist church annex, with Miss Minnie Riggs in charge. An address, "Traveling the World Highways Together," will be given by H. B. Durkee, of New Orleans, during the course of the banquet.

Sunday morning, all delegates will attend Sunday school in the church of their choice, it was announced, and at 11 o'clock the conference, in a group, will worship at the First Christian church, hearing a sermon by Rev. Thomas F. Jett, pastor.

The closing session will begin at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Mr. Tyson presiding.

MISS GROSGJEAN ASSUMES DUTIES OF GOVERNORSHIP

BATON ROUGE, April 23 (AP)—The state of Louisiana was run by a woman today for the first time in its history and never knew the difference.

Miss Alice Lee Grosjean, secretary of state, took complete charge of government affairs as acting governor for the duration of Alvin O. King's absence at the governor's conference in Richmond, Va., and handled all business that came to her desk as if she had been used to it all her life.

TWO ALIENISTS DECLARE MASSIE SANE AT HIS TRIAL

HONOLULU, April 23 (AP)—Two alienists testified for the prosecution today that Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie was sane when he allegedly fired the shot that killed Joseph Kahahawai.

Massie had testified his mind went blank when he stood before Kahahawai with a pistol and heard the native confess attacking his wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie.

ARKANSAN TO FACE BANK ROBBERY TRIAL IN KANSAS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., April 23 (AP)—Gerald Mayes of Springdale, Ark., was arrested today and returned to Kansas to face charges in connection with a bank robbery at Yates Center, Kan., and the subsequent killing of the bank cashier.

Mayes was arrested at the home of his father-in-law.

TODAY

Going Through Ohio David S. Ingalls' Story Our Lovely D. A. R. Financial Fairy Tale

By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd.)

THIS IS WRITTEN on the Pennsylvania "Broadway Limited," going through Ohio, past Crestline, Mansfield, Wooster, and on through Salem to Pittsburgh, where they say it is a bad sign when you can see the sun at noon, or the moon at night.

Many years ago at Wooster, this writer thought he would become a great railroad man. But his handwriting led much to be desired, and he was invited to start handling things in a freight office. A cousin, Walter Mullins, had tried newspaper work on the Philadelphia Press, and liked it, so this individual went into Charles A. Dana's New York Sun office and glad of it, and grateful to Wooster, having done in newspaper offices better than he could probably have done in freight offices.

YOU OBSERVE big barns in Ohio, standing beside small farm houses, with elaborate lightning rods on the barns, none on some of the adjoining houses.

In the fields there is comfort for Wall Street brokers whose exchange seats have fallen low. Sheep, well-shorn, are accompanied by little white spots, each a new-born lamb.

As the lambs come back to Ohio

(Continued on Second Page)

NEW COTTON LOAN BEING CONSIDERED

Farm Board Would Advance Additional Money on Product Held for Sale

The federal farm board has under serious consideration a proposal to make additional loans to all cotton growers whose product is now being held by the American Cotton Cooperative association for future sale, it was learned yesterday through dispatches from The World's Washington correspondent. The amount of the additional loan has been tentatively set at a flat $2.50 a bale, the message said.

The proposal was urged upon the board, it was added, by Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, who has been in the forefront of the board's work in the matter under consideration for several weeks and looks somewhat favorably upon it. A decision, however, he was told, will not be made for several days because additional data on the amount of cotton held and the ownership must be obtained.

Authorized loans on the cotton by the association have already been made, but in view of the present emergency several members of the board, at least, feel that an additional loan would be warranted. Such a move, Connally pointed out, would not only place several millions of dollars additional cash in circulation in southern and southwestern states, but will give much needed financial aid to individual cotton growers throughout this area.

AVIATRIX EXONERATED IN DEATH BY SHOOTING OF WRITER OF MEMOIRS

MIAMI, Fla., April 23 (AP)—Exonerated having knowledge or part in the death of Haden Clarke, who was working in writing her memoirs led to a mutual love and betrothal, Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian flyer, was released from prison late today.

Some time later her flying partner for five years, Capt. W. N. Lancaster, was released to federal authorities by State Attorney H. Vernon Hawthorne. No comment was made as to the reason for his release.

Captain Lancaster, who occupied a room with Clarke at Mrs. Keith-Miller's house the night the writer was shot in the temple, was arrested with her and both were held incommunicado in the county jail since Thursday. No charges were preferred but both were questioned rigidly.

MONROE WATCH IT GROW

Simoon K. Heninger yesterday sold to the McGuire Cattle Co., Inc., lot bounded by Oak, Wood and Grand streets, for consideration of $2300 cash and assumption of certain obligations. Deed recorded with clerk of court.

Citizens Realty company yesterday sold to Thomas F. Larche lot 7 of block 11 of Edgewood addition and resubdivision of blocks 7, 8, 9, or Registrar's addition to West Monroe. Consideration was $25. Deed recorded with clerk of court.

BELIEVED TULLOS MAN COULD HAVE BEEN FIRE VICTIM

E. R. Brewer Is Supposed to Have Worked Upon Levees in Monroe

UNIDENTIFIED BODY WAS FOUND AT BURNED MILL

Son Fears His Father, Still Missing, Might Have Died in Blaze

Fear that the charred corpse of an unidentified man which was found Wednesday evening, March 23, in the smoldering ruins of the warehouse formerly used by the Monroe Cotton Oil company, on South Eighth street, might be his father, was expressed by E. R. Brewer, of Tullos, in a letter to Monroe police yesterday.

Mr. Brewer wrote Superintendent of Police L. V. Tarver that his father, E. R. Brewer, of Tullos, had come to Monroe early in February to work on the levees here at the height of the flood battle.

He had written one letter home from here, the son wrote, and nothing more was heard from him. The family did not start an immediate search, believing he was still in Monroe.

After reading newspaper accounts of the finding of a corpse in the ruins of the cotton warehouse, the son wrote, efforts were made to locate the father, but were unsuccessful. It is now feared, he wrote, that the man found in the ruins might have been his father.

The son asked if the body was ever identified, and requested that police lend their assistance in finding the father.

He described his father as about five feet, eight inches in height, weight about 180 pounds, and partly bald, with a fringe of iron grey hair.

Superintendent Tarver said officers had been unable to locate the father in Monroe. There was no means of telling whether or not the body discovered in the ruins of the warehouse was that of Mr. Brewer, he pointed out, as it was charred beyond recognition.

The building burned on the night of March 13, supposedly set fire by cleared stubs thrown among the cotton bales by former levee workers and hoboes who occupied the warehouse as a sleeping quarters. The body was not discovered until 10 days later.

JACKSON DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE ATTACKS STATE BODY'S ACTION

Joins Other Parish Groups in Assailing Selection of Convention Delegates

The democratic executive committee of Jackson parish yesterday joined seven other north Louisiana parishes in condemning the recent action of the state central committee for selecting the national delegation in committee, but the executive committee of Webster parish, according to Associated Press reports, voted down resolutions to condemn.

The committees of the protesting parishes resolved that the delegates should have been selected in state convention to make the procedure conform to democratic principles.

Jackson parish said that the "proper manner of giving the people a voice" is selection of delegates in regular state convention.

Before defeat of the resolution in Webster parish, meeting at Minden, Judge J. F. McGinnis, non-committee member, urged tabling of the resolution as he said it might appear a "back slap" at the state administration.

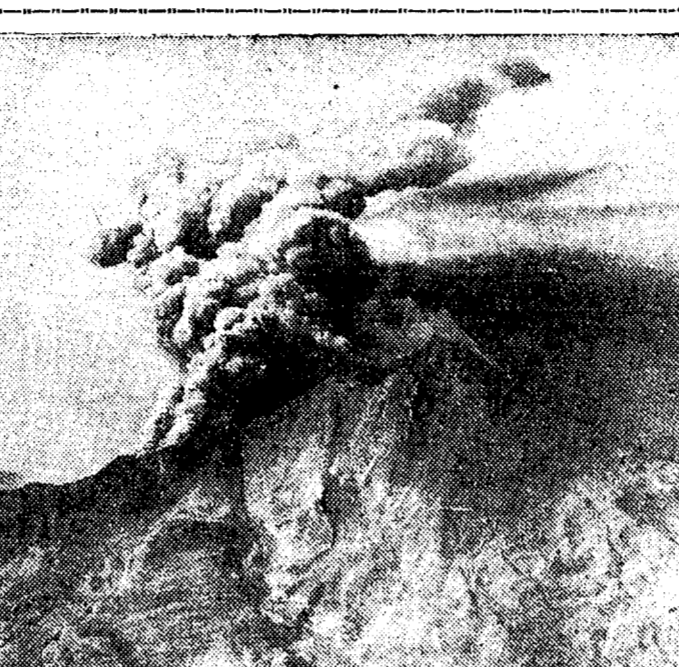

STEERING WHEEL--AND NOT A KNIFE--CAUSED WOUND

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 23 (AP)—A corner's jury this afternoon found that Charles M. Tulley, 45-year-old DeSoto county, Miss., farmer, whose truck was wrecked here today, died from a crushed chest.

A wound over his heart, at first reported to have possibly been caused by a knife, was an injury caused by the broken steering wheel, the jury found.

Several persons who saw the accident said Tulley was driving the truck rapidly and that in swerving to avoid hitting another car he apparently lost control.

Volcanoes Spout in Andes

Roaring into terrifying activity, towering volcanoes of the South American Andes presented this fearsome aspect, recently, as they poured forth clouds of ashes and gaseous fumes upon town and countryside for a distance of 400 miles. This Morning World NEA Service picture strikingly shows the thundering volcano Las Vegas in full eruption. Thousands in Chile and Argentina fled from their homes as the volcanoes filled the skies with aerial explosions.

DODSON REPORTS BETTER BUSINESS

Brighter Outlook Appears in Other Spots of North-east Louisiana

Along with a brighter business outlook in Ouachita parish, including the Twin Cities, improvements are being noted in other places.

A number of industries in Concordia and Catahoula parishes have opened as floodwaters receded, and more are expected to open in three parishes within the next few weeks. The Morning World correspondent in that section reported last night.

From Dodson, it is reported that business firms are noting an improvement in trade conditions, with indications that conditions will continue to grow better.

Within the past two weeks, 1200 pounds of poultry have been shipped from that town, it was reported, receiving cash at the highest market quotations. Farmers in the vicinity of Dodson reported the "slump" in prices had failed to discourage them, and that they were expecting much better markets for farm products this coming season.

They feel, it was reported, that the day for eight-cent eggs, with other farm products ranging accordingly, is about past.

In West Monroe, it was announced yesterday that the Union Oil mill would resume operations May 1, to run on a 24-hour schedule, seven days a week.

The mill was closed Monday of last week, to permit repairing of machinery. With the resumption of activities, 125 men will return to work, it was announced.

HOUSTON BUTLER, 69, DIES LATE SATURDAY NIGHT; LONG ILLNESS

Houston Butler, 69, died at his home at 600 South avenue, at 11 o'clock last night, following an illness lasting since December.

Beside his widow, he is survived by three daughters; Mrs. Kathryn Talley, of Monroe; Mrs. Marvin Squires, of Longview, Texas; and Mrs. Cora Shirley, of Monroe; three sons, William, S. H., and Milton, all of Monroe; and three brothers; Smith Butler, of Columbia; Dr. T. S. Butler, of Trout; and Jesse Butler, of River-

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Mr. Butler had seemed to have recovered from his illness last winter, until two weeks ago, when he suddenly grew worse, his death following from a crushed chest.

Mr. Butler had seemed to have recovered from his illness last winter, until two weeks ago, when he suddenly grew worse, his death following from a crushed chest.

ROOSEVELT WILL CLASH WITH SMITH IN TUESDAY VOTE

Primaries in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Awaited With Interest

MAY DECIDE IF GOVERNOR MIGHT STILL BE CHECKED

This Week Will Witness Selection of 118 Democratic Delegates

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Forces behind Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith will clash next Tuesday in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania in primary battles that may decide whether the dominant Roosevelt candidacy can be checked sufficiently to block his nomination.

The week just over saw a small number of delegates selected by both parties. Of the 490 democratic delegates chosen, to date, Roosevelt now has 255 pledged and claimed for him, with Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois far back in second place with 58.

President Hoover increased his total slightly and now has all but 22 of the 445 republican delegates selected so far either pledged or claimed by his managers. Former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, his only avowed opponent, disputes 67 of his claimed total of 248.

Contrasted with this week's slim pickings, next week will see the selection of 118 democratic delegates and 254 republican. More than half of the delegates to attend both conventions then will have been named.

The Smith-Roosevelt contests in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania will be watched, not so much from the standpoint of placing a certain number of delegates in either column, but for their effect on sentiment in nearby states.

Smith supporters expect to gain most of Massachusetts' 36 delegates, but they will be his first since he became a candidate. Roosevelt's supporters probably will be satisfied with 5 or 6 in the Bay state. The Smith forces claim a clean sweep.

In Pennsylvania, the situation is reversed in the eyes of politicians and neutral observers. They give Roosevelt the edge with anywhere from 50 to 70 of the 76 delegates with the remainder uncommitted or for Smith.

GOVERNORS WILL MEET AT VIRGINIAN CAPITAL TO DISCUSS TAXATION

Bicentennial of Washington's Birth Will Be Observed By Conference Also

RICHMOND, Va., April 23 (AP)—Governors of more than half of the United States were gathering here this weekend to study seven paramount problems confronting state governments, and to celebrate the bicentennial anniversary of George Washington's birth.

It is for the discussion of these subjects and not national politics that the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the governors' conference is being held, Governor Pollard, host, emphasized today.

"We are doing all we can to keep the national political controversies out of the conference," he said, expressing the hope that none will be injected into the formal sessions which begin Monday.

The seven problems to be discussed are: taxation in the farm states, motor safety, extension of state operation of highways and roads, state banking systems and their retention or abolition, duty of the state in relieving unemployment, control of municipal expenditures, and reduction of public expenditures.

TWO MEN HELD IN PASSING OF COUNTERFEIT MONEY

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 23 (AP)—Two men were taken into custody here today by W. W. Covington, sheriff, and held for questioning by federal agents in connection with the passing of a bogus $20 bill in Lafayette, La., yesterday. One of the men, Joe Yallow, admitted passing the bill but said he did not know it was counterfeit. His companion, Daniel Boone, also was detained for questioning. Sheriff Covington and a deputy took the men into custody on information from Lafayette police.

OKALOOSA HIGH SCHOOL'S GRADUATION PLANS MADE

Baccalaureate services at Okaloosa high school will be given Sunday, May 8, at 3 p. m., at Oak Grove Baptist church, according to announcements made yesterday.

Graduation exercises of the school will be held May 26 at 8 p. m. Fred G. Thatcher, West Monroe, is to give the graduation address and diplomas will be presented by L. A. Coon, Okaloosa school board member, to Madeline Hobbs, Ellis Phillips, Lela Reynolds, Clara Holloway and Leola Griggs.

GOVERNOR BALZAR IS NOT OVERLY ANXIOUS TO HEAR HUEY P. LONG

"Who is the governor of Louisiana now?" was one of the queries made by Governor Fred B. Balzar, of Nevada, yesterday afternoon during a brief pause at Selman field, en route by plane to Richmond, Va., for a governors conference there this week.

He was informed that Alvin O. King is acting governor but that Miss Alice Grosjean will act as executive during King's absence at Richmond.

Then he was asked if he had ever met Senator Huey P. Long, replying in the negative.

"You may have a chance to hear him at Richmond," he was told.

"I hope not," was the reply, rather vigorously given.

Wherein, Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, his traveling companion, appeared to concur.

COTTON PLANTING MAKES PROGRESS

Canning Operations This Year Will Be Enlarged, It Is Reported

Fair progress in cotton planting has been made during the past week of warm weather, in this area, according to J. R. McIntosh, who made a trip through much of northeast Louisiana Friday and Saturday.

One feature which was impressed upon him, Mr. McIntosh said, was the fact that apparently only about half the usual amount of fertilizer is being used this year by planters.

Few of the growers, he said, have funds for hiring labor or for dusting operations but nearly all planters appear to be devoting more ground to gardens, melons and other crops than formerly.

In most sections, he added, he was informed that cotton operations greatly increased last year, had proved so beneficial during the winter months that even greater activities along those lines may be expected this season.

Cantaloupes and other crops already planted and growing were reported as doing remarkably well, when the cold snap of March and its subsequent effects are considered.

WINNFIELD, April 23 (Special)—

Winn, Jackson and Ouachita parish farmers and business men who have aligned themselves with the tomato growing proposition being sponsored in these parishes by officials of the Trenton & Gulf railway might be encouraged, J. E. Thomas, agricultural agent for the railroad, said, by a report of the east Texas tomato growing industry for 1931 as carried in a recent issue of a Houston paper.

It was pointed out that the 1931 green wrap deal in Texas amounted to $2,000,000 with $4,500,000 representing labor for handling. A total of $334 cars were shipped exclusively of truck and local deals. In east Texas, Cherokee and Smith counties lead the field with 1800 cars for Cherokee and 1650 for Smith county. Thousands of persons found employment during the shipping season, which usually starts around June 1st and runs well into July, and at wages which were reminiscent of war days.

Expert pickers, the article pointed out, made from $3.00 to $8.00, and in some instances $10.00 per day, working on the piece basis of around four cents per bag of 30 pounds. In addition to the pickers, there are a number of other persons employed, such as bookkeepers, their assistants, weighers, loaders, graders and street buyers which gave the towns where packing and loading sheds were located the appearance of an all "boom" with a genuine carnival spirit prevailing.

Chief destination points for tomatoes for previous years were Missouri, Pennsylvania and Illinois, while recent years have added around 40 states to the list and many points in Canada. Also sharing in the benefits of the tomato proposition are the veneer mills, box factories and paper

(Continued on Sixth Page)

Jail Break

Local Officers Asked to Watch for Alexandria Fugitives

Local officers were asked last night to be on the watch for five prisoners who shot their way out of the Rapides parish jail at Alexandria yesterday, commandeered two automobiles and escaped, after wounding one man.

W. G. Penny, 30, the jailer, was attacked with an iron window weight according to the information, and Lutter, his 18-year-old son, was shot in the abdomen. The men who escaped were Ivy Morgan, Dan Davis, Ernest Gray, Earl Joyner and Jimmy Dear.

They took two saved-off shot guns from the jail, commandeered automobiles belonging to O. C. Butler and J. J. Fowler and drove south towards Marksville. The jail break occurred shortly after 3 p. m. At the Baptist hospital, physicians said a young Penny's condition was undetermined.

NO DECISION MADE IN BUCKHORN BEND LEVEE PROPOSALS

Residents Ask That Levee Be Built on Present Roadway, a Road on Top

SOME ARE NOT SATISFIED WITH LINES AS SURVEYED

Citizens of Community Will Hold Another Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon

No specific decisions were made at a meeting of the parish police jury and residents at the Buckhorn Bend community yesterday afternoon, called by J. M. Beaudry, president of the police jury, to discuss the matter of a roadway and levee protection in that vicinity.

Lynton Ehrhidge, chairman of the levee board, met with the police jury and residents, explaining to them the levee board's plans for levee protection in that area.

Residents of the community will meet at the home of Harry Fernandez, next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, it was announced, to consider the matter and make a representative report to Mr. Ehrhidge, before the board meets in Rayville Thursday morning, in an effort to reach a satisfactory arrangement.

The residents, it was developed at the meeting, are opposed to the present levee lines surveyed through their properties, claiming the lines could be drawn closer to the river bank with less damage to the property and without lessening the protection or strength of the proposed dikes.

They had asked, H. Fernandez, manager of the Monroe traffic bureau and property owner in the vicinity, said, that the levee be constructed along the present roadway, with the road constructed on top of the levee.

"Rather Have No Levee" "We are opposed to a levee where the survey has been made," he told the police jury and Mr. Ehrhidge, "because of the damage to property. I would rather have no levee at all in front of my place than what the present plans call for."

The present levee lines, he pointed out, have been surveyed on the opposite side of the roadway from the river bank, cutting through property owners' yards, necessitating changes when the levee is put through the property.

Mr. Ehrhidge pointed out that the levee board had no absolute control of the location of levee lines, but could only make recommendations. "I don't think whether the roadway is over the levee or not would change the case much," he said; "the engineers have complete authority on the location of the levee."

"We cannot work this matter out to the satisfaction of property holders," he said; "it is not my plan to try to force upon you anything you do not want. If the matter is closed this time, it is closed forever. I have tried twice before to arrange matters, and give protection to that section, and I will not make the effort again."

Advisees Request Be Made. He advised property holders to request engineers to draw the lines as close as possible to the river bank, but emphasizing the point that if litigation were necessary, the levee could not be built. The present plans, he said, involve the moving of one barn and one cabin, with possible losses of shrubbery, which he said, could well be borne for the protection afforded.

The levee might be moved 10 or 15 feet closer to the river, Mr. Ehrhidge thought, but he insisted that the

HENRY CLAY DESCENDANT IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23 (AP)—Mary Ann Clay, 85-year-old grand-niece of Henry Clay, was reported in a critical condition today at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lydia Lawson. The aged woman has been ill several weeks.

Miss Clay tells of sitting beside Abraham Lincoln in church and dancing with Stephen A. Douglas. She writes poetry and has committed to memory thousands of lines from the Bible.

She had been a school teacher in Missouri, a businesswoman in Illinois and had newspaper work in Chicago, New Orleans and St. Louis.

LAWYER FACES CHARGES OF ATTACK UPON HIS WIFE

JACKSON, Miss., April 23 (AP)—C. N. Floyd, 40, well known Flora, Miss., attorney, was released from the Hinds county jail late today under bond of $5000. He was being held on a charge of "assault to kill and murder" his wife, Mrs. Nannie Bishop Floyd, 38, at the family home at Flora early Wednesday night.

Floyd's children told police that their father was not about the house when the attack occurred. Floyd was arrested in Jackson the following day after his critically injured wife was taken to a hospital. He is now being held in the county jail on a charge of assault on his wife.

How to Call the NEWS-STAR or MORNING WORLD
By Telephone
All departments 4800
City Editor 392
After 5 p.m. ring:
Business Office 3253
Editorial Room 3258
Mail Room 4723
City Editor 392

Monroe Morning World

And NEWS-STAR

THE WEATHER
LOUISIANA: Partly cloudy and somewhat unsettled Sunday; Monday generally fair.
ARKANSAS: Partly cloudy to cloudy, with showers in east portion; cooler Sunday; Monday partly cloudy, warmer.
MONROE: Maximum, 84; minimum, 64. (River stages on Page 14.)

VOL. III—NO. 189

Complete Exclusive Morning
Associated Press Service.

MONROE, LA., SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

Full Coverage on Markets,
Sports, Social and Local.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

OUACHITA PARISH YOUNG FOLK WILL MEET AT MONROE

Inter-Church Youth Council
Sponsors Conference,
Opening Saturday

ALL CHURCHES INVITED TO SEND IN DELEGATIONS

Registrations Will Open at First Methodist Church
Annex Here

The Ouachita parish conference for young people, sponsored by the Inter-Church Youth Council of the Twin Cities, will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1, it was announced by T. H. Tyson, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association.

Registration will open Saturday morning, April 30, at the First Methodist church, it was announced, and invitations have been sent to all churches in the parish having Sunday schools, asking them to send delegations to the conference. A large number of young people are expected, and young people of all churches in the Twin Cities are urged to attend. The opening session Saturday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, will be presided over by Miss Frances Griffin, president of the Inter-Church Youth Council, and the period will be devoted to songs and worship, led by Joe Meek.

Will Name Committees.

At 9:45 o'clock, committees will be appointed, after which Miss Griffin will deliver the welcome address. The response will be made by Miss Gertrude Gilliland, of Chapel Hill. Following the addresses, a special number, "What's This?" by "Uncle Van" Carter, of New Orleans, will be presented at 10 o'clock, to be followed by a period of special music. Mrs. V. S. Garrett will introduce the theme of the meeting, "Sharing World Highways with Jesus," and discuss the different treatments of it, at 10:25 o'clock.

After the introduction of the theme, the conference will be divided into five discussion groups, led by Mrs. Thomas F. Jett, Miss Lucyle Godwin, Miss Frances Butler, Rev. Henry A. Ricker, and T. Harris Tyson, each group taking a different aspect of the theme for its discussion period. Miss Katie McGee will preside at the session Saturday afternoon, at which Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, will deliver an address, "Highway Filling Stations." Discussion groups will meet from 2:15 to 3:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, which will be followed by a recreation period under the direction of Miss Godwin.

Following the afternoon recreation period, a discussion of "The Highway of Christian Unity" will be held by Mr. Carter, in round-table fashion.

Banquet Saturday.
At 6:30 o'clock Saturday night, a banquet will be held in the First Methodist church annex, with Miss Minnie Riggs in charge. An address, "Traveling the World Highways Together," will be given by H. B. Durkin, of New Orleans, during the course of the banquet.

Sunday morning, all delegates will attend Sunday school in the church of their choice, it was announced, and at 11 o'clock the conference, in a group, will worship at the First Christian church, hearing a sermon by Rev. Thomas F. Jett, pastor. The closing session will begin at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Mr. Tyson presiding.

MISS GROSJEAN ASSUMES DUTIES OF GOVERNORSHIP

BATON ROUGE, April 23 (P)—The state of Louisiana was run by a woman today for the first time in its history and never knew the difference.

Miss Alice Lee Grosjean, secretary of state, took complete charge of government affairs as acting governor for the duration of Alvin O. King's absence at the governors' conference in Richmond, Va., and handled all business that came to her desk as if she had been used to it all her life.

TWO ALIENISTS DECLARE MASSIE SANE AT HIS TRIAL

HONOLULU, April 23 (P)—Two alienists testified for the prosecution today that Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie was sane when he allegedly fired the shot that killed Joseph Kahahawai. Massie had testified his mind went blank when he stood before Kahahawai with a pistol and heard the native confess attacking his wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie.

ARKANSAN TO FACE BANK ROBBERY TRIAL IN KANSAS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., April 23 (P)—Gerald Mayes of Springfield, Ark., was arrested today and returned to Kansas to face charges in connection with a bank robbery at Yates Center, Kan., and the subsequent killing of the Elk county sheriff. Mayes was arrested at the home of his father-in-law.

TODAY

Going Through Ohio
David S. Ingalls' Story
Our Lovely D. A. R.
Financial Fairy Tale

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd.)

THIS IS WRITTEN on the Pennsylvania "Broadway Limited," going through Ohio, past Crestline, Mansfield, Wooster, and on through Salem to Pittsburgh, where they say it is a bad sign when you can see the sun at noon, or the moon at night.

Many years ago at Wooster, this writer thought he would become a great railroad man. But his handwriting left much to be desired, and he was invited to start handling things in a freight office. A cousin, Walter Mullins, had tried newspaper work on the Philadelphia Press, and liked it, so this individual went into Charles A. Dana's New York Sun office and glad of it, and grateful to Wooster, having done in newspaper offices better than he could probably have done in freight offices.

YOU OBSERVE big barns in Ohio, standing beside small farm houses, with elaborate lightning rods on the barns, none on some of the adjoining houses.

In the fields there is comfort for Wall Street brokers whose exchange seats have fallen low. Sheep, well-shorn, are accompanied by little white spots, each a new-born lamb.

As the lambs come back to Ohio

(Continued on Second Page)

NEW COTTON LOAN BEING CONSIDERED

Farm Board Would Advance
Additional Money on Product Held for Sale

The federal farm board has under serious consideration a proposal to make additional loans to all cotton growers whose product is now being held by the American Cotton Cooperative association for future sale, it was learned yesterday through dispatches from The World's Washington correspondent. The amount of the additional loan has been tentatively set at a flat $2.50 a bale, the message said.

The proposal was urged upon the board, it was added, by Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, who has been informed that the board has had the matter under consideration for several weeks and looks somewhat favorably upon it. A decision, however, he was told, will not be made for several days because additional data on the amount of cotton held and the ownership must be obtained.

Authorized loans on the cotton by the association have already been made, but in view of the present emergency several members of the board, at least, feel that an additional loan would be warranted. Such a move, Connally pointed out, would not only place several millions of dollars additional cash in circulation in the southern and southwestern states, but will give much needed financial aid to individual cotton growers throughout this area.

AVIATRIX EXONERATED IN DEATH BY SHOOTING OF WRITER OF MEMOIRS

MIAMI, Fla., April 23 (P)—Exonerated of having knowledge or part in the death of Haden Clarke, whose work in writing her memoirs led to a mutual love and betrothal, Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian flier, was released from prison late today.

Some time later her flying partner for five years, Capt. W. N. Lancaster, was released to federal authorities by State Attorney H. Vernon Hawthorne. No comment was made as to the reason for his release.

Captain Lancaster, who occupied a room with Clarke at Mrs. Keith-Miller's house the night the writer was shot in the temple, was arrested with her and both were held incommunicado in the county jail since Thursday. No charges were preferred but both were questioned rigidly.

MONROE WATCH IT GROW

Simeon K. Heninger yesterday sold to the McGuire Cattle Co., Inc., lot bounded by Oak, Wood and Grand streets, for consideration of $3200 cash and assumption of certain obligations. Deed recorded with clerk of court.

Citizens Realty company yesterday sold to Thomas F. Larche lot 7 of block 11 of Edgewood addition and resubdivision of blocks 7, 8, 9, or Register's addition to West Monroe. Consideration was $25. Deed recorded with clerk of court.

No building permits were issued yesterday, and no leases recorded.

BELIEVED TULLOS MAN COULD HAVE BEEN FIRE VICTIM

E. R. Brewer Is Supposed to Have Worked Upon
Levees in Monroe

UNIDENTIFIED BODY WAS FOUND AT BURNED MILL

Son Fears His Father, Still Missing, Might Have Died in Blaze

Fear that the charred corpse of an unidentified man which was found Wednesday evening, March 23, in the smoldering ruins of the warehouse formerly used by the Monroe Cotton Oil company, on South Eighth street, might be his father, was expressed by H. R. Brewer, of Tullos, in a letter to Monroe police yesterday.

Mr. Brewer wrote Superintendent of Police L. V. Tarver that his father, E. R. Brewer, of Tullos, had come to Monroe early in February to work on the levees here at the height of the flood battle.

He had written one letter home from here, the son wrote, and nothing more was heard from him. The family did not start an immediate search, believing he was still in Monroe.

After reading newspaper accounts of the finding of a corpse in the ruins of the cotton warehouse, the son wrote, efforts were made to locate the father, but were unsuccessful. It is now feared, he wrote, that the man found in the ruins might have been his father.

The son asked if the body was ever identified, and requested that police lend their assistance in finding the father.

He described his father as about five feet, eight inches in height, weight about 180 pounds, and partly bald, with a fringe of iron grey hair.

Superintendent Tarver said officers had been unable to locate the father in Monroe. There was no means of telling whether or not the body discovered in the ruins of the warehouse was that of Mr. Brewer, he pointed out, as it was charred beyond recognition.

The building burned on the night of March 13, supposedly set fire by cigar stubs thrown among the cotton bales by former levee workers and hoboes who occupied the warehouse as a sleeping quarters. The body was not discovered until 10 days later.

JACKSON DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE ATTACKS STATE BODY'S ACTION

Joins Other Parish Groups in Assailing
Selection of Convention
Delegates.

The democratic executive committee of Jackson parish yesterday joined seven other north Louisiana parishes in condemning the recent action of the state central committee for selecting the national delegation in committee, but the executive committee of Webster parish, according to Associated Press reports, voted down resolutions to condemn.

The committees of the protesting parishes resolved that the delegates should have been selected in state convention to make the procedure conform to democratic principles.

Jackson parish said that the "proper manner of giving the people a voice" is selection of delegates in regular state convention.

Before defeat of the resolution in the Webster parish meeting at Minden, Judge J. F. McGinnis, non-member of the committee, urging tabling of the resolution as he said it might appear a "back slap" at the state administration.

STEERING WHEEL--AND NOT A KNIFE--CAUSED WOUND

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 23 (P)—A coroner's jury this afternoon found that Charles M. Tulley, 43-year-old DeSoto county, Miss., farmer, whose truck was wrecked here today, died from a crushed chest.

A wound over his heart, at first reported to have possibly been caused by a knife, was an injury caused by the broken steering wheel, the jury found.

Several persons who saw the accident said Tulley was driving the truck rapidly and that in swerving to avoid hitting another car he apparently lost control.

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE FACES GREATER TROUBLE

JACKSON, Miss., April 23 (P)—Governmental reorganization, temporarily shunted aside when both house and senate recently turned thumbs down on a recess proposal, tonight reappeared in the legislative spotlight with action expected during the coming week.

Governor Sennett Conner indicated tonight he would again bring the reorganization issue before the legislature during the week in a special message. He declined to comment on the contents of the message.

Volcanoes Spout in Andes

Roaring into terrifying activity, towering volcanoes of the South American Andes presented this fearsome aspect, recently, as they poured forth clouds of ashes and gaseous fumes upon town and countryside for a distance of 400 miles. This Morning World NEA Service picture strikingly shows the thundering volcano Las Yeguas in full eruption. Thousands in Chile and Argentina fled from their homes as the volcanoes filled the skies with aerial explosions.

DODSON REPORTS BETTER BUSINESS

Brighter Outlook Appears in Other Spots of Northeast Louisiana

Along with a brighter business outlook in Ouachita parish, including the Twin Cities, improvements are being noted in other places.

A number of industries in Concordia and Catahoula parishes have opened as floodwaters receded, and more are expected to open in these parishes within the next few weeks. The Morning World correspondent in that section reported last night.

From Dodson, it is reported that business firms are noting an improvement in trade conditions, with indications that conditions will continue to grow better.

Within the past two weeks, 1200 pounds of poultry have been shipped from that town, it was reported, receiving cash at the highest market quotations. Farmers in the vicinity of Dodson reported the "slump" in prices had failed to discourage them, and that they were expecting much better markets for farm products this coming season.

They see, it was reported, that the day for eight-cent eggs, with other farm products ranging accordingly, is about past.

In West Monroe, it was announced yesterday that the Union Oil mill would resume operations May 1, to run on a 24-hour schedule, seven days a week.

The mill was closed Monday of last week, to permit repairing of machinery. With the resumption of activities, 125 men will return to work, it was announced.

HOUSTON BUTLER, 69, DIES LATE SATURDAY NIGHT; LONG ILLNESS

Houston Butler, 69, died at his home at 603 Stubbs avenue, at 11 o'clock last night, following an illness lasting since December.

Beside his widow, he is survived by three daughters; Mrs. Kathryn Talley, of Monroe; Mrs. Marvin Squires, of Longview, Texas; and Mrs. Cora Shipley, of Monroe; three sons, William, S. H., and Milton, all of Monroe; and three brothers; Smith Butler, of Columbia; Dr. T. S. Butler, of Trout; and Jesse Butler, of Riverton.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Mr. Butler had seemed to have recovered from his illness last winter, until two weeks ago, when he suddenly grew worse, his death following.

Huey Long Raps 'Plutocracy' In His Cleveland Address

CLEVELAND, April 23 (P)—United States Senator Huey Long of Louisiana today told the city club "we ought to quit whittling away at the tariff and prohibition and abolish hunger, the real enemy of mankind in this land of plenty."

The nation is facing evolution or revolution in the next 10 years, he declared. Present economic conditions can be rectified by placing purchasing power in the hands of 120,000,000 people, he said.

He asserted our present conditions are due to concentrated wealth and that "Carthage, Babylon, Greece and Rome are examples of abundance concentrated in a few hands of the utter degradation and destruction of a fine race of people."

He was applauded when he declared "you're no man if you wouldn't steal to keep your family from starving" and then he attacked a "bloated plutocracy" whose senses have been deadened "by the lethal fumes of prosperity."

"I'm against wage reduction, private or public," he continued. "If you do that, that masses could buy less than they can now. I'm for a shorter day, but no shorter pay."

The city club was initiated into the senator's famed dish of corn pone and pot likker. Afterwards, he was a guest at the ball game between Cleveland and Detroit.

ROOSEVELT WILL CLASH WITH SMITH IN TUESDAY VOTE

Primaries in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Awaited With Interest

MAY DECIDE IF GOVERNOR
MIGHT STILL BE CHECKED

This Week Will Witness Selection of 118 Democratic Delegates

WASHINGTON, April 23 (P)—Forces behind Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith will clash next Tuesday in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania in primary battles that may decide whether the dominant Rooseveltvelt candidacy can be checked sufficiently to block his nomination.

The week just over saw a small number of delegates selected by both parties. Of the 490 democratic delegates chosen, to date, Roosevelt now has 255 pledged and claimed for him, with Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois far back in second place with 58.

President Hoover increased his total slightly and now has all but 22 of the 445 republican delegates selected so far either pledged or claimed by his managers. Former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, his only avowed opponent, disputes 67 of his claimed "total" of 248.

Contrasted with this week's slim pickings, next week will see the selection of 118 democratic delegates and 264 republican. More than half of the delegates to attend both conventions then will have been named.

The Smith-Roosevelt contests in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania will be watched, not so much from the standpoint of placing a certain number of delegates in either column, but for their effect on sentiment in nearby states.

Smith supporters expect to gain most of Massachusetts' 36 delegates, but they will be his first since he became a candidate. Roosevelt's supporters probably will be satisfied with 5 or 6 in the Bay state. The Smith forces claim a clean sweep.

In Pennsylvania, the situation is reversed in the eyes of politicians and neutral observers. They give Roosevelt the edge with anywhere from 50 to 70 of the 76 delegates with the remainder uninstructed or for Smith.

GOVERNORS WILL MEET AT VIRGINIAN CAPITAL TO DISCUSS TAXATION

Bicentennial of Washington's Birth
Will Be Observed By Conference Also

RICHMOND, Va., April 23 (P)—Governors of more than half of the United States were gathering here this weekend to study seven paramount problems confronting state governments, and to celebrate the bicentennial anniversary of George Washington's birth.

It is for the discussion of these subjects and not national politics that the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the national governors' conference is being held, Governor Pollard, host, emphasized today.

"We are doing all we can to keep the national political controversies out of the conference," he said, expressing the hope that none will be injected into the formal sessions which begin Monday.

The seven problems to be discussed are taxation in the farm states, motor safety, extension of state operation of highways and roads, state banking systems and their retention or abolition, duty of the state in relieving unemployment, control of municipal expenditures, and reduction of public expenditures.

TWO MEN HELD IN PASSING OF COUNTERFEIT MONEY

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 23 (P)—Two men were taken into custody here today by W. W. Covington, sheriff, and held for questioning by federal agents in connection with the passing of a bogus $20 bill in Lafayette, La., yesterday. One of the men, Joe Vallow, admitted passing the bill but said he did not know it was counterfeit. His companion, Daniel Boone, also was detained for questioning. Sheriff Covington and a deputy took the men into custody on information from Lafayette police.

OKALOOSA HIGH SCHOOL'S GRADUATION PLANS MADE

Baccalaureate sermon at Okaloosa high school will be given Sunday, May 8, at 3 p.m., at Oak Grove Baptist church, according to announcements made yesterday.

Graduation exercises of the school will be held May 26 at 8 p.m. Fred G. Thatcher, West Monroe, is to give the graduation address and diplomas will be presented by L. A. Coon, Okaloosa school board member, to Madeline Hobbs, Ellis Phillips, Lilia Repond, Clara Holloway and Leola Griss.

GOVERNOR BALZAR IS NOT OVERLY ANXIOUS TO HEAR HUEY P. LONG

"Who is the governor of Louisiana now?" was one of the queries made by Governor Fred B. Balzar, of Nevada, yesterday afternoon during a brief pause at Selman field, en route by plane to Richmond, Va., for a governors' conference there this week.

He was informed that Alvin O. King is acting governor but that Miss Alice Grosjean will act as executive during King's absence at Richmond.

Then he was asked if he had ever met Senator Huey P. Long, replying in the negative.

"You may have a chance to hear him at Richmond," he was told.

"I hope not," was the reply, rather vigorously given.

Wherein, Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, his traveling companion, appeared to concur.

Residents of the community will meet at the home of Harry Fernandez, next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced, to consider the matter and make a representative report to Mr. Ethridge, before the board meets in Rayville Thursday morning, in an effort to reach a satisfactory arrangement.

COTTON PLANTING MAKES PROGRESS

Canning Operations This Year
Will Be Enlarged, It Is Reported

Fair progress in cotton planting has been made during the past week of warm weather, in this area, according to J. R. McIntosh, who made a trip through much of northeast Louisiana Friday and Saturday.

One feature which was impressed upon him, Mr. McIntosh said, was the fact that apparently only about half the usual amount of fertilizer is being used this year by planters.

Few of the growers he said, have funds for hiring labor or for dusting operations but nearly all planters appear to be devoting more ground to gardens, melons and other crops than formerly.

In most sections, he added, he was informed that canning operations, greatly increased last year, had proved so beneficial during the winter months that even greater activities along those lines may be expected this season.

Cantaloupes and other crops already planted and growing were reported as doing remarkably well, when the cold snap of March and its subsequent effects are considered.

WINNFIELD, April 23 (Special)—Winn, Jackson and Ouachita parish farmers and business men who have aligned themselves with the tomato growing proposition being sponsored in these parishes by officials of the Tremont & Gulf railway might be encouraged, J. E. Thomas, agricultural agent for the railroad, said, by a report of the east Texas tomato growing industry for 1931 as carried in a recent issue of a Houston paper.

It was pointed out that the 1931 green wrap deal in Texas amounted to $2,267,000.00 with $44,500.00 representing labor for handling. A total of 8334 cars were shipped exclusively of truck and local deals. In east Texas, Cherokee and Smith counties lead the field with 1800 cars for Cherokee and 1050 for Smith county. Thousands of persons found employment during the shipping season which usually starts around June 1st and runs well into July, and at wages which were reminiscent of war days.

Expert pickers, the article pointed out, made from $5.00 to $8.00, and in some instances $10.00 per day, working on the piece basis of around four cents per lug of 30 pounds. In addition to the packers, there are a number of other persons employed, such as bookkeepers, their assistants, weighers, loaders, graders and street buyers which gave the towns where packing and loading sheds were located the appearance of an oil "boom," with a genuine carnival spirit prevailing.

Chief destination points for tomatoes for previous years were Missouri, Pennsylvania and Illinois, while recent years have added around 40 states to the list and many points in Canada. Also sharing in the benefits of the tomato proposition are the veneer mills, box factories and paper

Advices Request Be Made.
He advised property holders to request engineers to draw the lines as close as possible to the river bank, but emphasized the point that if litigation were necessary, the levee could not be built. The present plans, he said, involve the moving of one barn and one cabin, with possible losses of shrubbery, which, he said, could well be borne for the protection afforded.

The levee might be moved 10 or 15 feet closer to the river, Mr. Ethridge thought, but he insisted that the

"We are opposed to a levee where the survey has been made," he told the police jury and Mr. Ethridge, "because of the damage to property. I would rather have no levee at all in front of my place than what the present plans call for."

The present levee lines, he pointed out, have been surveyed on the opposite side of the roadway from the river bank, cutting through property owners' yards, necessitating changes when the levee is put through the properties.

Mr. Ethridge pointed out that the levee board had no absolute control of the location of levee lines, but could only make recommendations. "I don't think whether the roadway is over the levee or not would change the case much," he said; "the engineers have complete authority on the location of the levee."

"If we cannot work this matter out to the satisfaction of property holders," he said, "it is not my plan to try to force upon you anything you do not want. If the matter is closed this time, it is closed forever. I have tried twice before to arrange matters, and give protection to that section, and I will not make the effort again."

He advised property holders to request engineers to draw the lines as close as possible to the river bank, but emphasized the point that if litigation were necessary, the levee could not be built. The present plans, he said, involve the moving of one barn and one cabin, with possible losses of shrubbery, which, he said, could well be borne for the protection afforded.

The levee might be moved 10 or 15 feet closer to the river, Mr. Ethridge thought, but he insisted that the

HENRY CLAY DESCENDANT IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23 (P)—Mary Ann Clay, 95-year-old granddaughter of Henry Clay, was reported in a critical condition today at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lydia Lawson. The aged woman has been ill several weeks.

Miss Clay tells of sitting beside Abraham Lincoln in church and dancing with Stephen A. Douglas. She writes poetry and has committed to memory thousands of lines from the Bible.

She had been a school teacher in Missouri, postmistress in Illinois and did newspaper work in Chicago, New Orleans and St. Louis.

LAWYER FACES CHARGES OF ATTACK UPON HIS WIFE

JACKSON, Miss., April 23 (P)—C. N. Floyd, 40, well known Flora, Miss., attorney, was released from the Hinds county jail late today under bond of $5000. He was being held on a charge of "assault to kill and murder" his wife, Mrs. Nannie Bishop Floyd, 38, at the home at Flora early Wednesday night.

Floyd's children told police that their father was not about the house when the attack occurred. Floyd was arrested in Jackson the following day after his critically injured wife issued a secret statement to officers regarding the attack.

NO DECISION MADE IN BUCKHORN BEND LEEVE PROPOSALS

Residents Ask That Levee Be Built on Present Roadway, a Road on Top

SOME ARE NOT SATISFIED WITH LINES AS SURVEYED

Citizens of Community Will Hold Another Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon

No specific decisions were made at a meeting of the parish police jury and residents of the Buckhorn Bend community yesterday afternoon, called by J. M. Beard, president of the police jury, to discuss the matter of a roadway and levee protection in that vicinity.

Lynton Ethridge, chairman of the levee board, met with the police jury and residents, explaining to them the levee board's plans for levee protection in that area.

Residents of the community will meet at the home of Harry Fernandez, next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced, to consider the matter and make a representative report to Mr. Ethridge, before the board meets in Rayville Thursday morning, in an effort to reach a satisfactory arrangement.

The residents, it was developed at the meeting, are opposed to the present levee lines surveyed through their properties, claiming the lines could be drawn closer to the river bank with less damage to the property and without lessening the protection or strength of the proposed dykes.

They had asked, H. Fernandez, manager of the Monroe traffic bureau and property owner in the vicinity, said, that the levee be constructed along the present roadway, with the road constructed on top of the levee.

"Rather Have No Levee."
"We are opposed to a levee where the survey has been made," he told the police jury and Mr. Ethridge, "because of the damage to property. I would rather have no levee at all in front of my place than what the present plans call for."

The present levee lines, he pointed out, have been surveyed on the opposite side of the roadway from the river bank, cutting through property owners' yards, necessitating changes when the levee is put through the properties.

Mr. Ethridge pointed out that the levee board had no absolute control of the location of levee lines, but could only make recommendations. "I don't think whether the roadway is over the levee or not would change the case much," he said; "the engineers have complete authority on the location of the levee."

"If we cannot work this matter out to the satisfaction of property holders," he said, "it is not my plan to try to force upon you anything you do not want. If the matter is closed this time, it is closed forever. I have tried twice before to arrange matters, and give protection to that section, and I will not make the effort again."

He advised property holders to request engineers to draw the lines as close as possible to the river bank, but emphasized the point that if litigation were necessary, the levee could not be built. The present plans, he said, involve the moving of one barn and one cabin, with possible losses of shrubbery, which, he said, could well be borne for the protection afforded.

The levee might be moved 10 or 15 feet closer to the river, Mr. Ethridge thought, but he insisted that the

"We are opposed to a levee where the survey has been made," he told the police jury and Mr. Ethridge, "because of the

MUSICAL PROGRAM IS SLATED FRIDAY

Louisiana College at Pineville Will Send Glee Clubs to Monroe

Under direction of Dr. Alfred Hall, head of the music department of Louisiana college, Pineville, the college glee club and orchestra will be presented in a program at the Ouachita parish high school auditorium next Friday night.

The program will consist of vocal and instrumental selections, including solos, and will present both classical and popular selections.

One of the feature numbers will be presented by the boys' quartet, composed of Dalton Faircloth, Clifton Bolen, Hoy Anders and Aubrey Bolen, all of Alexandria. The young men have been singing together for several years.

The popular music program will be presented by Billy Gandy and Herman Scallon. Gandy plays the saxophone and Scallon is a pianist.

The boys' and girls' choruses and the orchestra will present such numbers as "Melody of Love," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "Marchetta," and "The Swan."

Classical music of the program will include piano selections by Marion Almond and Amy Corley.

The entire personnel of the glee club and orchestra is composed of 77 young men and women. They will come here next Friday to conclude a tour of north Louisiana towns. The schedule is as follows: Monday—Mansfield; Tuesday—Shreveport; Wednesday—Minden; Thursday—Haynesville; Friday—Monroe.

In Monroe, the young people will be guests for the evening meal at local homes. Following presentation of their program, the young people will leave here for Pineville.

Appearance of the glee club and orchestra here is sponsored by the choir of the Monroe First Baptist church.

LEADS GLEE CLUB

Dr. Alfred Hall, head of the music department of Louisiana college, who will present the college glee club and orchestra in a program here next Friday night. Dr. Hall is a graduate of Trinity College, London, and a fellow of the Royal College of Organists.

Ordinarily, a camel does not suffer thirst until it has gone without water for about five days.

Eat Your SUNDAY DINNER at the HOTEL ALVIS Coffee Shop A Complete Meal 75c 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

NEGATIVE SIDE IS WINNER IN DEBATE

Judges Listen in on Louisiana Tech Students, Then Give Verdict

By unanimous vote of the three judges who "listened in" at their homes, the negative team was awarded the decision in a radio debate, broadcasted over a local radio station, yesterday afternoon, on the subject, "Resolved, That Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing for the Centralized Control of Industry."

The debate was sponsored by Louisiana Tech, Ruston, from whose student body the teams were chosen.

Members of the winning team were Fred Farrar, Junction City, Ark.; Margaret Cupp, Ruston; Whit White, Shreveport, and Doris Tebbets, of Oil City.

The affirmative side of the question was supported by Rankin Sims, Ruston; Irene Deloney, Hill; James Palmer, Gibsland; and Leah Shell, of Ruston.

Judges of the debate were C. E. Kenney, principal of Neville high school, Monroe; Captain W. E. McBride, Ruston; and Miss La Valle Calhoun, of Rayville.

Preceding the debate, the Neville high school mixed quartet, under the direction of Miss Clara Hall, and the Ouachita parish high school girls quartet, instructed by Mrs. Moffett, gave a number of vocal selections. The Ruston high school boys quartet, under the direction of Dallas Goss, also gave several numbers on the program.

Colored Church Society Will Install Officers

Installation of officers will be held by the Friendly society of the Mount Zion Baptist church, colored, located on the Loop road, this afternoon. The installation program will begin at 3 o'clock. Supper will be served on grounds of the church following completion of the program.

A bus will be operated by the municipal street railway department to carry passengers to attend the program. The bus will make trips to the church 45 minutes, beginning at 1 o'clock, from the corner of Walnut and Washington streets.

TODAY

By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd.) (Continued from First Page)

grass each spring, so the two-legged lambs will return to the stock ticker, in due time.

OHIO IS TO BE congratulated on having a man worth while to vote for, in the May primary.

David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy, in charge of aeronautics, is candidate for governor on the Republican ticket and this is part of his story.

His father told him about Darius Green, who tried to fly, and fell. Young David, not yet ten years old, believed his father's statement that men would fly some day and decided to try it.

He made wings, jumped from a tall apple tree to fly, as he had seen young robins do, and injured his spine. When the big war came, that injury made it impossible for him to take the ordinary soldier's job, marching up and down, riding on a horse or looking after a cannon.

BUT THE INJURED spine did not keep young Mr. Ingalls from sitting down and operating the controls and machine gun of an airplane. He went into the American service, flew well, and fought hard.

The only American naval ace in the World war, official reports show that he brought down five enemy planes and was awarded the Distinguished Service medal.

Mr. Ingalls is a rich young man, but that did not cause him to look for "a soft job" in the war. He picked out the hardest, most dangerous.

HE IS PICKING out a hard, dangerous job now in politics, and this writer wishes he could vote for him.

Any American that tries to fly before he is ten years old, and then flies for his country well, and fights well, is the right kind of American. There are many such in Ohio, and doubtless they will vote for him.

DAUGHTERS OF THE American Revolution often surprise you. Recently they said it was a great shame for American children to be "rubbing elbows with the children of immigrants." Those esteemed "Daughters" must be descendants of immigrants, or red Indians.

Now the daughters ask that all foreign-born out of a job be deported, "through a presidential decree of emergency."

THE DAUGHTERS' ancestors, when they first arrived, were out of a job and it might have been helpful if some of them had been deported.

But honest aliens, men and women, now in this country under guarantee of decent treatment, will not be deported unless this has become a dishonest government.

FOR A FASCINATING financial fairy-tale, read the history of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish genius of financial legerdemain. Kreuger had "actually received nearly $1,000,000,000."

Also "one can sum up the activities of Kreuger in recent years by saying that he transferred from the United States to Europe $500,000,000."

HE LENT $600,000,000 to various European countries, "he always carried 1,000,000 crowns in his pocket," and, very interesting touch, "he had no vices except the company of pretty women and champagne with every meal."

The comparatively small loss of Swedish investors, some $60,000,000, will be felt keenly. Americans are so used to being swindled by their own "high finance" through foreign bonds, watered stocks, and otherwise, that a few hundred millions more or less will hardly be noticed.

NEW YORK CITY had a little riot on Thursday. So-called "Reds" wanted to talk to the mayor about unemployment. They met a reception committee of policemen, mounted and on foot. Fifteen of the unemployed will be busy for some time, attending their wounds.

We should be fearful in the suppressing of wicked anarchy, but careful about sending mounted police to "trample and brow beat and terrorize," as the New York Times heading describes it. Little incidents sometimes grow into big events, as New York authorities may learn from reading an unexpurgated history of the French revolution.

NEW YORK COURTS have just sentenced four bandits to long terms in Sing Sing prison. Three of them were 18 to 19 years old, the fourth 22. One will meet two brothers in Sing Sing.

The new bootleg-crime industry gets its recruits very young.

SERVICES TODAY

Services will be conducted at the Salvation Army headquarters, Wood and St. John streets, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and 8 o'clock, tonight. At 4 o'clock the Salvation Army will conduct services for prisoners at the city jail.

JAMES Says:

Do you know why ours is the busiest place in town? The answer is that we do good work at a fair price and our customers come back.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED

James Machine Works
1611 DeSiard Road Tel. 904

CHIEF OF LEGION TO TOUR DISTRICT

Visit to Posts of This Area Will Be Opened by Mobley Tomorrow

Ray Mobley of Baton Rouge, state commander of the American Legion, will begin a tour of posts of the fifth district tomorrow.

Commander Mobley's schedule for the tour is as follows:

Monday—St. Joseph, 11 a. m.; Tallulah, 2 p. m.; Lake Providence, 4 p. m.; Oak Grove, 8 p. m.

Tuesday—Delhi, 10:30 a. m.; Rayville, noon; Bastrop, 8 p. m.

Wednesday—Farmerville, noon; Ruston, 3 p. m.; Jonesboro, 8 p. m.

Friday—Columbia, 8 p. m.

The tour will be concluded at 9:30 o'clock when the annual fifth district American Legion conference will be held at Winnboro. A large number of Legionnaires from Monroe are expected to attend the conference. Sam Orchards of Monroe, vice-commander of the district, is in charge of arrangements for attendance from here.

The conference program will include: Report of past commanders and district chairmen; addresses by Commander Mobley and Past Commander Jones; discussion of service work by Vice-Commander Mitchell, State Service Commissioner Daffner, and Dr. L. V. Lopez, chief of the medical division, U. S. Veterans' bureau, and others.

CONCERT ARRANGED

A concert has been arranged by colored kindergarten workers at the Monroe colored high school for Thursday, April 28 at 8 p. m. The Community glee club will render a selected group of spirituals. The club is directed by H. D. English. Tickets are on sale by Eliza Davis and Ollie Mae Hamilton.

Dr. R. T. Harberson
DENTIST
339 1/2 DeSiard St. Phone 1781

If you have dental work to be done...the best is none too good for you.

SPECIAL

...Through SATURDAY, APRIL 30, I am offering you the following new low prices. If you haven't taken advantage of this offer, do so before next Saturday, which is the last day. This offer may never be repeated.

REGULAR $25 SET OF TEETH You can't duplicate them for several times this amount. $12.50

REGULAR $35 SET OF HECOLITE Light, unbreakable, yet fit perfectly natural and comfortable. $22.50

Every piece of work is made in my laboratory by the finest technician south. You take no chances! The man doesn't exist who does BETTER WORK or uses FINER MATERIAL than I do. EXTRACTIONS are PAINLESS and FREE when other work is done. MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP THE BEST.

Out-of-town Patients Finished Same Day Solid Comfort

DR. R. T. HARBERSON, Dentist
E. C. ROSE, Technician
Extractions Painless; with or without Gas. Examination Free

What is Westinghouse?

Dual-automatic Refrigeration

Thousands are asking this question! And they're finding the answer surprisingly simple yet tremendously important!

Westinghouse Dual-automatic refrigeration is the result of combining two automatic features... Selective Temperature control for normal conditions and Built-in Watchman Control for extreme conditions.

It's all made possible by the famous Built-in Watchman... an exclusive and revolutionary Westinghouse development that offers more than human control in keeping the refrigerator automatic and running... through all kinds of conditions. It makes possible truly care-free refrigeration... gives double assurance of uninterrupted performance.

And every advantage is a double advantage. You get an hermetically-sealed refrigerating unit and forced draft cooling. Unit-on-top advantages and completely concealed mechanism. Buffet top and broom-high legs. All-porcelain interior and all-porcelain froster. Roomy food space and flat, ribbon shelves.

Investigate! You'll never be satisfied with anything less than Westinghouse Dual-automatic refrigeration. Make it a point to visit our showroom today!

SO LITTLE TO PAY—AND IT PAYS FOR ITSELF

Don't consider this marvelous refrigerator as an expense. Figures prove that it actually pays for itself in surprisingly short time. It saves on refrigeration and saves on food... cuts many dollars from family food bills. Ask us for details.

FREE!—A BOOKLET THAT WILL SAVE YOU MONEY

Please send me a copy of the De Luxe Booklet describing Dual-automatic refrigerator... explain the money-saving features of Westinghouse.

Name.....

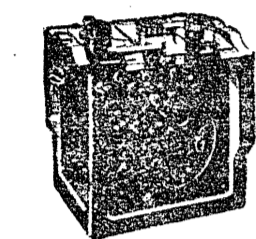

Address.....

City..... State.....

MONROE HARDWARE CO.
RETAIL FURNITURE AND HARDWARE DEPARTMENT
CORNER ST. JOHN AND HARRISON STREETS

JAMES Says:
Do you know why ours is the busiest place in town? The answer is that we do good work at a fair price and our customers come back.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED
James Machine Works
1611 DeSiard Road Tel. 904

QUICK STARTS AND MANY OF THEM

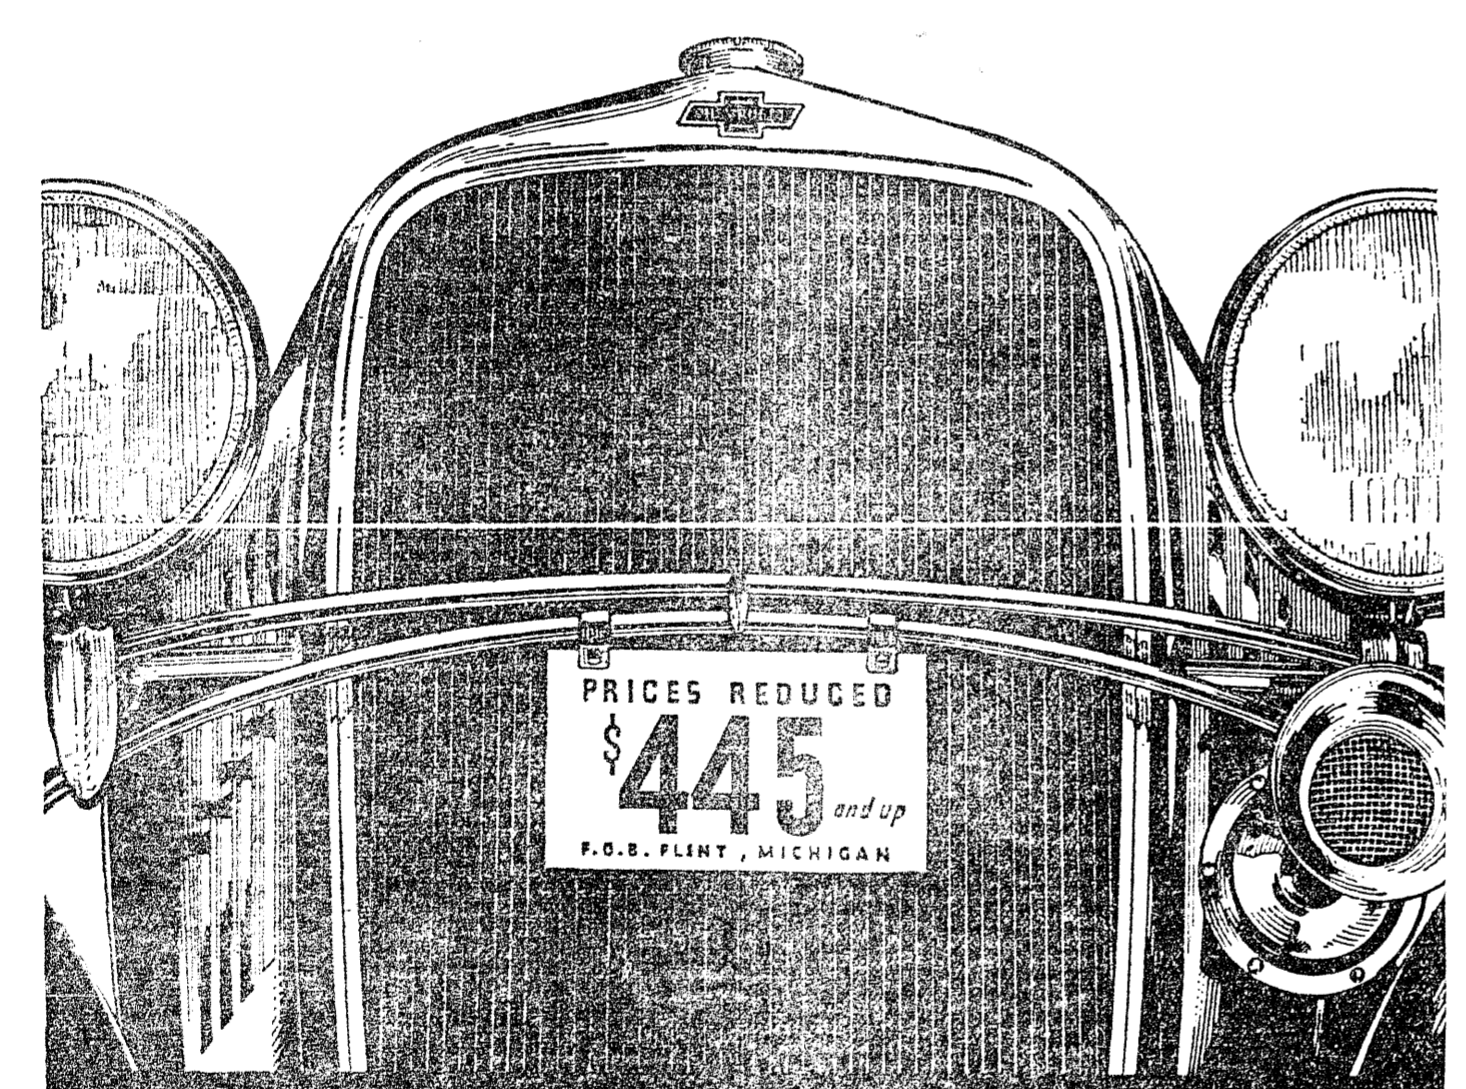

Instant action—with a Willard—and more miles and months of service. Dependability, power, all-round efficiency, too, in a Willard—the best battery you can put in your car. Whether you want a new battery or an honest, friendly type of battery service, come to us. A Willard "Service Test" on any make of battery at no charge.

$6.95 and up

Monroe Storage Battery, Inc.
622 Grammont Street Phone 882

Willard
LOWEST PRICES IN WILLARD HISTORY

Looming larger every day as the GREAT AMERICAN VALUE

REDUCED PRICES EFFECTIVE APRIL 1, 1932
Roadster.....	$445	Coupe.....	$495	Cabriolet.....	$595
Smart Roadster..	$485	De Luxe Coupe..	$510	Sedan.....	$590
Standard Coupe..	$490	De Luxe Coupe..	$515	Special Sedan..	$615
5-Window Coupe..	$490	Smart Coupe...	$535	Landau Phaeton	$625
Phaeton.....	$495	5-Passenger Coupe	$575

NOTE—Models listed standard with five wire wheels. Six wire wheels and fender wells on all models $15.00 list additional.

All prices f.o.b. Flint, Michigan. Special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and easy G. M. A. C. terms. Chevrolet Motor Co., Detroit, Michigan, Division of General Motors

NEW CHEVROLET SIX

SEE YOUR DEALER BELOW

LEE-ROGERS CHEVROLET COMPANY
105 NORTH FOURTH STREET PHONE 2344

MUSICAL PROGRAM IS SLATED FRIDAY

Louisiana College at Pineville Will Send Glee Clubs to Monroe

Under direction of Dr. Alfred Hall, head of the music department of Louisiana college, Pineville, the college glee club and orchestra will be presented in a program at the Ouachita parish high school auditorium next Friday night.

have been singing together for several years. The popular music program will be presented by Billy Gandy and Herman Scallon. Gandy plays the saxophone and Scallon is a pianist. The boys' and girls' choruses and the orchestra will present such numbers as "Melody of Love," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," "Marcheta," and "The Swan." Classical music of the program will include piano selections by Marion Almond and Amy Corley. The entire personnel of the glee club and orchestra is composed of 77 young men and women. They will come here next Friday to conclude a tour of north Louisiana towns. The schedule is as follows: Monday—Mansfield; Tuesday—Shreveport; Wednesday—Minden; Thursday—Haynesville; Friday—Monroe. In Monroe, the young people will be guests for the evening meal at local homes. Following presentation of their program, the young people will leave here for Pineville. Appearance of the glee club and orchestra here is sponsored by the choir of the Monroe First Baptist church.

LEADS GLEE CLUB

Dr. Alfred Hall, head of the musical department of Louisiana college, who will present the college glee club and orchestra in a program here next Friday night. Dr. Hall is a graduate of Trinity college, London, and a fellow of the Royal College of organists.

Ordinarily, a camel does not suffer thirst until it has gone without water for about five days.

Eat Your SUNDAY DINNER at the HOTEL ALVIS Coffee Shop A Complete Meal 75c 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

NEGATIVE SIDE IS WINNER IN DEBATE

Judges Listen in on Louisiana Tech Students, Then Give Verdict

By unanimous vote of the three judges who "listened in" at their homes, the negative team was awarded the decision in a radio debate, broadcasted over a local radio station, yesterday afternoon, on the subject, "Resolved, That Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing for the Centralized Control of Industry."

The debate was sponsored by Louisiana Tech, Ruston, from whose student body the teams were chosen. Members of the winning team were Fred Farrar, Junction City, Ark.; Margaret Cupp, Ruston; White White, Shreveport, and Doris Tebbets, of Oil City. The affirmative side of the question was supported by Rankin Sims, Ruston; Irene Deloney, Hilly; James Palmer, Gibsland; and Leah Shell, of Ruston.

Judges of the debate were C. E. Kenney, principal of Neville high school, Monroe; Captain W. E. McBride, Ruston; and Miss La Valle Calhoun, of Rayville.

Preceding the debate, the Neville high school mixed quartet, under the direction of Miss Clara Hall, and the Ouachita parish high school girls quartet, instructed by Mrs. Moffett, gave a number of vocal selections. The Ruston high school boys quartet, under the direction of Dallas Goss, also gave several numbers on the program.

COLORED CHURCH SOCIETY WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

Installation of officers will be held by the Friendly society of the Mount Zion Baptist church, colored, located on the Loop road, this afternoon. The installation program will begin at 3 o'clock. Supper will be served on grounds of the church following completion of the program.

A bus will be operated by the municipal street railway department to carry passengers to attend the program. The bus will make trips to the church each 45 minutes, beginning at 1 o'clock, from the corner of Walnut and Washington streets.

TODAY

By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd.) (Continued from First Page)

grass each spring, so the two-legged lambs will return to the stock ticker in due time.

OHIO IS TO BE congratulated on having a man worth while to vote for, in the May primary.

David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy, in charge of aeronautics, is candidate for governor on the Republican ticket and this is part of his story.

His father told him about Darius Green, who tried to fly, and fell. Young David, not yet ten years old, believed his father's statement that men would fly some day and decided to try it.

He made wings, jumped from a tall apple tree to fly, as he had seen young robins do, and injured his spine. When the big war came, that injury made it impossible for him to take the ordinary soldier's job, marching up and down, riding on a horse or looking after a cannon.

BUT THE INJURED spine did not keep young Mr. Ingalls from sitting down and operating the controls and machine gun of an airplane. He went into the American service, flew well, and fought hard. The only American naval ace in the World war, official reports show that he brought down five enemy planes and was awarded the Distinguished Service medal.

Mr. Ingalls is a rich young man, but that did not cause him to look for "a soft job" in the war. He picked out the hardest, most dangerous.

HE IS PICKING out a hard, dangerous job now in politics, and this writer wishes he could vote for him. Any American that tries to fly before he is ten years old, and then flies for his country well, and fights well, is the right kind of American. There are many such in Ohio, and doubtless they will vote for him.

DAUGHTERS OF THE American Revolution often surprise you. Recently they said it was a great shame for American children to be "rubbing elbows with the children of immigrants."

Those esteemed "Daughters" must be descendants of immigrants, or red Indians. Now the daughters ask that all foreign-born out of a job be deported. "Through a presidential decree of emergency."

THE DAUGHTERS' ancestors, when they first arrived, were out of a job and it might have been helpful if some of them had been deported. But honest aliens, men and women, now in this country under guarantee of decent treatment, will not be deported unless this has become a dishonest government.

FOR A FASCINATING financial fairy-tale, read the history of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish genius of financial legend. Kreuger had "actually received nearly $1,000,000,000."

Also "one can sum up the activities of Kreuger in recent years by saying that he transferred from the United States to Europe $500,000,000."

HE LENT $500,000,000 to various European countries, "he always carried 1,000,000 crowns in his pocket," and, very interesting touch, "he had no vices except the company of pretty women and champagne with every meal."

The comparatively small loss of Swedish investors, some $60,000,000, will be felt keenly. Americans are so used to being swindled by their own "high finance," through foreign bonds, watered stocks, and otherwise, that a few hundred millions more or less will hardly be noticed.

NEW YORK CITY had a little riot, on Thursday. So-called "Reds" wanted to talk to the mayor about unemployment. They met a reception committee of policemen, mounted and on foot. Fifteen of the unemployed will be busy for some time, attending their wounds.

We should be forceful in the suppressing of wicked anarchy, but careful about sending mounted police to "trample and beat men and women," as the New York Times heading describes it. Little incidents sometimes grow into big events, as New York authorities may learn from reading an unexpurgated history of the French revolution.

NEW YORK COURTS have just sentenced four bandits to long terms in Sing Sing prison. Three of them were 18 to 19 years old, the fourth 22. One will meet two brothers in Sing Sing.

The new bootleg-crime industry gets its recruits very young.

SERVICES TODAY Services will be conducted at the Salvation Army headquarters, Wood and St. John streets, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and 8 o'clock tonight. At 4 o'clock the Salvation Army will conduct services for prisoners at the city jail.

JAMES Says:

Do you know why ours is the busiest place in town? The answer is that we do good work at a fair price and our customers come back.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED James Machine Works 1611 DeSiard Road Tel. 964

CHIEF OF LEGION TO TOUR DISTRICT

Visit to Posts of This Area Will Be Opened by Mobley Tomorrow

Ray Mobley of Baton Rouge, state commander of the American Legion, will begin a tour of posts of the fifth district tomorrow.

His tour is as follows: Monday—St. Joseph, 11 a. m.; Tallulah, 2 p. m.; Lake Providence, 4 p. m.; Oak Grove, 8 p. m. Tuesday—Delhi, 10:30 a. m.; Rayville, noon; Bastrop, 8 p. m. Wednesday—Farmerville, noon; Ruston, 3 p. m.; Jonesboro, 8 p. m. Friday—Columbia, 8 p. m.

The tour will be concluded at 9:30 o'clock when the annual fifth district American Legion conference will be held at Winnapore. A large number of Legionnaires from Monroe are expected to attend the conference. Sam Orchards of Monroe, vice-commander of the district, is in charge of arrangements for attendance from here.

The conference program will include: Report of past commanders and district chairmen; addresses by Commander Mobley and Past Commander Jones; discussion of service work by Vice-Commander Mitchell, State Service Commissioner Dufferin, and Dr. L. V. Lopez, chief of the medical division, U. S. Veterans' bureau, and others.

CONCERT ARRANGED A concert has been arranged by colored kindergarten workers at the Monroe colored high school for Thursday, April 28 at 8 p. m. The Community glee club will render a selected group of spirituals. The club is directed by H. D. English. Tickets are on sale by Eliza Davis and Ollie Mae Hamilton.

Dr. R. T. Harberson DENTIST 339 1/2 DeSiard St. Phone 1781

If you have dental work to be done...the best is none too good for you.

SPECIAL

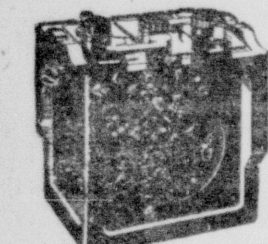

Through SATURDAY, APRIL 30, I am offering you the following new low prices. If you haven't taken advantage of this offer, do so before next Saturday, which is the last day. This offer may never be repeated.

REGULAR $25 SET OF TEETH You can't duplicate them for several times this amount. $12.50 REGULAR $35 SET OF HECOLITE Light, unbreakable, yet fit perfectly natural and comfortable. $22.50

Every piece of work is made in my laboratory by the finest technician south. You take no chances! The man doesn't exist who does BETTER WORK or uses FINER MATERIAL than I do. EXTRACTIONS are PAINLESS and FREE when other work is done. MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP THE BEST.

Out-of-town Patients Finished Same Day Solid Comfort DR. R. T. HARBERTSON, Dentist E. C. ROSE, Technician Extractions Painless; with or without Gas. Examination Free

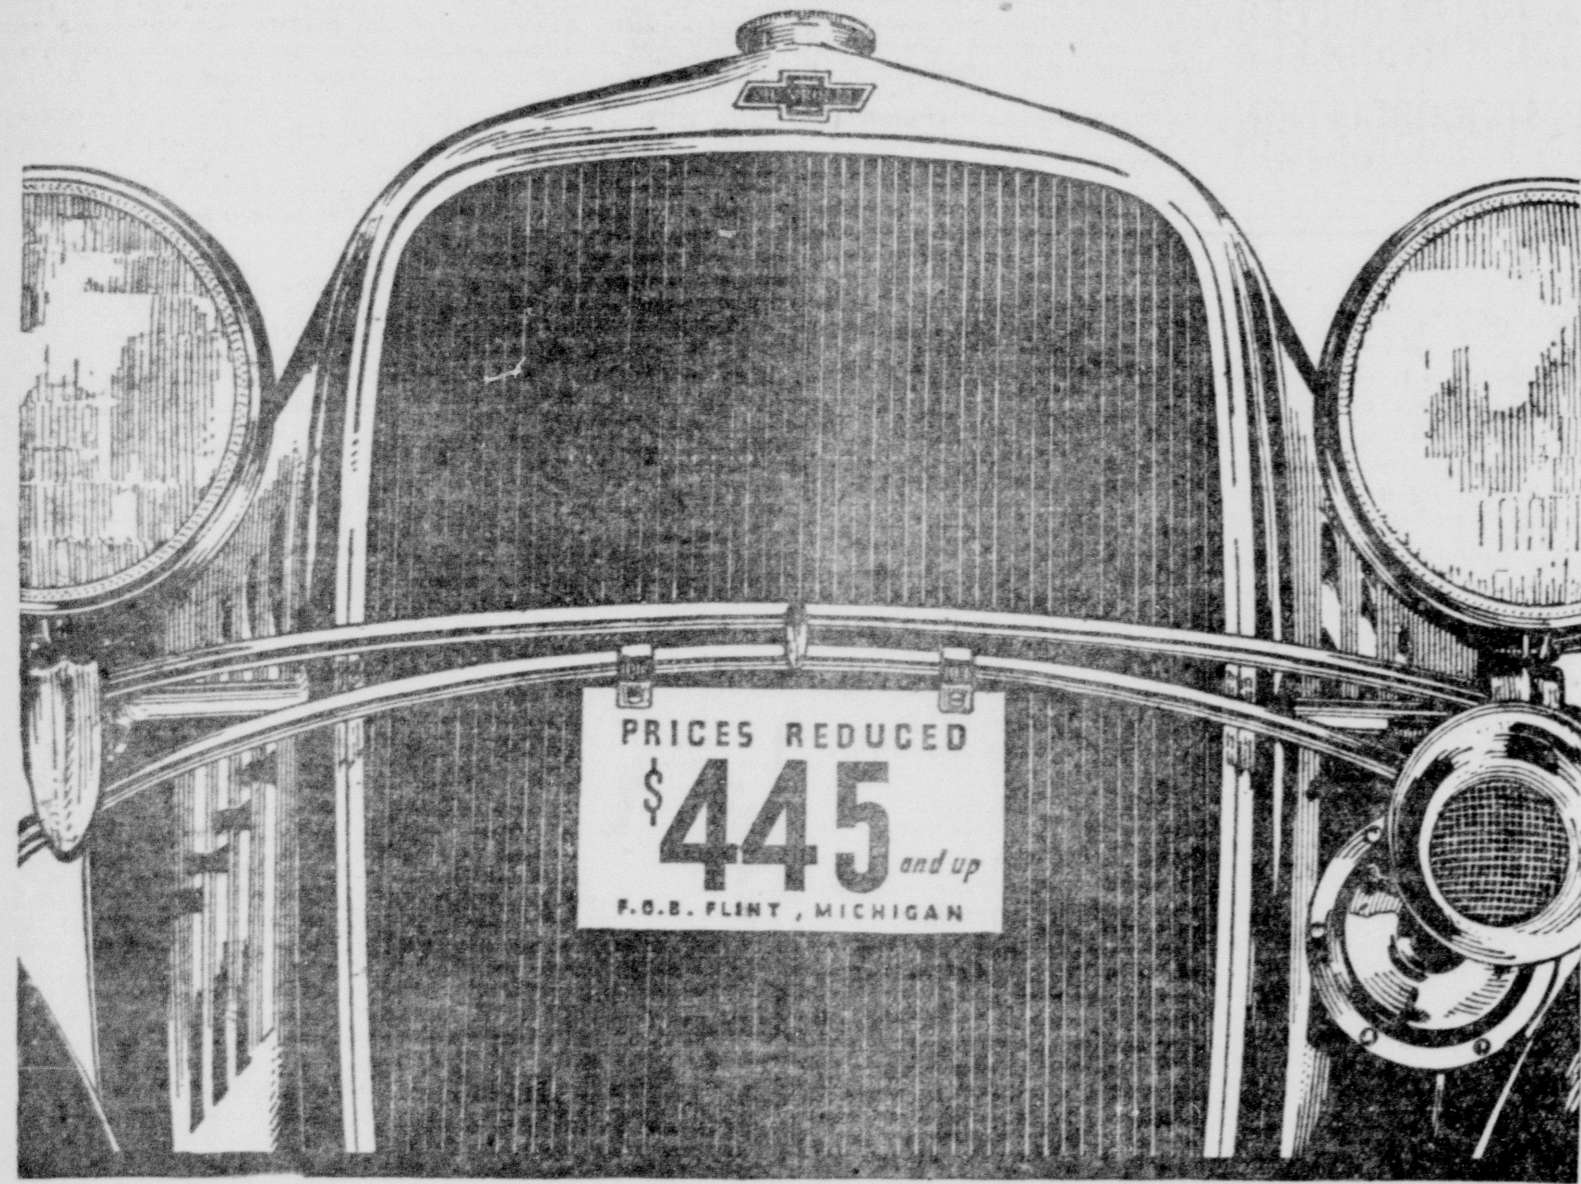

QUICK STARTS AND MANY OF THEM

Instant action—with a Willard—and more miles and months of service. Dependability, power, all-round efficiency, too, in a Willard—the best battery you can put in your car. Whether you want a new battery or an honest, friendly type of battery service, come to us. A Willard "Service Test" on any make of battery at no charge.

Monroe Storage Battery, Inc. 622 Grammont Street Phone 882

Willard LOWEST PRICES IN WILLARD HISTORY

Looming larger every day as the GREAT AMERICAN VALUE

because it offers such fine-car features as Free Wheeling, Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting, bodies by Fisher and multi-cylinder smoothness at these new low prices

REDUCED PRICES EFFECTIVE APRIL 1, 1932

Roadster.....	$445	Coupe.....	$495	Cabriolet.....	$595
Sport Roadster..	$485	De Luxe Coupe..	$510	Sedan.....	$590
Standard Coupe..	$490	De Luxe Coach..	$515	Special Sedan..	$615
5-Window Coupe..	$490	Sport Coupe...	$535	Landau Phaeton	$625
Phaeton.....	$495	5-Passenger Coupe	$575

NOTE—Models listed standard with five wire wheels. Six wire wheels and fender wells on all models $15.00 list additional.

All prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan. Special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and easy G. M. A. C. terms. Chevrolet Motor Co., Detroit, Michigan, Division of General Motors

NEW CHEVROLET SIX

SEE YOUR DEALER BELOW

LEE-ROGERS CHEVROLET COMPANY

105 NORTH FOURTH STREET

PHONE 2344

What is Westinghouse Dual-automatic Refrigeration?

Thousands are asking this question! And they're finding the answer surprisingly simple yet tremendously important!

Westinghouse Dual-automatic refrigeration is the result of combining two automatic features... Selective Temperature control for normal conditions and Built-in Watchman Control for extreme conditions.

It's all made possible by the famous Built-in Watchman... an exclusive and revolutionary Westinghouse development that offers more than human control in keeping the refrigerator automatic and running... through all kinds of conditions. It makes possible truly care-free refrigeration... gives double assurance of uninterrupted performance.

And every advantage is a double advantage. You get an hermetically-sealed refrigerating unit and forced draft cooling. Unit-on-top advantages and completely concealed mechanism. Buffet top and broom-high legs. All-porcelain interior and all-porcelain froster. Roomy food space and flat, ribbon shelves.

Investigate! You'll never be satisfied with anything less than Westinghouse Dual-automatic refrigeration. Make it a point to visit our showroom today!

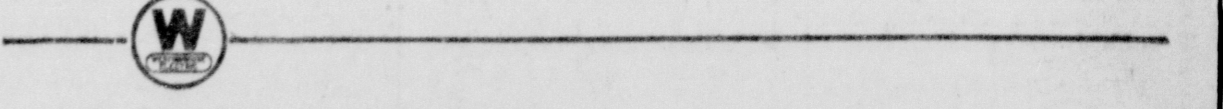

SO LITTLE TO PAY—AND IT PAYS FOR ITSELF

Don't consider this marvelous refrigerator as an expense. Figures prove that it actually pays for itself in surprisingly short time. It saves on refrigeration and saves on food... cuts many dollars from family food bills. Ask us for details.

FREE!—A BOOKLET THAT WILL SAVE YOU MONEY

Please send me a copy of the De Luxe Booklet describing Dual-automatic refrigeration... explain the money-saving features of Westinghouse.

Name..... Address..... City..... State.....

MONROE HARDWARE CO.

RETAIL FURNITURE AND HARDWARE DEPARTMENT CORNER ST. JOHN AND HARRISON STREETS

JUNIOR COLLEGE HONOR ROLL OUT

Contains Names of Students Making High Grades for Past 10 Weeks

List of students of Ouachita junior college who have made high grades during the first 10 weeks of the second semester was given out last night by C. C. Colvert, president of the college.

All students who are enrolled for 12 hours of work or more and who make an average grade point of 4.99 or above are placed upon the honor roll.

Grade points are awarded on the following basis: For grade A, 6 points for each hour of credit; for grade B, 4 points for each hour of credit; for grade C, 2 points for each hour of credit; for grade D, no grade points but credit allowed; for a grade of E, no credit, but one negative grade point for each hour of the course; for a grade of F, no credit, but two negative grade points for each hour of the course.

First Honor Roll

(Ten weeks—second semester)
Achshah, Belt, West Monroe, 5.50;
George Bolton, Rayville, 5.20; Ara
Brueck, Monroe, 6.00; Esther Frizzell,
Monroe, 5.20; Olive Lusk, Monroe,
5.52; Mary A. McMurphy, Monroe,
5.28; Junius Sapp, Swartz, 5.00; Margaret N. Smith, Monroe, 5.28; Gladys
Warner, Monroe, 4.50; Jessie Gray
Worthington, Monroe, 6.00.

Second Honor Roll

(Ten weeks—second semester)
Evelyn Albright, Bastrop, 4.35; Floy
Antley, West Monroe, 3.76; Elsie Aulds,

West Monroe, 4.93; D. Ross Banister,
Monroe, 3.37; Mary Dorcas Barrett,
West Monroe, 3.70; Fred Beckett,
Shreveport, 4.00; C. C. Beeson, Monroe, 3.66; Ruth Boone, Delhi, 3.54;
Katie Boughton, Bastrop, 4.23; Christine Clowers, West Monroe, 3.65; T.
A. Coon, West Monroe, 4.50; J. W.
Cunningham, Monroe, 3.76; Mildred
Dennis, Monroe, 4.94; Mrs. F. M. Durham, Monroe, 4.34; Mrs. Wilma S. Dyer, Swartz, 3.88; Clifton Furlow, West
Monroe, 3.00; Archie Gilliland, Calhoun, 3.50; Thelma Hargus, Monroe,
3.47; Evelyn Huey, Monroe, 3.60;
Louise Hundley, Monroe, 3.00; David
M. Hunt, West Monroe, 3.87; Harold
E. Hunt, Monroe, 4.70; Wayne Johnson, Monroe, 3.87; Madeline Kelly,
Monroe, 3.41; Maurice Kirk, Monroe,
4.23; Dorothy Lewman, Monroe, 4.00;
Marjorie McBride, Bastrop, 3.88; Perry
McDaniel, West Monroe, 3.60; Henry Messinger, Bastrop, 4.14; Anne Mick-el, Monroe, 4.47; Freeda Mickel, Monroe, 4.00; Charles Mostly, Monroe, 4.15;
Mrs. W. B. Norworthy, Monroe, 4.37;
Mrs. G. R. Ratchford, Monroe, 3.33;
Mrs. Avrice Simpson, Monroe, 4.47;
Eli Shaugter, Monroe, 3.85; Lanette
Southall, Monroe, 3.88; L. D. Stout,
Delhi, 3.57; John B. Strahan, Monroe,
3.60; J. B. Strickland, Belmont, Miss.,
3.12; Knowles Tucker, Rayville, 3.20;
Baird Turpin, Bastrop, 4.92; Katherine Wroten, Monroe, 4.11.

SEED LOAN AGENT WILL CONFER WITH FARM MEN

D. R. Morrow, assistant seed loan agent, in charge of government crop loans to Louisiana farmers, announced last night he would leave this week for a series of conferences with north Louisiana field agents, going first to Shreveport.

He will confer with the agents in this section, and next week will tour south Louisiana parishes, holding similar conferences with the agents there.

Two Governors Yesterday Pay Brief Visit to Monroe

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, or thereabouts, a stray reporter and a scout executive, J. Noble White, debarked from an automobile at the Selman field entrance and wandered out toward the hangars.

A lone plane, appearing at that distance rather small and totally inadequate for hauling distinguished guests, was the sole visible thing upon the field, except an attendant or two working upon the plane.

At this point a trimly dressed, white-haired and white-mustached man, accompanied by a younger man of large size and vigorous appearance, came wandering through the gate also.

A conversation was struck up between the quartet and the reporter voiced a query as to when "those two governors will get here."

"That man over there," said the man with the closely cropped white mustache, "is the governor. He's the governor of Nevada."

"And that," added the other, "is the governor of California."

And they were governors.

Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, and Governor B. Balzar, of Nevada, had been heralded by Associated Press dispatches all along their route from Sacramento to Monroe, a stopping point on their way to Richmond, Va.

Special guards were placed at most refueling points, it was said, to guard against possible demonstrations by sympathizers of Tom Mooney, to whom Governor Rolph a few days ago declined a reprieve or pardon.

"There were none in evidence here-until the final moment, it had not been certain that the plane in which they traveled would refuel in Monroe."

"We left Sacramento yesterday (Friday) morning, about 7:30," Governor Rolph said. "We stopped at Burbank and Los Angeles, in California; at Phoenix, where we called upon the governor of Arizona, and then stayed last night (Friday) at El Paso, Texas."

"And at El Paso we ran into mighty strong winds. Governor Balzar was thrown against the top of the cabin once."

Lunched at Dallas.

"Today (Saturday) was only a little better. We had breakfast in El Paso and luncheon in Dallas, Texas."

"In fact, I wasn't sure we were out of Texas until you fellows told us."

"If we'd known you fellows were going to meet us here, we'd have arranged to stay overnight instead of at Birmingham."

Here he grinned a little, while the coterie of Monroe residents, augmented by C. E. Woolman, manager of the airport, assured the governors that they might cancel their reservations by wire.

At this point the trimly uniformed pilot joined the group, the eagles of a colonel gleaming on his shoulder straps.

"This," said Governor Rolph, "is our pilot, Colonel Roscoe Turner. He's the only colonel I've got but I believe the governor of Nevada has five. He used to have 36."

NEW METHOD BEING USED IN MAKING OF ICE CREAM

A. M. Thornton of Watson & Aven of La. Inc., discloses a new method and explains the manufacturing process employed in Watson's Smoothfastrozen Angeleno ice cream. He says, of course, it is first necessary to use the purest and richest of cream produced right here in north Louisiana and to use Louisiana's own cane sugar, after which comes the proper blending to hold all the natural flavor; this is done in the plant of the North Louisiana Dairy Products company at Ruston, La., and by those who are thoroughly trained experts in the handling of dairy products.

Now under instructions of A. M.
Thornton, who furnishes the Angeleno formula, the new scientific "Smoothfastrozen Angeleno mix" is made. The method is one requiring exactness in proportions of ingredients used and extreme care in pasteurizing temperatures; the mix is also put through an extremely high cyclizing pressure and immediately cooled to just above freezing temperature.

Mr. Thornton explains that "the flavor and smoothness of ice cream depends largely on fast hardening which is now a part of their equipment. Fast hardening gives smoothness without the stickiness which some manufacturers erroneously call smoothness."

Watson & Aven were the first to open an ice cream factory in Monroe and they are now in their 20th year of successful operation. Mr. Thornton says: "They have always been first to bring out anything of a new and improved nature that would benefit their patrons, and now they are again leading in the new scientific product —Smoothfastrozen Angeleno. When you partake of this deliciously different ice cream you will always want to repeat the pleasure."

Watson & Aven of La. Inc., is a home owned institution and Angeleno is a Louisiana product.

The colonel looked as though he might have blushed had not wind and sun permanently reddened his cheeks.

In response to questions by Mr.
Woolman and Mr. White, Governor
Rolph asserted that his state is taking and active interest in oil conservation programs, both state and national.

Will Vote on Proration.

"We will vote May 3," he said, "upon the question of a proration law for California. I believe it will be passed.

We are also backing to the best of our ability the bills now before congress on the subject of conservation.

"Naturally I am proud of California and of her ability to assimilate and make loyal citizens of persons born in other states. We are growing in population rapidly and I believe now rank fifth in the Union.

"I was born there and served for 20 years as mayor of my city, San Francisco."

Regarding the Mooney case, Governor Rolph said "it is a closed issue.
We have said all there is to be said
Four governors, the state courts of California and the United States supreme court have passed upon the question."

"It seems to me difficult to believe they all could be wrong.

"To me, it seems a matter of more importance that we should all work together on the economic conditions confronting the nation.

"No matter where we are born, we are all Americans. We stand for rightful government and law and order.

California Does Her Share.

"California is trying to do her part in curing the depression. We lead the nation in public works. There are 47,000 men employed now on such projects and we are spending $75,000-000 this year in that way."

"That is something to be proud of."

Nearly a dozen persons had gathered in the vicinity of the plane before the party was ready to depart, chiefly composed of small boys.

Before climbing into the plane, Governor Rolph shook hands with all of them, then asked what states they were born in.

Arkansas claimed the majority, with Alabama, Mississippi and Ohio also in the running. One was a native Lou-isianian.

Following the plane's departure they learned who the travelers were.

Governor Rolph is rather an impressive figure, stout, ruddy cheeked, tanned, and very neatly dressed, with typical western boots as part of the costume, largely concealed by trousers which would do Jimmy Walker credit.

Governor Balzar, also a large man of vigorous physique, is something of the Will Rogers type and a strong backer of his own state.

Reno, however, was not mentioned during the conversation.

SPRING IS SEASON OF REVIVALS HERE

Several Local Churches Have Held, Are Holding or Will Hold Services

Spring is a season of new life. It is ushered in by Easter, a day on which Christian people observe the resurrection of Christ.

Spiritual rejuvenation has been shown in the Twin Cities this spring by a number of church revivals. While large numbers of additions have not been received into the churches, attendance at the revival services was substantial and considerable interest was manifested.

Revivals were held recently at the Monroe First Baptist church, with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor, preaching at the First Presbyterian church of Monroe, with Rev. Dunbar Ogden, pastor of Napoleon avenue Presbyterian church, New Orleans, delivering the sermons, at Calvary Baptist church, West Monroe, with Rev. E. A.
Bateman of West Monroe in charge.

At the Gordon avenue Methodist church, with Rev. Louis Hoffpau of West Monroe, preaching. A mission was also held at Grace Episcopal church.

At this time revivals are being held at the Assembly of God tabernacle, West Monroe, McClendon Baptist church, on the Natchitoches road, and at Central Baptist church, Lee avenue. The latter revival will close tonight.

Rev. R. J. Thompson and Mrs.
Thompson, evangelists of Tulsa, Okla., are conducting the revival at the Assembly of God tabernacle. Rev. G. C.
Dennis of West Monroe, is conducting the revival at the Central Baptist church. The revival at McClendon church is in charge of Reverend Bateman.

A series of revival meetings will begin May 1 at the Church of Christ, located at the corner of South Second and Apple streets. Evangelist B.
U. Baldwin of Vicksburg, Miss., will preach the sermons.

A revival is also planned for Emmanuel Baptist church, West Monroe, according to announcement by the pastor, Rev. H. L. Driskell.

Y BUSINESS GIRLS CLUB
MEETS TOMORROW NIGHT

The Y's Business Girls' club will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock, at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters, it was announced last night.

Miss Eunice Lee, associated with a local beauty parlor, will deliver the first of a series of lectures on "Personal Beauty" at the meeting, it was announced.

FUNERAL RITES HELD

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at Jonesboro for George Washington Lewis, 84, a native of Talladega, Ala., who died at Jonesboro Friday morning. He is survived by his widow and four children, Mrs.
Leile Roberts, Crowley; Mrs. B. B.
Bass, Jonesboro; A. D. Lewis, Shreveport; Stanley Lewis, Jonesboro.

WEST SIDE WILL STAGE CLEAN-UP

Week Will Be Devoted to Renovation Work in City
Across the River

West Monroe is to stage a cleanup this week and lasting through April 30. This is in connection with the "Better Homes Week" of Governor King. In preparation for the event, the city of West Monroe has secured 100 gallons of disinfectant which will be used where the water caused damage in the recent flood.

The cleanup is to be in charge of Street Commissioner A. W. Riggs and members of the W. C. T. U. The latter are to district the city and a member of the organization is to be placed in each district.

All residents of West Monroe are urged to cooperate with the cleanup plans placing garbage and refuse where it can be removed easily by city trucks.

REENLISTS

Reenlistment of Paul Brown, West
Monroe, in the tank corps of the United States army, has been announced. Brown has been sent to Fort Benning, Ga., local recruiting officers said.

ELIZABETH
ARDEN

A Quick Afternoon Treatment

There are occasions when faces simply must be transformed in a very few minutes, made fresh and gay for the evening, after a tiring day.
Elizabeth Arden has a concentrated treatment to accomplish this rapidly but thoroughly.
First, a deep, kindly cleansing with Cleansing
Cream, followed by a refreshing patting with Skin Tonic.
Then, when the face is beautifully clean, it is ready for Anti-Wrinkle Cream—so rich and mellow that it is easy to understand why droopy lines and wrinkles disappear under its soothing influence.
If you have time to rest for ten minutes while Anti-Wrinkle Cream is doing its work, so much the better. After the cream is removed give your skin another quick patting with ice cold Skin
Tonic so that it feels fresh and tingling.
And now—feeling wonderfully revived—you are ready for the final flattering touch of make-up.

For complete instructions in the use of Elizabeth Arden Preparations please ask for "The Quest of the Beautiful" at the Toilet Goods Counter.

THE Palace
ELIZABETH ARDEN
691 Fifth Avenue, New York
LONDON BERLIN MADRID ROME PARIS

A Courtesy To Our Friends and Patrons of Monroe and North Louisiana

We ask that you come in early Monday to get the choicest bargains offered before closing up our Monroe Branch as some bargains are limited to only 10 or 15 of a kind. For instance we sold yesterday 18 of the late model new RCA Victor Radios on sale at $19.00. We have only a few of these left.

Good practice pianos as low as $15.00; late Victor records including late Blues—3 for $1.00.
Band Instruments at big reduction. Kazoo Saxophones
19 cents.
Good high grade Victrolas $5.00 each to close out.
Other Piano and Radio bargains accordingly.

Come Monday, your deposit will reserve anything you want. We are closing just as soon as present stock is sold out. Cash and terms.

Philip Werlein, Ltd.

W. M. CULP, Mgr. 122 South Grand St.

SUNDAY HOME-COOKED 25c DINNER 25c

If you want to really enjoy good food without a twinge when you size up the check just drop in the K. C. Waffle House today at noon.

Cream of Tomato Soup

CHOICE OF:

Roast Young Hen with Dressing
Fried Spring Chicken, Country Style
Roast Prime Ribs of Beef, Natural Gravy
Roast Loin of Pork with Sweet Potatoes

COLD MEATS—

Pork or Beef with Potato Salad
Boiled Ham with Potato Salad
Imported Sardines with Potato Salad

SERVED WITH:

Baby Lima Beans
Snowflake Potatoes
Pineapple Short Cake
K. C. Corn Muffins
Coffee, Tea, Sweet or Butter Milk

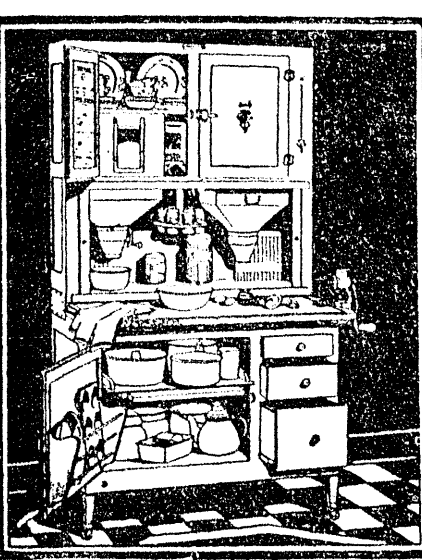

K. C. Waffle House

Across from Ouachita National Bank

256-885

305-862

HOOSIER Kitchen Cabinet Special

Here's Our Offer:
Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet, Beautiful
Dinner Set and Linen Set Consisting of Table Cloth and Six Napkins as low as $35

Terms $1 Down - $1 Per Week

Home Furniture Co., Inc.

Phone 3040

501-507 DeSiard St.

Monroe, La.

HOOSIER EXPOSITION

featuring the newest styles, patterns and shades for Summer

MESH

85¢ to $1.65

Van Raalte, Kayser, Lehigh and other nationally known makers contribute the work of their finest designers in mesh hose. The lacey and petti-point mesh are correct for dress wear... the medium mesh for street wear and the large mesh for sport. Made of hard twisted silk from top to toe in a complete size range.

Summer colors
Rye Carnival Smoketone
Senegal Stroller Black

LACE

Beyond a question of doubt, the smartest of smart hose are of LACE. Van Raalte sponsors Queen's Lace the most beautiful of all lace hose... Kayser brings forward many beautiful patterns, so does Lehigh, in silk from top to toe of an extra high twist that gives a dull finish.

$1 to $1.95

STREET FLOOR

THE Palace
LONDON BROS.—Proprietors

STREET FLOOR

COOL

Smart Comfortable
Shoes for Summer

Linen Sandal
$850

This white linen strap sandal with a covered continental heel is designed for afternoon wear.

Colonial Pumps
$850

White mesh with white kid tip and trimming and a continental heel make this fashion-right.

Mesh Pump
$850

Black mesh trimmed with patent leather will be worn with dressy Summer costumes.
—Street Floor

THE Palace
LONDON BROS.—Proprietors

JUNIOR COLLEGE HONOR ROLL OUT

Contains Names of Students Making High Grades for Past 10 Weeks

List of students of Ouachita junior college who have made high grades during the first 10 weeks of the second semester was given out last night by C. C. Colvert, president of the college.

All students who are enrolled for 12 hours of work or more and who make an average grade point of 4.99 or above are placed upon the honor roll.

Grade points are awarded on the following basis: For grade A, 6 points for each hour of credit; for grade B, 4 points for each hour of credit; for grade C, 2 points for each hour of credit; for grade D, no grade points but credit allowed; for a grade of E, no credit, but one negative grade point for each hour of the course; for a grade of F, no credit, but two negative grade points for each hour of the course.

First Honor Roll

(Ten weeks—second semester)

Achshah Belt, West Monroe, 5.50; George Bolton, Rayville, 5.20; Ara Bruck, Monroe, 6.00; Esther Frizzell, Monroe, 5.20; Olive Lusk, Monroe, 5.52; Mary A. McMurphy, Monroe, 5.28; Junius Sapp, Swartz, 5.00; Margaret N. Smith, Monroe, 5.28; Gladys Warner, Monroe, 4.53; Jessie Gray Worthington, Monroe, 6.00.

Second Honor Roll

(Ten weeks—second semester)

Evelyn Albright, Bastrop, 4.35; Floy Antley, West Monroe, 3.76; Elsie Auld,

West Monroe, 4.93; D. Ross Banister, Monroe, 3.97; Mary Dorcas Barrett, West Monroe, 3.70; Fred Beckett, Shreveport, 4.00; C. C. Beeson, Monroe, 3.66; Ruth Boone, Delhi, 3.54; Katie Boughton, Bastrop, 4.23; Christine Clowers, West Monroe, 3.05; T. A. Coon, West Monroe, 4.50; J. W. Cunningham, Monroe, 3.76; Mildred Dennis, Monroe, 4.94; Mrs. F. M. Durham, Monroe, 4.94; Mrs. Wilma S. Dyer, Swartz, 3.88; Clifton Furlow, West Monroe, 3.00; Archie Gilliland, Calhoun, 3.50; Thelma Hargus, Monroe, 3.47; Evelyn Huey, Monroe, 3.60; Louise Hurdley, Monroe, 3.00; David M. Hunt, West Monroe, 3.87; Harold E. Hunt, Monroe, 4.70; Wayne Johnson, Monroe, 3.87; Madeline Kelly, Monroe, 3.41; Maurice Kirk, Monroe, 4.23; Dorothy Lewman, Monroe, 4.00; Marjorie McBride, Bastrop, 3.88; Percy McDaniell, West Monroe, 3.60; Henry Messinger, Bastrop, 4.14; Anne Mickel, Monroe, 4.47; Freddie Mickel, Monroe, 4.00; Charles Mosely, Monroe, 4.15; Mrs. W. B. Norworthy, Monroe, 4.37; Mrs. G. R. Ratchford, Monroe, 4.33; Mrs. Avrice Simpson, Monroe, 4.47; Enid Slaughter, Monroe, 3.05; Lanette Southall, John B. Strahan, Monroe, 3.60; J. B. Strickland, Belmont, Miss., 3.12; Knowles Tucker, Bayville, 3.20; Baynard Turpin, Bastrop, 4.92; Katherine Wroten, Monroe, 4.11.

SEED LOAN AGENT WILL CONFER WITH FARM MEN

D. R. Morrow, assistant seed loan agent, in charge of government crop loans to Louisiana farmers, announced last night he would leave this week for a series of conferences with north Louisiana field agents, going first to Shreveport.

He will confer with the agents in this section, and next week will tour south Louisiana parishes, holding similar conferences with the agents there.

Two Governors Yesterday Pay Brief Visit to Monroe

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, or thereabouts, a stray reporter and a scout executive, J. Noble White, debarbed from an automobile at the Selman field entrance and wandered out toward the hangars.

A lone plane, appearing at that distance rather small and totally inadequate for hauling distinguished guests, was the sole visible thing upon the field, except an attendant or two working upon the plane.

At this point a trimly dressed, white-haired and white-mustached man, accompanied by a younger man of large size and vigorous appearance, came wandering through the gate also.

A conversation was struck up between the quartet and the reporter voiced a query as to when "those two governors will get here."

"That man over there," said the man with the closely cropped white mustache, "is the governor. He's the governor of Nevada."

"And that," added the other, "is the governor of California."

And they were governors.

Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, and Governor B. Balzar, of Nevada, had been heralded by Associated Press dispatches all along their route from Sacramento to Monroe, a stopping point on their way to Richmond, Va.

Special guards were placed at most refueling points. It was said, to guard against possible demonstrations by sympathizers of Tom Mooney, to whom Governor Rolph a few days ago denied a reprieve or pardon.

There were none in evidence here. Until the final moment, it had not been certain that the plane in which they travel would refuel in Monroe.

"We left Sacramento yesterday (Friday) morning about 7:30," Governor Rolph said. "We stopped at Burbank and Los Angeles, in California; at Phoenix, where we called upon the governor of Arizona, and then stayed last night (Friday) at El Paso, Texas."

"And at El Paso we ran into mighty strong winds. Governor Balzar was thrown against the top of the cabin once."

Lunched at Dallas.

"Today (Saturday) was only a little better. We had breakfast in El Paso and luncheon in Dallas, Texas."

"In fact, I wasn't sure we were out of Texas until you fellows told us."

"If we'd known you fellows were going to meet us here, we'd have arranged to stay overnight instead of at Birmingham."

Here he grinned a little, while the coterie of Monroe residents, augmented by C. E. Woolman, manager of the airport, assured the governors that they might cancel their reservations by wire.

At this point the trimly uniformed pilot joined the group, the eagles of a colonel gleaming on his shoulder straps.

"This," said Governor Rolph, "is our pilot, Colonel Roscoe Turner. He's the only colonel I've got but I believe the governor of Nevada has five. He used to have 36."

NEW METHOD BEING USED IN MAKING OF ICE CREAM

A. M. Thornton of Watson & Aven of La. Inc., discloses a new method and explains the manufacturing process employed in Watson's Smoothfastrozen Angeleno ice cream. He says, of course, it is first necessary to use the purest and richest of cream produced right here in north Louisiana and to use Louisiana's own cane sugar, after which comes the proper blending to hold all the natural flavor; this is done in the plant of the North Louisiana Dairy Products company at Ruston, La., and by those who are thoroughly trained experts in the handling of dairy products.

Now under instructions of A. M. Thornton, who furnishes the Angeleno formula, the new scientific "Smoothfastrozen Angeleno mix" is made. The method is one requiring exactness in proportions of ingredients used and extreme care in pasteurizing temperatures; the mix is also put through an extremely high-vacuuming pressure and immediately cooled to just above freezing temperature.

Mr. Thornton explains that "the flavor and smoothness of ice cream depends largely on fast hardening which is now a part of their equipment. Fast hardening gives smoothness without the slickness which some manufacturers erroneously call smoothness."

Watson & Aven were the first to open an ice cream factory in Monroe and they are now in their 20th year of successful operation. Mr. Thornton says: "They have always been first to bring out anything of a new and improved nature that would benefit their patrons, and now they are again leading in the new scientific product—Smoothfastrozen Angeleno. When you partake of this deliciously different ice cream you will always want to repeat the pleasure."

Watson & Aven of La. Inc., is a home owned institution and Angeleno is a Louisiana product.

WESTON WOMAN DIES

WESTON, April 23 (Special)—Mrs. J. W. Driggers, 80, died at her home near Ebenezer, Thursday night about 9 o'clock. She has lived in this community for 30 years. For the past few years she has been an invalid, due to paralysis. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. E. S. Gregory and Misses Myra, Jennie and Dula Driggers. All are living in Ebenezer community.

The colonel looked as though he might have blushed had not wind and sun permanently reddened his cheeks. In response to questions by Mr. Woolman and Mr. White, Governor Rolph asserted that his state is taking and active interest in oil conservation programs, both state and national.

Will Vote on Proration

"We will vote May 3," he said, "upon the question of a proration law for California. I believe it will be passed. We are also backing to the best of our ability the bills now before congress on the subject of conservation."

"Naturally I am proud of California and of her ability to assimilate and make loyal citizens of persons born in other states. We are growing in population rapidly and I believe now rank fifth in the Union."

"I was born there and served for 20 years as mayor of my city, San Francisco."

Regarding the Mooney case, Governor Rolph said "it is a closed issue. We have said all there is to be said. Four governors, the state courts of California and the United States supreme court have passed upon the question."

"It seems to me difficult to believe they all could be wrong."

"To me, it seems a matter of more importance that we should all work together on the economic conditions confronting the nation."

"No matter where we are born, we are all Americans. We stand for right government and law and order."

California Does Her Share

"California is trying to do her part in curing the depression. We lead the nation in public works. There are 47,000 men employed now on such projects and we are spending $75,000,000 this year in that way."

"That is something to be proud of."

Nearly a dozen persons had gathered in the vicinity of the plane before the party was ready to depart, chiefly composed of small boys.

Before climbing into the plane, Governor Rolph shook hands with all of them, then asked what states they were born in.

Arkansas claimed the majority, with Alabama, Mississippi and Ohio also in the running. One was a native Louisianian.

Following the plane's departure they learned who the travelers were.

Governor Rolph is rather an impressive figure, stout, ruddy checked, tanned, and very neatly dressed, with typical western boots as part of the costume, largely concealed by trousers which would do Jimmy Walker credit.

Governor Balzar, also a large man of vigorous physique, is something of the Will Rogers type and a strong backer of his own state.

Reno, however, was not mentioned during the conversation.

SPRING IS SEASON OF REVIVALS HERE

Several Local Churches Have Held, Are Holding or Will Hold Services

Spring is a season of new life. It is ushered in by Easter, a day on which Christian people observe the resurrection of Christ.

Spiritual rejuvenation has been shown in the Twin Cities this spring by a number of church revivals. While large numbers of additions have not been received into the churches, attendance at the revival services was substantial and considerable interest was manifest.

Revivals were held recently at the Monroe First Baptist church, with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor, preaching, at the First Presbyterian church of Monroe, with Rev. Dunbar Ogden, pastor of Napoleon avenue Presbyterian church, New Orleans, delivering the sermons, at Calvary Baptist church, West Monroe, with Rev. E. A. Bateman of West Monroe in charge, at the Gordon avenue Methodist church, with Rev. Louis Hoffpauir of West Monroe, preaching. A mission was also held at Grace Episcopal church.

At this time revivals are being held at the Assembly of God tabernacle, West Monroe, McClendon Baptist church, on the Natchitoches road, and at Central Baptist church, Lee avenue.

The latter revival will close tonight. Rev. R. J. Thompson and Mrs. Thompson, evangelists of Tulsa, Okla., are conducting the revival at the Assembly of God tabernacle. Rev. G. C. Dennis of West Monroe, is conducting the revival at the Central Baptist church. The revival at McClendon church is in charge of Reverend Bateman.

A series of revival meetings will begin May 1 at the Church of Christ, located at the corner of South Second and Apple streets. Evangelist B. U. Baldwin of Vicksburg, Miss., will preach the sermons. A revival is also planned for Emmanuel Baptist church, West Monroe, according to announcement by the pastor, Rev. H. L. Driskell.

Y BUSINESS GIRLS CLUB MEETS TOMORROW NIGHT

The Y's Business Girls' club will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock, at the Y. W. C. A. headquarters, it was announced last night.

Miss Eunice Lee, associated with a local beauty parlor, will deliver the first of a series of lectures on "Personal Beauty" at the meeting, it was announced.

FUNERAL RITES HELD

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at Jonesboro for George Washington Lewis, 84, a native of Talladega, Ala., who died at Jonesboro Friday morning. He is survived by his widow and four children, Mrs. Leslie Roberts, Crowley; Mrs. B. B. Bass, Jonesboro; A. D. Lewis, Shreveport; Stanley Lewis, Jonesboro.

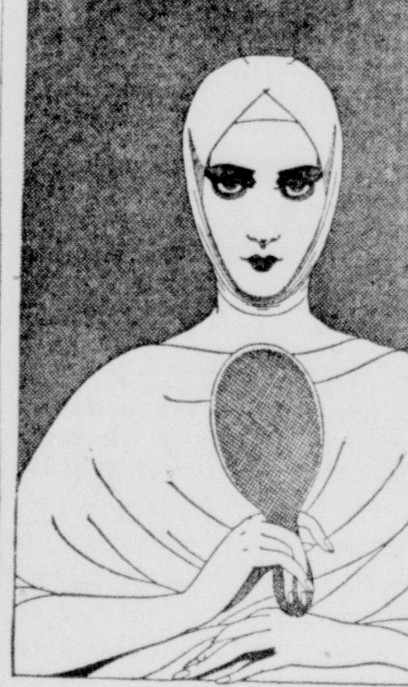

WEST SIDE WILL STAGE CLEAN-UP

Week Will Be Devoted to Renovation Work in City Across the River

West Monroe is to stage a clean up this week and lasting through April 30. This is in connection with the "Better Homes Week" of Governor King. In preparation for the event, the city of West Monroe has secured 100 gallons of disinfectant which will be used where the water caused damage in the recent flood. The cleanup is to be in charge of Street Commissioner A. W. Riggs and members of the W. C. T. U. The latter are to district the city and a member of the organization is to be placed in each district. All residents of West Monroe are urged to cooperate with the cleanup plans placing garbage and refuse where it can be removed easily by city trucks.

REENLISTS

Reenlistment of Paul Brown, West Monroe, in the tank corps of the United States army has been announced. Brown has been sent to Fort Benning, Ga., local recruiting officers said.

A Quick Afternoon Treatment

There are occasions when faces simply must be transformed in a very few minutes, made fresh and gay for the evening, after a tiring day. Elizabeth Arden has a concentrated treatment to accomplish this rapidly but thoroughly. First, a deep, kindly cleansing with Cleansing Cream, followed by a refreshing patting with Skin Tonic. Then, when the face is beautifully clean, it is ready for Anti-Wrinkle Cream—so rich and mellow that it is easy to understand why droopy lines and wrinkles disappear under its soothing influence. If you have time to rest for ten minutes while Anti-Wrinkle Cream is doing its work, so much the better. After the cream is removed give your skin another quick patting with ice cold Skin Tonic so that it feels fresh and tingling. And now—feeling wonderfully revived—you are ready for the final flattering touch of make-up.

For complete instructions in the use of Elizabeth Arden Preparations please ask for "The Quest of the Beautiful" at the Toilet Goods Counter.

THE Palace

ELIZABETH ARDEN

691 Fifth Avenue, New York

LONDON BERLIN MADRID ROME PARIS

A Courtesy

To Our Friends and Patrons of Monroe and North Louisiana

We ask that you come in early Monday to get the choicest bargains offered before closing up our Monroe Branch as some bargains are limited to only 10 or 15 of a kind. For instance we sold yesterday 18 of the late model new RCA Victor Radios on sale at $19.00. We have only a few of these left.

Good practice pianos as low as $15.00; late Victor records including late Blues—3 for $1.00. Band Instruments at big reduction. Kazoo Saxophones 19 cents. Good high grade Victrolas $5.00 each to close out. Other Piano and Radio bargains accordingly.

Come Monday, your deposit will reserve anything you want. We are closing just as soon as present stock is sold out. Cash and terms.

Philip Werlein, Ltd.

W. M. CULP, Mgr. 122 South Grand St.

SUNDAY HOME-COOKED 25c DINNER 25c

If you want to really enjoy good food without a twinge when you size up the check just drop in the K. C. Waffle House today at noon.

Cream of Tomato Soup

CHOICE OF:

Roast Young Hen with Dressing
Fried Spring Chicken, Country Style
Roast Prime Ribs of Beef, Natural Gravy
Roast Loin of Pork with Sweet Potatoes

COLD MEATS—

Pork or Beef with Potato Salad
Boiled Ham with Potato Salad
Imported Sardines with Potato Salad

SERVED WITH:

Baby Lima Beans
Snowflake Potatoes
Pineapple Short Cake
K. C. Corn Muffins
Coffee, Tea, Sweet or Butter Milk

K. C. Waffle House

Across from Ouachita National Bank

256-885 305-862

HOOSIER Kitchen Cabinet Special

Here's Our Offer:

Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet, Beautiful Dinner Set and Linen Set

Consisting of Table Cloth and Six Napkins as low as $35

Terms $1 Down - $1 Per Week

Home Furniture Co., Inc.

501-507 DeSiard St. Monroe, La.

Phone 3040

HOSIERY EXPOSITION

featuring the newest styles, patterns and shades for Summer

MESH

85¢ to $1.65

Van Raalte, Kayser, Lehigh and other nationally known makers contribute the work of their finest designers in mesh hose. The lacey and petti-point mesh are correct for dress wear... the medium mesh for street wear and the large mesh for sport. Made of hard twisted silk from top to toe in a complete size range.

Summer colors

Rye Carnial Smoketone
Senegal Stroller Black

LACE

Beyond a question of doubt, the smartest of smart hose are of LACE. Van Raalte sponsors Queen's Lace the most beautiful of all lace hose... Kayser brings forward many beautiful patterns, so does Lehigh, in silk from top to toe of an extra high twist that gives a dull finish.

$1 to $1.95

THE Palace

STREET FLOOR

COOL

Smart Comfortable Shoes for Summer

Linen Sandal $850

This white linen strap sandal with a covered continental heel is designed for afternoon wear.

Colonial Pumps $850

White mesh with white kid tip and trimming and a continental heel make this fashion-right.

Mesh Pump $850

Black mesh trimmed with patent leather will be worn with dressy Summer costumes. —Street Floor

THE Palace

STREET FLOOR

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE MORNING WORLD

Monroe Morning World

AND NEWS-STAR

FOUNDED OCTOBER 20, 1929, BY ROBERT EWING

Published every morning by
THE NEWS-STAR-WORLD PUBLISHING COMPANY
110-114 North Second Street

JOHN D. EWING, Publisher
WILSON EWING, Associate Publisher
M. M. MATT, General Manager
E. E. GLENN, Business Manager

	SUBSCRIPTION RATES
	Daily & Sunday	Daily & Sunday	Daily & Sunday
Week	20c	20c	20c
1 Month	75c	1.25	75c
3 Months	2.15	3.75	2.15
6 Months	4.00	7.00	4.00
1 Year	7.50	12.00	7.50

Entered as second-class matter at the Monroe (La.) post office December 10, 1929, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

JOHN M. BRANHAM CO., Sole Foreign Representative Offices, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Memphis, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

The Monroe Morning World is an independent newspaper. It prints the news impartially. It supports what it believes to be right. It opposes what it believes to be wrong, without regard to party politics.

MORE GAME BIRDS

In the midst of Washington's preoccupation over economic matters, people who are interested in the threatened extinction of the nation's wild fowl have taken a sensible attitude. They are not asking for subsidies or federal appropriations. On the other hand, they propose to meet the crisis out of their own pockets. Their proposal outlined in detail before a senate special committee, is to provide funds out of a stamp tax of one cent on all shotgun shells sold.

Shooters and sportsmen are giving the plan unstinted support, and such opposition as has developed appears to be based on misunderstanding rather than selfishness or stinginess.

The migratory birds of North America are an international affair in which both the United States and Canada are vitally interested. Both countries recognize their value as a great natural asset, which will disappear unless effective measures are taken promptly. The present crisis is the result of three years of drouth, combined with a vast amount of draining of swamps and marshes, creating an alarming deficiency in waterfowl breeding grounds.

The proposed stamp tax on shells would yield a fund of $7,000,000 a year. Divided half-and-half between federal and state agencies, this sum will undoubtedly meet the need promptly and adequately. Breeding places will be provided for the wild fowl in the right places and at the right time. Nature will do the rest, for game birds, if given half a chance, are prolific, and their normal increase would mean a vast and permanent stock of wild life for the present and future generations.

Darwin has pointed out that nature protects most wild creatures against extinction by providing them with a reproductive capacity that is truly enormous. If there were no natural or artificial checks to multiplication, almost any given species in time would literally cover the earth. At the senate committee hearings it was made obvious that the most effective solution of declining migratory fowl lies in the utilization of this proclivity by encouraging reproduction on natural feeding grounds, and by removing some of the checks upon it. The passage of the penny-a-shell bill is bound to be followed by a great increase in the annual production of game birds. The program outlined is based on sound principles; it simply proposes to assist a bountiful nature effectively and economically by the improvement of natural environments.

THE BELL COUNTY ATTITUDE

County Attorney Walter R. Smith of Bell county, Kentucky, unwittingly did the nation a service the other day in his letter to Arthur Garfield Hayes of the Civil Liberties union. Declaring that the union was communistic, Mr. Smith remarked that Bell county authorities don't believe that "any such organization or any group of persons representing it have any constitutional rights in Bell county that any person is bound to respect."

It was a public service to express so baldly and bluntly a doctrine that finds fairly wide acceptance in many parts of the country today; the doctrine that free speech is guaranteed only to those who will talk the way the authorities want them to, and that the guarantee can be revoked by any office-holder at his own discretion.

It is as un-American a doctrine as could possibly be imagined. We are indebted to Mr. Smith for bringing it out into the open and expressing it in a way that enables friends of liberty to grapple with it.

BUS REGULATION

The interstate commerce commission seems to be moving wisely in recommending gradual formation of a federal code to govern interstate transportation by motor bus and truck.

As the commission remarks, this is a new field, and it is important that the government, in entering it, move slowly and feel its way from point to point. It is not quite plain, yet, just where the public interest chiefly lies in this matter, and precipitate action must be avoided.

But it is clear that some sort of regulation is needed. Interstate commerce is interstate commerce, whether it moves by bus or by train; if one variety needs governmental supervision, it seems obvious that the other variety needs it also.

Whenever the laws undertake to make the people over instead of protecting them in their rights, there is going to be trouble. Making the people over is what religion is for.

ATHLETIC BANKING

(Editorial from the Christian Science Monitor)

"I would not want to be peremptorily ordered to run 100 yards in ten seconds flat." Thus Mr. Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, paraphrased the embarrassment the United States banking system might encounter if required by law to stabilize prices. The tenor of all his testimony opposing the Goldborough bill was that the federal reserve system might be unable to perform the feat this bill would command.

Mr. Meyer acknowledged the value of stability—though carefully distinguishing it from immobility—but felt that legislation which promised it might do harm by arousing false hopes. And the remainder of his testimony was devoted to showing that fiscal measures of the government are tending to halt the excessive deflation which has called forth demands for achieving stability by lawmaking.

He recounted that 1319 banks—most of them in small communities—already have been assisted by the Reconstruction Finance corporation; that $250,000,000 has come out of hoarding since February 1; that the resources of the banks which reopened in March were greater than those of the banks which closed; and that bank credits have begun to expand slightly.

Even stronger evidence of efforts to stop the decline in commodity prices is furnished by the credit expansion campaign of the reserve banks, which has just been boldly accelerated by an agreement to increase purchases of federal bonds. Mr. George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, described these operations as unprecedented in world finance and indicated that such quantities of credit would be pushed out to the banks that "lack of credit" could no longer be given as a reason for refusing legitimate loans.

Of course, the key to the situation is still the confidence which will cause business men to seek loans. Expansion of credit must to some extent wait upon expansion of business. But in so far as this effort makes for "easy money" and in effect increases the money supply, it should help to stabilize prices.

Indeed, these are all encouraging developments. They may not, however, develop fast enough to head off drastic legislation. Deflation has been carried to such a point that for some time inflation will mean merely "reflation." If commodity prices have sunk distinctly below normal levels, such an increase in credit and currency as would bring them within sight of the surface could hardly be called a balloon ascension.

The whole recent effort of the government is a recognition of this fact. And the testimony of Mr. Meyer and the action of the federal reserve banks indicate that those in charge of the American financial system realize that a bolder policy is needed in future.

Reforms are required in its organization and in its operation. For the first some legislation will be necessary. For the second, voluntary action of those in control would be best. But if action is not voluntary, it will be forced. The banking system may not need to do 100 yards in "ten flat," but before long it may find itself breaking into a dog trot.

Faith and Courage

(Editorial from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

Three years ago the country was in the midst of a speculative boom that was based upon an exaggeration of public confidence. Everybody was wearing "rose-colored glasses." Economic fairy tales were a popular form of serious literature. There was no limit to the continuance or the growth of prosperity. Paper riches were assuming astronomical proportions. Pessimism was obsolete, both as a word and as a feeling. Extravagances in expenditures, public and private, were regarded as sound finance.

Then the bubble burst, and today all these conditions, ideas and feelings are at the opposite extreme. Rose-colored glasses have long since gone to the ashcan and blue ones have taken their place. Prosperity is not only gone, but there is a prevalent feeling that it will never return. Optimism is now become obsolete and discredited, and pessimism reigns supreme. The apostles of gloom are on the air. Nobody believes anything.

In short, the exaggerated confidence of three years ago has become the equally exaggerated distrust of the present. The one extreme is no more rational, no more justified, than the other. Circumstances were not really as bright as they seemed then, they are not as dark as they seem now. The natural resources of the country are intact, and these are the bases of economic welfare. Values, to be sure, have greatly decreased, and trade has diminished until relatively it appears almost at the vanishing point, but both are the results of, and to a considerable extent the necessary reactions from, the excesses of the period of gross extravagance. We are paying for them, and paying dearly. But our national credit is not impaired; our money is still at parity with gold, and there is plenty of it, although most of it is stored away and inactive. The native industry of the country has lost none of its quality or its power of production. We have at hand all the means by which wealth and prosperity are ever created—material resources virtually unlimited, sound money in abundance, and capable and tireless industry. But we are suffering from a paralysis of movement, the direct result of a fear to move, of that exaggeration of distrust with which we are afflicted.

There is no doubt that if this fear can be removed movement will be resumed, enterprise will be stirred to action, the wheels of industry will begin to turn with increasing power. Fear is a stubborn malady, exceedingly difficult to cure when it infects a nation, and it does no good whatever to reason with it. But if there is anything at all in history and past experience we may be sure that this fear will gradually disappear as circumstances rather than talk slowly dissipate distrust. Nobody can now believe that prosperity is just around the corner. We have too many difficulties to overcome, too many heavy burdens to bear until we can be relieved, too far to climb to reach the normal levels of national well-being, to permit any rational expectation of an early recovery. But indubitably we shall recover. And recovery once started will move with increasing rapidity as it proceeds.

Nor are we now without some facts that encourage the belief that at least the way is being prepared for such a beginning. At any rate, it can be said that some grave dangers that confronted us a few weeks ago have vanished. There is no doubt now that the federal government's budget will be balanced and its credit sustained. That is a fundamental of the utmost importance. The banking situation which a short time ago aroused apprehension has been greatly improved and the fear relieved by the work of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. President Hoover reports that in the nine weeks previous to the creation of the corporation 633 banks, with deposits of $172,990,000, closed their doors, while in the nine weeks following only seventy-seven banks failed, with deposits of but $25,000,000. That peril seems to be passed. Meanwhile some $250,000,000 of hoarded money has been restored to circulation. Stability of finance and credit are essential stimulants to return of public confidence and these circumstances should aid materially in this necessary stabilization.

Sixty years ago, in the midst of a national panic, James A. Garfield thrilled the nation with his dramatic declaration in New York: "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives." That could with equal truth be repeated today. What America needs is faith and courage—a lot of both.

Pungent Comment

A girl likes a fellow with some go to himself—if he takes her along.

It takes a clever person to distinguish his friends from his enemies.

Anyway, congressmen have not yet voted themselves a bonus.

Are Tammany men exempt from serving jail sentences today?

Many a dog that has no pedigree brings the cows home.

People who don't like human nature hate everything.

An ounce of prevention is still at the same old price.

Only cowards sing at night when they are afraid.

Howe About Everything

By E. W. HOWE

John D. Rockefeller is the outstanding philanthropist of the world; no man ever lived before who has accomplished an equal amount of good. It is also true that he has lived a life far better than the average. He was a good boy to his mother, when his father ran off and left her. He has taken good care of his health, and of members of his family: there is truly a lot of good to say of Mr. Rockefeller, outside of his philanthropy. . . . A much more famous man was Lazarus, who had no other distinction than extreme poverty. My pastor says Lazarus is in Heaven; that John D. Rockefeller will go to the devil. I hope Lazarus, after his miserable, useless career on earth, found bliss after death, but if he did, I am certain a tremendously useful man will find more.

Northwestern university at Evanston, Illinois, is as good as any of them. Professor Mower, of its department of sociology, says the American family has disintegrated faster in the last decade than at any other period in history. Fathers in the present day, he says, are nothing more than household footballs. Professor Mower also notes the entire disappearance of the old idea that children should be seen, and not heard. . . . It is really true that husbands and fathers should assert themselves, but I have utterly failed to convince them of it.

I never pay any attention to the suggestions of professional book critics. I select my reading from the talk of people of "my type," if they like a book I try it. Even then, I am often disappointed.

The women do not hate me as much as they claim to. A doctor writes that his wife fusses about what I write, and that he lately discovered she read something I have written before her literary club.

A man is a bunch of flesh certain to become putrid at no great distance in the future. His greatest job is to avoid the calamity as long as possible; and his best way is to look carefully at his stomach—care the controls all the rest. We all know this, but who acts on his knowledge? The trouble with all of us is we hate doing our duty, but love pills and lotions we know are at best uncertain remedies. Every man knows he must take care of himself, but hates the knowledge, loves to insult it, and lean on others he knows are not reliable.

A long time ago a clever man wrote a book which was favored with a wide reading. The period of its popularity lasted several years, and he kept the letters written him about it, finding that these almost exactly balanced in good and bad opinion: one-half abused it extravagantly, and the other half praised it; the latter still read, but the question as to whether it is good or bad has not yet been decided.

The best lawyers I have known read law in an old-fashioned law office, did the janitor work for their tuition, and walked the courts. Such men begin at the bottom, and learn in the rough, but correct school of experience. . . . A noted man once wrote a book called "The Blessing of Poverty," arguing that no man can correctly know life, and be a reasonably sound philosopher, unless he has been poor.

There is less employment in the world now than ever before. I believe this is as generously agreed, but apparently it has occurred to no one that this unfortunate condition may be due to the fact that the number of free-spending rich has been greatly reduced. . . . No one seems to realize that successful men are of any use in the world.

It has been discovered by careful examination over a period of years that young people under twenty have twice as many automobile accidents as persons between thirty and forty. . . . In everything the necessity of caution, better behavior, is emphasized after passing thirty, and on up to old age, after their old people say: "I get along fairly well, when I take care of myself."

For a long time Americans have been abroad as "Smart Yankees," but foreigners are now generally saving the American government is trying to commit suicide. In all history there has been no such declining standard of living as in the past twenty years. The term "Smart Yankees" will be heard less frequently in future, if at all.

The only unnatural thing I believe in is Luck. . . . Nothing can convince me that some people do not have more of it than I have.

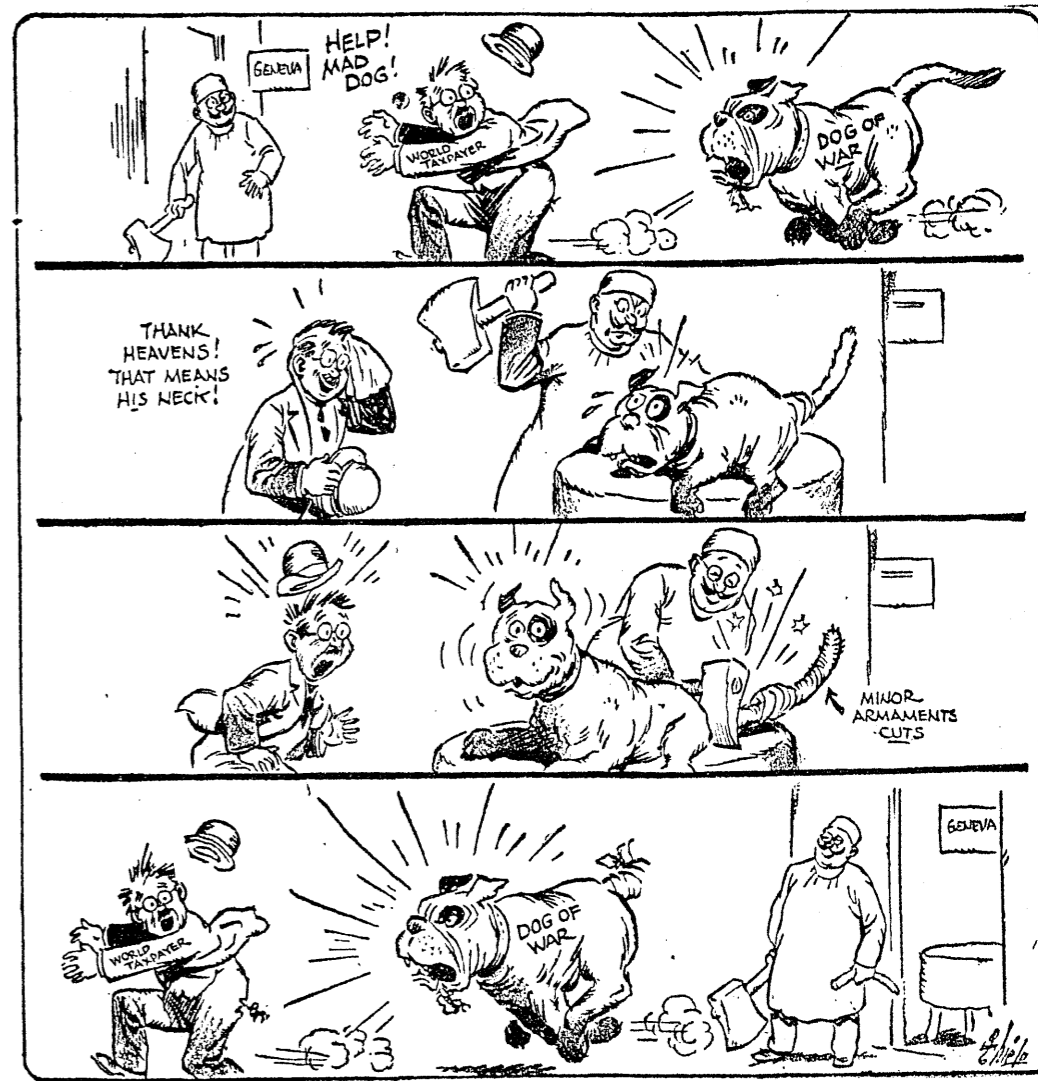

Some people say I am too much of a pessimist. The truth is, my optimism has led me into my greatest difficulties.

A long time ago a married man wrote his confessions. Speaking of his wife and her kin he said: "I know how to complain, but not how to act." . . . That is good writing; it will cause every man to say: "How natural!" and every woman to say: "The brute!"

All French literature carries the impression that in France it is common for wives to have lovers with the knowledge and consent of husbands, history reeks with examples of husbands leaving their home, that lovers of their wives more agreeably occupy them. . . . I do not believe any such tales; this must be literature, and not sober history. It is unnatural and everything unnatural in print is literature. I have lived among men and women a long time, and know them from necessity, as I have known daylight and dark, food, storm and sunshine. The strongest characteristic of men and women is jealousy. I have never known such a situation as French authors say is common in their country.

(Copyright, 1932, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Sad Tail of Disarmament Failure!

Important Phases of Louisiana Law Not Generally Understood

(Published through the cooperation of the Louisiana State Bar association and the Louisiana Press association to disseminate information about laws affecting people in their daily lives, to encourage their study of constitutional government and to cherish public respect for the courts.)

WHO WILL GET YOUR PROPERTY WHEN YOU DIE?

Husband and Wife

If there are no lawful relations nor surviving husband or wife, nor acknowledged natural children, the succession of a person dying goes to the state.

The wife is not an heir of the husband and the husband is not an heir of the wife, except in default of all other lawful relations of the husband or wife who has died. If a married man has left no lawful descendants, nor acknowledged natural children, the inheritance from him to the exclusion of any of the natural children, though they have been duly acknowledged by him, on the other hand, if it is the wife who dies without leaving any lawful descendants, acknowledged or collateral relations, the surviving husband inherits from her only in case she leaves no natural child or children duly acknowledged by her.

The surviving husband or wife, called to the succession of the other who has died must cause an inventory of the succession to be made and be authorized to take possession by the court, upon giving security in the amount of the estimated value of the succession to secure the restitution of the estate in case any heir should come forward in three years after he or she is put in possession to claim the estate. During this time, the surviving husband or wife can not sell the real estate belonging to the succession, except under authority of the court and at public auction.

Community Property
It is otherwise, however, with reference to the property belonging to the community between the husband and wife, that is the property, that has been accumulated during their marriage.

If you are married and your father or mother are both dead and you die without children or grandchildren and without making a will, your surviving spouse will get your share in the community property.
If you leave no children or other descendants but leave a father and mother or either of them, and your spouse survives you, your share in the community between you and your spouse is divided in two equal portions, one of which goes to the father and mother, or either of them, and the other share goes to your surviving spouse.

If you leave any children or other descendants, they will inherit all your property, as explained in the preceding article, but if you have not disposed by will of your share in the community property, your surviving spouse will have a usufruct during his or her natural life on your share in the community property which is inherited by your children or other descendants. This usufruct ceases, however, when the surviving spouse shall enter into a second marriage.

Natural Children
Natural children, that is, children born out of wedlock, inherit from their natural mother when they have been duly acknowledged by her to the exclusion of her father and mother and other ascendants or collaterals of lawful kindred. If the natural mother has lawful children or descendants, the rights of the natural children are reduced to a moderate alimony.
Natural children inherit from their natural father who has duly acknowledged them when he has left no descendants nor ascendants nor collaterals of lawful kindred, nor surviving wife and to the exclusion only of the state. They have only the right to claim a mod-

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS"
If April 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:10 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Sunday, April 24th, should be a day of pleasant memories, as the world will be in a friendly mood. Family life should be peaceful, spiritual participations enjoyable, and pleasures of the day intoxicating. Both laughter and tears for young lovers.

The child born on this April 24th will have a brisk, alert, fun-loving, and likeable personality. It will be obedient without being servile, and independent-minded without being rude. It will strive to excel in school and outside work and will have both the brain and energy to do so.
Born on April 24th, you have a great deal of intelligence and resolution to assist you in your attempt to get from life your share from its bounteous storehouse. You are not a dreamer and your lack of imagination limits your mental vision. To the task of the day, however, you bring application, no small amount of skill, unlimited patience and a spirit of to do or die. If caught napping because of your lack of foresight, you always have good sound common sense upon which to fall back.

You have quick but controlled emotions are conventionally sentimental, witty but not humorous. You have much pride, very little conceit, observance, but no curiosity. On the whole you are made of very sound wood and are a person to be trusted, and upon whom to pin one's faith. You have plenty of courage and are not easily unnerved. You believe in minding your own business, and refuse to worry about your neighbor's morals. You try as much as possible to separate yourself from those you do not like and loathe warfare of any kind, domestic or otherwise.

Your life will not be a cut and dried affair without adventure, thrills and romance. You are without snobbery as the word is ordinarily interpreted, but you have social pride and do not lower yourself through your friendships.

Successful People Born

- 1—Cyril Maude, English actor.
- 2—Oliver Cromwell, the great Protector.
- 3—Sir J. Colman, "The Mustard King."
- 4—Santos Dumont, aviator.
- 5—John A. Alexander, orientalist and linguist.
- 6—Charles S. Sargent, botanist.

(Copyright, 1932, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

BAR EXAMINATIONS WILL BE HELD IN MONTH OF JULY

Fred G. Hudson, Jr., Monroe secretary of the supreme court examining committee for admission to the bar of the state of Louisiana, announces that the committee will hold its next examination on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 11, 12 and 13, at Loyola university, New Orleans.

Applications on required form must be delivered to the clerk of the supreme court at least 30 days prior to the date fixed for the examination. For blanks and further information apply to Stephen A. Mascaro, assistant secretary, 411 New Orleans court building, New Orleans.

PLANS BEING MADE

Big plans are being made for the holding of the Louisiana Police Jury association's annual convention in Shreveport April 26 and 27th. Onechita police jury will send over a number of delegates. Two days of rare entertainment are planned in the Caddo seat city.

JUBILEE ON JULY FOURTH PLANNED IN WEST MONROE

West Monroe plans a jubilee to celebrate permanent flood protection at McGuire park on July Fourth. This is all contingent on the carrying out of plans for flood protection a survey for which is to be completed, the project discussed and decision reached as to the best means to be employed. It is probable that it will require action of approval at the polls. If all this can be done in time for the July Fourth celebration, such will take place.

However, if the time proves too short a rodeo and other justification will be held to celebrate Independence day at the park.

MECHANIC LEARNS TO FLY IN ONE HOUR AND A HALF

After receiving instruction during an hour and a half, Elmer E. Lane, local mechanic, piloted an airplane on his first solo flight Friday afternoon at Selman field. Lane was formerly a parachute maintenance man in the aeronautics service of the United States army. He made a number of parachute jumps from planes, in testing parachutes. His flying instructor at Selman field is H. C. King, manager and instructor of the Aeronautic Industries.

RIVERSIDE NURSES HOME BUILDING SOLD SATURDAY

The Monroe Building and Loan association purchased the nurses' home building of the Riverside sanitarium at an auction sale yesterday in front of the postoffice. The association bid of $30,020 and costs of the sale was the only bid offered. Harry Oliver, local attorney, conducted the sale for the sanitarium co-trustees, Dr. George M. Trezevant, Dr. E. R. Yancy and Dr. F. C. Bennett.

FLOUR CONSIGNMENT GOES IN RED CROSS WAREHOUSE

The Ouachita parish Red Cross chapter yesterday moved to its warehouse a consignment of flour received through national Red Cross headquarters. Tickets entitling heads of needy families to obtain the flour will be issued from the chapter headquarters, 316 Grammont street, beginning tomorrow. The tickets will be presented at the warehouse, located at 328 Harrison street, for receipt of the flour.

BIBLE CLASSES TO MEET

The Euzeilian class and the Young Men's Bible class of the Sunday school of the Monroe First Baptist church will meet at 9:30 o'clock this morning upstairs over Green's market, corner of Harrison and Hall streets. The two classes form a new department of the Sunday school, adult department No. 2.

WILL VISIT LOAN OFFICES

Visits to parish federal crop production loan offices of Monroe, Bastrop and Farmerville will be made next week by W. C. Davenport, field inspector for the Memphis district loan office. Davenport has already arrived here. Yesterday he visited the Monroe and Farmerville loan offices.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE MORNING WORLD

Monroe Morning World
AND NEWS-STAR
FOUNDED OCTOBER 20, 1929, BY ROBERT EWING
Published every morning by
THE NEWS-STAR-WORLD PUBLISHING COMPANY
110-114 North Second Street

JOHN D. EWING
WILSON EWING
J. M. MYATT
E. E. GLENN

.....Publisher
.....Publisher
.....General Manager
.....Business Manager

	Daily & Sunday	Daily & Sunday	Daily & Sunday
	News-Star	Combination	World
Week	20c	30c	20c
1 Month	75c	1.25	75c
3 Months	2.15	3.75	2.15
6 Months	4.00	7.00	4.00
1 Year	7.50	12.00	7.50

Entered as second-class matter at the Monroe (La.) post office December 10, 1929, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

JOHN M. BRANHAM CO., Sole Foreign Representative Offices, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Memphis, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

The Monroe Morning World is an independent newspaper. It prints the news impartially. It supports what it believes to be right. It opposes what it believes to be wrong, without regard to party politics.

MORE GAME BIRDS

In the midst of Washington's preoccupation over economic matters, people who are interested in the threatened extinction of the nation's wild fowl have taken a sensible attitude. They are not asking for subsidies or federal appropriations. On the other hand, they propose to meet the crisis out of their own pockets. Their proposal outlined in detail before a senate special committee, is to provide funds out of a stamp tax of one cent on all shotgun shells sold.

Shooters and sportsmen are giving the plan unstinted support, and such opposition as has developed appears to be based on misunderstanding rather than selfishness or stinginess.

The migratory birds of North America are an international affair in which both the United States and Canada are vitally interested. Both countries recognize their value as a great natural asset, which will disappear unless effective measures are taken promptly. The present crisis is the result of three years of drouth, combined with a vast amount of draining of swamps and marshes, creating an alarming deficiency in waterfowl breeding grounds.

The proposed stamp tax on shells would yield a fund of $7,000,000 a year. Divided half-and-half between federal and state agencies, this sum will undoubtedly meet the need promptly and adequately. Breeding places will be provided for the wild fowl in the right places and at the right time. Nature will do the rest, for game birds, if given half a chance, are prolific, and their normal increase would mean a vast and permanent stock of wild life for the present and future generations.

Darwin has pointed out that nature protects most wild creatures against extinction by providing them with a reproductive capacity that is truly enormous. If there were no natural or artificial checks to multiplication, almost any given species in time would literally cover the earth. At the senate committee hearings it was made obvious that the most effective solution of declining migratory fowl lies in the utilization of this proclivity by encouraging reproduction on natural feeding grounds, and by removing some of the checks upon it. The passage of the penny-a-shell bill is bound to be followed by a great increase in the annual production of game birds. The program outlined is based on sound principles; it simply proposes to assist a bountiful nature effectively and economically by the improvement of natural environments.

THE BELL COUNTY ATTITUDE

County Attorney Walter R. Smith of Bell county, Kentucky, unwittingly did the nation a service the other day in his letter to Arthur Garfield Hayes of the Civil Liberties union. Declaring that the union was communistic, Mr. Smith remarked that Bell county authorities don't believe that "any such organization or any group of persons representing it have any constitutional rights in Bell county that any person is bound to respect."

It was a public service to express so baldly and bluntly a doctrine that finds fairly wide acceptance in many parts of the country today; the doctrine that free speech is guaranteed only to those who will talk the way the authorities want them to, and that the guarantee can be revoked by any office-holder at his own discretion.

It is as un-American a doctrine as could possibly be imagined. We are indebted to Mr. Smith for bringing it out into the open and expressing it in a way that enables friends of liberty to grapple with it.

BUS REGULATION

The interstate commerce commission seems to be moving wisely in recommending gradual formation of a federal code to govern interstate transportation by motor bus and truck.

As the commission remarks, this is a new field, and it is important that the government, in entering it, move slowly and feel its way from point to point. It is not quite plain, yet, just where the public interest chiefly lies in this matter, and precipitate action must be avoided.

But it is clear that some sort of regulation is needed. Interstate commerce is interstate commerce, whether it moves by bus or by train; if one variety needs governmental supervision, it seems obvious that the other variety needs it also.

Whenever the laws undertake to make the people over instead of protecting them in their rights, there is going to be trouble. Making the people over is what religion is for.

ATHLETIC BANKING

(Editorial from the Christian Science Monitor)

"I would not want to be peremptorily ordered to run 100 yards in ten seconds flat." Thus Mr. Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, paraphrased the embarrassment the United States banking system might encounter if required by law to stabilize prices. The tenor of all his testimony opposing the Goldborough bill was that the federal reserve system might be unable to perform the feat this bill would command.

Mr. Meyer acknowledged the value of stability—though carefully distinguishing it from immobility—but felt that legislation which promised it might do harm by arousing false hopes. And the remainder of his testimony was devoted to showing that fiscal measures of the government are tending to halt the excessive deflation which has called forth demands for achieving stability by lawmaking.

He recounted that 1319 banks—most of them in small communities—already have been assisted by the Reconstruction Finance corporation; that $250,000,000 has come out of hoarding since February 1; that the resources of the banks which reopened in March were greater than those of the banks which closed; and that bank credits have begun to expand slightly.

Even stronger evidence of efforts to stop the decline in commodity prices is furnished by the credit expansion campaign of the reserve banks, which has just been boldly accelerated by an agreement to increase purchases of federal bonds. Mr. George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, described these operations as unprecedented in world finance and indicated that such quantities of credit would be pushed out to the banks that "lack of credit" could no longer be given as a reason for refusing legitimate loans.

Of course, the key to the situation is still the confidence which will cause business men to seek loans. Expansion of credit must to some extent wait upon expansion of business. But in so far as this effort makes for "easy money" and in effect increases the money supply, it should help to stabilize prices.

Indeed, these are all encouraging developments. They may not, however, develop fast enough to head off drastic legislation. Deflation has been carried to such a point that for some time inflation will mean merely "reflation." If commodity prices have sunk distinctly below normal levels, such an increase in credit and currency as would bring them within sight of the surface could hardly be called a balloon ascension.

The whole recent effort of the government is a recognition of this fact. And the testimony of Mr. Meyer and the action of the federal reserve banks indicate that those in charge of the American financial system realize that a bolder policy is needed in future.

Reforms are required in its organization and in its operation. For the first some legislation will be necessary. For the second, voluntary action of those in control would be best. But if action is not voluntary, it will be forced. The banking system may not need to do 100 yards in "ten flat," but before long it may find itself breaking into a dog trot.

Faith and Courage

(Editorial from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

Three years ago the country was in the midst of a speculative boom that was based upon an exaggeration of public confidence. Everybody was wearing "rose-colored glasses." Economic fairy tales were a popular form of serious literature. There was no limit to the continuance or the growth of prosperity. Paper riches were assuming astronomical proportions. Pessimism was obsolete, both as a word and as a feeling. Extravagances in expenditures, public and private, were regarded as sound finance.

Then the bubble burst, and today all these conditions, ideas and feelings are at the opposite extreme. Rose-colored glasses have long since gone to the ashcan and blue ones have taken their place. Prosperity is not only gone, but there is a prevalent feeling that it will never return. Optimism is now become obsolete and discredited, and pessimism reigns supreme. The apostles of gloom are on the air. Nobody believes anything.

In short, the exaggerated confidence of three years ago has become the equally exaggerated distrust of the present. The one extreme is no more rational, no more justified, than the other. Circumstances were not really as bright as they seemed then, they are not as dark as they seem now. The natural resources of the country are intact, and these are the bases of economic welfare. Values, to be sure, have greatly decreased, and trade has diminished until relatively it appears almost at the vanishing point, but both are the results of, and to a considerable extent the necessary reactions from, the excesses of the period of gross extravagance. We are paying for them, and paying dearly. But our national credit is not impaired; our money is still at parity with gold, and there is plenty of it, although most of it is stored away and inactive. The native industry of the country has lost none of its quality or its power of production. We have at hand all the means by which wealth and prosperity are ever created—material resources virtually unlimited, sound money in abundance, and capable and tireless industry. But we are suffering from a paralysis of movement, the direct result of a fear to move, of that exaggeration of distrust with which we are afflicted.

There is no doubt that if this fear can be removed movement will be resumed, enterprise will be stirred to action, the wheels of industry will begin to turn with increasing power. Fear is a stubborn malady, exceedingly difficult to cure when it infects a nation, and it does no good whatever to reason with it. But if there is anything at all in history and past experience we may be sure that this fear will gradually disappear as circumstances rather than talk slowly dissipate distrust. Nobody can now believe that prosperity is "just around the corner." We have too many difficulties to overcome, too many heavy burdens to bear until we can be relieved, too far to climb to reach the normal levels of national well-being, to permit any rational expectation of an early recovery. But indubitably we shall recover. And recovery once started will move with increasing rapidity as it proceeds.

Nor are we now without some facts that encourage the belief that at least the way is being prepared for such a beginning. At any rate, it can be said that some grave dangers that confronted us a few weeks ago have vanished. There is no doubt now that the federal government's budget will be balanced and its credit sustained. That is a fundamental of the utmost importance. The banking situation which a short time ago aroused apprehension has been greatly improved and the fear relieved by the work of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. President Hoover reports that in the nine weeks previous to the creation of the corporation 653 banks, with deposits of $478,000,000, closed their doors, while in the nine weeks following only seventy-seven banks failed, with deposits of but $25,000,000. That peril seems to be passed. Meanwhile some $250,000,000 of hoarded money has been restored to circulation. Stability of finance and credit are essential stimulants to return of public confidence and these circumstances should aid materially in this necessary stabilization.

Sixty years ago, in the midst of a national panic, James A. Garfield thrilled the nation with his dramatic declaration in New York: "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives." That could with equal truth be repeated today. What America needs is faith and courage—a lot of both.

Pungent Comment

A girl likes a fellow with some go to himself—if he takes her along.
It takes a clever person to distinguish his friends from his enemies.
Anyway, congressmen have not yet voted themselves a bonus.
Are Tammany men exempt from serving jail sentences today?
Many a dog that has no pedigree brings the cows home.
People who don't like human nature hate everything.
An ounce of prevention is still at the same old price.
Only cowards sing at night when they are afraid.

Howe About Everything

By E. W. HOWE

John D. Rockefeller is the outstanding philanthropist of the world; no man ever lived before who has accomplished an equal amount of good. It is also true that he has lived a life far better than the average. He was a good boy to his mother, when his father ran off and left her. He has taken good care of his health, and of members of his family: there is truly a lot of good to say of Mr. Rockefeller, outside of his philanthropy. . . . A much more famous man was Lazarus, who had no other distinction than extreme poverty. My pastor says Lazarus is in Heaven; that John D. Rockefeller will go to the devil. I hope Lazarus, after his miserable, useless career on earth, found bliss after death, but if he did, I am certain a tremendously useful man will find more.

Northwestern university at Evanston, Illinois, is as good as any of them. Professor Mower, of its department of sociology, says the American family has disintegrated faster in the last decade than at any other period in history. Fathers in the present day, he says, are neither more than house hold footballs. Professor Mower also notes the entire disappearance of the old idea that children should be seen, and not heard. . . . It is really true that husbands and fathers should assert themselves, but I have utterly failed to convince them of it.

I never pay any attention to the suggestions of professional book critics. I select my reading from the talk of people of "my type"; if they like a book I try it. Even then, I am often disappointed.

The women do not hate me as much as they claim to. A doctor writes that his wife fusses about what I write, and that she lately discovered she read something I have written before her literary club.

A man is a bunch of flesh certain to become putrid at no great distance in the future. His greatest job is to avoid the calamity as long as possible; and his best way is to look carefully after his stomach—care there controls all the rest. . . . We all know this, but who acts on his knowledge? The trouble with all of us is we have done our duty, but low pills and lozenges we know are at best uncertain remedies. Every man knows he must take care of himself, but hates the knowledge, loves to insult it, and lean on others he knows are not reliable.

A long time ago a clever man wrote a book which was favored with a wide reading. The period of its popularity lasted several years, and he kept the letters written him about it, finding that these almost exactly balanced in good and bad opinion: one-half abused it extravagantly, and the other half praised it; the book is still read, but the question as to whether it is good or bad has not yet been decided.

The best lawyers I have known read law in an old-fashioned law office, did the janitor work for their tuition, and walked the courts. Such men begin at the bottom, and learn in the rough but correct school of experience. . . . A noted man once wrote a book called "The Blessing of Poverty," arguing that no man can correctly know life, and be a reasonably sound philosopher, unless he has been poor.

There is less employment in the world now than ever before. I believe this is as generously agreed, but apparently it has occurred to no one that this unfortunate condition may be due to the fact that the number of free-spending rich has been greatly reduced. . . . No one seems to realize that successful men are of any use in the world.

It has been discovered by careful examination over a period of years that young people under twenty have twice as many automobile accidents as persons between thirty and forty. . . . In everything the necessity of caution, better behavior, is emphasized after passing thirty, and on up to old age. I often hear old people say: "I got along fairly well, when I take care of myself."

For a long time Americans have been abroad as "Smart Yankees," but foreigners are now generally saving the American government is trying to commit suicide. In all history there has been no such blundering as we have been guilty of in the past twenty years. The term "Smart Yankees" will be heard less frequently in future, if at all.

The only unnatural thing I believe in is Luck. . . . Nothing can convince me that some people do not have more of it than I have.

Some people say I am too much of a pessimist. The truth is, my optimism has led me into my greatest difficulties.

A long time ago a married man wrote his confessions. Speaking of his wife and her kin he said: "I knew how to complain, but not how to act." . . . That is good writing; it will cause every man to say: "How natural!" and every woman to say: "The brute!"

All French literature carries the impression that in France it is common for wives to have lovers with the knowledge and consent of husbands leaving their home, that lovers of their wives more greedily occupy them. I do not believe any such tales; this must be literature, and not sober history. It is unnatural, and everything unnatural in print is literature. I have lived among men and women a long time, and know them from necessity, as I have known daylight and dark, food, storm and sunshine. The strongest characteristic of men and women is jealousy. I have never known such a situation as French authors say is common in their country. (Copyright, 1932, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Sad Tail of Disarmament Failure!

Important Phases of Louisiana Law Not Generally Understood

(Published through the cooperation of the Louisiana State Bar association and the Louisiana Press association to disseminate information about laws affecting people in their daily lives, to encourage their study of constitutional government and to cherish public respect for the courts.)

WHO WILL GET YOUR PROPERTY WHEN YOU DIE?

Husband and Wife

If there are no lawful relations nor surviving husband or wife, nor acknowledged natural children, the succession of a person dying goes to the state.

The wife is not an heir of the husband and the husband is not an heir of the wife, except in default of all other lawful relations of the husband or wife who has died. If a married man has left no lawful descendants nor ascendants nor any lawful collateral relations but a surviving wife, she inherits from him to the exclusion of any of his natural children, though they have been duly acknowledged by him. On the other hand, if it is the wife who dies without leaving any lawful descendants, ascendants or collateral relations, the surviving husband inherits from her, only in case she leaves no natural child or children duly acknowledged by her.

The surviving husband or wife called to the succession of the other who has died must cause an inventory of the succession to be made and be authorized to take possession by the court, upon giving security in the amount of the estimated value of the succession to secure the restitution of the estate in case any heir should come forward in three years after he is put in possession to claim the estate. During this time, the surviving husband or wife can not sell the real estate belonging to the succession, except under authority of the court and at public auction.

Community Property
It is otherwise, however, with reference to the property belonging to the community between the husband and wife, that is the property that has been accumulated during their marriage.

If you are married and your father or mother are both dead and you die without children or grandchildren and without making a will, your surviving spouse will get your share in the community property.

If you leave no children or other descendants but leave a father and mother or either of them, and your spouse survives you, your share in the community between you and your spouse is divided in two equal portions, one of which goes to the father and mother, or either of them, and the other share goes to your surviving spouse.

If you leave any children or other descendants, they will inherit all your property, as explained in the preceding article, but if you have not disposed by will of your share in the community property, your surviving spouse will have a usufruct during his or her natural life on your share in the community property which is inherited by your children or other descendants. This usufruct ceases, however, when the surviving spouse shall enter into a second marriage.

Natural Children
Natural children, that is, children born out of wedlock, inherit from their natural mother when they have been duly acknowledged by her to the exclusion of her father and mother and other ascendants or collaterals of lawful kindred. If the natural mother has lawful children or descendants, the rights of the natural children are reduced to a moderate alimony.

Natural children inherit from their natural father who has duly acknowledged them when he has left no descendants nor ascendants nor collateral relations nor surviving wife and to the exclusion only of the state. They have only the right to claim a moderate alimony against the natural father or his heirs.

Natural children have no right of inheritance to the estate of the legitimate relations of their father or mother.

Bastard, adulterous or incestuous children do not enjoy the right of inheriting the estates of their natural father or mother. The law allows them nothing more than a mere alimony.

JUBILEE ON JULY FOURTH PLANNED IN WEST MONROE

West Monroe plans a jubilee to celebrate permanent flood protection at McGuire park on July Fourth. This is all contingent on the carrying out of plans for flood protection a survey for which is to be completed, the project discussed and decision reached as to the best means to be employed. It is probable that it will require action of approval at the polls. If all this can be done in time for the July Fourth celebration, such will take place.

MECHANIC LEARNS TO FLY IN ONE HOUR AND A HALF

After receiving instruction during an hour and a half, Elmer E. Lane, local mechanic, piloted an airplane on his first solo flight Friday afternoon at Selman field. Lane was formerly a parachute maintenance man in the aeronautics service of the United States army. He made a number of parachute jumps from planes, in testing parachutes. His flying instructor at Smoot field is H. C. King, manager and instructor of the Aeronautic Industries.

RIVERSIDE NURSES HOME BUILDING SOLD SATURDAY

The Monroe Building and Loan association purchased the nurses' home building of the Riverside sanitarium at an auction sale yesterday in front of the postoffice. The association's bid of $3,043.20 and costs of the sale was the only bid offered. Harry Oliver, local attorney, conducted the sale for the sanitarium co-trustees, Dr. George M. Trezevant, Dr. E. R. Yancey and Dr. F. C. Bennett.

FLOUR CONSIGNMENT GOES IN RED CROSS WAREHOUSE

The Ouachita parish Red Cross chapter yesterday moved to its warehouse a consignment of flour received through national Red Cross headquarters. Tickets entitling heads of needy families to obtain the flour will be issued from the chapter headquarters, 316 Grammont street, beginning tomorrow. The tickets will be presented at the warehouse, located at 328 Harrison street, for receipt of the flour.

BIBLE CLASSES TO MEET

The Euzelean class and the Young Men's Bible class of the Sunday school of the Monroe First Baptist church will meet at 9:30 o'clock this morning upstairs over Green's market, corner of Harrison and Hall streets. The two classes form a new department of the Sunday school, adult department No. 2.

WILL VISIT LOAN OFFICES

Visits to parish federal crop production loan offices of Monroe, Bastrop and Farmville will be made next week by W. C. Davenport, field inspector for the Memphis district loan office. Mr. Davenport has already arrived here. Yesterday he visited the Monroe and Farmville loan offices.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS"

If April 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:10 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Sunday, April 24th, should be a day of pleasant memories, as the world will be in a friendly mood. Family life should be peaceful, spiritual participations enjoyable, and pleasures of the day intoxicating. Both laughter and tears for young lovers.

The child born on this April 24th will have a brisk, alert, fun-loving, and likeable personality. It will be obedient without being servile, and independent-minded without being rude. It will strive to excel in school and outside work and will have both the brain and energy to do so.

Born on April 24th you have a great deal of intelligence and resolution to assist you in your attempt to get from life your share from its bounteous storehouse. You are not a dreamer and your lack of imagination limits your mental vision. To the task of the day, however, you bring application, no small amount of skill, unlimited patience and a spirit of to do or die. If caught napping because of your lack of foresight, you always have good sound common sense upon which to fall back.

You have quick but controlled emotions, are conventionally sentimental, witty but not humorous. You have much pride, very little conceit, observance, but no curiosity. On the whole you are made of very sound wood and are a person to be trusted, and upon whom to pin one's faith. You have plenty of courage and are not easily unnerved. You believe in minding your own business, and refuse to worry about your neighbor's morals. You try as much as possible to separate yourself from those you do not like and loathe warfare of any kind, domestic or otherwise.

Your life will not be a cut and dried affair without adventure, thrills and romance. You are without snobbery as the word is ordinarily interpreted, but you have social pride and do not lower yourself through your friendships.

Successful People Born April 24th:

- Cyril Maude, English actor.
- Olivier Cromwell, the great Protector.
- Sir J. Colman, "The Mustard King."
- Santos Dumont, aviator.
- John A. Alexander, orientalist and linguist.
- Charles S. Sargent, botanist. (Copyright, 1932, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

BAR EXAMINATIONS WILL BE HELD IN MONTH OF JULY

Fred G. Hudson, Jr., Monroe secretary of the supreme court examining committee for admission to the bar of the state of Louisiana, announces that the committee will hold its next examination on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 11, 12 and 13, at Loyola university, New Orleans. Applications on required form must be delivered to the clerk of the supreme court at least 30 days prior to the date fixed for the examination. For blanks and further information apply to Stephen A. Mascaro, assistant secretary, 411 New Orleans court building, New Orleans.

PLANS BEING MADE

Big plans are being made for the holding of the Louisiana Police Jury association's annual convention in Shreveport April 26 and 27th. Ouachita parish police jury will send over a number of delegates. Two days of rare entertainment are planned in the Caddo seat city.

COUNCIL TO HOLD ITS THIRD FORUM

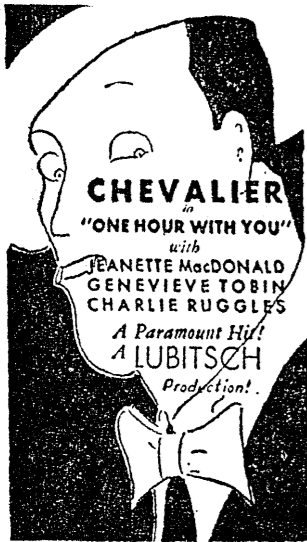

Inter-Church Group Will Discuss 'Social Ideals of Churches'

The third of a series of open forum discussions being sponsored by the Inter-church Youth Council of the Twin Cities will be held at the First Methodist church annex at 8 o'clock Monday night, when the subject, "The Social Ideals of Churches," will be discussed.

The topic will be dealt with mainly as to the stand churches should take on questions of a social nature, it was announced.

Opening discussion will be begun

Last Times Today

Paramount's Newest, Spiciest, Snappiest Love Romance

—More Joy—

"ALL SEALED UP"

SCREEN SOUVENIRS

Starts Monday

The big speed classic and breath-taking drama of racing cars—

James Cagney
Joan Blondell

—In—

"The Crowd Roars"

Thrills That Seem Impossible to Film

COMEDY NEWS

Paramount Theatre

CAPITOL

Today and Tomorrow
The Miracle of Entertainment that has amazed the world.

"THE DUNKER"
A Comedy you'll enjoy
"CAPITOL NEWS"

15c Until 1 P. M.

IT'S MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH

The red-blooded sage of America's real dare-devils—the speed demons of the race tracks! These are the heroes whose fearlessness will fascinate all women! James Cagney is featured in "The Crowd Roars" at the Paramount Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

AT THE MOVIES

PARAMOUNT

The training in timing and building light comedy derived from the musical comedy stage is invaluable to players who work in films of similar character recently declared Ernst Lubitsch, director of Maurice Chevalier's latest picture, "One Hour With You."

"One Hour With You," clearly illustrates the point, said Lubitsch. "Although the picture has none of the familiar chorus numbers of musical comedy, it is a breezy, lightning-fast, almost farcical production with musical numbers," Lubitsch explains.

The director further points to the fact that seven of the eight leading players in the production have had musical comedy experience.

Chevalier's entire career before entering pictures was in this realm of entertainment with his seasons in the Folies Bergere and his London musical comedy successes, "Hello America" and "White Birds."

Jeanette MacDonald, like Chevalier, always played in musical shows before going cinematic. Her list comprised such as "Boon Boon," "Sunny Days," "Bubbling Over" and "The Magic Ring." Both Chevalier and Miss MacDonald have sung in every film role.

Genevieve Tobin, a talented musician with a trained soprano voice and an ability to dance, was co-starred on Broadway in "Dear Sir."

"One Hour With You," with Maurice Chevalier in the stellar role and Jeanette MacDonald in the leading feminine role is at the Paramount theater today.

CAPITOL

Chosen as Miss California, personality girl of 1929, from among hundreds of contestants, lovely Sheila Manners is blessed with more than beauty. In the all-talking modern screen version of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" showing today and Monday at the Capitol theater, she proves herself to be a talented actress. Her performance as the little school teacher is a poignant characterization of a wistful girl who loves the son of a saloonkeeper, played by John Darrow who scored as the juvenile lead in "Hell's Angels."

Fern Emmett's scene with Harry Todd in one of the fight sequences of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" is screeningly funny. Others included in the cast of this well known drama, starring William Farnum, are Tom Santschi, Robert Frazer, Thomas Jefferson, Rosemary Theby, John Darrow, Lionel Belmore, Patty Lou Lynd, Phyllis Barrington, Sheila Manners, Kathrin Clare Ward, Melbourne MacDowell and Daisy Belmore.

William Griffin of West Suffolk, Conn., has a pet crow that follows him to school every day.

More than 50,000 scholarships are granted annually by American colleges and universities.

11 U. S. PRISONERS ARE TRANSFERRED

Taken From Parish Jail Here to Federal Prison at Marksville

Eleven federal prisoners at the Ouachita parish jail were transferred yesterday to the federal jail at Marksville, by R. A. Gehring, United States deputy marshal.

Those removed from jail were J. B. Carner, Clarence Dennis, William Hamblin, Leon Parker, George Maurer, D. R. Penny, and C. J. Johnson, whites, and Richard Moore and H. J. York, negroes.

Carner and Hamblin were imprisoned for violation of the Mann act. Penney, Johnson, and Maurer were serving sentences on charges of transporting whisky. Parker was serving a sentence for counterfeiting money.

W. D. Smith, 36, was taken to Mississippi on a fugitive warrant, by A. Collins, United States marshal.

More than 70 prisoners yet remain in the jail, sheriff's deputies announced last night. Those removed, they announced, had served all but a small portion of their sentences here.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 23 (AP)—Confederate memorial exercises will be held tomorrow afternoon with Rear Admiral T. P. Magruder, retired U. S. N., as orator of the occasion.

GARDEN INSECT CONTROL DEMONSTRATION IS GIVEN

At a meeting of the Eureka home demonstration club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, home demonstration agent, conducted a garden insect control demonstration, and conferred with women of the club on problems in gardening.

Club leaders discussed the clothing program of the organization, and outlined the work to be accomplished.

600 APPLICATIONS FOR LOANS SENT

Approximately 530 of Those From This Parish Have Been Granted

More than 600 applications for government crop loans had been sent to the crop loan office in Memphis yesterday, Walter Rhodes, loan agent for Ouachita parish, announced last night.

Approximately 530 of the applications sent in from the parish have been granted, and crop liens filed with the clerk of court.

While the number of loans sought by Ouachita parish citizens is greater this year, the amount asked is much less than last season, Mr. Rhodes pointed out.

Last year, he said, some 445 applications were made, with an average of $209 asked for on each loan, totaling approximately $100,000 asked by the parish. This year, loans average $106, with a total of approximately $65,000 asked. The deadline for loan applications has been set at April 30.

Delicious!... How Different!

CLARK'S Original Nectar Ice Cream SODAS... 15c

Served in large jumbo green glasses. This delicious drink is wholesome, pure and has made many friends with all those who have tried it. This drink is served only at Clark's Pharmacy.

DRIVE BY TODAY

Enjoy Your Refreshments at

Clark's Pharmacy, Inc.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST

Phone 41 We Deliver 820 Jackson

Plenty Drive-In Curb Service

1930-23

LISTEN! POCKETBOOK

You Can Pay for Dental Work At Our PRICES

ALL DENTAL WORK 1/2 PRICE TILL MAY 1st.

Your Health and Appearance Are More Important in Times of Depression than Prosperous Days.

Come in now—while these low prices are in effect. Remember

1/2 PRICE

Perfect fitting teeth—regular $15.00 kind—special—NOW EXACTLY HALF PRICE— $7.50
$25.00 Kind—Now Half Price, $12.50
$35.00 Kind—Now Half Price, $17.50
$50.00 Kind—Now Half Price, $25.00

Putting off means—paying more and may mean serious illness.

Perfect Fit Guaranteed
25 Years Successful Dental Practice

DR. W. E. SMITH

Over Woolworth's Store Phone 767

Public CONFIDENCE

DIRECTORS

J. A. Biedenbarn

D. A. Breard

R. M. Breard, Jr.

R. Downes, Jr.

Dr. J. Q. Graves

Sig. Haas

Murray Hudson

Albert Marx

Sig. Masur

F. F. Milsaps

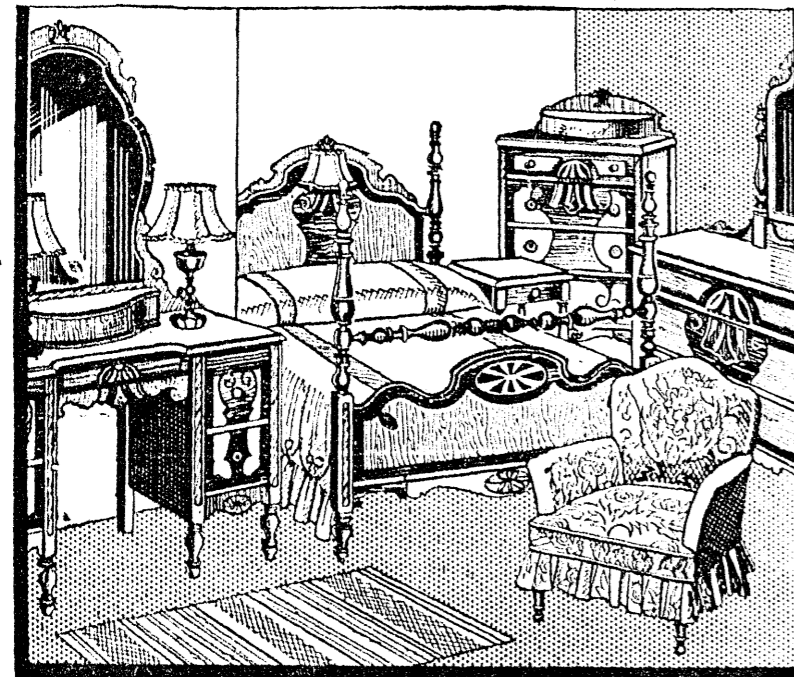

O. B. Morton

John J. Potts

C. E. Slagle

C. W. Wallace

BARGAINS IN BEDROOM SUITES

WALNUT AND MAPLE ARE MOST POPULAR

4-PC. WALNUT FINISH $62.50

We offer you a beautiful 4-Piece Walnut finish Bedroom Suite, consisting of Hollywood Vanity, Chest of Drawers, Poster Bed and Bench, good finish and splendid construction throughout at this remarkably low price

4-PC. MAPLE $97.50

If you are interested in a beautiful Maple Bedroom Suite, you should consider this one before you buy. This sure consists of extra tall High Boy, Poster Bed, Vanity Dresser with swinging Mirror and Bench. It is an elegant suite.

4-PC. WALNUT $97.50

Here is a splendid genuine Walnut Suite which consists of a large Hollywood Vanity, Poster Bed, spacious Chest of Drawers and Bench. This Suite is most unusual in design and finish and is priced extremely low.

EASY TERMS

HOME FURNITURE CO., INC.

PHONE 3040

501-507 DESIARD ST.

MONROE, LA.

For many years, the Ouachita National Bank has progressed in growth and service... During this long period, through wars and panics... severe financial and business depressions, The Ouachita National Bank has held steadfastly to sound banking practices. Public confidence has followed in the trail of this undeviated policy, unshaken... Today the succeeding generations depend upon this trustworthy institution for safe and helpful banking advice.

Ouachita National Bank

Monroe, Louisiana

"A GREATER BANK A GREATER MONROE"

NO DECISION MADE IN BUCKHORN BEND LEVEE PROPOSALS

(Continued from First Page)

"margin of safety" be maintained in the construction of the dykes. He objected to a resurvey suggested by Mr. Fernandez and others, pointing out that "such surveys are expensive."

W. H. Ross, resident of the community, expressed the opinion that "the present plan is only money thrown away, without protection. If the Jadwin plan," he said, "puts nine more feet of water in the Ouachita river, we'll still be dry when Monroe people are floating around in boats. I am willing to take my chances with the city."

Would Care for 53 Feet.

In answering a question by Dr. C. L. Mengis, Mr. Ethridge explained the present plans are to build up the levee to a height which would care for a 53-foot stage in Monroe. He emphasized that construction work would be advanced enough to provide for a stage in excess of 53 feet, if such a move were found necessary, and that gaps in the present levee system would be closed. The levee would be 24 feet wide at the top and 55 feet at the base, he said. It would be required by the levee board, he said, that the roadbed on the levee top be gravelled within a year, to avoid traffic damage to the dyke.

It was developed in the discussion that graveling the roadbed would cost approximately $10,000, which Mr. Breard said, the police jury was not prepared to spend. Members of the police jury expressed the opinion that the cost of graveling could not be borne by the parish within a year.

The proposal was then made that the levee be constructed as near the river bank as possible, with the roadway proceeding behind the homes located along the river.

Mr. Ethridge informed the police jury and property holders he would get Assistant State Engineer J. R. Adams to come to Monroe for a conference, and propose to him that the levee line be placed nearer the river bank. "I am not urging you to take the levee," he said, "and if we cannot get a satisfactory arrangement, let's drop it. If we fail this time, I intend to recommend to the levee board that the matter be dropped."

"I will pledge to you," he said, "that if you will give and take, I will try to get the state to give as much as possible. If it must be at a sacrifice, I urge you to get the levee at this time; it will enhance the value of your property, and the opportunity may not come again."

On a motion by C. R. Tidwell, member of the jury, it was voted "that the parish police jury adjourn without taking action on this proposition, and that we will give them a road on the back of their properties, provided they provide a roadway satisfactory to the police jury and free of cost to the parish."

ILLINOIS RELATIVES FAIL TO GIVE AID TO WOMAN, YET

Captain W. L. Workman, of the Salvation Army post, announced last night he had received no response to telegrams sent to Illinois relatives of Mrs. Marie Fritz, who is receiving treatment at the sanitarium.

After receiving word from Mrs. Fritz' mother that the family could give her no aid, nor care for her, Captain Workman telegraphed relatives said to be living in Harrisburg, Ill., advising them of her condition, and asking they take charge of her.

Our Gallery of Ouachita Parish Notables

He taught school for a while, and—

Soldiered for a while with the Philippine Corps in the Philippines—

—then went in for Oil, Gas and Carbon. Black, and he's still going 100% strong.

ROY R. BEAMAN
President,
Tex.-La. Producing & Carbon Co.,
National Gas & Carbon Black Co.
and Mer Rouge Gas Co.

Golf and dominoes—
are his favorite pastimes.
He's from Texas, you know, where they grow the largest "domino crop."

Mr. Beaman is a Mason and Knights Templar, a Past Commander of Monroe Knights Templar, Past Master, Western Star Masonic Lodge, and Past High Priest, Monroe Chapter Royal Arch Masons. He has also served as a Director of Monroe C. of C.

O. W. Phillips
MONROE

SECOND CARLOAD OF FLOUR ARRIVES

Twelve Hundred More 49-Pound Sacks Received by Red Cross Here

The second consignment of flour milled from federal farm board wheat, for distribution to unemployed through the Red Cross, was received here yesterday afternoon, it was announced last night by the chapter officials.

The consignment consisted of 1200 49-pound sacks, it was announced.

Distribution of the flour will begin Monday morning, the various welfare and charity organizations of the city assisting in the distribution work.

Portions of a freight carload which arrived early in the week from Philadelphia, Ark., mills, were sent to Farmville and Bastrop, to be distributed in Union and Morehouse parishes by the Red Cross chapters there.

HITLERITES FACE NEW TEST TODAY

Elections Will Determine Political Complexions of States' Diets

BERLIN, April 23 (AP)—For the third time within six weeks, five-sixths of Germany's voters tomorrow will decide a struggle for supremacy in which the republican parties and Adolf Hitler's national socialists are the chief opponents.

The elections will determine the political complexion of the diets in Prussia, Bavaria, Wurttemberg, Hamburg and Anhalt.

The bitterness of the campaign, which followed close on the heels of two presidential election struggles from which Paul von Hindenburg emerged victorious over the fiery Hitler, was illustrated by the fact that in Berlin alone 190 persons were arrested last night.

In Cologne 20 national socialists, headed by Robert Ley, a member of the Reichstag, were jailed in connection with an attack on Otto Wels, chairman of the socialist party, and Otto Baumbach, chief of police.

Judged by the result of the presidential dental runoff, neither the Nazis and the nationalists combined nor the present government coalition is likely to obtain a majority in Prussia, where the most important election is being held. Hence much depends on the attitude of the communists and the small parties, of which there are thirteen.

The presidential runoff voting indicated that Hitler's Nazis should get 164 seats in the Prussian diet, compared with the seven they held in the old legislature, which was elected four years ago when the Nazi movement was young.

THRIFTY PEOPLE ARE LIBERAL IN THEIR PRAISE
of
CLASSIFIED ADS
Phone 4800

Are You Going to Build or Repair???

We can supply your needs in lumber, oak flooring, sash and doors, asphalt roofing, asphalt shingles, builders hardware, screen doors, sand and gravel, brick and coal.

A phone call will bring our man to your door. No obligations to estimate your building needs.

BREECE LUMBER COMPANY
Phone 402 Grayling Lane

NOW is time to do that spring repairing, cleaning and painting

Spring time is clean up, paint up and repair time. Those little odd jobs about your home... have them attended to now and at the same time help Monroe's unemployed by creating work for them. Have those faulty screens fixed... replace bad hinges... broken fixtures... clean up and paint up in general... beautify your premises... mend your gate... repair your fence, etc. All of this can be done at a nominal expense now... material and labor is surprisingly inexpensive.

305-757

251-636

Included in Our Stock of Spring Cleaning and Repairing Necessities You Will Find

Paints and Varnishes, Screen Wire, Fence Wire, Hinges, Latches, Other Fixtures and Hardware.

Wheelbarrows, Rakes, Hoes, Forks, Spades, Water Hose and Other Garden and Yard Implements.

The Southern Hardware Co., Ltd.

108 Walnut St. Monroe, La. Phone 510

New Plumbing

The Cost Is Much Less Now

If you haven't figured on Plumbing Work lately, you have the surprise of your life awaiting you. The new low prices of plumbing have been cut and now the most moderate home owner can afford it. No obligation for estimates.

Phone 2889
W. J. RILEY
Plumbing and Heating
805 South Grand

Remember WORKING DOLLARS mean WORKING MEN

THE BULK-PINT

—is the modern way to buy and serve "Smooth-frozen" Ice Cream. Try it for dinner today and you'll marvel—there's an extra touch of goodness, an unusual smoothness of texture in the Seale-Lily Bulk-Pint. It does surprisingly delicious things to your taste—and your purse!

That's the marvel of the Bulk-Pint. It is so economical to serve. You'll surely want "Smooth-frozen" for the family dessert today. It is available in a variety of flavors.

Smooth-frozen

Seale-Lily ICE CREAM

YOU EAT IT WITH A SMILE

In Monroe

"Smooth-frozen" Ice Cream Store
1920 DeSiard Street

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe, La.
E. E. Huntsberry, Pastor
Sunday school 9:45 a.m. Morning worship 11 a.m. B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p.m. Evening worship 7:30 p.m.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
First Church of Christ, Scientist
Corner Auburn Avenue and North Second Street

Sunday service 11 a.m. Sunday school 9:30 a.m. Wednesday evening testimony meeting 8 o'clock. Reading room 1198 Ouachita Bank building open daily except Sundays and holidays, 12:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Corner Apple and Second
T. H. Bass, Minister

Bible study Sunday morning at 9:45. Morning worship and sermon at 11:00 o'clock. Subject: "The Twenty-third Psalm." Evening worship and sermon at 7:45 o'clock. Subject: "Disappointment." Praise and prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:45. Ladies Bible class Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Sewing class meeting Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00. Young people's meeting Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

The first Sunday in May the church shall begin a meeting to continue for two weeks with Evangelist B. U. Baldwin of Vicksburg, assisted by the local minister. The singing will be directed by local talent.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH
Jackson at Wood Street
Monroe, La.

Calendar for April 24, 1932
Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the morning worship service, the choir will sing "Praise Ye the Lord" by Holden. There will be a sermon on one of the main issues of the day, "Prohibition."

The Hi-League meets at 6:30.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Louis Hoffpauir, Pastor

Sunday school at 9:45. Myatt McCord, Supr. At 11 o'clock the pastor will preach on the "Dangers of the Noonday" and "Why Men Fail." All leagues will meet at 6:30 and at 7:00 the pastor will preach on "Remember Your Record and Mine."

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
WEST MONROE
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

The revival now in progress is announced to continue another week. Services Sunday will be conducted by the evangelist. Preaching at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a.m.

IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Rev. H. L. Driskell, Pastor

In the absence of the pastor who is in Baton Rouge conducting a revival, the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. F. L. Cox. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Preaching at 11:00 a.m. B. Y. P. U. at 6:45 p.m. Preaching at 7:45 p.m.

STERLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH
P. W. Lofton, Pastor

10 a.m. Sunday school. O. K. Bailey, supt. 11 a.m., a program will be given by about 15 Christian students from Louisiana college, our Baptist college at Pineville. These young people will be entertained in the homes of our community over Saturday night.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Thomas F. Jett, Minister
Corner St. John & Oak Sts.

Order of services for Sunday April 24:
Sunday—Church school at 9:45 a.m. morning worship and communion at 11:00 o'clock, the pastor's discourse, "Peter, The Pentecost Preacher." The young people at 6:45 p.m., the evening worship at 7:45 o'clock. The sermon for the evening will be "Pentecost and the Holy Spirit."

PENILE BAPTIST CHURCH
Jonesboro Road
S. L. Bunch, B. C. T. Pastor

Sunday school at 10 a.m. Preaching at 11 a.m. Song service, morning at 10:45. Song service, night at 7:30. Preaching, night, 8:00 o'clock.

Sunday morning our pastor will preach on "Christianity or Religion." Sunday night Reverend Bunch will preach on "Falling from Grace."

TRINITY LUTHERAN
H. H. Schaefer, Pastor

Sunday—church school at 9:45 a.m. and Sunday school meet for the regular session at 9:45. The chief worship begins at 10:45 when the pastor will preach on the subject, "As Have Nothing, Yet Possessing All Things."

GORDON AVENUE
METHODIST CHURCH
Corner Gordon and Dixie

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. and the morning worship at 11 o'clock. The subject will be "The Young Man Who Conquered His Weakness." The Epworth League begins at 6:45 p.m. and evening worship at 7:30 o'clock. The subject for the evening will be "Why Repent." The missionary society will meet Wednesday at 2:30 with Mrs. W. L. Duren. At 7:30 Wednesday p.m. prayer meeting will be held, followed by choir practice. Christian education study class will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3490 Lee Avenue
Roger M. Baxter, Pastor.

The meeting being held at the Central Baptist church will continue through Sunday with services Saturday night and both services Sunday with Brother G. C. Dennis doing the preaching. Night services at 7:45 and morning worship at 10:30.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
8:00 p.m.—The night worship. Our thoughts will be given to the First Epistle of John.

COTTON PLANTING MAKES PROGRESS

(Continued from First Page)

supply houses which furnish lug boxes and wrapping paper for the green tomatoes which are picked at maturity, wrapped, packed and allowed to ripen in transit and at destination, very seldom needing any ice to carry them through.

Mr. Thomas stated that an inspection of the tomato belt disclosed that all the older plants already set to the open field are growing nicely and that the second plant made necessary by the severe freeze would go to the field within the next few days, the first shipments beginning around June 5 and that he felt encouraged over the market outlook.

"You're RIGHT, MR. CHRYSLER!"

We can and should invite the public to compare the Floating Power Ride with any other ride on wheels.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER
—in announcing his new Plymouth—said, "Look at all three." That's sound. He's right.

In our price class, we issue the same challenge. Drive them all. Let the Dodge Six and Eight with Floating Power stand on their own merits. You be the judge.

We are absolutely sincere when we say—"we want you to drive these new Dodge cars whether you expect to buy now or not."

We think Floating Power is something you will want to know about. We stand squarely behind Mr. Chrysler's statement that any new car without Floating Power is out of date.

THE SIX THE SPIRITED NEW THE EIGHT
$795 $1115
AND UP AND UP

MONROE AUTOMOBILE & SUPPLY COMPANY
Walnut and Washington Sts. Telephone 436

In announcing the new Plymouth, W. P. Chrysler said, "In my opinion, any new car without Floating Power is out of date."

Because all cars have always had some vibration, it is hard to imagine the startling sensation you get when vibration is completely removed.

You can have no idea what this new patented engine mounting does for a Dodge Six—or Dodge Eight—until you drive one.

Take the wheel as our guest. You won't be pressed to buy. Fair enough?

—K. T. KELLER

TUNE IN on Chrysler Motors Radio Program "Ziegfeld Radio Show" personally conducted by Flo Ziegfeld—Columbia Coast-to-Coast Network; every Sunday evening.

We Thank You!

We wish to take this means of thanking our many Stockholders and friends for their overwhelming vote of confidence that re-elected us as Board of Directors of the Peoples Homestead and Savings Association on last Monday, April 18th, to serve for the ensuing year ending April 18th, 1933. As further appreciation of your support we pledge a bigger and better service to the Twin Cities throughout the coming year.

I. T. Davis
S. J. Rivoire
J. T. Chappell

Travis Oliver
Frank Masling
Jonas Selig
J. J. Herring

NO DECISION MADE IN BUCKHORN BEND LEVEE PROPOSALS

(Continued from First Page)

"margin of safety" he maintained in the construction of the dykes. He objected to a resurvey suggested by Mr. Fernandez and others, pointing out that "such surveys are expensive."

W. H. Ross, resident of the community, expressed the opinion that "the present plan is only money thrown away, without protection. If the Jadwin plan," he said, "puts nine more feet of water in the Ouachita river, we'll still be dry when Monroe people are floating around in boats. I am willing to take my chances with the city."

Would Care for 53 Feet.

In answering a question by Dr. C. L. Mengis, Mr. Ehrhridge explained the present plans are to build up the levee to a height which would care for a 53-foot stage in Monroe. He emphasized that construction work would be advanced enough to provide for a stage in excess of 53 feet, if such a move were found necessary, and that gaps in the present levee system would be closed. The levee would be 24 feet wide at the top and 35 feet at the base, he said. It would be required by the levee board, he said, that the roadbed on the levee top be gravelled within a year, to avoid traffic damage to the dyke.

It was developed in the discussion that graveling the roadbed would cost approximately $10,000, which, Mr. Beard said, the police jury was not prepared to spend. Members of the police jury expressed the opinion that the cost of graveling could not be borne by the parish within a year. The proposal was then made that the levee be constructed as near the river bank as possible, with the road way proceeding behind the homes located along the river.

Mr. Ehrhridge informed the police jury and property holders he would get Assistant State Engineer J. R. Adams to come to Monroe for a conference, and propose to him that the levee line be placed nearer the river bank. "I am not urging you to take the levee," he said, "and if we cannot get a satisfactory arrangement, let's drop it. If we fail this time, I intend to recommend to the levee board that the matter be dropped."

"I will pledge to you," he said, "that if you will give and take, I will try to get the state to give as much as possible. If it must be at this time, it will enhance the value of your property, and the opportunity may not come again."

On a motion by C. R. Tidwell, member of the jury, it was voted "that the parish police jury adjourn without taking action on this proposition, and that we will give them a road on the back of their properties, provided they provide a roadway satisfactory to the police jury and free of cost to the parish."

ILLINOIS RELATIVES FAIL TO GIVE AID TO WOMAN, YET

Captain W. L. Workman, of the Salvation Army post, announced last night he had received no response to telegrams sent to Illinois relatives of Mrs. Marie Fritz, who is receiving treatment at the sanitarium. After receiving word from Mrs. Fritz' mother that the family could give her no aid, nor care for her, Captain Workman telegraphed relatives said to be living in Harrisburg, Ill., advising them of her condition, and asking they take charge of her.

Our Gallery of Ouachita Parish Notables

He taught school for a while, and—

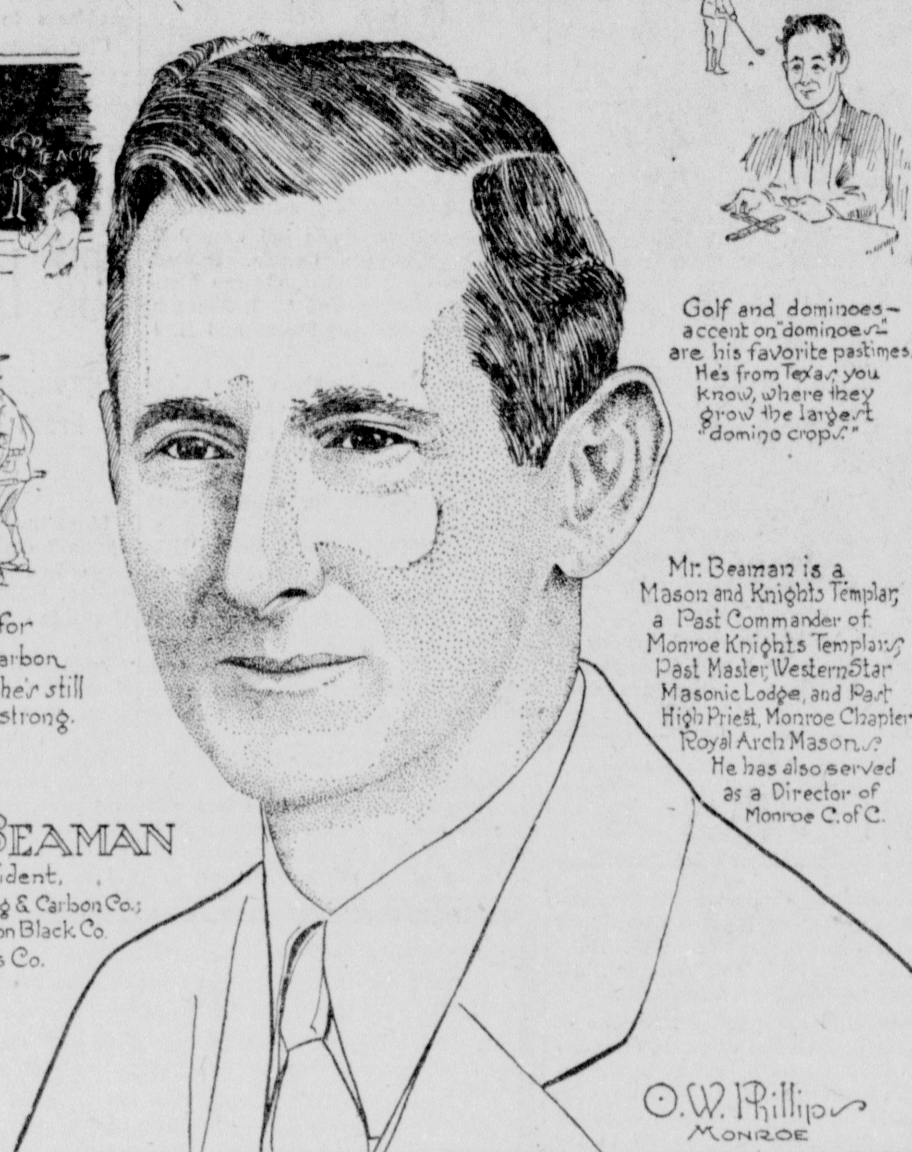

Soldiered for a while with the Hospital Corps in the Philippines.

—then went in for Oil, Gas and Carbon. Black, and he's still going 100% strong.

ROY R. BEAMAN

President,
Tex.-La. Producing & Carbon Co.;
National Gas & Carbon Black Co.
and Mer Rouge Gas Co.

Golf and dominoes—his favorite pastimes. He's from Texas; you know where they grow the large "T" domino crop.

Mr. Beaman is a Mason and Knights Templar; a Past Commander of Monroe Knights Templar; Past Master, Western Star Masonic Lodge, and Past High Priest, Monroe Chapter Royal Arch Mason. He has also served as a Director of Monroe C.O.C.

O. W. Phillips
MONROE

SECOND CARLOAD OF FLOUR ARRIVES

Twelve Hundred More 49-Pound Sacks Received by Red Cross Here

The second consignment of flour milled from federal farm board wheat, for distribution to unemployed through the Red Cross, was received here yesterday afternoon, it was announced last night by the chapter officials.

The consignment consisted of 1200 49-pound sacks, it was announced. Distribution of the flour will begin Monday morning, the various welfare and charity organizations of the city assisting in the distribution work.

Portions of a freight carload which arrived early in the week from Arkadelphia, Ark., mills, were sent to Farmerville and Bastrop, to be distributed in Union and Morehouse parishes by the Red Cross chapters there.

HITLERITES FACE NEW TEST TODAY

Elections Will Determine Political Complexions of States' Diets

BERLIN, April 23 (AP)—For the third time within six weeks, five-sixths of Germany's voters tomorrow will decide a struggle for supremacy in which the republican parties and Adolf Hitler's national socialists are the chief opponents.

The elections will determine the political complexion of the diets in Prussia, Bavaria, Wurttemberg, Hamburg and Anhalt.

The bitterness of the campaign, which followed close on the heels of two presidential election struggles from which Paul von Hindenburg emerged victorious over the fiery Hitler, was illustrated by the fact that in Berlin alone 190 persons were arrested last night.

In Cologne 30 national socialists, headed by Robert Ley, a member of the Reichstag, were jailed in connection with an attack on Otto Weis, chairman of the socialist party, and Otto Bauknecht, chief of police. Judged by the result of the presidential election.

MEN—SAVE MONEY
On Your Shoes
We Do Expert Repairing
NORTH SECOND STREET
WEEKS BUILDING SHOE SHOP 4158

COTTON PLANTING MAKES PROGRESS

(Continued from First Page)

supply houses which furnish lug boxes and wrapping paper for the green tomatoes which are picked at maturity, wrapped, packed and allowed to ripen in transit and at destination, very seldom needing any ice to carry them through.

Mr. Thomas stated that an inspection of the tomato belt disclosed that all the older plants already set to the open field are growing nicely and that the second plant made necessary by the severe freeze would go to the field within the next few days, the first shipments beginning around June 5 and that he felt encouraged over the market outlook.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe, La.
E. E. Huntsberry, Pastor
Sunday school 9:45 a.m. Morning worship 11 a.m. B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p.m. Evening worship 7:30 p.m.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
First Church of Christ, Scientist
Corner Auburn Avenue and North Second Street
Sunday service 11 a.m. Sunday school 9:30 a.m. Wednesday evening testimony meeting 8 o'clock. Reading room 1198 Ouachita Bank building open daily except Sundays and holidays 12:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Corner Apple and Second
T. H. Bass, Minister
Bible study Sunday morning at 9:45. Morning worship and sermon at 11:00 o'clock. Subject: "The Twenty-third Psalm." Evening worship and sermon at 7:45 o'clock. Subject: "Disappointment." Praise and prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:45. Ladies Bible class Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Sewing class meeting Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00. Young people's meeting Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock.
The first Sunday in May the church shall begin a meeting to continue for two weeks, with Evangelist B. U. Baldwin of Vicksburg, assisted by the local minister. The singing will be directed by local talent.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH
Jackson at Wood Street
Monroe, La.
Calendar for April 24, 1932
Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, the morning worship service, the choir will sing "Praise Ye the Lord," by Holden. There will be a sermon on one of the main issues of the day, "Prohibition."
The Hi-League meets at 6:30.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Louis Hoffpauir, Pastor
Sunday school at 9:45. Myatt McClendon, Supt. At 11 o'clock the pastor will preach on the "Dangers of the Noontide," and "Why Men Fail." All leagues will meet at 6:30 and at 7:30 the pastor will preach on "Records; Your Record and Mine."

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
WEST MONROE
E. L. Tanner, Pastor
The revival now in progress is announced to continue another week. Services Sunday will be conducted by the evangelist. Preaching at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a.m.

IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe
Rev. H. L. Driskell, Pastor
In the absence of the pastor who is in Baton Rouge conducting a revival, the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. F. L. Cox. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Preaching at 11:00 a.m. B. Y. P. U. at 6:45 p.m. Preaching at 7:45 p.m.

STERLING BAPTIST CHURCH
P. W. Lofton, Pastor
10 a.m. Sunday school, O. K. Bailey, supt. 11 a.m., a program will be given by about 15 Christian students from Louisiana college, our Baptist college at Pineville. These young people will be entertained in the homes of our community over Saturday night.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Thomas F. Jett, Minister
Corner St. John & Oak Sts.
Order of services for Sunday April 24:
Sunday—Church school at 9:45 a.m. morning worship and communion at 11:00 o'clock, the pastor's discourse, "Peter, The Pentecost Preacher." The young people at 6:45 p.m.; the evening worship at 7:45 o'clock. The sermon for the evening will be "Pentecost and the Holy Spirit."

PENILE BAPTIST CHURCH
Jonesboro Road
S. L. Bunch, B. C. T., Pastor
Sunday school at 10 a.m. Preaching at 11 a.m. Song service, morning at 10:45. Song service, night at 7:30. Preaching, night, 8:00 o'clock.
Sunday morning our pastor will preach on "Christianity or Religion." Sunday night Reverend Bunch will preach on "Falling from Grace."

TRINITY LUTHERAN
H. H. Schaefer, Pastor
Sunday cantata. The Bible class and Sunday school meet for the regular session at 9:45. The chief worship begins at 10:45 when the pastor will preach on the subject, "As Having Nothing, Yet Possessing All Things."

GORDON AVENUE
METHODIST CHURCH
Corner Gordon and Dixie
Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. and the morning worship at 11 o'clock. The subject will be "The Young Man Who Conquered His Weakness." The Epworth league begins at 6:45 p.m. and evening worship at 7:30 o'clock. The subject for the evening will be "Why Repent." The missionary society will meet Wednesday at 2:30 with Mrs. W. L. Duren. At 7:30 Wednesday p.m. prayer meeting will be held, followed by choir practice. Christian education study class will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

THE SALVATION ARMY
Captain and Mrs. Wm. L. Workman
Officers in Charge of Local Work
Sunday—2:30 p.m., company meeting 4:00 p.m., city jail, 8:00 p.m., salvation meeting.
Tuesday—8:00 p.m.
Wednesday—2:00 to 4:00 home league sewing club.
Thursday—8:00 p.m.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3100 Lee Avenue
Roger M. Baxter, Pastor.
The meeting being held at the Central Baptist church will continue through Sunday with services Saturday night and both services Sunday with Brother G. C. Dennis doing the preaching. Night services at 7:45 and morning worship at 10:30.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
8:00 p.m.—The night worship. Our thoughts will be given to the First Epistle of John.

dential runoff, neither the Nazis and the nationalists combined nor the present government coalition is likely to obtain a majority in Prussia, where the most important election is being held. Hence much depends on the attitude of the communists and the small parties, of which there are thirteen.

The presidential runoff voting indicated that Hitler's Nazis should get 164 seats in the Prussian diet, compared with the seven they held in the old legislature, which was elected four years ago when the Nazi movement was young.

THRIFTY PEOPLE
ARE LIBERAL IN THEIR PRAISE
of
CLASSIFIED ADS
Phone 4800

Are You Going to Build or Repair???

We can supply your needs in lumber, oak flooring, ash and doors, asphalt roofing, asphalt shingles, builders hardware, screen doors, sand and gravel, brick and coal.

A phone call will bring our man to your door. No obligations to estimate your building needs.

BREECE LUMBER COMPANY
Phone 402 Grayling Lane

NOW is time to do that spring repairing, cleaning and painting

Spring time is clean up, paint up and repair time. Those little odd jobs about your home... have them attended to now and at the same time help Monroe's unemployed by creating work for them. Have those faulty screens fixed... replace bad hinges... broken fixtures... clean up and paint up in general... beautify your premises... mend your gate... repair your fence, etc. All of this can be done at a nominal expense now... material and labor is surprisingly inexpensive.

305-757

254-636

Included in Our Stock of Spring Cleaning and Repairing Necessities You Will Find

Paints and Varnishes, Screen Wire, Fence Wire, Hinges, Latches; Other Fixtures and Hardware. Wheelbarrows, Rakes, Hoes, Forks, Spades, Water Hose and Other Garden and Yard Implements.

The Southern Hardware Co., Ltd.

108 Walnut St. Monroe, La. Phone 510

THE BULK-PINT

—is the modern way to buy and serve "Smooth-frozen" Ice Cream. Try it for dinner today and you'll marvel—there's an extra touch of goodness, an unusual smoothness of texture in the Seale-Lily Bulk-Pint. It does surprisingly delicious things to your taste—and your purse!

That's the marvel of the Bulk-Pint. It is so economical to serve. You'll surely want "Smoothfrozen" for the family dessert today. It is available in a variety of flavors.

Smoothfrozen
Seale-Lily
ICE CREAM
YOU EAT IT WITH A SMILE

In Monroe

"Smoothfrozen" Ice Cream Store
1920 DeSiard Street

We Thank You!

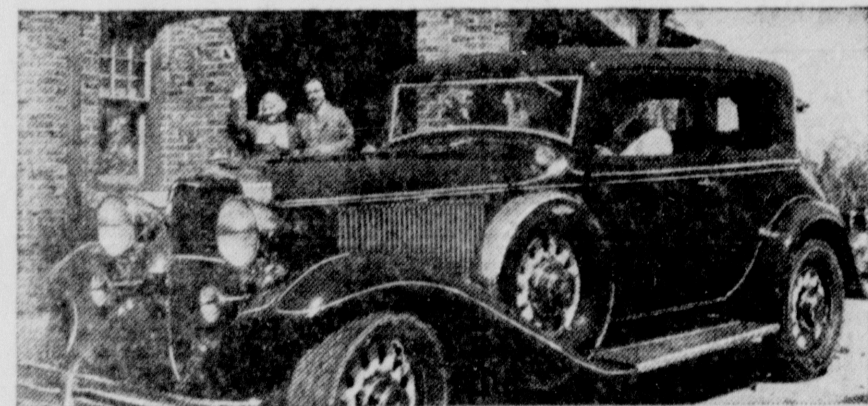

We wish to take this means of thanking our many Stockholders and friends for their overwhelming vote of confidence that re-elected us as Board of Directors of the Peoples Homestead and Savings Association on last Monday, April 18th, to serve for the ensuing year ending April 18th, 1933. As further appreciation of your support we pledge a bigger and better service to the Twin Cities throughout the coming year.

I. T. Davis
S. J. Rivoire
J. T. Chappell

Travis Oliver
Frank Masling
Jonas Selig
J. J. Herring

"You're RIGHT,
MR. CHRYSLER!"

We can and should invite the public to compare the Floating Power Ride with any other ride on wheels

WALTER P. CHRYSLER
—in announcing his new Plymouth—said, "Look at all three." That's sound. He's right.

In our price class, we issue the same challenge. Drive them all. Let the Dodge Six and Eight with Floating Power stand on their own merits. You be the judge.

We are absolutely sincere when we say—"we want you to drive these new Dodge cars whether you expect to buy now or not."

We think Floating Power is something you will want to know about. We stand squarely behind Mr. Chrysler's statement that any new car without Floating Power is out of date.

is completely removed.

You can have no idea what this new patented engine mounting does for a Dodge Six—or Dodge Eight—until you drive one. Take the wheel as our guest. You won't be pressed to buy. Fair enough?

—K. T. KELLER

DODGE SIX $795 to $895. DODGE EIGHT $1115 to $1185. F. O. B. Factory. Low delivered prices. Convent terms. Five wire or demountable wood wheels, no extra cost. Duplicate safety plate glass. Coupes $9.50; Sedans $17.50. Automatic Clutch standard on Eights; only $8 on Sixes. Closed models wired for Philco-Transitone Radio.

TUNE IN on Chrysler Motors Radio Program "Ziegfeld Radio Show" personally conducted by Flo Ziegfeld—Columbia Coast-to-Coast Network; every Sunday evening.

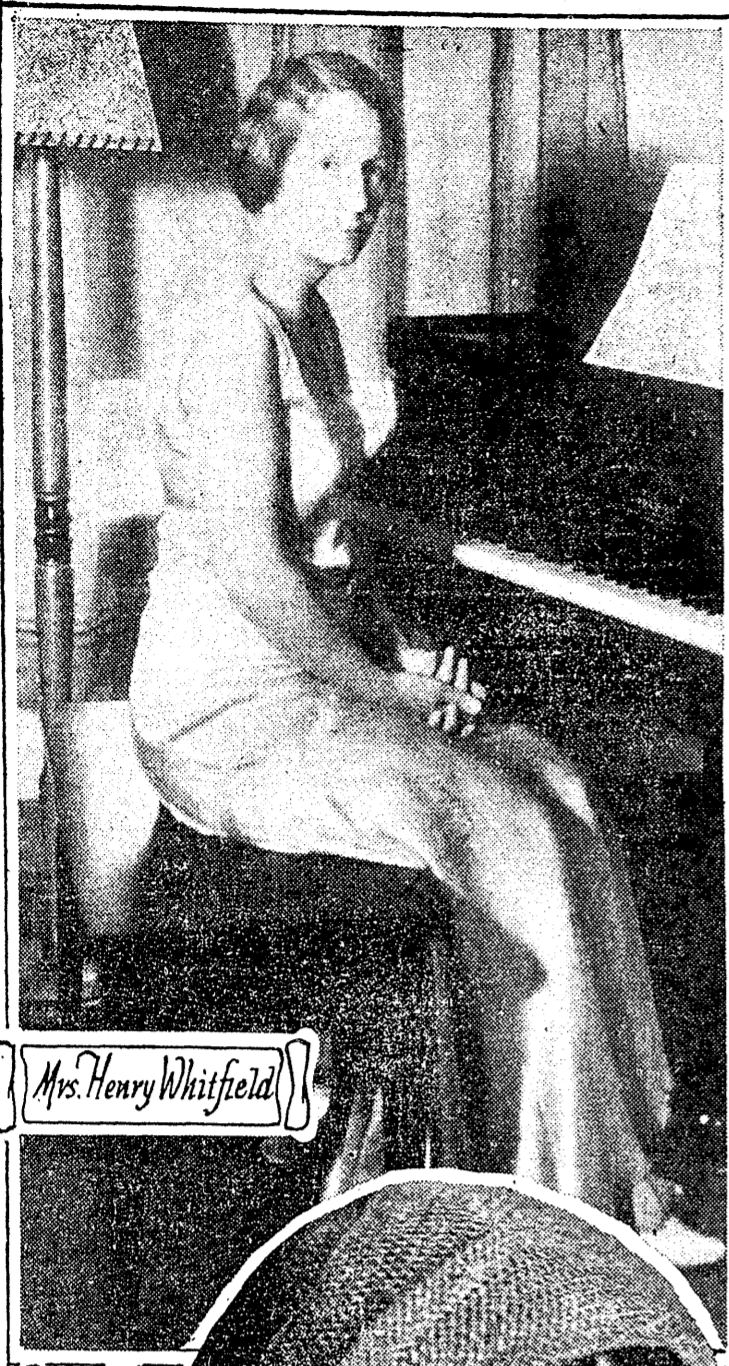

MONROE AUTOMOBILE & SUPPLY COMPANY

Walnut and Washington Sts.

Telephone 436

SOCIETY

Eve Bradford
EDITOR

Mrs. Henry Whitfield

Mrs. E. L. Huber

Mrs. Clifford Johnson

Mrs. John Champion

Mrs. Louis Hullum

Portraits
by GRIFFIN STUDIO

Today

Mrs. Henry Whitfield, one of Monroe's most gifted musicians and vocalists, is seen here in the music room of her home. Mrs. Whitfield was elected corresponding secretary of the Louisiana State Federation of Music Clubs at the state convention in Alexandria last week.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, who posed for her photograph in the garden of her home on St. John Drive, is one of the leading spirits in Pan-Hellenic Society activities. As a chairman of one of the committees for the annual Paper Day project, Mrs. Johnson is accomplishing some splendid work.

Mrs. John Champion, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., is the charming house guest of her sister, Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, Jr. Several lovely social affairs of an informal nature have been given during the past week in honor of Mrs. Champion.

Mrs. Louis Hullum, who occupies a prominent place in musical circles of this city, was elected president of the Louisiana State Federation of Music Clubs at the recent convention in Alexandria. Mrs. Hullum served as president of the Musical Coterie for several terms and was instrumental in organizing the Junior Musical Coterie. She is now acting as counselor for this organization.

Mrs. E. L. Huber of Mays Landing, N. J., is affectionately remembered here as Miss Julia Maroney. She is enjoying a visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maroney, on Stubbs avenue.

Appearance of Shreveport Symphony Orchestra in This City Creating Keen Interest

Miss Florence Zeigler, during a visit in Shreveport last week was requested to give her piano interpretation of "Flood Suite," written by Mrs. Blanche Oliver in collaboration with Miss Zeigler and to be featured by the Shreveport Symphony orchestra in this city on the second of May at the Neville auditorium.

Mr. J. Vernon Stanger, director, was so delighted with Miss Zeigler's compelling interpretation and impressionistic tone painting of this suite, he immediately engaged her to sustain the piano passages when the orchestra makes its appearance in this city.

Miss Zeigler's masterful execution of the piano passages in this composition is a perfect example of how it should be projected and an equally fine example of pianistic art. It is unnecessary to speak of her gift as a pianist before Monroe audiences, but we would like to refer to her technique, to her insight and imagination—qualities which she has in a high state of development.

Mrs. Oliver who accompanied Miss Zeigler to Shreveport for the rehearsal of the "Flood Suite" was called upon to give her interpretation of the singing parts, and needless to say the quartet engaged for the negro spirituals, gained a clearer conception of the flood situation in Monroe and the melancholy singing of the levee workers heard night after night as they labored to save the city from the swirling waters.

No greater tribute could Monroe pay to the National Music Week than the presence in this city of the Shreveport Symphony orchestra. We predict that a greater appreciation of music will follow in the wake of this concert. Symphony orchestras are loved and appreciated by the rank and file—not only to the professional few. Where the opportunity is afforded to hear music of this kind at regular intervals, life is at its freshest and freest. Feelings need outlet; else they will become troublesome or dangerous. When King Saul was vexed by an evil spirit he sent for that valiant young musician, David, who soon charmed the ugly mood away.

Seriously, as a means of happy self-expression and of keeping hearts in tune, music is unsurpassed and especially so when it comes to us in the form of a symphony orchestra. Some one has said that our goodliest satisfactions are often found after all, not on the highway of ambition but along the sauntering little paths that lead to music.

One of the largest audiences ever assembled together in this city is anticipated on the night of May the second when the Shreveport symphony orchestra makes its initial appearance under the auspices of the club women of Monroe.

Sketch Club Members Meet At the Studio

At a meeting presided over by Mrs. H. J. Fernandez, plans for future development were enthusiastically discussed by members of the Sketch club last Tuesday evening in their studio in the Bernhardt building. A number of new members were present and admitted into the club's activities. Several invitations for sketching excursions into nearby country areas were discussed so that the groups, now divided into several classes, may merge into one group for an all-day outing.

The feature of the meeting was a talk by Mr. Amos Lee Armstrong, director, in which he pointed out the unrecognized amount of art talent in Monroe and clearly outlined plans whereby students and artists of the city should unite in exhibitions and eventually form a permanent show gallery that would be a great advantage to the citizenry. Many public buildings would afford ample space for a beginning that would solve the problem of space, it was pointed out.

Librarians Attend New Orleans Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Williamson left last night for New Orleans where they will attend the fifty-fourth annual conference of the American Library association.

Mrs. Williamson, a delegate from the Monroe Public Library, will give a report on the Citizens' Library movement as chairman of the steering committee. Mr. Williamson will give an address during the general session on the subject of the "Citizens' Library Movement From the Standpoint of a Layman."

Others attending the conference from this city are Mr. James Monroe Townes from the Monroe Public Library and Mrs. Wesley Shatto of the Neville school library.

Fashionable Gathering at Speed Home for Beautiful Afternoon Tea on Thursday

The flower banked drawing rooms of Mrs. H. R. Speed's home on Pine street were thronging with beautifully gowned guests Thursday afternoon between the hours of four and six when society turned out en masse for the benefit tea arranged by Mrs. Alfred Hennen, president of the Grace church auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. E. T. Lankin, Mrs. T. C. Rowland, Mrs. L. D. McLain, Mrs. Parker McComb, Mrs. R. N. Troy, Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. Mrs. John Sanders, Miss Lily Wetzel.

The entire lower floor was lavishly adorned with fragrant blossoms from the Speed gardens where every kind of flower blooms in season. Purple iris and pink radiance roses mingled their loveliness in classic shaped urns and long stemmed sweet peas in every rainbow color completed the symphony of glorious coloring.

The tea table in the dining room was one of the beauty spots. Hand-some renaissance lace covered the long oval board centered with an immense crystal bowl overflowing with double pink and blue larkspur, orchid sweet peas, blue cornflowers and pink tulips. Long tendrils of maiden hair trailed to the corners where the radiance of tall pastel colored tapers bathed the table in mellow candlelight.

Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. T. C. Rowland and Mrs. L. D. McLain beautifully frocked, poured tea and coffee from a handsome silver service and served the delicious little fancy cakes, salted nuts and mints.

Extending the gracious courtesies which rendered the afternoon so thoroughly enjoyable were Mrs. Lankin wearing a black and white model, Mrs. Hennen in grey chiffon and last, Mrs. Parker McComb in a model of orchid chiffon and Mrs. Troy in a lovely frock of flowered georgette.

A musical program of exceeding beauty was presented during the receiving hours featuring Mrs. Clyde Sanders, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. Kate Allison and Mrs. Henry Whitfield vocalists and Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. John Sholars, Mrs. Julius Kugler, Mrs. Grover Cornett and Mrs. Ashley Warlick, pianists. Mr. Alfred Hennen was presented in a beautiful flute number, the "Woodpecker" by Nevin. The appearance of Mrs. Blanche Oliver in a group of readings completed the program.

Noted among the guests were a group of charming matrons who motored over from Lake Providence: Mrs. Herman Stein, Mrs. Ashley Warlick, Mrs. James Turner, Mrs. Henry Van, Mrs. John Bass and Mrs. F. P. Duncan. Others noted were: Misses J. W. Kilbourne, Clyde Brown, Albert Horuff, George Weeks, L. B. Ferguson, C. C. Boardman, Jessie Sadler, Joseph Isaacman, William Washburn, S. E. Stevens, E. N. Faulk, Eugene Flournoy, J. W. Wallace, J. W. McWilliams, John Madden, John Wooten, Dean Selig, Fred Pudick, W. F. Cummings, Mr. Bennett, Harry Cornett, Robert Faulk, Douglas Miles, Benton Holt, Baunister, Ned Leigh, Elmer Slagle, Mangham, Johnson, W. A. Lovett, Charles Easterling, E. R. Yancy, R. R. Reynolds, M. W. Clarke, Harry Oliver, Kate Allison, S. Robinson, Digby, Wymond, John Keller, M. E. Hudson, S. G. Humble, J. R. Gilbula, Thomas Easterling, A. A. Thomas, Fagan Cox, J. W. Platt, Walter Anders, T. Hardman, P. A. Poag, Dan Beard, G. W. Griffin, Grover Cornett, Perdue, J. E. Whitfield, E. Nettie, A. Tidwell, F. A. Jones, Julius Kugler, Parker McComb, Edward, Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Hayward, Mr. Alfred Hennen, Miss Johnnie Cox, Miss Sadie Foster, Miss Jenny Hanna, Miss Marjorie Chambers, Miss Helena Hayward and many others.

An interesting event of informal nature in fraternity and social circles is the supper party tonight at the Delta Sigma "frat" house in Spanish City for members and their "dates." Mrs. S. E. Huey, the lovely fraternity mother, will be the guest of honor on this occasion.

Mrs. Ennis Weds Mr. Griffith at Home of Sister

A beautiful wedding of marked simplicity was solemnized Thursday evening at the twilight hour when Mrs. W. B. Ennis and Mr. W. C. Griffith were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G. H. Monroe.

The bride wore a charming model of ashes of roses chiffon with a becoming, wide brimmed, hat of the same color. Gloves, slippers and all accessories were of beige.

An arm bouquet of bride's roses, sweet peas and valley lilies completed the distinctive ensemble.

Miss Minette Cockrell, the bride's attendant, was beautifully frocked in blue chiffon with wide brimmed hat, gloves and slippers of pink. She wore a corsage of pink roses and valley lilies. Mr. Harry Wilson acted in the capacity of best man.

During the ceremony Mr. Louis Monroe sang impressively "At Dawning" accompanied on the piano by Mr. Leon Hammond.

Reverend E. Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

Following the ceremony an informal reception permitted friends to extend their well wishes. The bride later changed her wedding raiment for a smart traveling model of blue and grey crepe and left with Mr. Griffith for a honeymoon in New Orleans.

Friends are glad that Mrs. Griffith's marriage will not take her away from Monroe where she has been a resident for the past ten years. Mr. Griffith is connected with the Ison Biscuit company with headquarters in this city. After the first of May Mr. and Mrs. Griffith will be at home to their friends at 508 St. John street.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. William Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, Mrs. Henry Deberry, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steinhorn of Natchez, Miss.

Phi Kappa Fraternity Men Entertain Their Friends At Their Fraternity House

Along with warmer days and beautiful spring nights come the pleasant informal dances at the fraternity houses, one of especial delight taking place Friday night at the Phi Kappa house honoring Delta Beta Sigma sorority members. Several special dance numbers were introduced during the evening, outstanding being the Phi Kappa and Delta Beta Sigma dances.

During the intermission a confectionery course was served to: Cora Mae Calder and John Strahan, Lab Williams and Durwood Griffin, India Stubbs and Douglas Miles, Carolyn Stubbs and Charles Wemack, Doris Beaman and Clifford Johnson, Joy Steele and Will D. King, Marie Doss and Thomas Downs, Sara Talbot and Jinks Sperry, Dorothy Calvert and Pete Godwin, Rachel Haynes and Byron Breard, Pollyanna Shottwell and Robert Faulk, Maude Swan and Billy Haynes, Louise Gray and Thomas Hayes, Miriam McGimsey and Robert Holloway, Margaret Poag and Stessau Wemack, Joel Nichols and Pete Beshury, Clara Virginia Terrell and James Newton, Katherine May and Thomas May, Billie Stroud and Bill Yeager, Johnnie Cox and Robert Nunnaway, Elizabeth Biedenbarn and George Hargus, Happy Hudson and Guy Campbell, Suzanne Tillman and Eddie Dalton, Caroline Meyers and Jack May, Hortense Pope and Morris Haas, Melba Limer and Dan Brittenmeyer, Floy Kennedy and Edward Ansley, Vicky Steele and William Cherry, Sue Hackness and George Fink, Margaret Newton and Buck Abbott, Bertha Marie Masur and Jerry Jacobs, Eva Simmons and Laurie Harkness, Alice Stewart and Allan Norris, Roberta O'Donnell and Don Moore, Sue Parker and George Tidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Ashcraft, Stags: Henry Colbert, Glenn Walker, Joe Williamson, Jim Cox, Art McGuire, Jack Knowles, Bish Johnson.

Kent Board, Folkner Blanks, Fred Williams, Roy Hale, John Dawson, Jim Crow, Charles Bigart, Buddy Tremble, Anthony Aroldi, Herbert Walker, Jack Selig, Buny Kennedy, Wm. Lipscomb, Leo Montgomery, James Swink, Joe Marx, Freno Prossitt, Raymond West, John Williams, L. W. Melancon, George Kennedy, John Stewart, Bud Tidwell, Frank Cain, Billy Herring, Junior Wygant, Dr. Coon, Norman Coon, Paul Fink, Newt Knowles, Henry Hinkle, Walter Harris, Elton Griffin, Ira Fortis, Henry Florsheim, T. J. Hunt, Rush Poland, Ramsey Griffin, Spivy Griffin, Charles Cason, Bud Hamilton, Tom Watt, Jim Trousdale, King Stubbs, O. H. Byrnes, Alton Barnham, Scamp Butler, Herbert Levi, Buddy Bubbs, Floyd McComb, Melvin Annish, Tilden Austin, John Coon and others.

Miss Sullivan Presented in Harp Recital

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club have arranged an interesting program meeting for Tuesday night at their clubhouse at which time they will present Miss Mary Lee Sullivan in harp concert. Miss N. B. Brand will be presented in a group of song numbers and Miss Dixie Dodge will make her initial appearance as a whistler. Miss K. Ann Dulce also will appear on the program in a talk on "Finance."

Members of the club will be privileged to invite their friends on this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Gallagher, Mrs. C. L. Nelson, Jr., Miss Louise Graves of Mt. Rogers, La., accompanied by Miss Stella Nelson of this city motored to Aquila, Ala., for a visit with friends.

Varsity Club Holds Dance at Junior College

Dancing to the lilting strains of music in the spacious gymnasium of the junior college was a rare pleasure enjoyed to the fullest by members of the Varsity club and their friends, Friday night.

President and Mrs. C. C. Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Kemmerer, Mrs. W. C. Feazel were counted among the chaperones.

Music was supplied by Red Guy and his company of musicians.

Members of the Varsity club responsible for this enjoyable affair were: Alfred Turner, Harold Dennis, Ray Green, James Stewart, Charles Cason, Bill Frisbie, Paul Moore, Floyd McLeod, Pete Ingram, O. H. Bynum, Frank Smith, William Wanner, Alan Barnham, Scamp Butler, Charles Jacobs, C. C. Bell, Jr., Sylvester Cerniglia.

Mrs. Henry Whitfield

Mrs. Clifford Johnson

Mrs. John Champion

Mrs. E. L. Huber

Mrs. Louis Hullum

Today

Mrs. Henry Whitfield, one of Monroe's most gifted musicians and vocalists, is seen here in the music room of her home. Mrs. Whitfield was elected corresponding secretary of the Louisiana State Federation of Music Clubs at the state convention in Alexandria last week.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, who posed for her photograph in the garden of her home on St. John Drive, is one of the leading spirits in Pan-Hellenic Society activities. As a chairman of one of the committees for the annual Paper Day project, Mrs. Johnson is accomplishing some splendid work.

Mrs. John Champion, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., is the charming house guest of her sister, Mrs. Prioleau Ellis, Jr. Several lovely social affairs of an informal nature have been given during the past week in honor of Mrs. Champion.

Mrs. Louis Hullum, who occupies a prominent place in musical circles of this city, was elected president of the Louisiana State Federation of Music Clubs at the recent convention in Alexandria. Mrs. Hullum served as president of the Musical Coterie for several terms and was instrumental in organizing the Junior Musical Coterie. She is now acting as counselor for this organization.

Mrs. E. L. Huber of Mays Landing, N. J., is affectionately remembered here as Miss Julia Maroney. She is enjoying a visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maroney, on Stubbs avenue.

Portraits
by
GRIFFIN STUDIO

Appearance of Shreveport Symphony Orchestra in This City Creating Keen Interest

Miss Florence Zeigler, during a visit in Shreveport last week was requested to give her piano interpretation of "Flood Suite," written by Mrs. Blanche Oliver in collaboration with Miss Zeigler and to be featured by the Shreveport Symphony orchestra in this city on the second of May at the New Orleans auditorium.

Mr. J. Vernon Stanger, director, was so delighted with Miss Zeigler's compelling interpretation and impressionistic tone painting of this suite, he immediately engaged her to sustain the piano passages when the orchestra makes its appearance in this city.

Miss Zeigler's masterful execution of the piano passages in this composition is a perfect example of how it should be projected and an equally fine example of pianistic art. It is unnecessary to speak of her gift as a pianist before Monroe audiences, but we would like to refer to her technique, to her insight and imagination—qualities which she has in a high state of development.

Mrs. Oliver who accompanied Miss Zeigler to Shreveport for the rehearsal of the "Flood Suite" was called upon to give her interpretation of the singing parts, and needless to say the quartet engaged for the negro spirituals, gained a clearer conception of the flood situation in Monroe and the melancholy singing of the levee workers heard night after night as they labored to save the city from the swirling waters.

No greater tribute could Monroe pay to the National Music Week than the presence in this city of the Shreveport Symphony orchestra. We predict that a greater appreciation of music will follow in the wake of this concert. Symphony orchestras are loved and appreciated by the rank and file—not only to the professional few. Where the opportunity is afforded to hear music of this kind at regular intervals, life is at its freshest and freest. Feelings need outlet, else they will become troublesome or dangerous. When King Saul was vexed by an evil spirit he sent for that valiant young musician, David, who soon charmed the ugly mood away.

Seriously, as a means of happy self-expression and of keeping hearts in tune, music is unsurpassed and especially so when it comes to us in the form of a symphony orchestra. Some one has said that our goodliest satisfactions are often found after all, not on the highway of ambition but along the sauntering little paths that lead to music.

One of the largest audiences ever assembled together in this city is anticipated on the night of May the second when the Shreveport symphony orchestra makes its initial appearance under the auspices of the club women of Monroe.

Sketch Club Members Meet At the Studio

At a meeting presided over by Mrs. H. J. Fernandez, plans for future development were enthusiastically discussed by members of the Sketch club last Tuesday evening in their studio in the Bernhardt building. A number of new members were present and admitted into the club's activities. Several invitations for sketching excursions into nearby country areas were discussed so that the groups, now divided into several classes, may merge into one group for an all-day outing.

The feature of the meeting was a talk by Mr. Amos Lee Armstrong, director, in which he pointed out the unrecognized amount of art talent in Monroe and clearly outlined plans whereby students and artists of the city should unite in exhibitions and eventually form a permanent show gallery that would be a great advantage to the citizenry. Many public buildings would afford ample space for a beginning that would solve the problem of space, it was pointed out.

Fashionable Gathering at Speed Home for Beautiful Afternoon Tea on Thursday

The flower banked drawing rooms of Mrs. H. R. Speed's home on Pine street were thronging with beautifully gowned guests Thursday afternoon between the hours of four and six when society turned out en masse for the benefit tea arranged by Mrs. Alfred Hennen, president of the Grace church auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Mrs. T. C. Rowland, Mrs. L. D. McLain, Mrs. Parker McComb, Mrs. R. N. Troy, Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. John Sanders, Miss Lily Wetzel.

The entire lower floor was lavishly adorned with fragrant blossoms from the Speed gardens where every kind of flower blooms in season. Purple iris and pink radiance roses mingled their loveliness in classic shaped urns and long stemmed sweet peas in every rainbow color completed the symphony of glorious coloring.

The tea table in the dining room was one of the beauty spots. Handsome renaissance lace covered the long oval board centered with an immense crystal bowl larkspur, orchid sweet peas, blue cornflowers and pink tulips. Long tendrils of maiden hair trailed to the corners where the radiance of tall pastel colored tapers bathed the table in mellow candlelight.

Mrs. S. A. Collins, Mrs. T. C. Rowland and Mrs. L. D. McLain beautifully frocked, poured tea and coffee from a handsome silver service and served the delicious little fancy cakes, salted nuts and mints.

Extending the gracious courtesies which rendered the afternoon so thoroughly enjoyable were Mrs. Lamkin wearing a black and white model, Mrs. Hennen in grey chiffon and lace, Mrs. Parker McComb in a model of orchid chiffon and Mrs. Troy in a lovely frock of flowered georgette.

A musical program of exceeding beauty was presented during the receiving hours featuring Mrs. Clyde Sanders, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. Kate Allison and Mrs. Henry Whitfield vocalists and Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. John Sholars, Mrs. Julius Kugler, Mrs. Grover Cornett and Mrs. Ashley Warlick, pianists. Mr. Alfred Hennen was presented in a beautiful flute number, the "Woodpecker" by Nevin. The appearance of Mrs. Blanche Oliver in a group of readings completed the program.

Noted among the guests were a group of charming matrons who motored over from Lake Providence: Mrs. Herman Stein, Mrs. Ashley Warlick, Mrs. James Turner, Mrs. Henry Van, Mrs. John Bass and Mrs. F. P. Duncan. Others noted were: Miss J. W. Kilbourne, Clyde Brown, Albert Horuff, George Weeks, L. B. Ferguson, C. C. Boardman, Jessie Sadler, Joseph Isaacman, William Washburn, S. E. Stevens, E. N. Faulk, Eugene Flournoy, J. W. Wallace, J. W. McWilliams, John Madden, Jim Wooten, Dean Selig, Fred Fudickar, W. F. Cummings, Jim Bennett, Harry Proffit, Robert Faulk, Douglas Miles, Herman Holt, Barnister, Ned Leigh, Elmer Slagle, Mangham, Johnson, W. A. Lovett, Charles Easterling, E. R. Yancy, R. R. Reynolds, M. W. Clarke, Harry Oliver, Kate Allison, S. Robinson, Digby, Wymond, John Keiler, G. E. Hudson, S. G. Humble, J. R. Gilhula, Thomas Easterling, A. A. Thomas, Fagan Cox, J. W. Platt, Walter Anders, T. Hardman, P. A. Poag, Dan Broad, G. W. Griffin, Grover Cornett, Perdue, J. E. Whitfield, E. Nettle, A. Tidwell, F. A. Jones, Julius Kugler, Parker McComb, Edward Rev, and Mrs. E. F. Hayward, Mr. Alfred Hennen, Miss Johnnie Cox, Miss Sadie Foster, Miss Jenny Hanna, Miss Marjorie Chambers, Miss Helena Hayward and many others.

An interesting event of informal nature in fraternity and social circles is the supper party tonight at the Delta Sigma "frat" house in Spanish City for members and their "dates." Mrs. S. E. Huey, the lovely fraternity mother, will be the guest of honor on this occasion.

Mrs. Ennis Weds Mr. Griffith at Home of Sister

A beautiful wedding of marked simplicity was solemnized Thursday evening at the twilight hour, when Mrs. W. B. Ennis and Mr. W. C. Griffith were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G. H. Monroe.

The bride wore a charming model of ashes of roses chiffon with a becoming, wide brimmed, hat of the same color. Gloves, slippers and all accessories were of beige.

An arm bouquet of bride's roses, sweet peas and valley lilies completed the distinctive ensemble.

Miss Minette Cockrell, the bride's attendant, was beautifully frocked in blue chiffon with wide brimmed hat, gloves and slippers of pink. She wore a corsage of pink roses and valley lilies. Mr. Harry Wilson acted in the capacity of best man.

During the ceremony Mr. Louis Monroe sang impressively "At Dawning" accompanied on the piano by Mr. Leon Hammond.

Reverend E. Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

Following the ceremony an informal reception permitted friends to extend their well wishes. The bride later changed her wedding raiment for a smart traveling model of blue and grey crepe and left with Mr. Griffith for a honeymoon in New Orleans.

Friends are glad that Mrs. Griffith's marriage will not take her away from Monroe where she has been a resident for the past ten years. Mr. Griffith is connected with the Item Biscuit company with headquarters in this city. After the first of May Mr. and Mrs. Griffith will be at home to their friends at 508 St. John street.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. William Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, Mrs. Henry Doherty, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steinhilber of Natchez, Miss.

Phi Kappa Fraternity Men Entertain Their Friends At Their Fraternity House

Along with warmer days and beautiful spring nights come the pleasant, informal dances at the fraternity houses, one of especial delight taking place Friday night at the Phi Kappa house honoring Delta Beta Sigma sorority members. Several special dance numbers were introduced during the evening, outstanding being the Phi Kappa and Delta Beta leadouts.

During the intermission a confectionery course was served to: Cora Mae Calder and John Strahan, Lib Williams and Durwood Griffin, India Stubbs and Douglas Miles, Carolyn Stubbs and Charles Womack, Doris Beaman and Clifford Johnson, Joy Steele and Will D. King, Marie Doss and Thomas Downs, Sara Talbert and Jinks Sperry, Dorothy Calvert and Pete Godwin, Rachel Haynes and Byron Broad, Pollyanna Shotwell and Robert Faulk, Maude Swan and Billy Haynes, Louise Gray and Thomas Hayes, Miriam McGimsey and Robert Holloway, Margaret Poag and Stresau Womack, Joel Nichols and Pete Rasbury, Clara Virginia Teria and James Newton, Katherine May and Thomas May, Billie Stroud and Bill Yeager, Johnnie Cox and Robert Nunnaway, Elizabeth Biedenbarn and George Hargus, Happy Hudson and Guy Campbell, Suzanne Tillman and Eddie Dalton, Caroline Meyers and Jack May, Hortense Pope and Morris Haas, Melba Linder and Don Brittenmose, Floy Kennedy and Edward Ansley, Vickie Steele and William Cheery, Sue Harkness and George Fink, Margaret Newton and Buck Abbott, Bertha Marie Masur and Jerry Jacobs, Eva Simmons and Laurie Harkness, Alice Stewart and Allan Norris, Roberta O'Donnell and Don Moore, Sue Parker and George Tidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Ascraft, Stags: Henry Colbert, Glenn Walker, Joe Williamson, Jim Cox, Art Surguine, Jack Knowles, Bish Johnson, friends.

Kent Breard, Faulkner Blanks, Fred Williams, Roy Hale, John Dawson, Jim Crow, Charles Biggar, Buddy Tremble, Anthony Airoldi, Herbert Walker, Jack Selig, Bunny Kennedy, Wm. Lipscomb, Leo Montgomery, James Swink, Joe Marx, Freno Proffitt, Raymond West, John Williams, L. W. Melancon, George Kennedy, John Stewart, Bud Tidwell, Frank Cain, Billy Herring, Junior Wygant, Dr. Coon, Norman Coon, Paul Fink, Newt Knowles, Henry Hinkle, Walter Harris, Elton Griffin, Ira Portis, Henry Florsheim, T. J. Hunt, Rush Poland, Ransome Griffin, Spivy Griffin, Charles Cason, Bud Hamilton, Tom Witt, Jim Trousdale, King Stubbs, O. H. Bynum, Alan Barnham, Scamp Butler, Herbert Levi, Buddy Bubb, Floyd McCloud, Melvin Annish, Tilden Austin, John Coon and others.

Miss Sullivan Presented in Harp Recital

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club have arranged an interesting program meeting for Tuesday night at their clubhouse at which time they will present Miss Mary Lee Sullivan in harp concert. Miss Nellie Breard will be presented in a group of song numbers and Miss Dixie Dodge will make her initial appearance as a whistler. Miss K. Ann Dodge also will appear on the program in a talk on "Finance."

Members of the club will be privileged to invite their friends on this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Gallagher, Mrs. C. L. Nelson, Jr., Miss Louise Graves of Mt. Rouge, La., accompanied by Miss Stella Nelson of this city motored to Auburn, Ala., for a visit with friends.

Varsity Club Holds Dance at Junior College

Dancing to the lilting strains of music in the spacious gymnasium of the junior college was a rare pleasure enjoyed to the fullest by members of the Varsity club and their friends, Friday night.

President and Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Kemmerer, Mrs. W. C. Feazel were counted among the chaperones.

Music was supplied by Red Guy and his company of musicians.

Members of the Varsity club responsible for this enjoyable affair were: Alfred Turner, Harold Dennis, Ray Green, James Stewart, Charles Cason, Bill Frisbie, Paul Moore, Floyd McLeod, Pete Ingram, O. H. Bynum, Frank Smith, William Wenner, Alan Barham, Scamp Butler, Charles Jacobs, C. C. Bell, Jr., Sylvester Cerniglia,

SOCIETY

Unfolding of the Magnolia Blossoms Awakens Thoughts Of Debt We Owe This Flower

The colorful, romantic history of Louisiana will be told in music and flags by members of the Fine Arts club at the Neville auditorium Tuesday night at eight o'clock. Dating back to the early French period up until the present day the use of flags of each period will be displayed with appropriate music. The stirring music of "La Marseillaise" sung by Mr. Rufus Goza and the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner by a full chorus of voices comprised entirely of members of the Fine Arts club, will be two distinct features of this dramatic pageant.

The days of the Confederacy will feature a plantation dance by Margaret Poag, Irene Quinn Renaud, Marjorie Chambers, Joy Steele, and Theresa Turk. Mrs. Dean Selig will sing Bayou Folk Songs "Ma Li'l Bateau" and "Morning on Je Bayou" and a chorus of voices will sing "Dixie."

"The Minuet" danced by Miss Armandine Renaud and Mr. Amos Armstrong will be a decided attraction, also the Indian dance numbers.

Echoes from French Opera in New Orleans featuring Mrs. Ruth Rasbury's beautiful voice will be heard in "Echoes from the French Opera in New Orleans." In fact the entire program abounds in interesting features. A glance over the program will prove this fact:

Prologue.....Mrs. James E. Davis
Louisiana.....Mrs. E. C. Hudson, music by Words by Mrs. E. C. Hudson, music by Mrs. Fannie C. Livaudais
Spirit of Music.....Miss Stella Vincent
Spirit of History.....Mrs. H. J. Fernandez
Indian Period.....
Overture.....Orchestra
Indian Dance.....
Joy Steele, Marjorie Chambers, Margaret Poag, Theresa Turk, Irene Quinn Renaud
Early French Period, 1682.....
Song.....Mrs. H. H. Douglas
Dance.....Mrs. Wayne Wamsley
Dance.....Miss Stella Vincent
Miss Armandine Renaud, Mr. Amos Armstrong, Miss Roberta O'Donnell, Mr. Joe Meek
English Period, 1763.....
Song.....Mrs. Henry Mays
Song....."Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes"
Mrs. Eugene Davis, Mr. Joe Wright, Miss Mae Read, Mr. Leon Hammond
Spanish Period, 1763.....
Spanish Dance.....Mrs. Fred Thatcher
Louisiana Purchase, 1803.....
Tri Color of France.....
Song.....Miss Lucille Godwin
Song....."La Marseillaise"
Mr. Rufus Goza
West Florida Republic, 1810.....
Miss Marnie O'Leary
Louisiana Becomes a State Under U. S. Flag, 1812.....

Old U. S. Flag.....Miss Catherine Livaudais
Bayou Folk Songs—Ma Li'l Bateau, Morning on Je Bayou.....Mrs. Dean Selig
Plantation Dance.....Margaret Poag, Joy Steele, Theresa Turk, Irene Quinn Renaud, Marjorie Chambers
Echoes from French Opera in New Orleans.....Mrs. Ruth Rasbury
The Confederacy, 1861.....Mrs. Fletcher Ashcraft
Dixie.....Chorus
Modern Period, 1932.....
United States Flag.....Rufus Goza
Star-Spangled Banner.....Chorus
Orchestra—Mrs. P. A. Poag, piano; Mayne D. Wamsley, violin; Wayne S. Wamsley, violin; T. A. Anderson, violin; E. Moore, clarinet; Pete Rinehart, clarinet; Alfred Hennen, flute; E. L. Wright, cornet; J. C. Ray, trombone; W. G. Garrett, bass.

Mrs. Ennis Is Guest of Honor

Mrs. W. B. Ennis who was married to Mr. W. C. Griffith Thursday evening, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday night when her sister, Mrs. G. H. Monroe, entertained with a bridge shower in her honor. The bridge tables covered with yellow linens, were grouped in the reception suite, which was beautifully decorated with spring's loveliest blossoms. Mrs. James Young won high score, beautiful pastel shaded hosiery, Miss Agnes Fiedler cut consolation prize. A set of pink Fostoria iced tea glasses. After four interesting games of bridge a delicious salad course was served on green leached trays centered with low bowls of violets to Mrs. Augustine Zuccaro. Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. Kate Ruffin, Miss Patton, Mrs. D. C. Smith, Mrs. O. L. Durbin, Mrs. E. G. Courtney, Mrs. D. Hendrickson, Miss Minnette Cockrell, Mrs. Joe Dillard, Mrs. Gladys Roberts, Mrs. Paul Neel, Mrs. A. L. Cornett, Mrs. James Young, Miss Flossie Smith, Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. L. B. Morris, Mrs. K. Hess, Miss Agnes Fiedler, Mrs. Ennis Monroe, Mrs. John Griffith and Mrs. Robert Potenza.

The presentation of the handsome gifts comprising linens, china, silver, lingerie and bric-a-brac, was one of the outstanding features of the evening.

JOINS PETERS' COMPANY

W. B. "Barry" Corry is now connected with Peters' Funeral chapel. He has been with this firm in the past starting in 1919 and remaining as a member of the company until 1926. He is the grandson of Rev. D. C. Barr of Oak Ridge widely known preacher of the Methodist denomination for many years, now supernumerary.

Society Calendar

Sunday
Regular monthly communion Sunday C. D. of A., 6:30 mass.

Monday
Meeting of the Georgia Tucker P. T. A., 3:30.

Important called meeting of the Lida Benton P. T. A., 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Parker McComb will give report on the annual state convention.
Regular weekly card party for St. Matthew's P. T. A. at home of Mrs. John Guerrero, 404 N. Fifth street, 2:30 p.m. Public is cordially invited.
Meeting of the Twentieth Century Book Club, 4 p.m. with Mrs. A. D. Tisdale at 2:30 p.m.

Tuesday
The circles of the Methodist Missionary society will meet at 3 p.m. in the following homes:
Circle No. 1—Mrs. W. M. Washburn, 205 Arkansas avenue.
Circle No. 2—Mrs. S. Sellers, 1026 South First.

Circle No. 3—Mrs. V. F. Sackett, 501 Glenmar.
Circle No. 4—Mrs. E. G. Huckle, 213 K.
Circle No. 5—Mrs. W. C. Fisher, 209 Grayling Lane.

Circle No. 6—Mrs. Marshall Munnich, 403 Park avenue.
Circle No. 7—Mrs. J. R. White, 508 Arkansas avenue.
Circle No. 8—Mrs. B. Roper, 410 McKinley avenue.

Circle No. 9—Mrs. S. M. McReynolds, Riverfront.
Circle No. 11—Mrs. J. W. Baldwin, 707 Wood street.

Circle No. 12—Mrs. A. T. Rochester, 1934 Jackson.

Miss Mary Lee Sullivan will be presented in harp concert by Business and Professional Women's club at their clubhouse at 8 p.m. Mrs. R. N. Slater, hostess. Members will be privileged to invite their friends.

Meeting of the Baptist Missionary union in circles at 3 p.m. as follows:
No. 1—Mrs. E. M. Steen, 1302 Park avenue.

No. 2—Mrs. A. K. Crow, 307 L. street.
No. 4—Mrs. Montgomery, Sherrouse addition.

No. 5—Mrs. S. J. Meek, 207 Arkansas avenue.
No. 6—Mrs. John J. Kelly, Fouché avenue.

No. 7—Mrs. W. C. Tucker, 125 Harrison.
No. 8—Mrs. L. T. Hastings, 1410 S. Grand street.

No. 9—Mrs. W. D. Grice, 811 South Second.
No. 10—Mrs. J. N. Frantom, 1206 St. John.

No. 11—Mrs. B. S. McRaul, 2700 Howes.
No. 12—Mrs. W. L. Anders, 311 Pershing, 2 p.m.

No. 13—Mrs. L. S. Ford, South First
No. 14—Mrs. O. A. Easterling, 1508 S. Grand.

No. 15—Mrs. W. G. Banister, 1111 Mississippi.

Presenting Louisiana history in flags, staid by members of the Fine Arts club at the Neville auditorium, 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited. Admission free.

Circles of Presbyterian church will meet at 8:30 o'clock as follows: No. 1. Mrs. E. R. Norton, 605 Alexander avenue; No. 2. Mrs. Harry Williams, 301 West Monroe; No. 3. Mrs. W. B. Avers, 305 Stubbs avenue; No. 4. Mrs. Walter Black, Layton Place; No. 5. Mrs. Sidney Street, North Third street; No. 6. Mrs. George Snellings, Riverfront; No. 7. Mrs. A. V. Miller, 103 Alexander avenue; No. 8. Presbyterian church, 8 o'clock.

Wednesday
Grace Church Guild will entertain with a benefit bridge party at the home of Mrs. George Hyle at 2:30 p.m. The public is most cordially invited.

Meeting of the Legation Community club with Mrs. L. Johnson at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Ira McConathy will be presented in lecture recital at the Junior College auditorium under the auspices of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book Club. All club women and members of the senior English classes of the schools especially invited at 2 p.m.

Thursday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Friday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Saturday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Sunday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Monday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Tuesday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Wednesday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Thursday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Friday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Saturday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Sunday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Monday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Tuesday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Wednesday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Thursday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Friday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Saturday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Sunday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Monday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Tuesday
The circle of the Fine Arts club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Neville auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

World and News-Star Pattern

The perennial smartness of black and white is emphasized in these two models, yet the treatments are quite different. For the matron the colors are wisely distributed throughout the frock, but for the woman of more slender proportions the light top and sleeves broaden the shoulders in the accepted manner. Both effects are smart, and it depends entirely upon your figure, which you shall choose. Next to black and white in popularity come blue and white, brown and beige, and red and white. Floral designs and austere geometries vie for first place but have come out even with this season's fashions.

The first model was styled especially for the larger woman, and features the softly draped bodice with unbroken line from vestee to hem; the narrow skirt panel created by side pieces; and cleverly placed tucks that give freedom where most necessary. This frock may be made of flat crepe, silk, georgette, lawn or dimity. Sizes are 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 70-inch fabric, 14 yards of 10-inch lace.

Speaking of contrasts, as most people are nowadays, here is a model that affords delightful opportunity for effective and individual combinations of colors and shades. The original was made in black and white and with it was shown a white straw hat trimmed with black patent leather flowers, the same leather in handbag and shoes, black or white gloves as appropriate.

The pointed scalings in this frock are noteworthy. Sizes are 16 to 20 and 24 to 44. Size 16 requires 2 3/8 yards of 39-inch fabric, 1 1/4 yards contrasting.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, THE STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

An additional variety of delightful styles for adults and kiddies is offered in our CURRENT FASHION CATALOG. Chic authentically styled models for every summer need will be found in charming abundance in the 32 pages of this beautiful book. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. This catalog is FIFTEEN CENTS when ordered alone. Catalog and pattern together, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Address all mail and orders to Monroe Morning World Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

History of Louisiana Will Be Told in Music and Flags By Members Fine Arts Club

"Chaste snowdrop, venturesome harbinger of spring—And pensive monitor of fleeting years!"

When Wordsworth included these lines among his "Miscellaneous Sonnets" we wonder if he ever saw a magnolia tree in full bloom in April. Each springtime we are inspired anew with the beauty of these waxen blossoms and the sweetness of their perfume which sweeps the evening air with a haunting fragrance.

In Galveston the people observe several days of celebration in honor of the oleander brought to the island in 1511 by a trading schooner from Jamaica where it was called the south sea rose.

When oleanders first reached the island city there were only two colors—red and white. Now there are more than thirty delicate shades, most of them developed by cleverer enthusiasts who have adopted the flower as their own.

The oleander in its native state is a single-petaled flower, about the size of a silver dollar. The two natural shades have been cultivated and improved until they have double and even triple rows of petals and are almost as large as the blossom of an American beauty rose.

Some of the crossbred varieties, nearly all of which are double petaled, are red, scarlet, pink, soft peach, delicate salmon, yellow, white and a number of other variegated combinations.

The color is undeniably tropical and exact. The leaves of the oleander, dark green in color, add beauty to the streets and gardens and even during the winter months.

The shrub, although usually ranging from five to eight feet in height, sometimes grows to a height of 15 to 20 feet.

The oleander is cherished by the people of Galveston so why should we not cherish our magnolia. The trees are most decorative all through the year and even though they shed their leaves in early spring, shining new leaves are ready to take the place of the old ones, thus living up to the promise of beauty at all times.

Advance Showing Of the New Styles

For Men Women and Children

Swimming Suits

Come in and see the many new style ideas. The many color schemes and other interesting features.

Caps, Shoes, Etc., to Match

Ferd Levi Stationery Co., Inc.

107 DeSiard Street Corner Walnut St.

Lake Providence

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Land and two little daughters, Patsy Ann and Valerie, have returned to their home in Texarkana, Ark., after a week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reganold. Mr. Reganold accompanied them home for a short visit.

Mrs. J. C. Bass is spending several days in Baton Rouge with her daughter, Miss Margaret Bass, who is a student at L. S. U.

Miss Myrtle Dessens, home demonstration agent for East Carroll parish, held club meetings with the ladies of the Monticello community Wednesday afternoon, in the Vining community Thursday and in Joe's bayou Friday afternoon. The topic for discussion at these meetings was the causes, symptoms, diet and cure for pellagra. After the talk Miss Dessens prepared salmon with spaghetti, which was served to and enjoyed by those present. Plans were mapped out for sponsoring an afternoon cotton dress contest during May and June. A most attractive exhibit from the Spool Cotton company, showing finishes to be used on cotton dresses, crochet for collars and cuffs and for dress trimmings of wool, silk or cotton faggoting, were shown.

Miss Sara Reganold and J. L. Blackwell attended the dance at the Vicksburg hotel Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Richards are enjoying a visit from Mr. Richards' mother, Mrs. C. E. Richards, and sister, Mrs. Arthur Orth, and Mrs. Elizabeth Clever and Judge Y. W. Horne. Those from here attending the B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school convention in Forest the 15th and 16th were Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Almond, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Riley, Mrs. Julius Nelson, Mrs. Oren Russell, Mrs. Omie Warren, Miss Helen Warren, Mrs. W. M. Cobb, W. C. Deal and Carl Sumral and Mrs. Doris White.

Little Miss Lynell Turnipseed celebrated her sixth birthday with a lovely birthday party. The guests present to participate in this enjoyable event were Marie Brandenburg, Flournoy Voelker, Elva Sarrah, Douglas Hamley, Mary Elizabeth and Harry Blount, Ernest Chaney, Grace, Charlotte Ann and Brown Nelson, Pearl and Freddy Herman, Ray Hinton, Teddy Shuford, Louise Potter, Rose and Joe Sansone, Ben and Junior Cornyle, Eloise Mayo, Nona, John and Hazel Dalton, Salvatore Saloni and Elton Turnipseed. In pinning the donkey's tail, Miss Eloise Mayo won the prize. In the jelly bean race, Hazel Dalton won the girl's prize and John Dalton won the boy's prize. After the games the lovely birthday cake with the six lighted candles was the center of attraction. After much merriment caused by blowing the candles out, the cake was served with delicious ice cream, after which the guests reluctantly departed, wishing the little hostess many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. J. E. Conly of Dallas, Texas, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. N. Hill, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Birdsong, Miss Julia Pearl Birdsong and Willie and Frank Birdsong of Mayersville, Miss, spent the week-end with Mrs. Birdsong's mother and sister, Mrs. N. K. Pearl and Miss Mary Pearl.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Herron and children of Monroe have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. DuBose. Miss Minnie B. Erwin was hostess to the Business and Professional Women's club, entertaining at bridge Thursday evening. The members playing were Misses Ida Mae Cobb, Helen Gilfoil, Emily Keene, Marjorie Gibson, Dorothy Kennedy, Olivia Peden, and Sara Cobb. Miss Gibson won high score. After the games a delicious salad course was served.

Mrs. D. M. Farr returned from Louise, Miss., on Monday, after a delightful week's visit with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Vail Delony and Orville Pinkston spent Saturday in Vicksburg.

The Business Men's club met in regular session Thursday evening at the Community club. J. N. Hill, Jr., the president, presided. Other members present were F. H. Schneider, E. D. Schneider, secretary, Dr. W. H. Hamley, J. M. Hamley, Mark H. Brown, Frank Voelker, L. H. Richards, F. H. Schneider, Jr. After the meeting a most enjoyable supper was served by Mrs. R. R. Higgins, the club caterer.

Miss Bartau Whatley spent the week-end in Vicksburg with Mrs. Gus McElmore.

Miss Sue Pinkston spent Sunday in Tallulah with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pinkston.

Sixty-five per cent of the motion picture shown in Bergen, Norway, are made in the United States.

Now is the time to get your laundry done. Dry Cleaning. Phone 1558. West Side Laundry. 115 Commerce St.

MULHEARN'S The Home of Dignified, Sympathetic Service. WE ARE VERY much gratified to announce that our business has passed through the introductory stage and we are now firmly established and all things considered, operating successfully. WE HAVE THE distinct advantage of a well balanced organization and every employee is vitally interested in our growth and development. WE HAVE NO conflicting duties of any nature whatever and devote our exclusive time and attention to the duties incumbent upon our profession. PAY US A VISIT of inspection. You will be pleased and we believe that you will agree with our claim that we have a real home. AMBULANCE CALLS ANSWERED PROMPTLY. Mulhearn Funeral Home. Phone 65 or 66. 509 St. John Street.

NOW (For a Short Time Only) YOU CAN GET A DOZEN PICTURETS (LITTLE PHOTOGRAPHS)

FOR 50c SEE WINDOW

Griffin Studios

CREAMY COOLNESS

KENT'S BES' MADE; IT'S WONDERFUL

RICH, SMOOTH ICE CREAM Dependable Quality

ASK FOR IT BY NAME

KENT'S BES' MADE

SOLD AT LEADING DRUG STORES PHONE YOUR DRUGGIST TODAY

Manufactured Exclusively by

DAIRY PRODUCTS COMPANY, Inc.

THE EASY

Way to get things you need at prices that are easy on your purse is to read the

CLASSIFIED ADS

SOCIETY

Unfolding of the Magnolia Blossoms Awakens Thoughts Of Debt We Owe This Flower

The colorful, romantic history of Louisiana will be told in music and flags by members of the Fine Arts club at the Neville auditorium Tuesday night at eight o'clock. Dating back to the early French period up until the present day the use of flags of each period will be displayed with appropriate music. The stirring music of "La Marseillaise" sung by Mr. Rufus Goza and the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner by a full chorus of voices comprised entirely of members of the Fine Arts club, will be two distinct features of this dramatic pageant.

The days of the Confederacy will feature a plantation dance by Margaret Poag, Irene Quinn Renaud, Marjorie Chambers, Joy Steele, and Theresa Turk. Mrs. Dean Selig will sing Bayou Folk Songs "Ma Li'l Bateau" and "Morning On Je Bayou" and a chorus of voices will sing "Dixie."

"The Minuet" danced by Miss Armandine Renaud and Mr. Amos Armstrong will be a decided attraction, also the Indian dance numbers.

Echoes from French Opera in New Orleans featuring Mrs. Ruth Rasbury's beautiful voice will be heard in "Echoes from the French Opera in New Orleans." In fact the entire program abounds in interesting features. A glance over the program will prove this fact:

Prologue:
Louisiana..... Mrs. James E. Davis
Words by Mrs. E. C. Hudson, music by Mrs. Fannie C. Livaudais
Spirit of Music..... Miss Stella Vincent
Dance of History..... Mrs. H. J. Fernandez
Indian Period.....
Orchestra.....
Indian dance.....
Joy Steele, Marjorie Chambers, Margaret Poag, Theresa Turk, Irene Quinn Renaud
Early French Period, 1682.....
..... Mrs. H. H. Douglas
Song..... Mrs. Wayne Walmsley
Dance—"Minuet".....
Miss Armandine Renaud, Mr. Amos Armstrong, Miss Roberta O'Donnell, Mr. Joe Meek
English Period, 1763.....
..... Mrs. Henry Mays
Song—"Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes".....
Mrs. Eugene Davis, Mr. Joe Wright, Miss Mae Read, Mr. Leon Hammond
Spanish Period, 1763.....
..... Mrs. Fred Thatcher
Spanish Dance..... Miss Regina Moffett
Louisiana Purchase, 1803.....
Tri Color of France.....
..... Miss Lucille Godwin
Song—"La Marseillaise".....
..... Mr. Rufus Goza
West Florida Republic, 1810.....
..... Miss Mamie Ola Heard
Louisiana Becomes a State Under U. S. Flag, 1812.....

Old U. S. Flag.....
..... Miss Catherine Livaudais
Bayou Folk Songs—Ma Li'l Bateau, Morning on Je Bayou.....
..... Mrs. Dean Selig
Plantation Dance..... Margaret Poag, Joy Steele, Theresa Turk, Irene Quinn Renaud, Marjorie Chambers
Echoes from French Opera in New Orleans..... Mrs. Ruth Rasbury
The Confederacy, 1861.....
..... Mrs. Fletcher Ashcraft
Dixie..... Chorus
Modern Period, 1922.....
United States Flag..... Rufus Goza
Star-Spangled Banner..... Chorus
Orchestra—Mrs. P. A. Poag, piano; Mayne D. Walmsley, violin; Wayne S. Walmsley, violin; T. A. Anderson, violin; E. Moore, clarinet; Pete Rinehart, clarinet; Alfred Hennen, flute; E. L. Wright, cornet; J. C. Ray, trombone; W. G. Garrett, bass.

Mrs. Ennis Is Guest of Honor

Mrs. W. B. Ennis who was married to Mr. W. C. Griffith Thursday evening, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday night when her sister, Mrs. G. H. Monroe, entertained with a bridge shower in her honor. The bridge tables covered with yellow linens, were grouped in the reception suite, which was beautifully decorated with spring's loveliest blossoms. Mrs. James Young won high score, beautiful pastel shaded hosiery. Miss Agnes Fiedler took consolation prize. A set of pink Fostoria iced tea glasses. After four interesting games of bridge a delicious salad course was served on green lacquered trays centered with low bowls of violets to Mrs. Augustine Zuccaro, Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. Kate Ruffin, Miss Patton, Mrs. D. C. Smith, Mrs. O. L. Durbin, Mrs. E. G. Courtney, Mrs. D. Hendrickson, Miss Minette Cockrell, Mrs. Joe Dillard, Mrs. Gladys Roberts, Mrs. Paul Neel, Mrs. A. L. Cornett, Mrs. James Young, Miss Flossie Smith, Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. L. B. Morris, Mrs. K. Hess, Miss Agnes Fiedler, Mrs. Ennis Monroe, Mrs. John Griffith and Mrs. Robert Potenza.

The presentation of the handsome gifts comprising linens, china, silver, lingerie and bric-a-brac, was one of the outstanding features of the evening.

JOINS PETERS' COMPANY

W. B. "Barr" Corry is now connected with Peters' Funeral chapel. He has been with this firm in the past starting in 1919 and remaining as a member of the company until 1926. He is the grandson of Rev. D. C. Barr of Oak Ridge widely known preacher of the Methodist denomination for many years, now superannuated.

Society Calendar

Sunday
Regular monthly communion Sunday C. D. of A., 6:30 mass.

Monday
Meeting of the Georgia Tucker P. T. A., 3:30.
Important called meeting of the Lida Benton P. T. A., 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Parker McComb will give report on the annual state convention.
Regular weekly card party for St. Matthew's P. T. A. at home of Mrs. John Guerrero, 404 N. Fifth street, 2:30 p.m. Public is cordially invited.
Meeting of the Twentieth Century Book Club, Jr., with Mrs. A. D. Tidale at 2:30 p.m.

Tuesday
The circles of the Methodist Missionary society will meet at 3 p.m. in the following homes:
Circle No. 1—Mrs. W. M. Washburn, 205 Arkansas avenue.
Circle No. 2—Mrs. Sellers, 1026 South First.
Circle No. 3—Mrs. V. F. Sackett, 501 Glenmar.
Circle No. 4—Mrs. E. G. Hunkle, 213 K.

Circle No. 5—Mrs. W. C. Fisher, 209 Grayling Lane.
Circle No. 6—Mrs. Marshall Munn-holland, 493 Park avenue.
Circle No. 7—Mrs. J. R. White, 508 Arkansas avenue.
Circle No. 8—Mrs. B. Roper, 410 McKinley avenue.
Circle No. 9—Mrs. S. M. McReynolds, Riverfront.
Circle No. 11—Mrs. J. W. Baldwin, 707 Wood street.
Circle No. 12—Mrs. A. T. Rochester, 1904 Jackson.

Miss Mary Lee Sullivan will be presented in harp concert by Business and Professional Women's club at their clubhouse at 8 p.m. Mrs. R. N. Slater, hostess. Members will be privileged to invite their friends.

Meeting of the Baptist Missionary union in circles at 3 p.m. as follows:
No. 1—Mrs. E. M. Steen, 1302 Park avenue.
No. 2—Mrs. A. K. Crow, 307 L street.
No. 4—Mrs. Montgomery, Sherroore addition.

No. 5—Mrs. S. J. Meek, 207 Arkansas avenue.
No. 6—Mrs. John J. Kelly, Fouché avenue.
No. 7—Mrs. W. C. Tucker, 125 Harrison.
No. 8—Mrs. L. T. Hastings, 1410 S. Grand street.
No. 9—Mrs. W. D. Grice, 811 South Second.
No. 10—Mrs. J. N. Frantom, 1206 St. John.
No. 11—Mrs. B. S. McRaully, 2700 Howes.
No. 12—Mrs. W. L. Anders, 311 Pershing, 2 p.m.

No. 13—Mrs. L. S. Ford, South First.
No. 14—Mrs. O. A. Easterling, 1508 S. Grand.
No. 15—Mrs. W. G. Banister, 1111 Mississippi.

Pageant, Louisiana history in flags, staged by members of the Fine Arts club at the Neville auditorium, 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited. Admission free.

Circles of Presbyterian church will meet at 3:30 o'clock as follows: No. 1, Mrs. E. R. Norton, 605 Alexander avenue; No. 2, Mrs. Harry Williams, Sr., West Monroe; No. 3, Mrs. W. B. Avers, 305 Stubbs avenue; No. 4, Mrs. Walter Black, Layton Place; No. 5, Mrs. Sidney Stroud, North Third street; No. 6, Mrs. George Snellings, Riverfront; No. 7, Mrs. A. V. Miller, 103 Alexander avenue; No. 8, Presbyterian church, 8 o'clock.

Wednesday
Grace Church Guild will entertain with a benefit bridge party at the home of Mrs. George Hyle at 2:30 p.m. The public is most cordially invited.

Meeting of the Logtown Community club with Mrs. L. Johnson at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Ira McConathy will be presented in lecture recital at the Junior College auditorium under the auspices of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book Club. All club women and members of the senior English classes of the schools especially invited at 3 p.m.

Homer

Mrs. J. W. Gillen of Bastrop was the guest of Miss Merrie Reace Webb Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Lulu Hillman and Miss Hilda Hicks of Epps are visiting Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Hendrick.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Madden and children of Monroe spent last week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Madden.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Locke and daughter, Patricia, of Hot Springs, Ark., spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Land.

Mrs. E. A. Campbell, Mrs. Lamont Seals, Mrs. J. H. Kink and Mrs. Henry Horton visited in Memphis, Tenn., last week.

Miss Thelma Seals left Sunday for Shreveport to take a business course.

Mrs. Alva Campbell returned home Monday after a week's visit with relatives and friends in Sallis, Miss.

Members of the Homer Pan-Hellenic club and their invited guests were entertained Thursday evening by Miss Eloise Smith.

The senior class, Miss Lissa Jordan directing, will present the play "A Bunch of Fun," on May 13 at the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Aylmer Gladney of Shreveport spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Frank King.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Gregory of Tulsa, Okla., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dewees.

World and News-Star Pattern

The perennial smartness of black and white is emphasized in these two models, yet the treatments are quite different. For the matron the colors are wisely distributed throughout the frock, but for the woman of more slender proportions the light top and sleeves broaden the shoulders in the accepted manner. Both effects are smart, and it depends entirely upon your figure, which you shall choose.

Next to black and white in popularity come blue and white, brown and beige, and red and white. Floral designs and austere geometrics vie for first place but have come out even with this season's fashions.

PATTERN 1162
The first model was styled especially for the larger woman, and features the softly draped bodice with unbroken line from vestee to hem; the narrow skirt panel covered by side pieces; and cleverly placed tucks that give freedom where most necessary.

This frock may be made of flat crepe, voile, georgette, lawn or dimity. Sizes are 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46. Size 36 requires 3 5-8 yards of 39-inch fabric, 1-4 yard of 10-inch lace.

PATTERN 1144
Speaking of contrasts, as most people are nowadays, here is a model that affords delightful opportunity for effective and individual combinations of colors and shades. The original was made in black and white and with it was shown a white straw hat trimmed with black patent leather flowers, the same leather in handbag and shoes, black or white gloves are appropriate.

The pointed seamings in this frock are noteworthy. Sizes are 16 to 20 and 34 to 44. Size 16 requires 2 3-8 yards of 39-inch fabric, 1 1-4 yards contrasting.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, THE STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

An additional variety of delightful styles for adults and kiddies is offered in our CURRENT FASHION CATALOG. Chic authentically styled models for every summer need will be found in charming abundance in the 32 pages of this beautiful book. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. This catalog is FIFTEEN CENTS when ordered alone. Catalog and pattern together, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Address all mail and orders to Monroe Morning World Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

History of Louisiana Will Be Told in Music and Flags By Members Fine Arts Club

"Chaste snowdrop, vernal har-binger of spring And pensive monitor of fleeting years."

When Wordsworth included these lines among his "Miscellaneous Sonnets" we wonder if he ever saw a magnolia tree in full bloom in April.

Each springtime we are inspired anew with the beauty of these waxen blossoms and the sweetness of their perfume which steals the evening air with a hunting fragrance. Springtime and the perfume of magnolias so closely linked together here in Monroe that we never think of one without the other. Old trees which have lined our streets for years and years are just as much a part of the general scheme of things as the sun and the stars, the rain and wind.

Yesterday we watched the unfolding of a magnolia blossom and the thought came to us that few people really worship at the shrine of this perfect southern flower. Why have we never set a day apart in celebration of the magnolia?

In Galveston the people observe several days of celebration in honor of the oleander brought to the island in 1841 by a trading schooner from Jamaica where it was called the south sea rose.

When oleanders first reached the island city there were only two colors —red and white. Now there are more than thirty delicate shades, most of them developed by oleander enthusiasts who have adopted the flower as their own.

The oleander in its native state is a single-petaled flower, about the size of a silver dollar. The two natural shades have been cultivated and improved until they have double and even triple rows of petals and are almost as large as the blossom of an American beauty rose.

Some of the crossbred varieties, nearly all of which are double petaled, are red, scarlet, pink, soft peach, delicate salmon, yellow, white and a number of other variegated combinations.

The odor is undeniably tropical and sweet. The leaves of the oleander, dark green in color, add beauty to the streets and gardens and even during the winter months.

The shrub, although usually ranging from five to eight feet in height, sometimes grows to a height of 15 to 20 feet.

The oleander is cherished by the people of Galveston so why should we not cherish our magnolias. The trees are most decorative all through the year and even though they shed their leaves in early spring, shining new leaves are ready to take the place of the old ones, thus living up to the promise of beauty at all times.

Advance Showing Of the New Styles

For Men Women and Children
Jantzen
It Stands for Best
Marked At New 1932 Prices

Swimming Suits

Come in and see the many new style ideas. The many color schemes and other interesting features.

Caps, Shoes, Etc., to Match

Ferd Levi Stationery Co., Inc.,

161 DeSiard Street

Corner Walnut St.

Lake Providence

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Land and two little daughters, Patsy Ann and Valerie, have returned to their home in Texarkana, Ark., after a week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Regenold. Mr. Regenold accompanied them home for a short visit.

Mrs. J. C. Bass is spending several days in Baton Rouge with her daughter, Miss Margaret Bass, who is a student at L. S. U.

Miss Myrtle Dessen, home demonstration agent for East Carroll parish, held club meetings with the ladies of the Monticello community Wednesday afternoon, in the Vining community Thursday and in Joe's bayou Friday afternoon. The topic for discussion at these meetings was the causes, symptoms, diet and cure for pellagra. After the talk Miss Dessen prepared salmon with spaghetti, which was served to and enjoyed by those present. Plans were mapped out for sponsoring an afternoon cotton dress contest during May and June. A most attractive exhibit from the Spool Cotton company, showing finishes to be used on cotton dresses, crochet for collars and cuffs and for dress trimmings of wool, silk or cotton faggoting, were shown.

Miss Sara Regenold and J. L. Blackwell attended the dance at the Vicksburg hotel Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Richards are enjoying a visit from Mr. Richards' mother, Mrs. C. E. Richards, and sister, Mrs. Arthur Orth, and Mrs. Elizabeth Clever and Judge Y. W. Home.

Those from here attending the B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school convention in Forest the 15th and 16th were Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Almond, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Riley, Mrs. Julius Nelson, Mrs. Oren Russell, Mrs. Omie Warren, Miss Helen Warren, Mrs. W. M. Cobb, W. C. Deal and Carl Sumrall and Mrs. Doris White.

Little Miss Lynell Turnipseed celebrated her sixth birthday with a lovely birthday party. The guests present to participate in this enjoyable event were Marie Brandenburg, Flournoy Voelker, Elva Sarah, Douglas Hamley, Mary Elizabeth and Harry Blount, Ernest Chaney, Grace, Charlotte Ann and Brown Nelson, Pearl and Freddy Herman, Ray Hinton, Teddy Shuford, Louise Potter, Rose and Joe Sansone, Aileen and Junior Carnyle, Eloise Mayo, Nona, John and Hazel Dalton, Salvatore Salemi and Elton Turnipseed.

In pinning the donkey's tail, Miss Eloise Mayo won the prize. In the jelly bean race, Hazel Dalton won the girl's prize and John Dalton won the boy's prize. After the games the lovely birthday cake with the six lighted candles was the center of attraction. After much merriment caused by blowing the candles out, the cake was served with delicious ice cream, after which the guests reluctantly departed, wishing the little hostess many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. J. E. Conly of Dallas, Texas, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. N. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Birdsong, Miss Julia Pearl Birdsong and Willie and Frank Birdsong of Mayersville, Miss., spent the week-end with Mrs. Birdsong's mother and sister, Mrs. N. K. Pearl and Miss Mary Pearl.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Herron and children of Monroe have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. DuBose. Miss Minnie B. Erwin was hostess to the Business and Professional Women's club, entertaining at bridge Thursday evening. The members playing were Misses Ida Mae Cobb, Helen Gilfoil, Emily Keene, Marjorie Gibson, Dorothy Kennedy, Olivia Peden, and Sara Cobb. Miss Gibson won high score. After the games a delicious salad course was served.

Mrs. D. M. Farr returned from Louise, Miss., on Monday, after a delightful week's visit with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Vall Delony and Orville Pinkston spent Saturday in Vicksburg.

The Business Men's club met in regular session Thursday evening at the Community club. J. N. Hill, Jr., the president, presided. Other members present were F. H. Schneider, E. D. Schneider, secretary, Dr. W. H. Hamley, J. M. Hamley, Mark H. Brown, Frank Voelker, L. H. Richards, F. H. Schneider, Jr. After the meeting a most enjoyable supper was served by Mrs. R. R. Higgins, the club caterer.

Miss Barla Whatley spent the week-end in Vicksburg with Mrs. Gus McLenore.

Miss Sue Pinkston spent Sunday in Tallulah with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pinkston.

Sixty-five per cent of the motion pictures shown in Bergen, Norway, are made in the United States.

Now is the time
Moth-proof
Sealed Bags without extra charge

Our Work is Guaranteed to please you

Just try this laundry
once and be convinced.
Our prices are no higher than any cleaner in Monroe and the work is of the best quality.
Send your family wash to us. Fresh clean clothes cheaper than home washing, all scientifically done.

Phone
1558

West Side Laundry 115 Commerce St.

MULHEARN'S

The Home of Dignified, Sympathetic Service

WE ARE VERY much gratified to announce that our business has passed through the introductory stage and we are now firmly established and all things considered, operating successfully. WE HAVE THE distinct advantage of a well balanced organization and every employee is vitally interested in our growth and development. WE HAVE NO conflicting duties of any nature whatever and devote our exclusive time and attention to the duties incumbent upon our profession. PAY US A VISIT of inspection. You will be pleased and we believe that you will agree with our claim that we have a real home. AMBULANCE CALLS ANSWERED PROMPTLY

Mulhearn Funeral Home
Phone 65 or 66 500 St. John Street

Good Ice Cream Made Better

Watson's Smoothfrozen Angelene Ice Cream is the result of a New Scientific discovery.

Fast Hardening has been added to our process, resulting in an Ice Cream with unexcelled Flavor, Body and Velvety-Smoothness.

Listed below are a number of Loyal Dealers who believe in Monroe and Louisiana and who dispense Watson's Smoothfrozen Angelene

First, because it is a superior product.

Second, third and last, because it is a Louisiana Product made by a Monroe Institution. They believe that a little personal interest cooperation and support on the part of buyers will have a great influence in increasing the distribution of our state's products, with a resulting increase in the State's prosperity.

A. & W. Sandwich Shop

DeSiard Street

Capp's Pharmacy

South Grand Street

Collens Pharmacy

DeSiard Street

Collens Pharmacy

North Third Street

Collens Five Point Pharmacy

DeSiard Street

Collens & Chapman

Lovers Lane

Elektrik Maid Bake Shop

DeSiard Street

Faser Drug Store

DeSiard Street

Frances Grill

Jackson and Harrison Streets

Holloway's Pharmacy

Clinic Bldg.

Johnson's Drug Store

DeSiard Street

Josey-Butler Drug Co.

West Monroe

Kennedy-Bennett Drug Co.

West Monroe

Lovers Lane Pharmacy

Lovers Lane

Morgan & Lindsey

DeSiard Street

North Side Pharmacy

Fourth and Stubbs

Pierce's Pharmacy

Tenth and DeSiard

Thompson's Drug Store

Plum Street

Virginia Hotel Coffee Shop

St. John Street

Jasis Sandwich Shop, open Apr. 25

Harrison and Calappa

Good Eats Restaurant

North Second Street

COLLENS & THOMPSON, NO. 1

Virginia Hotel Bldg.

COLLENS & THOMPSON, NO. 2

Frances Hotel Bldg.

Dispense the Justly Famous

VELVA-CREME ICE CREAM

Which Is Also Smoothfastfrozen

Watson & Aven

Office Phone 536

of Louisiana, Inc.

405-409 So. Grand Street

Night Phones 4599-2187

NOW

(For a Short Time Only)

YOU CAN GET A DOZEN
PICTURETS
(LITTLE PHOTOGRAPHS)

FOR 50¢

SEE WINDOW

Griffin STUDIOS

191-668

191-168

CREAMY COOLNESS

KENT'S BES' MADE; IT'S WONDERFUL

RICH, SMOOTH
ICE CREAM
Dependable Quality

ASK FOR IT BY NAME

KENT'S BES' MADE

SOLD AT LEADING DRUG STORES
PHONE YOUR DRUGGIST TODAY

Manufactured Exclusively by

DAIRY PRODUCTS COMPANY, Inc.

THE EASY

Way to get things you need at prices that are easy on your purse is to read the

CLASSIFIED ADS

NEWS FROM MORNING WORLD'S PARISHES

Farmerville

Mrs. Josephine Tabor spent Thursday with her son at Shiloh.

Miss Josephine Houck and Ben Lee visited friends at Gibsland Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Edwards of Bastrop, Texas, spent several days of last week in Farmerville in the home of Mrs. Edwards' brother, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pace.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Colvin and children of El Dorado spent Sunday in Farmerville in the home of Mrs. Colvin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hammons.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Goynne and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Goynne and daughter of Ruston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stancil Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller and little daughter, Ann, visited at Monroe Thursday.

Miss Gussie Fenton, Miss Elynn Baughman, David and Lazarus Baughman and J. W. Stancil, Jr., spent Friday at Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jones and son, Edward, and Sara Faye Keelber of Rayville spent the week-end in Farmerville in the home of Mrs. J. D. Baughman.

Mrs. P. P. Miller left Saturday for Waco, Texas, where she will spend several days in the home of her son, Mrs. R. W. Miller and daughter, Miss Frances Fenton were Monroe visitors Thursday.

Mrs. Allen Mitcham of Dubach was the guest of friends here Friday. Mrs. Gussie Wright of Alexandria spent the week-end in Farmerville in the home of her sister, Mrs. Duke Selig.

Mrs. John W. Taylor is spending several days with relatives at Monroe. Miss Coralie Saunders, popular teacher of the Farmerville high school, spent the week-end at Ruston.

Mrs. Tommy Miller and son and Miss Faye Baughman spent Thursday at Bernice with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Hancock and little daughter of Monroe spent Wednesday here with friends.

Miss Annie Nobles of Ruston was the house guest of Miss Faye Baughman the latter part of the week. Mrs. H. S. Roane of Ruston is spending several days in Farmerville with her daughter, Mrs. P. L. Read.

Miss Faye Coleman of Collinston was the house guest of Mrs. Jewel Howard the latter part of the week. Mrs. M. J. Pearson, Mrs. W. C. Andrews and Mrs. J. D. Baughman and Miss Faye Baughman spent Tuesday in El Dorado as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowland.

Miss Frances Fields was the guest of Mrs. Killgore at Lisbon for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bolton and daughter, Miss Helen, of Alexandria, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Duke Selig.

Miss George Ward and children and Miss Pearl Lowery spent the week-end at Overton, Texas, as guests of Mrs. Gene Gilman.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown and Mrs. A. L. Stancil of Monroe were guests of relatives here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Ham and son of Dubach spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Ham.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Porter of Bernice spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter.

Miss Minnie Arant, Mrs. J. D. Baughman and David and Elynn

Baughman spent Wednesday at Monroe.

Mrs. W. J. Turnage, Jr., has returned from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Boone at Arcadia.

Mrs. Pauline Slawson of Ruston is visiting relatives here for several days. Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Barker of Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Heard of Alexandria were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Barnes Sunday.

Mrs. Stella Norris and daughters spent the week-end at West Monroe with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Norris.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baughman, Jr., of Ruston spent Sunday here with relatives.

Mrs. A. J. Hammons and daughter, Mrs. Tom L. Roberts, Mrs. George D. Sanders, Mrs. S. B. Smith, Mrs. Lott Jones, Mrs. M. J. Pearson, Mrs. E. J. Lee, Mrs. George Fenton, Mrs. F. F. Preaus, Mrs. D. O. Ramsey, Mrs. S. L. Barnes and Mrs. J. D. Baughman attended an all-day meeting of the Women's Missionary society at Choudrant Thursday.

Bastrop

Mrs. E. L. Castoneda, who has been feted guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cox, has completed a most enjoyable visit, returning the early part of the week to her home in Shreveport. Mrs. Castoneda is affectionately remembered here as Miss Subb Marable.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wynn entertained as their house guests this week, their brother, Mr. R. L. Wynn, and niece, Mrs. Frederick Hult and children, all of Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gladney and Mr. and Mrs. H. Webb Madison have returned from Baton Rouge where they attended the State Bankers' association. The pleasurable trip was made by motor.

Welcome visitors here during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Milliken and children of Little Rock, Ark., who were entertained in the homes of many friends during their brief stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike East returned to Camden, Ark., Monday after an enjoyable visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Montgomery.

Mrs. Richard J. Cullen has returned from a ten day stay in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. McMullen of Camden, Ark., were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Scott over the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pomeroy and children went by motor to Mountain Home, Ark., where they spent several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Tipton.

The district meeting of the Methodist conference will be held in Waterproof, La., on Thursday, April 21.

The Women's Bible class of the Methodist church will have their social meeting Friday at 12:30 o'clock in the evening at the home of Mrs. C. W. Pomeroy, Mrs. Pomeroy and Mrs. C. S. Doolittle as hostesses.

Mrs. Charles E. Buck, whose home in West Pine street was recently destroyed by fire, was the recipient of many beautiful gifts when a surprise shower was given in her honor last Monday afternoon. Mrs. Buck, quite unaware of the plans for the afternoon, was invited to the home of Mrs. Carroll in Collins Lane, where she found a group of her friends awaiting her arrival. Exquisite linens, useful kitchen utensils and innumerable gifts, concealed in attractively wrapped packages were graciously proffered the honoree.

Delectable sandwiches and delicious iced drinks were served to those who shared the pleasures of the afternoon with Mrs. Buck and included Messdames Walter Kreuger, Louis Arant, J. E. Duncan, Eva Hardy, Jack Tyler, T. A. Duncan, Cecil Albright, C. P. Bailey, H. J. Legler, Roy Freeland, T. E. Jacobs, W. D. Carroll, Charles Kroemer, M. K. Cheshire, Joe Howell, John Domino, M. C. Cheshire, M. A. Naff, Stella Pierce, J. V. Jones, J. E. Naff, Doyle Arant, Catherine Graham and Percy Graham.

Sunny South Chapter No. 12 of the Order of Eastern Star also kindly remembered Mrs. Buck when they recently gathered at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. J. Howell, each member bringing some useful article for Mrs. Buck's new home which will be erected in the very near future. Cards attached to the daintily wrapped packages bore the names of Messdames J. B. Crockett, Alice Dorman, J. H. Hooper, J. W. Rogers, W. T. Eldridge, Lynn Pomeroy, Ramone Davis, R. E. Cullen, Luther Freeland, Misses Johnnie Lee Evans and Mary Washburn.

Birthday Party
Little Marcella Barnett, who celebrated her seventh birthday on Tuesday, April 12, was the central figure at a delightful party arranged by her mother, Mrs. Alpha Barnett.

The weather was ideal for outdoor games and the children gleefully entered into the interesting games planned for their pleasure, romping about the grounds of the Barnett home until they were invited into the dining room where Marcella, surrounded by her enthralled little friends, blew out the seven burning tapers that topped the lovely white birthday cake. Ices and individual cakes were served and gayly decorated baskets filled with delicious confections were distributed among Marybeth Harris, Margaret Dean Gill, Maxine Brown, George Emma Tisdale, Lois Williamson, Doris Speck, Lola Lee Peeble, Althal Dean McCombs, Irma Nelson, George W. Hiatt, Frankie Lou Duncan, Dorothy Cloyd, Eloise Cloyd, Florence Oliver, Lois Ann Oliver, Josephine Inana, Philip Inaba, Ruby Barker, Lillian Barker, Vivian Barker, Margie Sims and Mary Sims.

Tallulah

Students of the Tallulah high school who won honors in the northeast Louisiana rally in Ruston Friday were Mrs. M. J. Pearson, Mrs. W. C. Andrews and Mrs. J. D. Baughman and Miss Faye Baughman spent Tuesday in El Dorado as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowland.

Miss Frances Fields was the guest of Mrs. Killgore at Lisbon for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bolton and daughter, Miss Helen, of Alexandria, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Duke Selig.

Miss George Ward and children and Miss Pearl Lowery spent the week-end at Overton, Texas, as guests of Mrs. Gene Gilman.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown and Mrs. A. L. Stancil of Monroe were guests of relatives here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Ham and son of Dubach spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Ham.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Porter of Bernice spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter.

Miss Minnie Arant, Mrs. J. D. Baughman and David and Elynn

Baughman spent Wednesday at Monroe.

Mrs. W. J. Turnage, Jr., has returned from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Boone at Arcadia.

Mrs. Pauline Slawson of Ruston is visiting relatives here for several days. Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Barker of Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Heard of Alexandria were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Barnes Sunday.

Mrs. Stella Norris and daughters spent the week-end at West Monroe with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Norris.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baughman, Jr., of Ruston spent Sunday here with relatives.

Mrs. A. J. Hammons and daughter, Mrs. Tom L. Roberts, Mrs. George D. Sanders, Mrs. S. B. Smith, Mrs. Lott Jones, Mrs. M. J. Pearson, Mrs. E. J. Lee, Mrs. George Fenton, Mrs. F. F. Preaus, Mrs. D. O. Ramsey, Mrs. S. L. Barnes and Mrs. J. D. Baughman attended an all-day meeting of the Women's Missionary society at Choudrant Thursday.

Mrs. E. L. Castoneda, who has been feted guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cox, has completed a most enjoyable visit, returning the early part of the week to her home in Shreveport. Mrs. Castoneda is affectionately remembered here as Miss Subb Marable.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wynn entertained as their house guests this week, their brother, Mr. R. L. Wynn, and niece, Mrs. Frederick Hult and children, all of Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gladney and Mr. and Mrs. H. Webb Madison have returned from Baton Rouge where they attended the State Bankers' association. The pleasurable trip was made by motor.

Welcome visitors here during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Milliken and children of Little Rock, Ark., who were entertained in the homes of many friends during their brief stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike East returned to Camden, Ark., Monday after an enjoyable visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Montgomery.

Mrs. Richard J. Cullen has returned from a ten day stay in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. McMullen of Camden, Ark., were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Scott over the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pomeroy and children went by motor to Mountain Home, Ark., where they spent several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Tipton.

Paradise

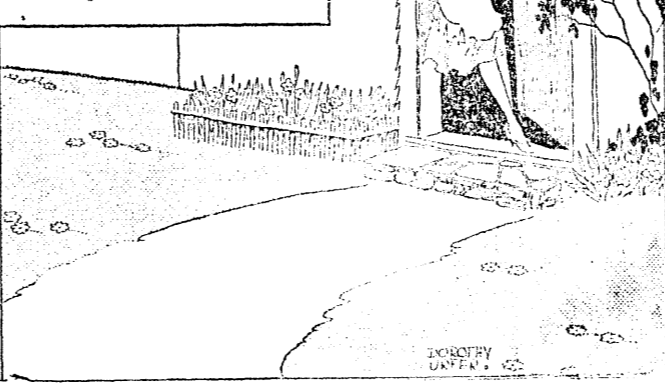

By HELEN WELSHIMER

WHEN women search for Paradise As a rule you'll find A little house, love-filled and bright, Is what they have in mind.

A LITTLE house where sunshine makes Gold rugs across the floor, And honeysuckle drifts, dream-sweet, Around the kitchen door.

TWO rows of gay, brave hollyhocks That guard a homing lane, An open fire by which to warm When dusk blows up a rain.

THE ecstasy that day's end throws Across a shadowed lawn, Where women, seeing men turn home, Put waiting kettles on.

business session the closing prayer was offered by Mrs. H. J. Jones. Delightful refreshments were served during the social hour.

Misses Carrie Ruth and Josephine Williamson have returned from a visit to relatives in New Orleans.

The Judson circle met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Rock Monday afternoon with 12 members and two visitors present. After a short devotional service there was a business session, followed by the study lesson from "In Royal Service" taught by Mrs. M. A. Hill. Rev. C. N. Kimberlin gave the closing prayer. A social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sympathy is extended to Dr. E. S. Freeman in the death of his brother in Collinston this week.

A study course for Sunday school workers was conducted at the Baptist church every evening of the week with the pastor, Rev. C. N. Kimberlin, as teacher. The text used was "A Search for Souls" and the following are enrolled in the class: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nettles, Mrs. R. S. Gayle, Mrs. C. F. Hobson, Mrs. Cotton, Mrs. Bert Miller, Mrs. A. J. Boswell and Mrs. C. N. Kimberlin.

The Sunbeam band of the Baptist church met at the church Tuesday afternoon. The program was followed by a picnic lunch on the church lawn. Mothers of the children were special guests. The program was featured by talks, songs and readings about China in which a number of children took part.

Miss Evelyn Talbert of Mangham is visiting Miss Edna Mae Kelly. Mr. and Mrs. William Gilfoil returned to New Orleans after a short visit at the Gilfoil home at Omega.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Agce were hosts to the Monday Night club this week. Dinner was served preceding the bridge games. W. R. Gilfoil and Mrs. Agce were winners of the high score awards. This club has recently been changed from Tuesdays to Mondays.

The Episcopal auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the church with Miss Annette Beers, president, presiding.

Mrs. George Booser of Natchez is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Vernon Thompson.

Mrs. Charles Coltharp left Tuesday to visit her niece, Mrs. Maud Mobly, at Utica, Miss.

The following young people enjoyed a wicker roast at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Folk on Friday evening: Joan Kathon, Peggy Claughton, Sue Fairly, Evelyn Jones, Marguerite McDonald, Dorella Hopper, Marian Boswell, Margaret Folk, Julia Williams and Joyce Kearney.

Perry Glick has returned from the Vicksburg infirmary where he has been receiving treatment.

Clarks

Miss Gladys Patton, Miss Louise Buffington, Miss Sentelle Johns, Mrs. Elmer Smith and Miss Eleanor Black were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Miss Patton on Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. George E. Erskin of Columbia, a recent bride, who was before her marriage, Miss Jaunita Yonce of Clarks. Among the lovely and useful gifts received were: linen and china luncheon sets, bed linens and spreads, kitchen aluminum, table silver service and coffee set, odd pieces of silver and china, flower bowls and vases and bath room linens. A large three-tier wedding cake embossed in white with an ornamental trimming of delicate pink topped with a bride and groom, centered the dining table. Individual cakes and tea were served to the following present: Mrs. Z. L. Buffington, Miss Doyne Buffington, Mrs. A. L. Brantley, Mrs. E. T. Henson, Mrs. E. L. Kraft, Mrs. U. N. Bradford, Mrs. L. L. Jackson, Mrs. C. B. Smith, Miss Elsie Kraft, Miss Christie Davis, Mrs. Kate Harris, Mrs. Harry Homer, Miss Dora Cooksey, Miss Marie Minard, Miss Pearl Hobson, Mrs. J. W. Box, Miss Frances Patton, Mrs. T. W. Beauchamp, Mrs. H. A. Cobb, Mrs. Reginald Gates, Mrs. Robert L. Arceneaux, Miss Louise Buffington, Mrs. S. H. Patton, Mrs. Eleanor Black, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Miss Sentelle Johns and Miss Gladys Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stultz and their little daughter, Virginia Anne, of Monroe, accompanied Miss Beatrice Skirvin home on Friday for a visit over the week-end. On Saturday they motored to Alexandria, where Virginia Anne, a music pupil of Miss Skirvin, won second place in a state music contest.

Little Miss Marjorie Lewis, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. K. Lewis, underwent an operation for a bone infection of the left limb at the St. Francis hospital in Monroe on last Sunday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Mecom and Miss Jeannette Clarkson motored to Monroe on Saturday evening and began a series of contract bridge lessons with Mrs. A. L. Harrington.

Mrs. Paul Jones was called to Wimsboro on Sunday afternoon on account of the serious illness of her father, E. D. Parker, to whom death came early Monday morning. The funeral was held at the family residence Monday afternoon with the Rev. Danna Terry and the Rev. J. W. Booth officiating. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Albright, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. McDonald and Mrs. L. A. Moore motored from Clarks to Wimsboro for the service.

The Rev. Paul Jones is conducting a series of special sermons on Sunday evenings at the Baptist church.

Members of Circle No. 1 of the W. M. U. motored Mrs. B. B. Lewis, a member of the circle who will move from Clarks to Soudersboro, Ark., at an early date, with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. V. E. Lewis on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. V. E. Lewis introduced the shower idea with a contest. The members were to put on a hat, veil and gloves and open an umbrella and run from the living room around the dining table and return to their seats. A prize was offered to the person who could accomplish this in the shortest time. Mrs. B. B. Lewis was asked to start the contest. As she opened the umbrella a shower of packages fell from it. Mrs. R. F. Fenton appeared at the same time and presented her with a tray of packages. The large number of attractive gifts which the guests were privileged to view as Mrs. Lewis opened them, was an assurance of the personal regard of her Clarks friends. Mrs. C. N. Harrington and Mrs. R. F. Fenton presided over the tea service, assisted by Mrs. V. E. Lewis.

Mer Rouge

Miss Ruth Williams of Baton Rouge spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. A. N. Williams.

Charlie Hope of Monroe was a visitor here Sunday.

Mrs. F. A. Tolar and Miss Peggy Nesom of Rayville spent the week-end here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Padgett were called to Kentucky Saturday on account of illness.

Miss Kate Michie, who is teaching in Archibald, spent the week-end at home.

Mrs. John S. Fox and son of Monroe spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. L. T. Snyder.

The Mesdames J. S. Moore, F. A. Tolar, Inez McKee and the Mesdames Frankie Coleman and Dorothy McKee were visitors to Monroe Saturday.

Mrs. DeWitt Causey of Lake Providence was the guest of Mrs. Carl Hill last week-end.

Misses Mary Emma and Jane Williams were visitors to Monroe Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stinger of Monroe spent Sunday with Mrs. Stinger's mother, Mrs. M. L. Clark.

Miss Eloise Edwards of Shreveport spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Edwards.

SOLE-LY

For Your Comfort

Your old shoes are the most comfortable ones. Don't discard them, let us repair them for you. When we return your shoes you have the best in workmanship and leather that you can obtain and at reasonable rates.

193-547 191-998

Joseph Arnoldi
ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
119 DeCade Street Phone 705

Sterlington

Mr. Nolan Mae is Forrest, La., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. M. M. Funderburk.

Mrs. W. T. Poole and daughter, Mary Virginia, and Misses Hazle Mae and Maureen Maroney spent the week-end in Strong, Ark., as guests of Mrs. Poole's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harman, and other relatives.

Mrs. Leo Fleming has as her house guest Mrs. C. B. Allen of Wichita Falls, Texas. Mrs. Allen is an old friend of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Phillips and Miss Dorothy Blaylock of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Robbie Lee Hanna of Monroe motored to Vicksburg and Jackson, Miss., Sunday.

Mr. Lester H. H. H. friends wish for him a speedy recovery from an appendicitis operation he underwent a few days ago.

Mrs. W. A. Johnson had as guests Sunday her father, Mr. Reppond and son, Frank, of Marion.

Mrs. John Coy and children have returned from an extended visit with Mr. Lewis Coy and family of Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Grant has been enjoying an extended visit of their daughter, Mrs. Wade of New Roads, La. They also had as guests Sunday their son, W. B. Grant, wife and little daughter, Leola, of Vicksburg, Miss.

Miss Sue Kilgore of Monroe spent the week-end with friends in Sterlington.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Woodhead have been entertaining in their home Mr. W. T. Blaylock's sister, Miss Dorothy, of Des Moines, Iowa. Miss Robbie Lee Hanna of Monroe was also a guest in the Woodhead home Saturday night.

Miss Sidney Alexander has returned to her home from the hospital in Bastrop where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She will be glad to have her friends call.

Eros

Misses Alida Thompson and Jeraldine Purdy of Indian Village spent Sunday as the guests of Misses Myrtle and Inez Rogers.

Mrs. Elmer Furell and daughter of Colfax spent Sunday as the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ziegler.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Walpole, Webb Walpole and Miss Ruth Walpole visited their son, Albert Walpole, in Monroe Sunday, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in St. Francis sanitarium.

Miss Johnnie Thompson of Indian Village spent the week-end as the guest of Miss Carrie Gouter.

J. S. Holmes of Louisiana Tech. Ruston, spent the week-end as the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Holmes.

Rev. Morris W. Curry of Pineville filled his regular appointment in the Baptist church here Saturday and Sunday.

Quite a few contestants and pupils attended the Ruston rally on Friday. Miss Pearl Collins of West Monroe spent Saturday and Sunday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bunn Nash.

Delhi

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Loflin of Vicksburg, were week-end guests in the home of Mrs. Ruth Poulan. While here they motored to Shreveport, where they spent Sunday and Monday.

Jodie Stout, senior law student at Tulane, spent the week-end in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Stout. He was accompanied by Leon Stout, teacher in Orleans parish, who visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stout.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. O'Neal spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lyles in Alto.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hulse, Jr., and son, Frank III, and Hill Stancel of Monroe were guests in the home of

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hulse, Sr., Sunday morning.

Mrs. James Harvey O'Neal and daughters, Dorothy and Beverly Gene, are spending several days in Monroe with her sister, Mrs. Zoon Sutton.

Mrs. Wanda H. Blackwell of Monroe arrived Thursday and will make her home here. Mrs. Blackwell, accompanied by her sisters, Misses Edna and Ann Hatcher and Miss Lynne McGrew, of Sumner, Miss., spent Saturday and Sunday in Monroe.

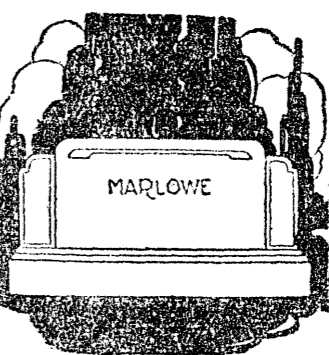

Miss Dorothy Mae Justice was the week-end guest of Miss Dorothy Lee Stodgill in Rayville.

DUST TO DUST

Is the fate of every man. But there is a consolation in knowing that we have given our dear departed the pledge of our eternal love. Let a fitting monument testify to your affection. We invite your attention to our display and our ability to help you.

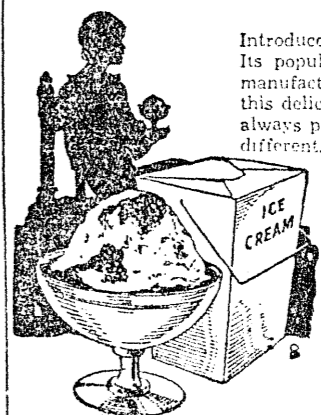

Monroe Marble & Granite Works

19 Years at 901 DeStard Street. Phone 237

"VELVA-CREME" ICE CREAM

Has Captured the Taste of All Ice Cream Eaters!

Introduced to the public only a week ago. Its popularity has already overworked the manufacturers. The very moment you taste this delicious full cream ice cream, you will always prefer "Velva-Creme." It's new, it's different.

Order Today

SUNDAY SPECIAL

Pint 19c
Delivered

The formula of this cream is a secret, made only for these two drug stores. Cannot be secured elsewhere.

COLLENS-THOMPSON

NO. 1

Virginia Hotel

Phone 1115

COLLENS-THOMPSON

NO. 2

Frances Hotel

Phone 1110

61 YEARS of sympathetic service

IN 1871, Peters Funeral Chapel was little more than a name and an ideal. Today, this institution, after blazing the pioneers' trail, passed through successive and successful stages of interesting and intense development until it has become a real factor in serving the people of Northeast Louisiana. Today, just as in 1871, it is comfort-

NEWS FROM MORNING WORLD'S PARISHES

Farmerville

Mrs. Josephine Tabor spent Thursday with her son at Shiloh.

Mrs. Josephine Houck and Ben Lee visited friends at Gibsland Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Edwards of Bastrop, Texas, spent several days of last week in Farmerville in the home of Mrs. Edwards' brother, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pace.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Colvin and children of El Dorado spent Sunday in Farmerville in the home of Mrs. Colvin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hammons.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Goynne and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Goynne and daughter of Ruston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stancil Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller and little daughter, Ann, visited at Monroe Thursday.

Miss Gussie Fenton, Miss Elynn Baughman, David and Lazarus Baughman and J. W. Stancil, Jr., spent Friday at Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jones and son, Edward, and Sara Faye Keebler of Rayville spent the week-end in Farmerville in the home of Mrs. J. D. Baughman.

Mrs. F. P. Miller left Saturday for Waco, Texas, where she will spend several days in the home of her son, Mrs. R. W. Miller and daughter, Miss Frances Fields were Monroe visitors Thursday.

Mrs. Allen Mitcham of Dubach was the guest of friends here Friday. Mrs. Gussie Fenton of Alexandria spent the week-end in Farmerville in the home of her sister, Mrs. Duke Selig.

Mrs. John W. Taylor is spending several days with relatives at Monroe. Miss Coralle Saunders, popular teacher of the Farmerville high school, spent the week-end at Ruston.

Mrs. Tommie Miller and son and Miss Faye Baughman spent Thursday at Bernice with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Hancock and little daughter of Monroe spent Wednesday here with friends.

Miss Annie Nobles of Ruston was the house guest of Miss Faye Baughman the latter part of the week.

Mrs. H. S. Roane of Ruston is spending several days in Farmerville with her daughter, Mrs. P. L. Read.

Miss Faye Coleman of Collinston was the house guest of Mrs. Jewel Howard the latter part of the week.

Mrs. M. J. Pearson, Mrs. W. C. Andrews and Mrs. J. D. Baughman and Miss Faye Baughman spent Tuesday in El Dorado as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowland.

Miss Frances Fields was the guest of Mrs. Killgore at Lisbon for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bolton and daughter, Miss Helen, of Alexandria, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Duke Selig.

Mrs. George Ward and children and Miss Pearl Lowery spent the week-end at Overton, Texas, as guests of Mrs. Gene Gillum.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown and Mrs. A. L. Stancil of Monroe were guests of relatives here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Ham and son of Dubach spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Fort of Bernice spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter.

Miss Minnie Arent, Mrs. J. D. Baughman and David and Elynn

Baughman spent Wednesday at Monroe.

Mrs. W. J. Turnage, Jr., has returned from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Boone at Arcadia.

Mrs. Pauline Slawson of Ruston is visiting relatives here for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Barker of Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Heard of Alexandria were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Barnes Sunday.

Mrs. Stella Norris and daughters spent the week-end at West Monroe with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Norris.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baughman, Jr., of Ruston spent Sunday here with relatives.

Mrs. A. J. Hammons and daughter, Mrs. Tom L. Roberts, Mrs. George D. Sanders, Mrs. S. B. Smith, Mrs. Lott Jones, Mrs. M. J. Pearson, Mrs. E. J. Lee, Mrs. George Fenton, Mrs. F. F. Preaus, Mrs. D. O. Ramsey, Mrs. S. L. Barnes and Mrs. J. D. Baughman attended an all-day meeting of the Women's Missionary society at Choudrant Thursday.

Bastrop

Mrs. E. L. Castoneda, who has been feted guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cox, has completed a most enjoyable visit, returning the early part of the week to her home in Shreveport. Mrs. Castoneda is affectionately remembered here as Miss Sudie Marable.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wynn entertained as their house guests this week, their brother, Mr. R. L. Wynn, and niece, Mrs. Frederick Huff and children, all of Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gladney and Mr. and Mrs. H. Webb Madison have returned from Baton Rouge where they attended the State Bankers' association. The pleasurable trip was made by motor.

Welcome visitors here during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Milliken and children of Little Rock, Ark., who were entertained in the homes of many friends during their brief stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike East returned to Camden, Ark., Monday after an enjoyable visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Montgomery.

Mrs. Richard J. Cullen has returned from a ten day stay in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. McMullen of Camden, Ark., were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Scott over the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pomeroy and children went by motor to Mountain Home, Ark., where they spent several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Tipton.

The district meeting of the Monroe Methodist conference will be held in Waterproof, La., on Thursday, April 21.

The Women's Bible class of the Methodist church will have their social meeting Friday at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the home of Mrs. C. W. Pomeroy, Mrs. Pomeroy and Mrs. C. S. Donnelly as hostesses.

Mrs. Buck Honored

Mrs. Charles E. Buck, whose home in West Pine street was recently destroyed by fire, was the recipient of many beautiful gifts when a surprise shower was given in her honor last Monday afternoon. Mrs. Buck, quite unaware of the plans for the afternoon, was invited to the home of Mrs. Carroll in Colliers Lane, where she found a group of her friends awaiting her arrival. Exquisite linens, useful kitchen utensils and innumerable gifts, concealed in attractively wrapped packages were graciously proffered the honoree.

Dainty sandwiches and delicious iced drinks were served to those who shared the pleasures of the afternoon with Mrs. Buck and included Messdames Walter Kreuger, Louis Arant, J. E. Duncan, Eva Hardy, Jack Tyler, T. A. Duncan, Cecil Albright, C. P. Baily, H. J. Legler, Roy Freeland, T. E. Jacobs, W. D. Carroll, Charles Kroemer, M. K. Cheshire, Joe Howell, John Domino, M. C. Cheshire, M. A. Naff, Stella Pierce, J. V. Jones, J. E. Naff, Doyle Arant, Catherine Graham and Percy Graham.

Sunny South Chapter No. 12 of the Order of Eastern Star also kindly remembered Mrs. Buck when they recently gathered at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. J. Howell, each member bringing some useful article for Mrs. Buck's new home which will be erected in the very near future. Cards attached to the daintily wrapped packages bore the names of Messdames J. B. Crockett, Alice Dorman, J. H. Hooper, J. W. Rogers, W. T. Eldridge, Lynn Pomeroy, Ramone Davis, R. E. Cullen, Luther Freeland, Misses Johnnie Lee Evans and Mary Washburn.

Birthday Party

Little Marcella Barnett, who celebrated her seventh birthday on Tuesday, April 12, was the central figure at a delightful party arranged by her mother, Mrs. Alpha Barnett.

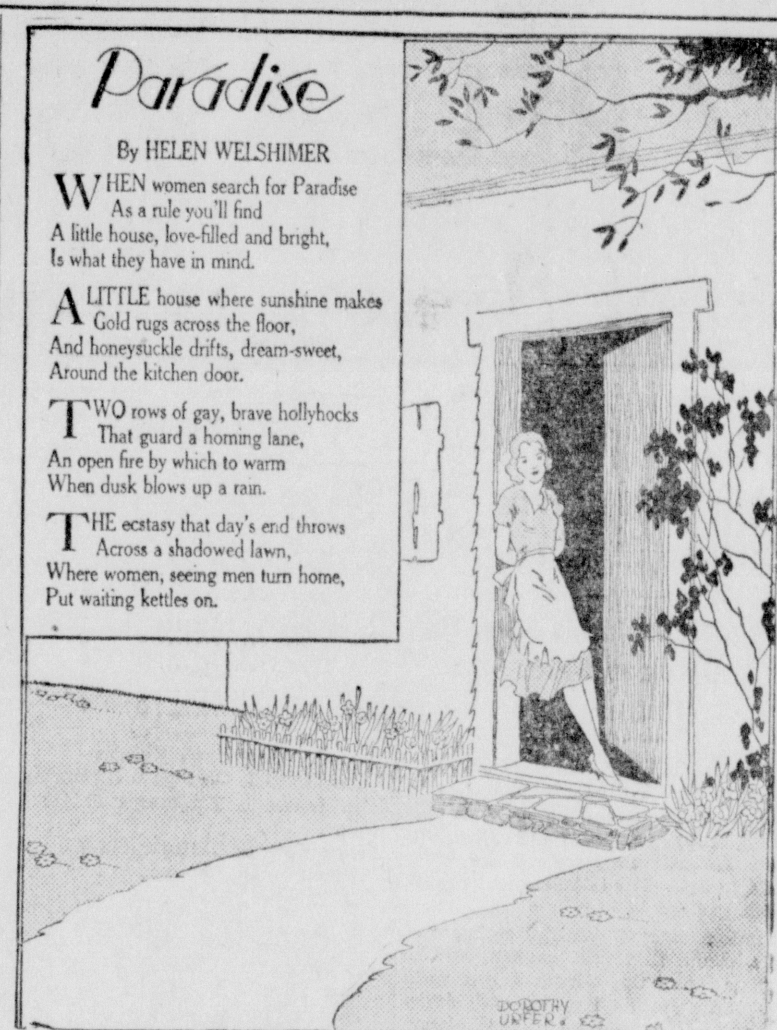

The weather was ideal for outdoor games and the children gleefully entered into the interesting games planned for their pleasure, romping about the grounds of the Barnett home until they were invited into the dining room where Marcella, surrounded by her enthralled little guests, blew out the seven burning tapers that topped the lovely white birthday cake. Ices and individual cakes were served and gayly decorated baskets filled with delicious confections were distributed among Marybeth Harris, Margaret Dean Gill, Maxine Brown, George Emma Tisdale, Lois Williamson, Doris Speak, Lola Lee Peele, Althal Dean McLeone, Irma Nelson, George W. Hiatt, Frankie Lou Dunne, Dorothy Cloyd, Eloise Cloyd, Florence Inzina, Philip Ann Oliver, Josephine Inzina, Philip Inzina, Ruby Barker, Lillian Barker, Vivian Barker, Margie Sims and Mary Sims.

Tallulah

Students of the Tallulah high school who won honors in the northeast Louisiana rally in Ruston Friday were Helen Massey, Helene Roy, Helen May Julian, Ruth French, Mabel Claire Lancaster, Attie Leves, Fred Tucker, Ralph Holloway, Edward Smith, Marianne Ward and Jimmy Spinks.

The young peoples' department of the Methodist church gave an ice cream festival at the church on Tuesday evening. The high school band furnished music throughout the evening. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of delegates to the young peoples assembly in Mansfield during the summer.

The Willing Workers met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Bankston with 14 members present. Mrs. Roy Snider conducted the devotional and Mrs. W. C. Purdy led in prayer. Mrs. Louis Collins had arranged an interesting program in which Mrs. Bert Miller, Mrs. Frank Montgomery, Mrs. C. F. Hobson and Mrs. Lindsey made talks on "Baptists Working Together." After a short

By HELEN WELSHIMER

WHEN women search for Paradise As a rule you'll find A little house, love-filled and bright, Is what they have in mind.

A LITTLE house where sunshine makes Gold rugs across the floor, And honeysuckle drifts, dream-sweet, Around the kitchen door.

TWO rows of gay, brave hollyhocks That guard a homing lane, An open fire by which to warm When dusk blows up a rain.

THE ecstasy that day's end throws Across a shadowed lawn, Where women, seeing men turn home, Put waiting kettles on.

business session the closing prayer was offered by Mrs. H. J. Jones. Delightful refreshments were served during the social hour.

Misses Carrie Ruth and Josephine Williamson have returned from a visit to relatives in New Orleans.

The Judson circle met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Rock Monday afternoon with 12 members and two visitors present.

After a short devotional service there was a business session, followed by the study lesson from "In Royal Service" taught by Mrs. M. A. Hill. Rev. C. N. Kimberlin gave the closing prayer. A social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sympathy is extended to Dr. E. S. Freeman in the death of his brother in Collinston this week.

A study course for Sunday school workers was conducted at the Baptist church every evening of the week with the pastor, Rev. C. N. Kimberlin, as teacher. The text used was "A Search for Souls" and the following are enrolled in the class: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nettles, Mrs. R. S. Gayle, Mrs. C. F. Hobson, Mrs. Cotton, Mrs. Bert Miller, Mrs. A. J. Boswell and Mrs. C. N. Kimberlin.

The Sunbeam band of the Baptist church met at the church Tuesday afternoon. The program was followed by a picnic lunch on the church lawn. Mothers of the children were special guests. The program was featured by talks, songs and readings about China in which a number of children took part.

Miss Evelyn Talbert of Mangham is visiting Miss Edna Mae Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gilfoil returned to New Orleans after a short visit at the Gilfoil home at Omega.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Agee were hosts to the Monday Night club this week. Dinner was served preceding the bridge games. W. R. Gilfoil and Mrs. Agee were winners of the high score awards. This club has recently been changed from Tuesdays to Mondays.

The Episcopal auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the church with Miss Annette Beers, president, presiding.

Mrs. George Booser of Natchez is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Vernon Thompson.

Mrs. Charles Coltharp left Tuesday to visit her niece, Mrs. Maud Mobly, at Utica, Miss.

The following young people enjoyed a wienner roast at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Folk on Friday evening: Joan Kathon, Peggy Claughton, Sue Fairly, Evelyn Jones, Marguerite McDonald, Drucilla Hopper, Marian Boswell, Margaret Folk, Julia Williams and Joyce Kearney.

Perry Glick has returned from the Vicksburg infirmary where he has been receiving treatment.

Clarks

Miss Gladys Patton, Miss Louise Buffington, Miss Sentelle Johns, Mrs. Elmer Smith and Miss Eleanor Black were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Miss Patton on Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. George E. Erskin of Columbia, a recent bride, who was before her marriage, Miss Louise Young of Clarks. Among the lovely and useful gifts received were: linen and china luncheon sets, bed linens and spreads, kitchen aluminum, table silver service and coffee set, odd pieces of silver and china, flower bowls and vases and bath room linens. A large three-tier wedding cake embossed in white with an ornamental trimming of delicate pink topped with a bride and groom, centered the dining table. Individual cakes and tea were served to the following present: Mrs. Z. L. Buffington, Miss Doynne Buffington, Mrs. A. L. Brantley, Mrs. E. T. Hobson, Mrs. E. L. Kraft, Mrs. U. N. Bradford, Mrs. L. L. Jackson, Mrs. C. B. Smith, Miss Elsie Kraft, Miss Christie Davis, Mrs. Kate Harris, Mrs. Harry Homer, Miss Dora Cooksey, Miss Marie Minard, Miss Pearl Hobson, Mrs. J. W. Bos, Miss Frances Patton, Mrs. T. W. Beauchamp, Mrs. H. A. Cobb, Mrs. Reginald Gates, Mrs. Robert L. Arceneaux, Miss Louise Buffington, Mrs. S. H. Patton, Miss Eleanor Black, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Miss Sentelle Johns and Miss Gladys Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stultz and their little daughter, Virginia Anne, of Monroe, accompanied Miss Beatrice Skirvin home on Friday for a visit over the week-end. On Saturday they motored to Alexandria, where Virginia Anne, a music pupil of Miss Skirvin, won second place in a state music contest.

Little Miss Marjorie Lewis, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. K. Lewis, underwent an operation for a bone infection of the left limb at the St. Francis hospital in Monroe on last Sunday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Mecom and Miss Jeannette Clarkson motored to Monroe on Saturday evening and began a series of contract bridge lessons with Mrs. A. L. Harrington.

Mrs. Paul Jones was called to Winnsboro on Sunday afternoon on account of the serious illness of her father, E. D. Parker, to whom death came early Monday morning. The funeral was held at the family residence Monday afternoon with the Rev. Danna Terry and the Rev. J. W. Booth officiating. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Allbritton, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. McDonald and Mrs. L. A. Moore motored from Clarks to Winnsboro for the service.

The Rev. Paul Jones is conducting a series of special sermons on Sunday evenings at the Baptist church.

Members of Circle No. 1 of the W. M. U. honored Mrs. B. B. Lewis, a member of the circle who will move from Clarks to Snackover, Ark., at an early date, with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. V. E. Lewis on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. V. E. Lewis introduced the shower idea with a contest. The members were to put on a hat, veil and gloves and open an umbrella and run from the living room around the dining table and return to their seats. A prize was offered to the person who could accomplish this in the shortest time. Mrs. B. B. Lewis was asked to start the contest. As she opened the umbrella a shower of packages fell from it. Mrs. R. F. Fenton appeared at the same time and presented her with a tray of packages. The large number of attractive gifts which the guests were privileged to view as Mrs. Lewis opened them, was an assurance of the personal regard of her Clarks friends. Mrs. G. N. Harrison and Mrs. R. F. Fenton presided over the tea service, assisted by Mrs. V. E. Lewis.

Mer Rouge

Miss Ruth Williams of Baton Rouge spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. A. N. Williams.

Charlie Hope of Monroe was a visitor here Sunday.

Mrs. F. A. Tolar and Miss Peggy Nesom of Rayville spent the week-end here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Padgett were called to Kentucky Saturday on account of illness.

Miss Kate Michie, who is teaching in Archibald, spent the week-end at home.

Mrs. John S. Fox and son of Monroe spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. L. T. Snyder.

The Messdames J. S. Moore, F. A. Tolar, Inez McKee and the Messes Frankie Coleman and Dorothy McKee were visitors to Monroe Saturday.

Mrs. DeWitt Causey of Lake Providence was the guest of Mrs. Carl Hill last week-end.

Misses Mary Emma and Jane Williams were visitors to Monroe Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stringer of Monroe spent Sunday with Mrs. Stringer's mother, Mrs. Ida Clark.

Miss Eloise Edwards of Shreveport spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Edwards.

SOLE-LY

For Your Comfort

Your old shoes are the most comfortable ones. Don't discard them, but let us repair them for you. When we return your shoes you have the best in workmanship and leather that you can obtain and at reasonable rates.

193-547 191-998

Sterlington

Mr. Nolan Mae is Forrest, La., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. M. M. Fundurburk.

Mrs. W. T. Poole and daughter, Mary Virginia, and Misses Hazle Mae and Maureen Maroney spent the week-end in Strong, Ark., as guests of Mrs. Poole's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, and other relatives.

Mrs. Leo Fleming has as her house guest Mrs. C. B. Allen of Wichita Falls, Texas. Mrs. Allen is an old friend of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Phillips and Miss Dorothy Blaylock of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Robbie Lee Hanna of Monroe motored to Vicksburg and Jackson, Miss., Sunday.

Mr. Lester Horn's friends wish for him a speedy recovery from an appendicitis operation he underwent a few days ago.

Mrs. W. A. Johnson had as guests Sunday her father, Mr. Reppond and son, Frank, of Marion.

Mrs. John Coy and children have returned from an extended visit with Mr. Lewis Coy and family of Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Grant has been enjoying an extended visit of their daughter, Mrs. Wade of New Roads, La. They also had as guests Sunday their son, W. B. Grant, wife and little daughter, Leola, of Vicksburg, Miss.

Miss Sue Kilgore of Monroe spent the week-end with friends in Sterlington.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Woodhead have been entertaining in their home Mr. W. T. Blaylock's sister, Miss Dorothy, of Des Moines, Iowa. Miss Robbie Lee Hanna of Monroe was also a guest in the Woodhead home Saturday night.

Miss Sidney Alexander has returned to her home from the hospital in Bastrop where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She will be glad to have her friends call.

Eros

Misses Alda Thompson and Jereline Purdy of Indian Village spent Sunday as the guests of Misses Myrtle and Inez Rogers.

Mrs. Ethel Putrell and daughter of Colfax spent Sunday as the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ziegler.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Walpole, Webb Walpole and Miss Ruth Walpole visited their son, Albert Walpole, in Monroe Sunday, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in St. Francis sanitarium.

Miss Johnnie Thompson of Indian Village spent the week-end as the guest of Miss Carrie Gunter.

J. S. Holmes of Louisiana Tech, Ruston, spent the week-end as the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Holmes.

Rev. Morris W. Curry of Pineville filled his regular appointment in the Baptist church here Saturday and Sunday.

Quite a few contestants and pupils attended the Ruston rally on Friday. Miss Pearl Collins of West Monroe spent Saturday and Sunday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bunn Nash.

Delhi

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Loflin of Vicksburg, were week-end guests in the home of Mrs. Ruth Poulan. While here they motored to Shreveport, where they spent Sunday and Monday.

Jodie Stout, senior law student at Tulane, spent the week-end in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Stout. He was accompanied by Leon Stout, teacher in Orleans parish, who visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stout.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. O'Neal spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lyles in Alto.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hulse, Jr., and son, Frank III, and Hill Stancel of Monroe were guests in the home of

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hulse, Sr., Sunday morning.

Mrs. James Harvey O'Neal and daughters, Dorothy and Beverly Gene, are spending several days in Monroe with her sister, Mrs. Leon Sutton.

Mrs. Winnie H. Blackwell of Monroe arrived Tuesday and will make her home here. Mrs. Blackwell, accompanied by her sisters, Misses Edna and Ann Hughes and Miss Lynne McGrew, of Sumner, Miss., spent Saturday and Sunday in Monroe.

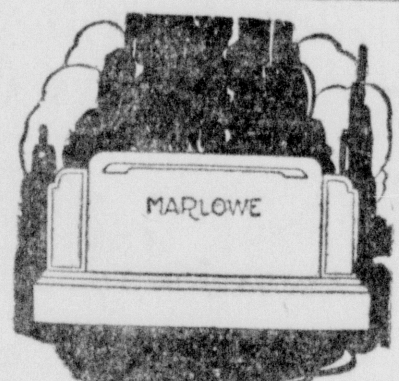

Miss Dorothy Mae Justice was the week-end guest of Miss Dorothy Lee Stodgill in Rayville.

DUST TO DUST

Is the fate of every man. But there is a consolation in knowing that we have given our dear departed the pledge of our eternal love. Let a fitting monument testify to your affection. We invite your attention to our display and our ability to help you.

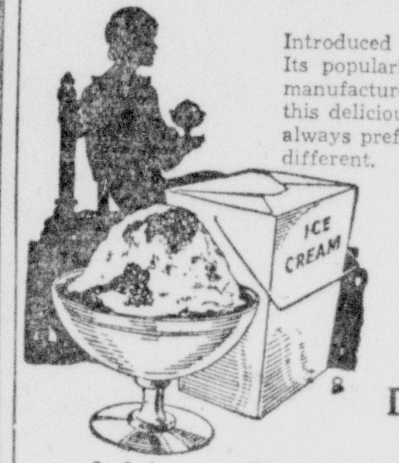

Monroe Marble & Granite Works

19 Years at 903 DeSiard Street. Phone 237

"VELVA-CREME" ICE CREAM

Has Captured the Taste of All Ice Cream Eaters!

Introduced to the public only a week ago. Its popularity has already overworked the manufacturers. The very moment you taste this delicious full cream ice cream, you will always prefer "Velva-Creme." It's new, it's different.

Order Today

SUNDAY SPECIAL

Pint 19c

Delivered

The formula of this cream is a secret, made only for these two drug stores. Cannot be secured elsewhere.

COLLENS-THOMPSON

Virginia Hotel

NO. 1

Phone 1115

COLLENS-THOMPSON

NO. 2

Frances Hotel

Phone 110

61 YEARS of sympathetic service

IN 1871, Peters Funeral Chapel was little more than a name and an ideal. Today, this institution, after blazing the pioneers' trail, passed through successive and successful stages of interesting and intense development until it has become a real factor in serving the people of Northeast Louisiana. Today, just as in 1871, it is comforting to know that the utmost care and respect will always be given in preparing a loved one for the last rest.

Our personnel, our modern equipment and most of all, our appreciation of the sacredness of the occasion, enable us to direct a funeral that is indeed a comfort to the bereaved.

OUR WELL BALANCED STAFF INCLUDES:

Louis L. Peters W. B. (Barr) Corry
James E. Joung Eugene Lutz
Mrs. T. L. (Lizzie) Morris

PETERS FURNITURE COMPANY'S FUNERAL CHAPEL

504 S. Grand St. Monroe, La. Phone 77

"Melts in your mouth"

Menu

Pastries Made From Menu Flour

Just any sort of baking you desire, results are always satisfactory. Today, baking becomes a real pleasure with "Menu." A balanced fine smooth flour now being used by all experts.

Buy "Menu" from Your Nearest Grocery Store

Ritchie Grocer Co.

WHOLESALE 193-539

TECH TRACK TEAM DEFEATS NORMAL SQUAD 60-56

Veteran Official Approves New Grid Rules After Thorough Test in Regular Game

BULLDOGS STAGE THRILLING FINISH FOR THIRD VICTORY

Tech Scores Heavily in Field Events While Demons Take Sprints

RUSTON, April 23 (Special)—Scoring their third association track victory of the season the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs defeated Louisiana Normal on the Tech track Saturday afternoon by a 60½ to 56½ score. The Tech freshmen bested the yearlings from Normal in the first-year end of the meet, 66 to 35, to count their second win over freshmen teams. With a thrilling finish for points the varsity meet was very close and the Bulldogs did not secure a hold on a victory until Captain Pickle had brought in a second place in the half-mile run. Had Pickle failed to place, the first and second would have given Normal enough points to win with only the relay remaining. As the spectacular race turned out, however, Normal was barely winner with Seward passing Pickle only a few feet from the finish line.

After scoring heavily in field events to offset earlier wins by the Demons in the short races, the low hurdle race was another climactic feature, with Brown coming in first for Tech to ease the tension somewhat.

Berry Yeldell, Don Brown, C. J. Gilbert all won two firsts each for Tech while Cook, star dash man for Normal, was the only Demon to duplicate the feat. Pickle was high point man for Tech with 12 points with Archibald 11 of a point higher than Pickle's total for high point of the varsity meet.

The Tech Phags had little trouble in disposing of the Normal frosh and two performers for the locals scored the exact number of points the entire Normal Imps counted, Hudson taking first in the 100, 220, 440 and 880, was leading point getter for the Tech team, with a teammate, Howell, runner-up with three firsts.

Tech's final varsity meet will be with Southwestern at Tech next Saturday.

Summary:

100-yard dash—Cook, Normal, first; Archibald, Normal, second, Time 11 seconds.

220-yard dash—Cook, Normal, first; Archibald, Normal, second, Time 5:41.

440-yard dash—Cook, Normal, first; Archibald, Normal, second, Time 2:34.

880-yard dash—Cook, Normal, first; Archibald, Normal, second, Time 10:4.

1,760-yard dash—Cook, Normal, first; Archibald, Normal, second, Time 21:10:34.

Low hurdles—Brown, Tech, first; Berry, Normal, second, Time 27:4.

580-yard run—Seward, Normal, first; Pickle, Tech, second, Time 2:06.

Pole vault—Pickle, Tech, first; Holmes, Tech, second, Time 16:2.

440-yard dash—Archibald, Normal, first; Berry, Normal, second, Time 5:04.

Two-mile—Pickle, Tech, first; Gracie, Normal, second, Time 11:03:4.

Low hurdles—Brown, Tech, first; Berry, Normal, second, Time 27:4.

580-yard run—Seward, Normal, first; Pickle, Tech, second, Time 2:06.

Pole vault—Pickle, Tech, first; Holmes, Tech, second, Time 16:2.

440-yard dash—Archibald, Normal, first; Berry, Normal, second, Time 5:04.

Two-mile—Pickle, Tech, first; Gracie, Normal, second, Time 11:03:4.

Low hurdles—Brown, Tech, first; Berry, Normal, second, Time 27:4.

580-yard run—Seward, Normal, first; Pickle, Tech, second, Time 2:06.

National League Averages

Club	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
New York	270	370	107	107	107	107	107	107	107
Pittsburgh	271	371	107	107	107	107	107	107	107
Philadelphia	268	368	106	106	106	106	106	106	106
Boston	266	366	105	105	105	105	105	105	105
Cincinnati	264	364	104	104	104	104	104	104	104
St. Louis	262	362	103	103	103	103	103	103	103
Brooklyn	260	360	102	102	102	102	102	102	102
Chicago	258	358	101	101	101	101	101	101	101

TEAM FIELDING

Club	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
Philadelphia	270	370	107	107	107	107	107	107	107
Boston	266	366	105	105	105	105	105	105	105
Brooklyn	260	360	102	102	102	102	102	102	102
Cincinnati	264	364	104	104	104	104	104	104	104
St. Louis	262	362	103	103	103	103	103	103	103
New York	270	370	107	107	107	107	107	107	107

INDIVIDUAL BATTING

Player	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
Lincoln, N. Y.	31	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
Spohrer, Boston	23	2	9	9	9	9	9	9	9
Herman, Cincinnati	30	6	12	12	12	12	12	12	12
Wright, Brooklyn	23	5	21	21	21	21	21	21	21
Shir, Pittsburgh	31	7	12	12	12	12	12	12	12
Suhr, Boston	24	4	9	9	9	9	9	9	9
Mellon, Philadelphia	27	5	9	9	9	9	9	9	9
Orban, Boston	24	6	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
Vergez, N. Y.	27	5	9	9	9	9	9	9	9
Collins, St. L.	26	6	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
Whitney, Phila.	26	6	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
Ward, Phila.	26	6	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
Cutler, Chicago	26	2	8	8	8	8	8	8	8
L. Waver, Phila.	26	5	11	11	11	11	11	11	11
Wilson, St. L.	23	4	7	7	7	7	7	7	7
Travens, Phila.	23	2	9	9	9	9	9	9	9
Frisch, St. L.	20	3	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
G. Kelly, Bklyn.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Warner, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Hurst, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Grace, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Manning, Cincinnati	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Morley, Cincinnati	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Theriot, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Gelbert, St. L.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Reiser, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Piet, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Klein, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
W. Waver, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Crabtree, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Cucinello, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Lopez, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Hack, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Adams, St. L.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Lee, Phila.	20	3	6	6	6	6	6	6	6

Pitching Records

Player	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
Lucas, Cincinnati	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Lucas, Cincinnati	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Schmitt, N. Y.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Ward, Phila.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Schmitt, N. Y.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Ward, Phila.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Schmitt, N. Y.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Ward, Phila.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Schmitt, N. Y.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Ward, Phila.	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

PHILS WIN FINAL QUACHITA DEFEATS FROM GIANTS, 7-2

(Continued from Tenth Page)

Player	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
Schmitt, N. Y.	3	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Leach, N. Y.	3	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2
Knecht, Phila.	3	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Hargrave, Phila.	3	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Seidell, Phila.	3	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Totals	30	7	8	8	8	8	8	8	8

CUBS NOSE OUT REDS

CHICAGO, April 23 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs scored a run in a wild twelfth inning today to defeat Cincinnati 2 to 1, and make it three out of four for the series.

Ray Kulp held the Cubs to one hit in eight innings, but his successors, St. Johnson, Hilscher and Buck Wyson, were hit hard.

Warneke pitched the whole game for Chicago and gave nine widely scattered hits.

Box score:

Club	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
Cincinnati	12	10	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Chicago	12	10	2	2	2	2	2	2	2
Totals	24	20	3	3	3	3	3	3	3

PIRATES TRIM CARDS

PITTSBURGH, April 23 (AP)—Gus Suhr was the hero of Pittsburgh's 10 to 9 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today, their third win in the four game series.

The Pirate first baseman hammered out a triple and a home run. The three-bagger came with the bases loaded in the third and his homer ended the game in the ninth.

Manager Gabby Street and Catcher Wilson of the world champions were banished for disputing a decision.

Box score:

Club	G.	A.	R.	H.	TR.	BB.	SO.	PO.	ER.
St. Louis	9	11	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Pittsburgh	9	11	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
Totals	18	22	11	11	11	11	11	11	11

OLYMPIC TRYOUT DATES ANNOUNCED

Southern Section Preliminaries to Be Held on New Orleans Field

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—The Olympic track and field committee has announced the dates for preliminary, sectional, semi-final and final tryouts for the Olympic track and field team to represent the United States at Los Angeles this summer. Dates for several additional preliminary tryouts will be decided later.

The schedule follows:

April 30—Southeastern section preliminary tryouts at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

May 6—Colored schools, colleges and clubs of the south at Tuskegee, Ala. (Preliminary tryout).

May 28—Marathon at Baltimore, Md. (Final tryout).

June 10—Combined national college semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 11—Combined national college semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 12—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 13—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 14—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 15—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 16—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 17—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 18—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 19—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 20—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 21—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 22—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 23—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 24—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 25—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 26—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 27—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 28—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 29—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

June 30—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 1—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 2—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 3—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 4—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 5—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 6—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 7—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 8—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 9—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 10—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 11—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 12—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 13—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 14—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 15—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 16—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 17—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 18—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 19—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 20—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 21—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 22—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 23—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 24—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 25—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 26—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 27—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 28—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 29—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 30—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

July 31—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 1—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 2—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 3—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 4—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 5—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 6—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 7—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 8—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 9—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 10—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 11—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

August 12—Open semi-final tryouts at Chicago.

Veteran Official Approves New Grid Rules After Thorough Test in Regular Game

LAMBERT ASSERTS NEW REGULATIONS MAKE BETTER PLAY

Two Squads Try Out Rules in Hard Fought Contest at Ohio State

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Dr. F. A. Lambert has officiated football games for 22 years and has been a member of the advisory council of the national football rules committee for five years. He attended the annual meeting of the committee last February, when six major changes in the rules were made. Friday he saw these rules applied for the first time when two picked squads from Ohio State university played a regulation game. He has written his reaction to the application of the rules for the Associated Press.)

By Dr. F. A. Lambert
COLUMBUS, O., April 23 (AP)—All changes in the football rules for 1933 were made for the sole purpose of protecting the boys playing the game, and it is the profound hope of the committee that the football coaches, players and spectators accept the 1932 changes with this one thought uppermost in mind.

For many years your sympathy and mine has been with the "poor" boy carrying the ball. He is tackled hard. When smart and interested football men got together it was found it was the tackler and the blocker who were being injured and that the ball-carrier was getting along "pretty comfortably."

The committee set about finding out whether the ball-carrier was wearing any equipment which might have been dangerous. So the wearing of hard and unyielding equipment, unless adequately padded externally, has been prohibited.

This one rule answered its purpose Friday when two teams from Ohio State university played a regulation game without a single injury of any kind in spite of some hard tackling and blocking.

The kickoff may be tried in three ways—place-kicking, punting or drop-kicking. Two of these methods were tried Friday—place-kicking and punting. There was not a semblance of a wedge, and in my opinion the formation of a wedge looked almost impossible.

The much discussed and most opposed "dead ball" rule which a few of the coaches have said would ruin the game, occurred only once during the contest when a member of the "White" team intercepted a forward

The present rule governing the flying tackle and the flying block permits the player to leave his feet only if the instant he makes contact with the opponent. All four officials in Friday's game were especially alert to call the first such infraction, but no such foul was committed. If the game was any criterion, the prohibition of the flying tackle and block adds to, rather than detracts from the game.

There was a uniform observance by both teams of the legal use of the hands and arms and no infraction, such as striking with any part of the hands and arms did not prevent defensive linemen from penetrating deep into the opponent's territory.

The sixth and last change, the substitution rule, which unquestionably has been received nationally as the most pleasing change made, was utilized to the utmost. This change permits a player withdrawn from the line to re-enter in any period sub-ment to the one in which he was withdrawn, which means that a player may enter the game four times and be withdrawn four times. Since substitutions under the new rule must be made when time is out, no play was occasioned and it appeared the game was dispatched with more cidity than formerly.

I am firmly convinced Friday's game was a better football contest than it would have been under the old rules. There was a maximum of play with a minimum of delay. The final 14 to 0 score indicates how ingly the game was contested, yet re was not a single injury.

◆

MOBILE BEATS BILOXI

BILOXI, Miss., April 23 (AP)—The urphy high school track team of bile, defeated the Biloxi high ool spikemen this afternoon, 60 1-2 48 1-2.

EDGEWATER NIGHT CLUB

Private parties, card parties.

Luncheons, Dances
Orchestra Every Night
Specializing Italian Dishes

A NEW ROOF

It's cheaper now!

When you reroof with JOHNS-MANVILLE

you reroof for the last time. We are ready to figure and the price will surprise you. Building specialties are our features.

Dixie Roofing Co., Inc.
414 Walnut Street, Monroe, La.

VINES BEATS ALLISON FOR MASON-DIXON NET TITLE

Big Ben Eastman Is Greatest Runner Ever to Don Spiked Shoes, Says Bob Edgren

CALIFORNIA STAR ALSO EXCELS IN SHORT DISTANCES

Expert Says Stanford Runner Could Give Any of Them Yards and Win

By Robert Edgren
I've known them all—the world famous middle distance runners from Charlie Kilpatrick and Tommy Burke and Maxie Long down to today—but when I went to see Big Ben Eastman of Stanford break the world's half mile record April 9, I saw the greatest runner that ever pulled on a spiked shoe.

Tall, rangy, with a powerful leg drive, tireless, calm but determined, of even temperament and most utterly lacking in conceit, this specialized college junior could have given any of them yards in either quarter or half mile.

Eastman is a natural runner, but it was the keen observation and skillful coaching of Dink Templeton, one of the best coaches in America, that brought out his record smashing form. Last year, when Eastman was a sophomore, Templeton knew that he was a potential record breaker. After very little coaching Eastman showed amazing speed. He tied the world's quarter mile record in one race, and was close to record form in others, both quarter and half mile.

In his first regular half mile race, in the Pacific coast championships, Templeton had Eastman in form to beat the world's record. What a sensation that would have been! A novice outclassing the performances of the famous middle distance runners of all time! But the night before the games there was a heavy rainfall. It was still raining in the morning. The track was a mess of mud and shallow puddles. So Dink told Eastman not to try to beat the record—just to go out and run to win the race and let it go at that, a record performance on such a track being impossible. Big Ben, a novice and not yet skilled in pace setting at the new distance, ran his first quarter much too fast. He went out alone far in the lead. He eased up near the finish and jogged over the line with no thought of having run a fast race, and his time was 1 minute 53 seconds, a new coast record, only 14 seconds behind Dr. Pellet's record.

After that Eastman was busy in many meets winning points. His closest rival was Williams of U. S. C., whom he defeated a couple of times. But Williams, a great competitor, with a different finish, beat him in the intercollegiate championships, equalling Meredith's record for the quarter mile. Williams' spirit to the tape was too much for Eastman. But an hour later the tall blond boy won the half mile race in fast time. After these games, figuring that the sophomore had been called on for too much work in gathering points, Templeton had him ease down for the rest of the season.

Directed Over Phone
During the winter Templeton was laid up with an attack of acute arthritis. He has been in a hospital ever since, and is now slowly recovering. But from his bed he directed Big Ben's training in the early spring, getting reports from his assistants, talking with Eastman when he could, giving him running instructions over the telephone before his races.

Williams had beaten Eastman in the intercollegiate quarter mile in a furious finishing drive. Now Templeton set Big Ben to work practicing sprints and running 20 yards. Eastman developed much more speed. He could step out and run 100 yards any time in 10 seconds and could run the 220 as fast as any sprinter on his team. There was no more chance that he would be ripped in a drive for the tape. All other runners were giving up.

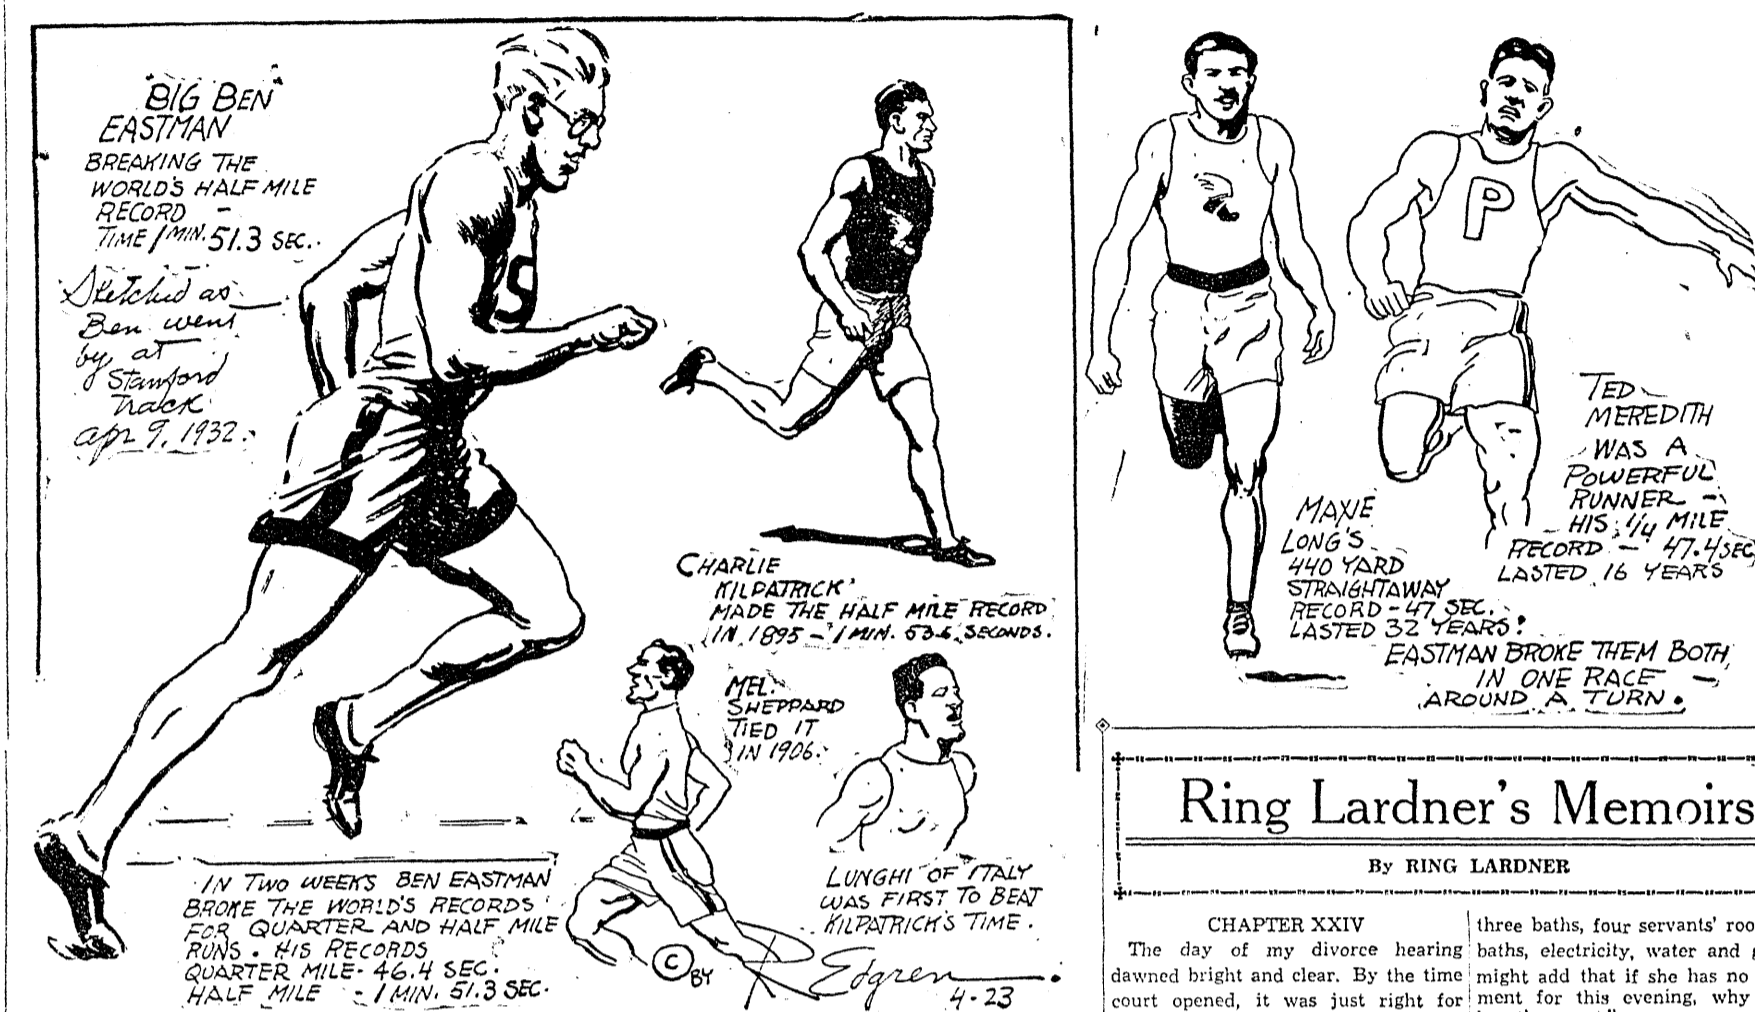

Then Templeton announced that Ben was ready to break the world's quarter mile record. His assistant in that meet startled the athletic world, and probably startled everybody but Dink Templeton. Big Ben ran the first 20 yards of that race in 21.3 seconds, a record, the fastest first half of a quarter mile ever run. It proved that Eastman like Lon Meyers, the first great American all-around runner, could be a champion at sprints as well as middle distance runs. Trained for the 220 yard certainly run in under 21 seconds. In this record breaking quarter, with the first half in 21.3 seconds, he finished in perfect form, for a time of a fast first in 45.4 seconds, breaking the sixteen-year-old record of the great Meredith by a full second. No other record holder had been seen in recent years in any event.

Templeton, then, told Eastman to train during the next two weeks for more endurance. He had done all the sprinting needed to develop a fast finish. A trial race four days before the meet showed that he could run within a couple of seconds of the record without being driven to his limit.

Prophecy Now Fulfilled

Dink announced that in the next triangular meet between Stanford, U. of San Francisco and the Olympic Club Eastman would be sent out to break the world's half mile record. Just like that! Dink would tell Ben how to run and tell him to break the record, and Ben would do it. Dink didn't have a doubt in the world. From his hospital bed he talked to Ben by phone just before the race. Ben was to run his first quarter mile in 53 seconds, then cut loose the rest of the way at the best pace he could carry without straining.

SPORTS THROUGH EDGREN'S EYES

I sat in the press stand beside the track with a clear view of start and finish. Eight men started. Eastman, in the inner lane, stood above the lot in height, and his mop of flax-yellow hair was a mark none could miss. At the gun the whole line leaped ahead. In a few strides Eastman was out in front and stride by stride he increased his lead. When he passed me at about the 220-yard line he was running with a long, powerful stride, leaning far forward at the waist, arms swinging in perfect rhythm. He was running very easily and was evidently holding his pace down, trying to follow instructions and run his first quarter in 53 seconds. Ben wears dark rimmed glasses. He was frowning a little with the effort of trying to get the right pace, for his natural inclination always has been to cut loose from the start like a sprinter. He passed the half mile mark in 53.3 seconds, having held back too much. But then he cut loose a terrific pace around the turn and the next straightaway and the following turn. As he came into the last long straightaway he was far ahead of the struggling field. He hadn't seen a rival runner since the first few strides at the start and was running along and entirely without pace or competition to drive him on. As he saw the tape a couple of hundred yards ahead and started the last drive he tightened up for a moment. His hands went high and his head was up and he was struggling. His long powerful stride seemed to break. But almost immediately he bent forward at the waist, got his hands down and his legs went back to the powerful, even drive again, and so he went all the way to the tape. He finished so strong that he went galloping on down the track to get clear of the crowd.

Retiring Nature
When he appeared again, clad in his woolen sweat suit and ready to run a quarter mile in the relay, he seemed startled by the roar of cheers that met him, and dodged off the track to hide until he was called out to run again. This bird is so modest that he doesn't realize yet that he has done anything. After the race in which he 1 minute 51.3 seconds broke Dr. Pellet's record Eastman was asked for a statement about how he had accomplished his feat. "Gee whizz," said Eastman, "I just ran as fast as I could." And he didn't have another word to say.

Dink Templeton isn't so retiring. Dink says Ben can run 440 yards under 45 seconds and the half mile under 1:50, and that he'll do it sometime. "But not now," says Dink. "I knew he could break the quarter and half mile records so I sent him out to do it early and have it off his mind. He has a lot of points to score in several meets and now he won't be torn out early, to go as fast as he can. Well, just run to run and if he breaks any more records before the Olympic games it will be just because he's going so fast he naturally can't help it."

Of all the great champions I remember Charlie Kilpatrick always has seemed to me the ideal middle distance runner. Kilpatrick was at Union college when I was a member of the California track team competing against Union, among others in dual meets in 1920. Charlie was built very much like Ben Eastman, and he leaned forward at the waist and ran with a long, powerful, even leg stride and his hands kept low, like Eastman. Except that Kilpatrick was dark haired and Eastman was a flaming blond they were much alike. Kilpatrick's world's record of 1 minute 53.4 seconds for the half mile was made in 1895 and lasted many years before it was broken at last by Lungh of Italy. In the meantime scores of great runners tried desperately to beat it. The great Mel Sheppard made that half mile record the emblem of his life, and equalled it in 1906, but couldn't beat it. Sheppard was a different running type. He ran straight up, with his chest out, and had a world of power and endurance; a great half mile and mile runner.

Might Run Mile.
In the quarter mile one of the greatest in old days was Tommy Burke of Boston, whose long legs seemed to carry unlimited speed. I remember seeing Tommy Burke, after being up all night on a train with no sleep, run a quarter mile in 48 seconds flat. He was the star of the first renewal of the Olympic games at Athens in 1896. And there was Maxie Long of the New York A. C., unbeatable quarter mile champion of his day. Maxie made a quarter mile straightaway record on Guttenburg race track that looked as if it never would be beaten—47 seconds flat. That went out with Meredith's quarter mile record when Ben Eastman ran his unrivaled 45.4 second race.

Meredith was a tremendously powerful runner. He made the quarter mile record that lasted sixteen years until Eastman put it into the discard. A great champion, Meredith, not a marvel in running form, but a determined runner with unlimited endurance.

But this Eastman boy is unlike all the rest in that he can run fast over any distance from a hundred yards to a mile. He is like the old track king, Lon Meyers. Lon could do a hundred in ten and win any race from that distance up to five miles in his day. Dink Templeton thinks that by training Eastman for endurance for a while he could send his champion out after Venzke's 410 mile record too. Possibly he could, but the boy has his hands full with competition as it is, and in these days of specialization it would be a superhuman feat if he could add another record at double the distance he has yet covered in world's record time.

By the way, had Eastman's time been taken at the 400 meter and 800 meter distances when he ran his record quarter and half mile races he'd have had both those world records too, for he ran under them in the slightly longer races.

If he is not run out this spring in dual meets, relay meets, and intercollegiate in which he is expected to run quarters, halves and relay laps he ought to be America's strongest candidate for Olympic honors. He'll find close competition when the fastest men in all the world meet at Los Angeles July 30 and the first two weeks of August, but at this time no other has shown enough speed to see anything but Big Ben's heels.

(Copyright 1932, by Robert Edgren.)

MARION BASEBALL NINE DEFEATS DOWNSVILLE

MARION, April 23 (Special)—On Friday at Downs ville the Marion baseball team defeated the Downs ville team by a score of 8 to 6.

The game was slow for the first few innings and not a ball was knocked out of the field. Up to the last half of the eighth inning the score was two to one in favor of Marion, then Downs ville made a rally to score three runs. Marion came back in the ninth to score six markers. Downs ville made one run in the ninth.

This was the second game played this season between the two high school teams. Marion winning the game played a few weeks ago.

BROWN MILL NINE TO PLAY AT OAK GROVE

The Brown Paper Mill baseball team will play its first game of the season today, going to Oak Grove for a tilt with that town's Big Six league champions.

Manager Carey Phillips had not decided on his battery, he said last night. "Fouts" Riechberg probably will hurl for Oak Grove with Robt Wilcox catching.

RACE RESULTS

Havre De Grace Results

FIRST RACE—1 mile and 70 yards:
War Hero (Edison).....3.40 3.80 3.40
Burnside (Gilbert).....3.20 3.50
Louis Merriam (Magner).....6.60
Apr. King, Smith, Her. Nobs, Little Snyder, Bert, Jack Pulp, Deart, Salma and Tortway also ran.

SECOND RACE—1 1/4 mile:
Sissy (Allen).....12.00 10.10 6.00
Bebe B. (Arthur).....7.30 5.50
Chosen Pat. (Nob).....7.00
Marion (Carter), All. Columbia, Astral-han, Zeal, Thrax, Duddy Nelson, Ran-dale, Zeal, and Scott Free also ran.

THIRD RACE—1 1/2 miles:
Cat Tail (Edison).....6.40 3.50 2.80
Star Fary (Stanford).....12.70 7.30
Gagan (Feld).....4.50
Grace (Baker), Apperdisette, Post Br-gudo, Pure Pace, Lough Port, Wary, Lei,
Daisy Carter, Kessy, New Sun and Miss
Beattie also ran.

FOURTH RACE—5/8 furlongs:
Faint (Lechman).....9.40 4.50
Conquity (Gilbert).....9.40 4.10
Her. Grace (Smith).....3.10
Ladder, Phantom Legion and Jaz Ace also ran.

FIFTH RACE—1 1/4 miles:
Lighthouse Bolt (Walls).....5.20 3.20
Sage (Edison).....4.20 4.30
Happy Scot. (Stanford).....4.30
Baz Hunter, Fred Avon, Lady Broadcast and Schen also ran.

SIXTH RACE—1 mile and 70 yards:
Spring Steel (Lechman).....12.50 11.00 6.20
Conquity (Gilbert).....2.70
Impish (Allen).....4.90 3.90
Fragrant Bird, Broad Meadows and Andromeda also ran.

SEVENTH RACE—1 1/4 miles:
Cinderella (Allen).....11.50 6.20 4.30
Bacari (Edison).....12.10 4.50
Scherer (Gilbert).....4.20
Jimmy D., Gonal Hall, Golden Play,
Pure On, Danforth, Thana, Skirt, Macie
Believe and Monrovia also ran.

BILLS PLAY FIRST BALL GAME TODAY

Tom Pollet and Henry Kelly
Are Latest Additions to Vicksburg Team

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 23 (Special)—Local baseball fans will be given their first opportunity Sunday to see Manager Donald McShane's Vicksburg Billies in action under fire, when the local Cotton States tackle a fast semi-pro nine, assembled by Keith Williams.

Tom Pollet, a catcher who saw service with the Baton Rouge club last season, and released this week by Manager John Billings of the Highlanders, was a new addition to the local roster yesterday working out with the team and making a pretty good appearance behind the bat. He was signed immediately, and soon afterward it was announced by the baseball association that Henry Kelly, an right hander with the Billies last year had come to terms after holding out for a few days.

Philip Brucosa, a catcher who saw service with the Billies by Eddie Toulon, Memphis Chickasaw scout, reported for duty yesterday, and at the same time Noel Hancock, a pitcher was cut adrift by Skipper McShane. The pilot of the Bills announced his starting lineup for Sunday's game as follows: McShane, 2b; Ferrell, or Mitchell, 1b; Hancock, 3b; Sutherland, cf; Wells or Walker, cf; Costa or Chapman, ss; Pollet, or Johnston, p, or McShane, p.

It was announced that Coffman and Leopold, star hurlers would be assigned to duty with the Keith Williams team for the afternoon. Leopold was formerly with the Chicago White Sox, and Coffman is a brother of Dick Coffman, star pitcher for the St. Louis Browns.

Ring Lardner's Memoirs

By RING LARDNER

CHAPTER XXIV

The day of my divorce hearing dawned bright and clear. By the time court opened, it was just right for the spectators, but a little warm for the litigants. The vast crowd was on hand early and appeared highly entertained at the antics of the rival bands. The twelve thousand co-respondents named by me made a tremendous hit when they marched into the court room, stopped and formed a C and pointing at my wife, sang their alma mater song, "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby."

Hugga and I were called to the center of the room, where we first shook hands and then cut for positions. Hugga cut the high card and chose to sit near the window, where there was a slight breeze. The officials were Judge Ogle, Attorney Dumb for me, the plaintiff, and Attorney Wheedle for Hugga, the defendant.

(Editor's note: According to newspaper accounts, Mr. Lardner turned down a suggestion of his counsel that the case be tried before a petty jury, saying if Hugga found out they were even the last bit petty, she would insist on a party instead of a trial.)

A transcript of the testimony will best show what a raw deal I got. The only witness was Cleena Sheets, a chambermaid in the Baldwin hotel, at Curve, Tenn.

Dumb: Examination by Attorney Dumb:

Q. Did you ever see this defendant?

A. Yes.

Q. Where? A. Who?

Q. This defendant, A. I see her at the Baldwin hotel, in Curve.

Q. Who? A. This defendant.

Q. Was she alone? A. Why, I suppose so. I didn't think they ever was a time when she had more than one guest.

Q. Did you know she was married?

A. I know she wasn't. She had a single room.

Q. What was the number of her room? A. 502.

Q. Cross examination by Attorney Wheedle:

Q. Miss Sheets, how is it that you remember the number of this defendant's room? A. I remember it because it is the only room in the hotel.

Q. If there is only one room in the hotel, why is it number 502? A. That's his favorite number.

Q. Who? A. Jack Downey who runs the hotel.

Re-direct examination by Attorney Dumb:

Q. Miss Sheets, you are under oath and you will find it to your advantage to tell the truth. Kindly give the honest reason why the only room in your hotel is numbered 502. A. All the other rooms were burned up in the big fire.

Q. Leaving only room 502 standing? A. That's right.

Q. Was 502 the fifth floor? A. Where and the he—ll do you think it would be. (Laughter.)

Q. And were the office floor and the mezzanine and all the floors below, above and on the same floor as room 502 destroyed by the fire? A. Yes. (Catholics.)

Q. And room 502 alone was unscathed. How do you account for that? A. I have nothing to do with the accounting. That is attended to by the bookkeeper. (Bird calls and huggle calls.)

Q. Was he defendant in room 502 at the time of the fire? A. Yes. If she wasn't she'd of been burned. (Violins, violoncellos, etc., pizzicato.)

Q. Have you ever seen any of these co-respondents. A. Yes, all of them.

Q. Where? A. In the writing room of the hotel.

Q. What were they doing? A. Co-responding. (Cries of "Goodness!" and "Touchdown, Touchdown!")

Judge Ogle: "It seems to me that this defendant proved herself a woman of extraordinary acumen in selecting the only fireproof room in the hotel. If she had used half as sound judgment in choosing a husband, the least said about it, the better. The court find, for the defendant, awards her $1200 a week alimony, a Connaught house within walking distance of a golf course, half a mile from the railroad station, five master bedrooms, three baths, four servants' rooms with baths, electricity, water and gas, and might add that if she has no engagement for this evening, why neither has the court."

Thus ended my first martial venture and I will state here that I bear no ill-will toward Hugga, who, I am told, is doing very well as an elevator starter at the Olympic games.

(Copyright, 1932, Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

CALIFORNIA STAR DEFEATS TEXAN IN 3 STRAIGHT SETS

Youngster Sets at Rest Fears That He Might Not Return to Form

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 24 (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., slim youngster who bulks large in the United States Davis cup plans, set at rest fears that he might not regain his national championship form by trouncing Wilmer Allison in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4, today in the singles final of the Mason and Dixon tennis championship.

Vines gained ample revenge for defeats by Allison within the past two weeks in the finals at Pinhurst and New Orleans. He played fast, aggressive tennis, and after the first set had the Texan under complete control.

Allison faded after contesting the first set stubbornly and his shots lacked the extra punch that marked his steady play for the past six weeks on the southern tournament circuit. He appeared to suffer a let-down, although Vines' aggressive attack never gave him a chance to organize.

Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, and Miss Virginia Rice, of Boston, had little difficulty winning the women's doubles championship final, downing Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Miss Florence LeBoutillier, of Westbury, N. Y., in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

After winning the singles, Vines came back with Frank X. Shields of New York to annex the men's doubles title in straight sets from Marcel Rainville of Montreal, Canadian Davis cup star, and Eugene McCauliff, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Vines and Shields had things much their own way in the first and third sets but met stubborn opposition in the second. They won the encounter, 6-1, 9-7, 6-1.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, won the mixed doubles title, defeating Virginia Rice of Boston and Frederick C. Baggs of New York, in the final round. The score was 6-3, 6-3.

MONARCHS WIN TWO STRAIGHT FROM GRAYS

The Monroe Monarchs won their second straight victory in the Negro Southern league schedule yesterday by defeating the Little Rock Grays, 6 to 3, at Little Rock.

Gillespie pitched for the Monarchs and had little trouble downing the Grays. Overton hurled for Little Rock.

The Monarchs won their first game Friday by a score of 6 to 1. It was the opening day of the Southern league and the usual ceremonies were put on at the Little Rock park. A rally in the eighth inning, featured by Parnell's home run over the right field fence, won the game for the Monroe negroes.

The local team will play a double-header today and then go to Memphis for a series before returning home to open the season.

ALABAMA NINE BEATS OLE MISS AGAIN, 2 TO 1

OXFORD, Miss., April 23 (AP)—University of Mississippi lost 2 to 1 to Alabama in the series final here this afternoon as Allen Jones' three-hit pitching job was aided by his teammates' errors and loose playing. Alabama won three games of the four.

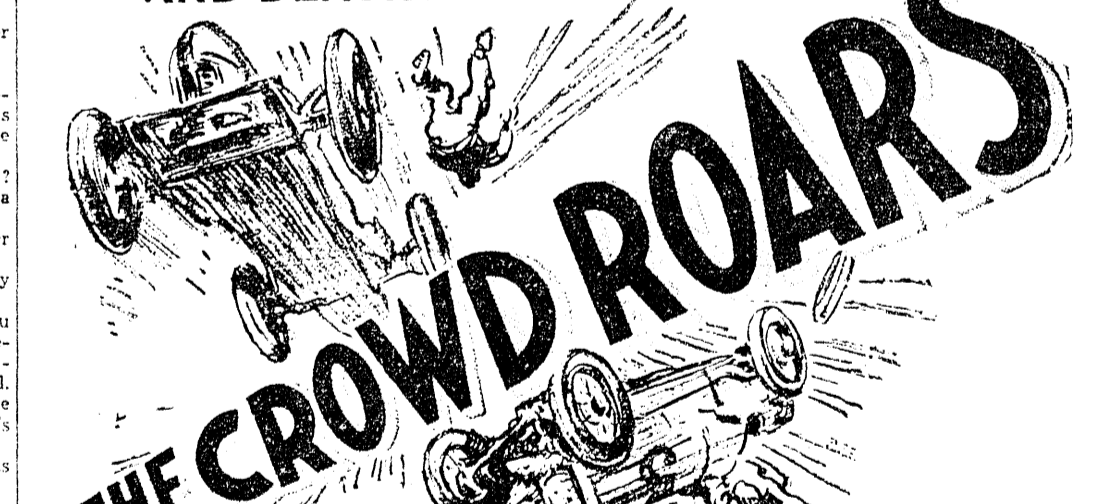

Score:
Ole Miss 000 001 000—1 7 8
Alabama 002 000 000—2 3 2
Jones and Ruby; Debardeleben, Dobbs and Chandler.

MERCHANTS' GUEST TICKETS

Here's your chance for a Guest Ticket to the Paramount Theatre, either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, courtesy of the Monroe Merchants and The Morning World.

Read each ad in this paper over carefully. In every merchant's ad you'll find a 1932 automobile license number inserted. If your license number appears you will receive one Guest Ticket to see James Cagney and Joan Blondell in "The Crowd Roars." All you have to do is bring your 1932 license receipt and present same to the Cashier at the Paramount Theatre either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. She will check off your number and issue your Guest Ticket.

IT'S A MATTER OF LIFE... AND DEATH!

Steel-nerved demon drivers hurl their cars through space... leap fences... hurtle embankments... swerving, spinning, skidding, at a pace too swift for mortal man... Engines roar, brakes squeal, cars collide... while the packed grandstand roars for blood! A woman shrieks—she loves that human wreckage beneath the twisted wheels!

Can you stand heart-pounding romance at breath-taking speed? See JAMES

CAGNEY

record breaker and heart smasher

Joan BLONDELL

the one baby he couldn't flag off the track

ERIC LINDEN • ARLENE JUDGE in a Warner Bros. Vitaphone Epic of Action! Starting Monday Thru Wednesday

Added Units
"Great Junction Hotel"
Late News Events
Paramount THEATRE
A Publix Theatre

THE MORNING WORLD GETS RESULTS!

VINES BEATS ALLISON FOR MASON-DIXON NET TITLE

Big Ben Eastman Is Greatest Runner Ever to Don Spiked Shoes, Says Bob Edgren

CALIFORNIA STAR ALSO EXCELS IN SHORT DISTANCES

Expert Says Stanford Runner Could Give Any of Them Yards and Win

By Robert Edgren

I've known them all—the world famous middle distance runners from Charlie Kilpatrick and Tommy Burke and Maxie Long down to today—but when I went to see Big Ben Eastman of Stanford break the world's half mile record April 9, I saw the greatest runner that ever pulled on a spiked shoe.

Tall, rangy, with a powerful leg drive, tireless, calm but determined, of even temperament and most utterly lacking in conceit, this spectacular college junior could have given any of them yards in either quarter or half mile.

Eastman is a natural runner, but it was the keen observation and skillful coaching of Dink Templeton, one of the best coaches in America, that brought out his record smashing form. Last year, when Eastman was a sophomore, Templeton knew that he was a potential record breaker. After very little coaching Eastman showed amazing speed. He tied the world's quarter mile record in one race, and was close to record form in others, both quarter and half mile.

In his first regular half mile race, in the Pacific coast championships, Templeton had Eastman in form to beat the world's record. What a sensation that would have been! A novice outclassing the performances of all time! But the night before the games there was a heavy rainfall. It was still raining in the morning. The track was a mess of mud and shallow puddles. So Dink told Eastman not to try to beat the record—just to go out and run to win the race and let it go at that, a record performance on such a track being impossible. Big Ben, a novice and not yet skilled in pace setting at the new distance, ran his first quarter much too fast. He went out alone far in the lead. He eased up near the finish and jogged over the line with no thought of having run a fast race, and his time was 1 minute 53 seconds, a new coast record, only 14 seconds behind Dr. Pelzer's world's best time!

After that Eastman was busy in many meets winning points. His closest rival was Williams of U. S. C., whom he defeated a couple of times. But Williams, a great competitor with a driving finish, beat him in the intercollegiate championships, equalling Meredith's record for the quarter mile. Williams' sprint to the tape was too much for Eastman. But an hour later the tall blond boy won the half mile race in fast time. After these games, figuring that the sophomore had been called on for too much work in getting points, Templeton had him ease down for the rest of the season.

Directed Over Phone

During the winter Templeton was laid up with an attack of acute arthritis. He has been in a hospital ever since, and is now slowly recovering. But from his bed he directed Big Ben's training in the early spring, getting reports from his assistants, talking with Eastman when he could, giving him running instructions over the telephone before his races.

Williams had beaten Eastman in the intercollegiate quarter mile by a furious finishing drive. Now Templeton set Big Ben to work practicing sprints and running 220 yards. Eastman developed much more speed. He could step out and run 100 yards any time in 10 seconds and could run the 220 as fast as any sprinter on his team. There was no more chance that he would be nipped in a drive for the tape, all other things being even in a race.

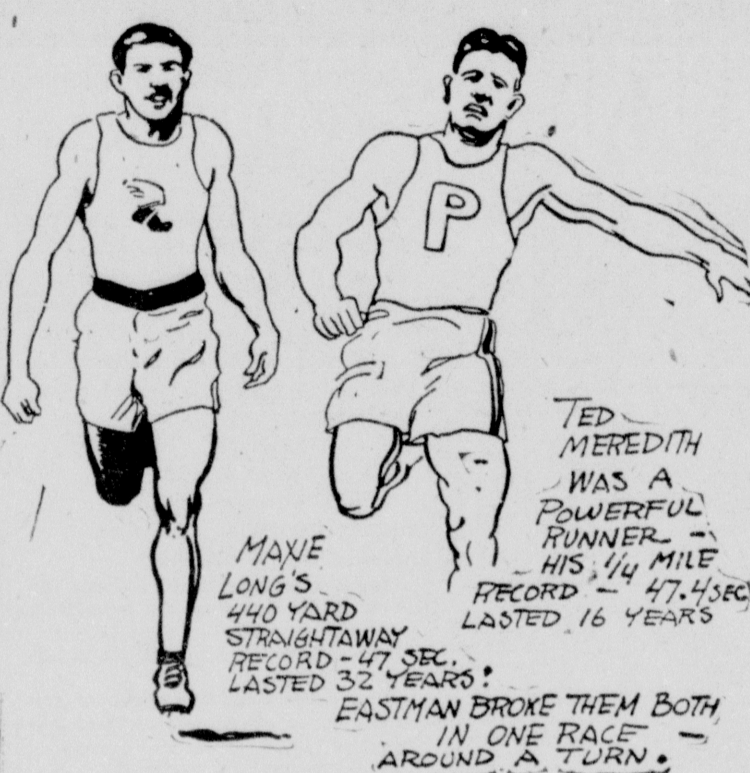

Then Templeton announced that Big Ben was ready to break the world's quarter mile record. His amazing run in that meet started the athletic world, and probably started everybody but Dink Templeton. Big Ben ran the first 220 yards of that race in 21.3 seconds, incomparably the fastest first half of a quarter mile ever run. It proved that Eastman, like Lon Meyers, the first great American all-around runner, could be a champion at sprints as well as middle distance runs. Trained for the 220 he'd certainly run it under 21 seconds. In this record breaking quarter, with the fast first half, he finished running in perfect form, far ahead of a fast field, in 46.4 seconds, breaking the sixteen-year-old record of the great Meredith by a full second. No such record breaking has been seen in recent years in any event.

Templeton then told Eastman to train during the next two weeks for more endurance. He had done all the sprinting needed to develop a fast finish. A trial race four days before the meet showed that he could run within a couple of seconds of the record without being driven to his limit.

Prophecies New Record

Dink announced that in the next triangular meet between Stanford, U. of San Francisco and the Olympic Club Eastman would be sent out to break the world's half mile record. Just like that! Dink would tell Ben how to run and tell him to break the record, and Ben would do it. Dink didn't have a doubt that he would from his hospital bed be talked to Ben by phone just before the race. Ben was to run his first quarter mile in 53 seconds, then cut loose the rest

SPORTS THROUGH EDGREN'S EYES

Ring Lardner's Memoirs

By RING LARDNER

CHAPTER XXIV

The day of my divorce hearing dawned bright and clear. By the time court opened, it was just right for the spectators, but a little warm for the litigants. The vast crowd was on hand early and appeared highly entertained at the antics of the rival bands. The twelve thousand co-respondents named by me made a tremendous hit when they marched into the court room, stopped and formed a C and pointing at my wife, sang their alma mater song, "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby."

Hugga and I were called to the center of the room, where we first shook hands and then cut for positions. Hugga cut the high card and chose to sit near the window, where there was a slight breeze. The officials were Judge Ogle, Attorney Dumb for me, the plaintiff, and Attorney Wheedle for Hugga, the defendant.

(Editor's note: According to newspaper accounts, Mr. Lardner turned down a suggestion of his counsel that the case be tried before a petty jury, saying if Hugga found out they were even the least bit petty, she would insist on a party instead of a trial.)

A transcript of the testimony will best show what a raw deal I got. The only witness was Cleena Sheets, a chambermaid in the Baldwin hotel, at Curve, Tenn.

Direct examination by Attorney Dumb:

Q. Did you ever see this defendant?

A. Yes.

Q. Where? A. Who?

Q. This defendant, A. I seen her at the Baldwin hotel, in Curve.

Q. Who? A. This defendant.

Q. Was she alone? A. Why, I suppose so. I didn't think they ever was a time when she had more than one guest.

Q. Did you know she was married?

A. I know she wasn't. She had a single room.

Q. What was the number of her room? A. 502.

Cross examination by Attorney Wheedle:

Q. Miss Sheets, how is it that you remember the number of this defendant's room? A. I remember it because it is the only room in the hotel.

Q. If there is only one room in the hotel, why is it number 502? A. That's his favorite number.

Q. Who? A. Jack Downey who runs the hotel.

Re-direct examination by Attorney Dumb:

Q. Miss Sheets, you are under oath and you will find it to your advantage to tell the truth. Kindly give the honest reason why the only room in your hotel is numbered 502. A. All the other rooms were burned up in the big fire.

Q. Leaving only room 502 standing? A. That's right.

Q. Was 502 on the fifth floor? A. Where was the hell do you think it would be. (Laughter).

Q. And were the office floor and the mezzanine and all the floors below, above and on the same floor as room 502 destroyed by the fire? A. Yes. (Cataclis).

Q. And room 502 alone was unscathed. How do you account for that? A. I have nothing to do with the accounting. That is attended to by the bookkeeper. (Bird calls and bugle calls).

Q. Was he defendant in room 502 at the time of the fire? A. Yes. If she wasn't she'd be been burned. (Violins, violoncellos, etc., pizzicato).

Q. Have you ever seen any of these co-respondents. A. Yes, all of them.

Q. Where? A. In the writing room of the hotel.

Q. What were they doing? A. Co-responding. (Cries of "Goodness!" "Touchdown, Touchdown!")

Judge Ogle: "It seems to me that this defendant proved herself a woman of extraordinary acumen in selecting the only fireproof room in the hotel. If she had used half as sound judgment in choosing a husband, the least said about it, the better. The court finds for the defendant, awards her $12.00 a week alimony, a Connolly house within walking distance of a golf course, half a mile from the railroad station, five master bedrooms,

RACE RESULTS

Havre De Grace Results

FIRST RACE—1 mile and 70 yards: War Hero (Eaton) 3:40 3:40 Burns (Gilbert) 7:20 5:40 Louis Merryman (Mager) 6:00 Air King, Seattle, Her Nobs, Little Stokes, Bert, Jack Pulpit, Depari, Salama and Tortway also ran.

SECOND RACE—1-16 miles: Silvery (Allen) 20:80 10:10 8:00 Boke (Arthur) 7:30 5:50 Chosen Pal (Neel) 7:00 Martins Coney, All Columbia, Astrakhan, Zeal, Tehadex, Daddy Nelson, Rundale, Zede and Post Free also ran.

THIRD RACE—1-16 miles: Cat Tail (Elston) 6:40 3:50 2:80 Star Fairy (Hanford) 12:70 7:10 Ogle (Edin) 4:50 Grace Blotter, Apprehensive, Post Brigade, Pure Pact, Lough Port, Wary, Lei, Daisy Cutter, Kregy, New Sun and Miss Brilliant also ran.

FOURTH RACE—5/8 furlongs: 9:40 5:00 Pines (Leichman) 19:00 9:40 4:10 Capacity (Gilbert) 7:30 5:50 Her Grace (Smith) 3:10 Ladder, Phantom Legion and Jaz Ake also ran.

FIFTH RACE—1-16 miles: Lightning Bolt (Walls) 11:30 5:20 3:60 Axis (Gilbert) 4:00 4:30 Happy Scot (Hanford) 4:30 Bar Hunter, Fred Avon, Lady Broadcast and Spinch also ran.

SIXTH RACE—1 mile and 70 yards: Spring Steel (Leichman) 32:80 11:00 6:30 Royal Buffin (Schafer) 4:50 3:70 Impish (Allen) 3:40 Frigate Bird, Broad Meadows and An- senius also ran.

SEVENTH RACE—1 1/4 miles: Culloden (Allen) 7:50 6:20 4:30 Baniel (Bodermeyer) 12:10 4:50 Rejuvenation (Gilbert) 8:20 Jimmy D. Genial Host, Golden Play, Ring On, Dangerous, Tintia, Skirt, Mack Belve and Monnie also ran.

By the way, had Eastman's time been taken at the 400 meter and 800 meter distances when he ran his record quarter and half mile races he'd have had both those world records too, for he ran under them in the slightly longer races.

If he is not run out this spring in dual meets, relay meets, and intercollegiate in which he is expected to run quarters, halves and relay laps he ought to be America's strongest candidate for Olympic honors. He'll find close competition when the fastest men in all the world meet at Los Angeles July 30 and the first two weeks of August, but at this time no other has shown enough speed to see anything but Big Ben's heels.

(Copyright 1932, by Robert Edgren.)

BILLS PLAY FIRST BALL GAME TODAY

Tom Pollet and Henry Kelly Are Latest Additions to Vicksburg Team

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 23 (Special)—Local baseball fans will be given their first opportunity Sunday to see Manager Donald McShane's Vicksburg Billies in action under fire, when the local Cotton States tackle a fast semi-pro nine, assembled by Keith Williams.

Tom Pollet, a catcher who saw service with the Baton Rouge club last season, and released this week by Manager John Billings of the Highlanders, was a new addition to the local roster yesterday working out with the team and making a pretty good appearance behind the bat. He was signed immediately, and soon afterward it was announced by the baseball association that Henry Kelly, a right hander with the Billies last year had come to terms after holding out for a few days.

Phillip Broccota, a catcher, recommended to the Billies by Eddie Toulon, Memphis Chickasaw scout, then reported for duty yesterday, and at the same time Noel Hancock, a pitcher was cut adrift by Skipper McShane.

The pilot of the Bills announced his starting lineup for Sunday's game as follows: McShane, 2b; Ferrell, or Mitchell, 1b; Hammack, 3b; Sutherland, rf; Wells or Walker, cf; Costa or Chapman, ss; Pollet, c; Johnston, p, or McShane, p.

It was announced that Coffman and Leopold, star hurlers would be assigned to duty with the Keith Williams team for the afternoon. Leopold was formerly with the Chicago White Sox, and Coffman is a brother of Dick Coffman, star pitcher for the St. Louis Browns.

MARION BASEBALL NINE DEFEATS DOWNSVILLE

MARION, April 23 (Special)—On Friday at Downs ville the Marion baseball team defeated the Downs ville team by a score of 8 to 6.

The game was slow for the first few innings and not a ball was knocked out of the field. Up to the last half of the eighth inning the score was two to one in favor of Marion, then Downs ville made a rally to score three runners. Marion came back in the ninth to score six markers. Downs ville made one run in the ninth.

This was the second game played this season between the two high school teams, Marion winning the game played a few weeks ago.

BROWN MILL NINE TO PLAY AT OAK GROVE

The Brown Paper Mill baseball team will play its first game of the season today, going to Oak Grove for a tilt with that town's Big Six league champions.

Manager Carey Phillips had not decided on his battery, he said last night, "Foots" Richbourg probably will hurl for Oak Grove with Rube Wilcox catching.

CALIFORNIA STAR DEFEATS TEXAN IN 3 STRAIGHT SETS

Youngster Sets at Rest Fears That He Might Not Return to Form

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 24 (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., slim youngster who bulks large in the United States Davis cup plans, set at rest fears that he might not regain his national championship form by trouncing Wilmer Allison in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4, today in the singles final of the Mason and Dixon tennis championship.

Vines gained ample revenge for defeats by Allison winning the past two weeks in the finals at Pinehurst and New Orleans. He played fast, aggressive tennis, and after the first set had the Texan under complete control.

Allison faded after contesting the first set stubbornly and his shots lacked the extra punch that marked his steady play for the past six weeks on the southern tournament circuit. He appeared to suffer a let-down, although Vines' aggressive attack never gave him a chance to organize.

Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, and Miss Virginia Rice, of Boston, had little difficulty winning the women's doubles championship final, downing Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Miss Florence LeBoutillier, of Westbury, N. Y., in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

After winning the singles, Vines came back with Frank X. Shields of New York to annex the men's doubles title in straight sets from Marcel Rainville of Montreal, Canadian Davis cup star, and Eugene McCauliff, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Vines and Shields had things much their own way in the first and third sets but met stubborn opposition in the second. They won the encounter, 6-1, 9-7, 6-1.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, won the mixed doubles title, defeating Virginia Rice of Boston and Frederick C. Baggs of New York, in the final round. The score was 6-3, 6-3.

MONARCHS WIN TWO STRAIGHT FROM GRAYS

The Monroe Monarchs won their second straight victory in the Negro Southern league schedule yesterday by defeating the Little Rock Grays, 6 to 3, at Little Rock.

Gillespie pitched for the Monarchs and had little trouble downing the Grays. Overton hurled for Little Rock.

The Monarchs won their first game Friday by a score of 6 to 1. It was the opening day of the Southern league and the usual ceremonies were put on at the Little Rock park. A rally in the eighth inning, featured by Parnell's home run over the right field fence, won the game for the Monroe negroes.

The local team will play a double-header today and then go to Memphis for a series before returning home to open the season.

ALABAMA NINE BEATS OLE MISS AGAIN, 2 TO 1

OXFORD, Miss., April 23 (AP)—University of Mississippi lost 2 to 1 to Alabama in the series final here this afternoon as Allen Jones' three-hit pitching job was aided by his teammates' errors and loose playing. Alabama won three games of the four.

Score: Ole Miss 000 001 000—1 7 6 Alabama 002 000 000—2 3 2 Jones and Ruby; Debardeleben, Dobbs and Chandler.

MERCHANTS' GUEST TICKETS

Here's your chance for a Guest Ticket to the Paramount Theatre, either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, courtesy of the Monroe Merchants and The Morning World.

Read each ad in this paper over carefully. In every merchant's ad you'll find a 1932 automobile license number inserted. If your license number appears you will receive one Guest Ticket to see James Cagney and Joan Blondell in "The Crowd Roars." All you have to do is bring your 1932 license receipt and present same to the Cashier at the Paramount Theatre either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. She will check off your number and issue your Guest Ticket.

IT'S A MATTER OF LIFE... AND DEATH!

Steel-nerved demon drivers hurl their cars through space... leap fences... hurtle embankments... swerving, spinning, skidding, at a pace too swift for mortal man... Engines roar, brakes squeal, cars collide... while the packed grandstands roar for blood! A woman shrieks—she loves that human wreckage beneath the twisted wheels!

Can you stand heart-pounding romance at breath-taking speed? See JAMES

CAGNEY

record breaker and heart smasher

Joan BLONDELL

the one baby he couldn't flag off the track

ERIC LINDEN • ARLENE JUDGE

in a Warner Bros. Vitaphone Epic of Action! Starting Monday Thru Wednesday

Paramount THEATRE

A Publix Theatre

Added Units

"Great Junction Hotel"

Late News Events

THE MORNING WORLD GETS RESULTS!

WITH THE CHILDREN

Published Every Sunday

Edited by Eve C. Bradford

QUOTATION FOR TODAY
Let us, then, be what we are,
and
Speak what we think, and in all things
Keep ourselves loyal to truth.
—Longfellow.

DAY OF DAYS

He brushed his teeth so fervently. He slicked his hair down tight. He tussled for minutes with his tie, to make sure it was right. He sallied forth for school displaying nonchalance amazing. For one who was convinced that all the neighborhood was gazing. No matter what life brings to him of honor, wealth, romance— This day will be his day of days. He has his first long pants.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

Once there were three little girls. Their names were Alice, Allegro and Edith. They were very smart. Mr. Longfellow was the children's daddy. Sometimes he would see in his lamp-light the three children descending the stairway. They would come and get into his turret, and if he tried to escape they would surround him. They would entwine their arms around him and almost devour him with kisses. They would kiss him until he would think of Bishop of Binger in his mouse tower on the Rhine. Then he would say that he would put them into the dungeon in the round tower of his heart. He would say that he would keep them there until the walls would crumble into ruin and smoulder in dust away.

CLOYCE RYDER,
Egypt school, Mangham, La., fourth grade.

The Blue Jay comes in the fall, She is among the gayest of all. She builds her nest high in a tree, Where boys and girls can not see. She lays four eggs, blue and brown, And you better mind how you go around. She sits on them three long weeks. Then she will hear "Peep, Peep, Peep!"

ROSS GOLSON,
Fifth Grade, Calhoun School.

BIRDS

How beautiful are the birds As they sit upon the trees. Preening their feathers in the sun. Enjoying summer's breeze.

I saw a beautiful bluebird As he flew far away. I saw a pretty cardinal. I saw a little sparrow.

As he flew from tree to tree. Very bright colors had he.

I saw Mr. Woodpecker Pecking at a tree. He pecked again, then flew away So far I could not see.

I like to see the birds I watch them every day. It's fun to watch them while they work As well as while they play.

ELEANOR HUMBLE,
Fifth Grade, Calhoun.

FROGS AT SCHOOL

Twenty frogs went to school Down beside a weedy pool. Twenty coats of green. Twenty vests all clean.

JAMES HOLDMAN,
Enterprise school.

AT GRANDMA'S

I love to go where grandma lives,
There is so much to see;
Her house is just as small and quaint
As ever it can be.

And sometimes when I am very good
My grandma tells me
Old stories of the spinning wheel
And of our family tree.

And how—oh, many years ago

An ancestor of me

Came sailing with the Puritans

From far across the sea.

JULIET P. COMBERS.

MY PIG

I have a little pig,
With a tail like a wig,
When he's content he wags his tail,
But when he's sad he's a sight,
And always keeps me in a fright.

CECIL GUINN,
Grade IV, Manifest, La.

MY TRIP TO AFRICA

One day my wife, Mac Ellen Moon, told me to go to Africa. I wrapped some cheese in cake and put it in my misty sky boots. It was in the night so, of course, the sky had stars and the pretty soft black clouds. However, I had not time to talk with them, because I, Thomas William Moon, was going to Africa.

The first thing I saw was a lion coming out of vines and bushes. The lion was six feet across his back and twenty feet long. I, Thomas William Moon, feared him!

Few were the nights that my big, round moon shone, when I found the lions that I have seen. Some lions came and took him across the ocean to North America.

Then a cloud came over my face, and I could not see what happened to the lion.

DOROTHY WEBB,
Farmerville School,
Farmerville, La.

Now the sparrows are a pest.

And that is why we tear up their nest.

They say from England they came, And we know that mites they do bring.

DORIS TURNER,
Fifth Grade, Calhoun School.

THE WIND

The wind is whistling through the trees,
It hums like little honey bees,
I like to see it toss my kite
When the beautiful sun is shining bright.

I like to see it go round and round
Until it falls to the ground.
I pull it up and it goes in the air
Where the bright sun is beginning to stare.

I like to see it flutter about,
But with the wind he's astonished no doubt.
He flutters and flutters and goes down, down,
And before we know it, it's on the ground.

It tosses my kite from side to side
All over the beautiful land of pride.
It has gone away to foreign lands
Where I have never put my hands.

CLOYCE RYDER,
4th Grade, Egypt School.

ROBIN RED BREAST

Robin Red Breast sits in a tree,
Robin Red Breast sings for me.
In the evening when my shadow is long.

He sings a bed-time twittering song.
LUCILLE ROY,
3rd Grade, Egypt School.

THE RED-HEADED WOODPECKER

The red-headed woodpecker pecks all day.
He never has any time to play.
He may be a hard-working old fellow,
But if it wasn't for him there wouldn't be any fruit put in the cellar.

LUCILLE ROY,
Egypt school, third grade.

THE MARTINS

The martins have built in our box.
I like to hear them sing. They do not fly like any other bird. They sail and then close their wings and go into the box.

JAMES MONROE HOLDMAN,
Enterprise school, age 9,
Third grade.

THE WIND

The whirling wind blows my kite
With all its might.
Away goes my kite around and around;
Then it whirls and hits the ground.
Then I go and get my kite,
And then it sails again,
And looks like it is going to touch the sun so bright.

When night comes I let it go on up in the sky.
Then when I eat my supper I watch it fly.
And it looks again as if it is going to touch the stars.

While it is up so high it looks down at the jailbirds looking through the iron bars.
Then comes a warm breeze from the tide,
And my kite looks like it says, "It will be in the waves I will ride."

Then the wind stops blowing and down comes my kite.
DOROTHY DUNCAN,
Egypt school, fourth grade.

MY PET RABBIT

One time I caught a rabbit. The rabbit was very little.
I put the rabbit in a cage and fed him lettuce and turnips. I petted him till he grew very tame. Then I let him out of the cage. He did not try to run away for he liked me.

One day I came in and had a piece of lettuce in my pocket. The rabbit smelled the lettuce and wanted it so I gave it to him.

The next day he got in a bowl of milk and when he got out he was white all over. Since that time I have called him White.

CARL GWINN,
Grade 4, Manifest, La.

SPRING

The woods are green,
The birds I have seen,
And the flowers gleam.
I knew it must be spring.

VELMA RUTH WELCH,
Third Grade.

MARCH

The windy March has come at last,
With skies so blue, and the wind so strong.
The boys shall fly their kites
With great delight.
I hear the rustling of the trees.
March is here at last!

Cecil Guinn,
Grade IV, Manifest, La.

SPRING TIME

The wind is blowing,
The fruit is growing,
The leaves are turning green,
Oh! what a beautiful spring.

LISSE GUILLORY,
Fourth Grade, Manifest, La.

AUTUMN

The leaves are falling,
The birds are calling,
Come out and play,
This autumn day.

LISSE GUILLORY,
Fourth Grade, Manifest, La.

THE RAIN

The rain is falling all around,
On the trees and on the ground,
Some time the rain falls on me,
But all the time it falls on the sea.

It rains in the night,
It rains in the day,
And it rains some time,
When we want to play.

It's raining rain,
It's raining daffodils,
It rains in the valleys,
And also on the hills.

BERTHA INGRAM,
Fourth Grade,
Manifest High School.

THE LIBRARY

Our library consists of about one hundred and twenty books that are helpful for us to read and remember what we have read. Good books help us to build our characters. Our books are arranged in the library, good books that are suitable to read from those that do not help.

JAMES PETERS,
6th Grade, A. L. Smith School,
Sterlington, La.

MY ROOSTER

I had a little rooster,
I fed him on cheese,
He got so fat
That you couldn't see his knees.

CLOYCE RYDER,
Fifth Grade.

SUMMER HAS COME

After the winter is past,
Then the spring will come,
Then we will plant our gardens,
And the bees will hum.

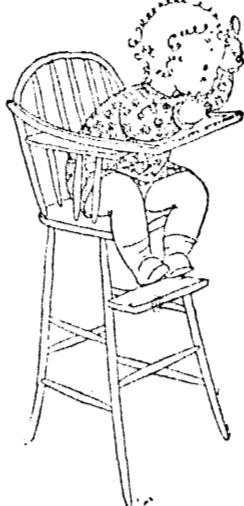

L. C. AUTTONBERRY,
Third Grade.

VIOLETS

Under the hedge and under the snow,
Do the dear little violets grow.
And when May has come
The dear little violets begin to peep out to the sun.
They are the loveliest little flower
For they are so blue.

ELIZABETH REYNOLDS,
Central Grammar School,
Monroe, La.

A PRETTY BOY

Sullivan Herron is a pretty little boy. When he cries he wants a toy. He is two years old and learning to walk. It won't be long until he can talk. He sits in his high chair like a good little thing. And all day long he tries to sing. He has pretty blond hair and light blue eyes. When you give him a little spanking he looks at you wise.

HELEN HERRON,
Third Grade.

PLANTING

We planted some peas in a little garden that we dug across the street. We go to see if it has grown any. We take a can and go across the street and get some water every day to water the peas. We are going to plant some flowers in the yard and some in the garden some time this week.

MARGIE LEE TINGLE,
4-A, Barkdull Faulk School.

Seventy-one years ago today the Civil war began.
I hope we'll never have a war like that again.

Everybody was hustling to and fro, Afraid of the coming of the foe.

HAZEL ROY,
Fifth Grade,
Calhoun School.

ROBIN REDBREAST

Pretty Robin Redbreast,
Built a little nest,
And laid some eggs
That hatched some birds,
That flew to the south
And left the nest
Of pretty Robin Redbreast.

HALE BOYD,
Fifth Grade,
Calhoun School.

BIRDS

Spring is here. The birds are pretty and they are building their nests. The birds are happy and they are mating. One little girl in our room found a bird egg and it was broken. You could see the bill of the bird and part of the head to it was not out of the shell yet. It was sad to see such a thing.

O. J. CHILDS,
Fourth Grade,
Barkdull Faulk School.

THE WIND

At evening when I sail my kite
To break the string is the wind's delight.
At first my kite goes round and round,
The next thing I know it has hit the ground.

The wind went dancing over the world;
Round and round my kite whirled.
At last it went up so high
Dancing around in the bright blue sky.

The wind went whistling through the pine,
Singing the chorus of a song so fine:
All night long under the big bright moon.

The trees are singing so fast a tune.
LUCILLE ROY,
Egypt school,
Third grade.

MIGHTY ANIMALS

In our class at school we are studying about the mighty animals of long ago. We are carving animals out of soap. A boy in my room has carved a dinosaur out of white soap. On the board we have drawn some pictures. We are going to try to make a long line of the mighty animals.

JEANNE ETHRIDGE,
4-A Grade, B. F. S.

MY CAT

I have a little cat;
He acts very saucy;
He plays pranks very often.
He's a funny little brat
And catches every rat.

CECIL GUINN,
Manifest, La., grade four.

MY LIBRARY BOOK

I have a good library book and it has some interesting stories in it. The name of the book is "Robin Hood." I have read six books of travel. We have a book record that shows where we have traveled by books.

DAN O'QUINN,
Fourth Grade,
Barkdull Faulk School.

WINTER

Winter has come;
Oh, what fun!
It is snowing;
The north wind is blowing.

The flowers are asleep.
The little chicks have to peep.
The sheep have come home
All winter long.

WILMER ESTES,
Manifest high school, grade four.

RAIN IN THE NIGHT

Raining, raining,
All night long;
Sometimes loud, sometimes soft,
Just like a little song.

HALLIE BASS,
Manifest, La., fourth grade.

Pupils of the Calhoun school making an average of 106 per cent on the state spelling test Tuesday, April 12, were:

Second Grade:

Loyce Thompson, Don Mitchell, Opal Smith, Georgiana Chambliss, Laviece Sanford, Juanita Witherington, Katharine Tharp, Dorothy Pipes, Gertrude Chapman, Mattie Walters, Alice B. Ward, Christine Tharp, Edwin Lons, Jack Golson, Claude Asno, George Murphree, Doc Taylor, Marie Barnes, J. M. Hite, James Butler, Benton Gross, Mattie Lee Bryan, Lucille Murry, William Lewis, Ruth Maza, Allie Mae Clark, Junior Barnes, James Meyers.

Fourth Grade:

Ronnie Barnes, Bishop Pipes, Jr., Blanche Thompson, Doris Jean Foster, Mary E. Bryan.

Fifth Grade:

Eleanor Humble.

Sixth Grade:

Vola Thompson.

Third Grade:

Marie Averitt, Marie Golson, Syble Boyd, Louise Marchbanks, Elsie Brakefield, Paul Thompson, Catherine Audreth, Kathleen Warren, Clarence Aswell, Charles Chapman, Ford Brownlee, Raymond Thompson, Margie Walker, Delmer Thompson, J. E. Barnes, Ben Brownlee, Eula B. Monk, Dan Cox, Helen Griggs, Sybil Brooks, Norma Lee Staples.

Seventh Grade:

Dallas Staples.

THE MEADOW LARK

The meadow lark is very smart. And in early spring her nest she'll start.

Then four or five eggs she will lay
And sit on them day after day
Until at last the eggs will hatch
And she'll take her birds to the meadow patch.

LUCILLE ROY,
3rd Grade, Egypt School.

THE WIND AND THE KITE

When the wind is blowing strong
I like to walk along. I like to fly my kite all my might. I wish I was tall, so I could fly my kite, and that is all.

JUANITA BOUGHTON,
Grade 3, Mangham High School.

Making the Lay-out or Dummy

If the work is to be a flat piece of printing, as, for instance, a card, folder, newspaper or magazine advertisement, or something of similar character, a "lay-out" should be made. This is a rough draft to show the printer the plan for arrangement, display, etc.

A carefully planned lay-out will save both time and money, for it gives a rough idea of how the finished work will look and eliminates the making of expensive changes later.

In making the lay-out, first cut a card or sheet, or draw the exact outline, to indicate the actual size of the finished piece. Then determine the margins wanted, drawing the lines for them lightly in their respective places. These lines will give the boundaries of the type page. If a border is wanted it should be indicated by either drawing a bit of it at one corner, or by noting in the margin that one is to be used. And in preparing the copy keep in mind that white space must be left between the border and text. Thus it is impossible to get within a border as much text as can be run without it.

(Next Week—"Giving the Order to the Printer")

Call 4800 and get our price before placing your next printing order

MONROE PRINTING CO.

JACK BOYER, Mgr.

Phone 4800

Third Floor News-Star-World Bldg.

Monroe, La.

Banish this bugaboo

To protect your family you have taken out Life Insurance? That's fine!

But why not banish the fear that this Life Insurance may some day slip through your family's fingers?

A Life Insurance Trust will settle this worry for you.

Let us tell you how a Trust Fund of this nature will replace your income which would otherwise cease upon your death—and it will provide for all family emergencies, too. May we?

Central Savings Bank & Trust Co.

Trust Department

WITH THE CHILDREN

Published Every Sunday

Edited by Eve C. Bradford

QUOTATION FOR TODAY

Let us, then, be what we are,
and
Speak what we think, and in all things
Keep ourselves loyal to truth.
—Longfellow.

DAY OF DAYS

He brushed his teeth so fervently. He sliced his hair down tight.
He fussed for minutes with his tie.
To make sure it was right.
He saluted forth for school displaying nonchalance amazing.
For one who was convinced that all the neighborhood was gazing.
No matter what life brings to him of honor, wealth, romance—
This day will be his day of days. He has his first long pants.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

Once there were three little girls.
Their names were Alice, Allegra and Edith. They were very smart. Mr.
Longfellow was the children's daddy.
Sometimes he would see in his lamplight the three children descending the stairway. They would come and get into his turret, and if he tried to escape they would surround him.
They would entwine their arms around him and almost devour him with kisses. They would kiss him until he would think of Bishop of Birger in his mouse tower on the Rhine.
Then he would say that he would put them into the dungeon in the round tower of his heart. He would say that he would keep them there until the walls would crumble into ruin and smoulder in dust away.

CLOYES RYDER,
Egypt school, Mangham, La., fourth
grade.

The Blue Jay comes in the fall,
She is among the gayest of all.
She builds her nest high in a tree,
Where boys and girls can not see.
She lays four eggs, blue and brown,
And you better mind how you go around.

She sits on them three long weeks,
Then she will hear "Peep, Peep, Peep!"

ROSS GOLSON,
Fifth Grade, Calhoun School.

BIRDS

How beautiful are the birds
As they sit upon the trees
Preening their feathers in the sun
Enjoying summer's breeze.

I saw a beautiful bluebird
As he flew far away,
I saw bold Robin Redbreast
Just finish his morning's play.

I saw a little sparrow
As he flew from tree to tree.
I saw a pretty cardinal
Very bright colors had he.

I saw Mr. Woodpecker
Pecking at a tree
He pecked again, then flew away
So far I could not see.

I like to see the birds
I watch them every day
It's fun to watch them while they work

As well as while they play.
ELEANOR HUMBLE,
Fifth Grade, Calhoun.

FROGS AT SCHOOL

Twenty frogs went to school
Down beside a weedy pool.
Twenty coats of green.
Twenty vests all clean.

JAMES HOLDMAN,
Enterprise school,

AT GRANDMA'S

I love to go where grandma lives,
There is so much to see;
Her house is just as small and quaint
As ever it can be.

And sometimes when I am very good
My grandma tells me
Old stories of the spinning wheel
And of our family tree.

And how—oh, many years ago

An ancestor of me

Came sailing with the Puritans

From far across the sea.

JULIET P. COMBERS.

MY PIG

I have a little pig,
With a tail like a wig,
When he's content he wags his tail,
But when he's sad he's a sight,
And always keeps me in a fright.

CECIL GUINN,
Grade IV, Manifest, La.

MY TRIP TO AFRICA

One day my wife, Mae Ellen Moon, told me to go to Africa. I wrapped some cheese in cake and put it in my misty sky boots. It was in the night so, of course, the sky had stars and the pretty soft black clouds. However, I had not time to talk with them, because I, Thomas William Moon, was going to Africa.

The first thing I saw was a lion coming out of vines and bushes. The lion was six feet across his back and twenty feet long. I, Thomas William
Moon, feared him!

Few were the nights that my big, round moon shone, when I found the large lion in a trap. Some hunters came and took him across the ocean to North America.

Then a cloud came over my face, and I could not see what happened to the lion.

DOROTHY WEBB,
Farmerville School,
Farmerville, La.

Now the sparrows are a pest,
And that is why we tear up their nest.

They say from England they came,
And we know that mites they do bring.

DORIS TURNER,
Fifth Grade, Calhoun School.

THE WIND

The whirling wind blows my kite
With all its might.
Away goes my kite around and around.

Then it whirls and hits the ground.
Then I go and get my kite,
And then it sails again.
And looks like it is going to touch
the sun so bright.

When night comes I let it go on up in the sky;
Then when I eat my supper I watch
it fly.

And it looks again as if it is going to touch the stars.
While it is up so high it looks down at the jailbirds looking through the iron bars.

Then comes a warm breeze from the tide,
And my kite looks like it says, "It will be in the waves I will ride."

Then the wind stops blowing and down comes my kite.

DOROTHY DUNCAN,
Egypt school, fourth grade.

MY PET RABBIT

One time I caught a rabbit. The rabbit was very little.
I put the rabbit in a cage and fed him lettuce and turnips. I petted him till he grew very tame. Then I let him out of the cage. He did not try to run away for he liked me.

One day I came in and had a piece of lettuce in my pocket. The rabbit smelled the lettuce and wanted it so I gave it to him.

The next day he got in a bowl of milk and when he got out he was white all over. Since that time I have called him White.

CARL GWINN,
Grade 4, Manifest, La.

SPRING

The woods are green,
The birds I have seen,
And the flowers gleam,
I knew it must be spring.

VELMA RUTH WELCH,
Third Grade.

MARCH

The windy March has come at last,
With skies so blue, and the wind so strong.

The boys shall fly their kites
With great delight.

I hear the rustling of the trees,
March is here at last.

CECIL GUINN,
Grade IV, Manifest, La.

SPRING TIME

The wind is blowing,
The fruit is growing,
The leaves are turning green,
Oh! what a beautiful spring.

LISSO GUILLORY,
Fourth Grade, Manifest, La.

AUTUMN

The leaves are falling,
The birds are calling,
Come out and play,
This autumn day.

LISSO GUILLORY,
Fourth Grade, Manifest, La.

THE RAIN

The rain is falling all around,
On the trees and on the ground,
Some time the rain falls on me,
But all the time it falls on the sea.

It rains in the night,
It rains in the day,
And it rains some time,
When we want to play.

It's raining rain,
It's raining daffodils,
It rains in the valleys,
And also on the hills.

BERTHA INGRAM,
Fourth Grade,
Manifest High School.

THE LIBRARY.

Our library consists of about one hundred and twenty books that are helpful for us to read and remember what we have read. Good books help us to build our characters. Our books are arranged in the library, good books that are suitable to read from those that do not help.

JAMES PETERS,
6th Grade, A. L. Smith School,
Sterlington, La.

MY ROOSTER

I had a little rooster,
I fed him on cheese,
He got so fat
That you couldn't see his knees.

CLYDE CORLEY,
Fifth Grade.

SUMMER HAS COME

After the winter is past,
Then the spring will come,
Then we will plant our gardens,
And the bees will hum.

L. C. AUTONBERRY,
Third Grade.

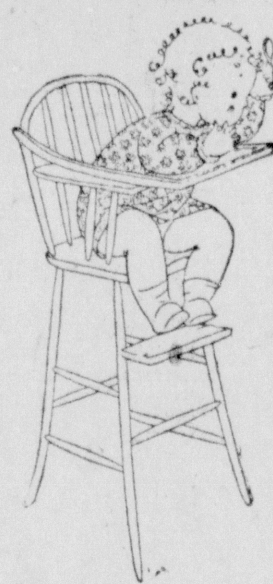

VIOLETS.

Under the hedge and under the snow,
Do the dear little violets grow.
And when May has come
The dear little violets begin to peep out to the sun.

They are the loveliest little flower
For they are so blue.

ELIZABETH REYNOLDS,
Central Grammar School,
Monroe, La.

A PRETTY BOY

Sullivan Herron is a pretty little boy.
When he cries he wants a toy,
He is two years old and learning to walk.
It won't be long until he can talk.
He sits in his high chair like a good little thing.
And all day long he tries to sing.
He has pretty blond hair and light blue eyes.

When you give him a little spanking
he looks at you wise.

HELEN HERRON,
Third Grade.

PLANTING.

We planted some peas in a little garden that we dug across the street.
We go to see if it has grown any. We take a can and go across the street and get some water every day to water the peas. We are going to plant some flowers in the yard and some in the garden some time this week.

MARGIE LEE TINGLE,
4-A, Barkdull Faulk School.

Seventy-one years ago today the Civil war began,
I hope we never have a war like that again.

Everybody was hustling to and fro,
Afraid of the coming of the foe.

HAZEL BOYD,
Fifth Grade,
Calhoun School.

ROBIN REDBREAST

Pretty Robin Redbreast,
Built a little nest,
And laid some eggs
That hatched some birds,
That flew to the south
And left the nest.

Of pretty Robin Redbreast,
HALE BOYD,
Fifth Grade,
Calhoun School.

BIRDS

Spring is here, The birds are pretty and they are building their nests.
The birds are happy and they are mating.
One little girl in our room found a bird-egg and it was broken. You could see the bill of the bird and part of the head to it was not out of the shell yet. It was sad to see such a thing.

O. J. CHILDS,
Fourth Grade,
Barkdull Faulk School.

THE WIND

At evening when I sail my kite
To break the string is the wind's delight.

At first my kite goes round and round,
The next thing I know it has hit the ground.

The wind went dancing over the world;
Round and round my kite whirled.
At last it went up so high
Dancing around in the bright blue sky.

The wind went whistling through the pine,
Singing the chorus of a song so fine;
All night long under the big bright moon.

The trees are singing so fast a tune.
LUCILLE ROY,
Egypt school,
Third grade.

MIGHTY ANIMALS.

In our class at school we are studying about the mighty animals of long ago. We are carving animals out of soap. A boy in my room has carved a dinosaur out of white soap. On the board we have drawn some pictures.
We are going to try to make a long line of the mighty animals.

JEANNE ETHRIDGE,
4-A Grade, B. F. S.

MY CAT

I have a little cat;
He acts very saucy;
He plays pranks very often.
He's a funny little brat
And catches every rat.

CECIL GUINN,
Manifest, La., grade four.

MY LIBRARY BOOK

I have a good library book and it has some interesting stories in it. The name of the book is "Robin Hood."
I have read six books of travel. We have a book record that shows where we have traveled by books.

DAN O'QUINN,
Fourth Grade,
Barkdull Faulk School.

WINTER

Winter has come!
Oh, what fun!
It is snowing;
The north wind is blowing.

The flowers are asleep,
The little chicks have to peep.
The sheep have come home
All winter long.

WILMER ESTES,
Manifest high school, grade four.

RAIN IN THE NIGHT

Raining, raining,
All night long;
Sometimes loud, sometimes soft,
Just like a little song.

HALLIE BASS,
Manifest, La., fourth grade.

MOTHER'S DAY.
M—is for "mother," so dear and great,
O—is for "others" we also love,
T—is for "tears" we shed for her,
H—is for her dear "heart."
E—is for "even" we love her.
R—is for "rain" like tears.
S—is for "sorry" we hear.

D—is for "day" of her birth.
A—is for "any" who love her.
Y—is for the "years" when she was on earth.

WIDMER PLATT.

Grade 6
Rhymes School, Rayville, La.

THE FAIRY WHO WAS CHANGED TO A HORNY FROG.

Once there was a fairy who would not play with the other fairies. One day the queen said, "You must play with the other fairies or something is going to happen." But the fairy would not play with them. She went to bed saying "I will not play with them. I will not do it!"

The next morning she awoke and said, "When I put my hand on my head something sticks my hand! Oh!
I am a horny frog. Oh, how I wish I were myself again! I would always play with the other fairies." The queen heard this and said, "If you will always play with the other fairies and be very good, I will change you into yourself again." She took her wand and changed the frog to a fairy again.

The fairy always played with the other fairies and lived happily ever afterward.

FRENCHIE ROAN.

Farmerville, La.

LIBRARY WORK.

Library work is a very important thing. It teaches children how to read faster, so that when they get in college they will be prepared. If the children have to report on books, they will read them more carefully and find the meaning of them. In our room we have about one hundred and twenty-five books. We have to turn in nine book reports this six weeks.

WALTER MULLER,
6th Grade, A. L. Smith School,
Sterlington, La.

This is Glenn Maurice Thompson, the handsome little four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy B. Thompson of the West Side.

A VISIT TO FAIRYLAND

One hot summer day my sister and I were sitting under a tree. My sister was reading a book. I peeped over in it and didn't see any pictures so
I lay down and went to sleep.

In my dream I went to Fairyland.
There I saw some little people with pretty wings. They were little fairies.
They were very good to me.

I was just leaving the house when my sister called me. She waked me and we went into the house and ate dinner.

BERTHA INGRAM,
Grade 4,
Manifest High School.

Pupils of the Calhoun school making an average of 100 per cent on the state spelling test Tuesday, April 12, were:

Second Grade:

Loyce Thompson, Don Mitchell, Opal
Smith, Georgiana Chambliss, Lavice
Sanford, Juanita Witherington, Kathalene Tharpe, Dorothy Pipes, Garrette
Chapman, Mittie Walters, Alice B.
Ward, Christine Tharpe, Edwin Long,
Jack Golson, Claude Ashe, George
Murphree, Doc Taylor, Marie Barnes,
J. M. Hite, James Butler, Benton
Gross, Mittie Lee Bryan, Lucile Murray, Willard Lewis, Ruth Maza, Allie
Mae Clarke, Junior Barnes, James Meyers.

Fourth Grade:

Bronice Barnes, Bishop Pipes, Jr.,
Blanche Thompson, Doris Jean Foster,
Mary E. Bryan.

Fifth Grade:

Eleanor Humble.

Sixth Grade:

Voila Thompson.

Third Grade:

Marie Averitt, Marie Golson, Syble
Boyd, Louise Marchbanks, Elsie Brake-field, Earl Thompson, Catherine Audirsch, Kathleen Warren, Claesnee
Aswell, Charles Chapman, Ford
Brownlee, Raymond Thompson, Margie
Walker, Delmer Thompson, J. E.
Barnes, Ben Brownlee, Eula B. Monk,
Dan Cox, Helen Griggs, Sybil Brooks,
Norma Lee Staples.

Seventh Grade:

Dallas Staples.

THE MEADOW LARK.

The meadow lark is very smart.
And in early spring her nest she'll start.

Then four or five eggs she will lay
And sit on them day after day
Until at last the eggs will hatch
And she'll take her birds to the meadow path.

LUCILLE ROY,
3rd Grade, Egypt School.

THE WIND AND THE KITE

When the wind is blowing strong
I like to walk along. I like to fly my kite all my might. I wish I was tall, so I could fly my kite, and that is all.

JUANITA BOUGHTON,
Grade 3, Mangham High School.

Making the Lay-out or Dummy

If the work is to be a flat piece of printing, as, for instance, a card, folder, newspaper or magazine advertisement, or something of similar character, a "lay-out" should be made. This is a rough draft to show the printer the plan for arrangement, display, etc.

A carefully planned lay-out will save both time and money, for it gives a rough idea of how the finished work will look and eliminates the making of expensive changes later.

In making the lay-out, first cut a card or sheet, or draw the exact outline, to indicate the actual size of the finished piece. Then determine the margins wanted, drawing the lines for them lightly in their respective places. These lines will give the boundaries of the type page. If a border is wanted it should be indicated by either drawing a bit of it at one corner, or by noting in the margin that one is to be used. And in preparing the copy keep in mind that white space must be left between the border and text. Thus it is impossible to get within a border as much text as can be run without it.

(Next Week—"Giving the Order to the Printer")

Call 4800 and get our price before placing your next printing order

MONROE PRINTING CO.

JACK BOYER, Mgr.

Phone 4800

Third Floor News-Star—World Bldg.

Monroe, La.

191-301

Banish this bugaboo

To protect your family you have taken out Life Insurance? That's fine!

But why not banish the fear that this Life Insurance may some day slip through your family's fingers?

A Life Insurance Trust will settle this worry for you.

Let us tell you how a Trust Fund of this nature will replace your income which would otherwise cease upon your death—and it will provide for all family emergencies, too. May we?

Central Savings Bank & Trust Co.

Trust Department

NEW YORK CURBS

an B	1	2%	2%	2%	Cities & Gw Pw 5 29 58
S & El	18	25½	24½	25¼	Comwlth Ed 4s 81 F.	30	82¾	81½
per Power	47	2	1½	1½	Consum Pw 4½s 58..	14	96	95½
Gas	2	3-16	3-16	3-16	Cont G & El 5s 58 A	9	56½	56
& E A	13	2½	2½	2½	E.

idge	1	1%	1%	1%	1%	Empire O&R 5½	42	8	37½	37
rt	10	19%	19%	19%	19%	F
C						Firestone Cot M 55 48					1	60	68
ub S A	1	1½	1	1½	1	Fla St P & L 55 54					1	58	68
el	2	3½	4	4	1	G
f	2	3½	4	4	1	G
h. & So war	7	5-16	5-16	5-16	5-16	G
E						I
d & Share	54	14½	13½	13½	14	Ill P & L 55 50 C					9	64½	64
	1	1%	1%	1%	1%	Indanpls P&L 55 57 A					2	86	86
G						Interl Pw Sec 55 57 A					6	89½	88
tot Can A	1	8	8	8	8	Interl Pw Sec 55 57 E					2	70½	70
tot Ltd	1	4	4	4	4	Interl Pw Sec 55 57					2	59½	59
vest A	1	7-16	7-16	7-16	7-16	J
G						Jer Ct P&L 4½ 56 C					1	63	63
invest Corp	16	3	3½	3½	3½	L
Ltd rel	1	10	10	10	10	Lohish P & S 2020 A					8	68½	68
E & ev p B	1	10	10	10	10	M
E & ev p B	4	7-16	7-16	7-16	7-16	M
El Pchs	2	1	1	1	1	Mid West Ut 58 34					2	8	7
El Pchs	4	28½	28½	28½	28½	N

H				Nat Pow & S 45 2030B				64	63
Oil	---	---	---	3	38%	36	38	---	---
Util	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	5	23%
Can	26	7%	7%	7%	7%	---	---	---	---
I	2	9%	---	---	---	---	---	---	---
N Am	1	29%	29%	29%	---	---	---	---	---
I Pet	6	9%	---	---	---	---	---	---	---
P				Nor St Pow 4125 67				7	88%
---				---				17	84%
Star Gas				P				---	---
---	11	41%	41%	41%	---	---	---	---	---
M				Fac G&E 5155 82 C.				4	102%
Pet A vtc	2	---	---	---	---	---	---	1	70%
nt Pul	2	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	--- nt P	1	1%	1%	1%	---	---	---	---	--- nt L	1	1%	1%	1%	---	---	---	---	---
---				Phila El Pow 5155 72				4	105
---				Fug Sud P 1 5155 49				5	89%
---				---				---	---
---				Shaw W&P 4155 70 D.				2	65
---				Sep & L 4155 60				2	61
---				---				6	93%

N
Vibration	...	4	2	3%	3%	3%	3%	Stand	Q&E	65	55	conv	3	58	58
Shard Power	...	21	4	3%	3%	3%	3%	Stand	P&E	65	55	conv	4	48%	48
Shard Power	...	21	4	3%	3%	3%	3%	Stand	P&E	65	55	conv	4	48%	48
Shard Power	...	21	4	3%	3%	3%	3%	Stand	P&E	65	55	conv	4	48%	48
Shard Power	...	21	4	3%	3%	3%	3%	Stand	P&E	65	55	conv	4	48%	48
P
Rust-Pr	...	1	2	3%	3%	3%	3%	Un	Gulf	Cor	55	U	7	91%	91
Radio A	...	1	1	1%	1%	1%	1%	Un	Gr	55	53	U	1	53%	53
Hold xw	...	2	3	3%	3%	3%	3%	U	S	Rubber	68	53	U	6	63%	63
S
Intl	...	1	1	3%	3%	3%	3%	West	Tex	UT	55	57	A	5	49	48
S
Prod	...	2	3	3%	3%	3%	3%	Buen	Aires	Pr	71	55	A	5	36	36
Intl Corp N V	...	7	5	5%	5%	5%	5%	Ct	Al	Gr	65	51	B	8	37%	37

.....	16	15 1/2	15 1/2	15 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	1	21 1/2	21 1/2	21 1/2
T
.....	4	3	3	3
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
U
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	19	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	4	3 1/2	3 1/2	3 1/2
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
W
.....	6	10 1/2	10 1/2	10 1/2
INDUSTRIAL BONDS
A
.....	16	15 1/2	15 1/2	15 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	1	21 1/2	21 1/2	21 1/2
T
.....	4	3	3	3
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
U
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	19	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	4	3 1/2	3 1/2	3 1/2
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
W
.....	6	10 1/2	10 1/2	10 1/2
INDUSTRIAL BONDS
A
.....	16	15 1/2	15 1/2	15 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	1	21 1/2	21 1/2	21 1/2
T
.....	4	3	3	3
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
U
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	19	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	4	3 1/2	3 1/2	3 1/2
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
W
.....	6	10 1/2	10 1/2	10 1/2
INDUSTRIAL BONDS
A
.....	16	15 1/2	15 1/2	15 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	1	21 1/2	21 1/2	21 1/2
T
.....	4	3	3	3
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
U
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	19	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	4	3 1/2	3 1/2	3 1/2
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
W
.....	6	10 1/2	10 1/2	10 1/2
INDUSTRIAL BONDS
A
.....	16	15 1/2	15 1/2	15 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....	1	21 1/2	21 1/2	21 1/2
T
.....	4	3	3	3
.....	1	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
U
.....	2	1 1/2	1 1/2	1 1/2
.....

Sales in $1000 High Low Close
Co 55 52	4	88 1/2	88
E & S 2028	10	78 1/2	77 1/2
G 58 55 B	10	65 1/2	65
E & S 68 45 B	7	3	2
Hi Pow 55 56	4	89	89
G 42 45 3	10	41	40 1/4
E & S 50	11	26	25
68	13	25 1/4	25

ent a Spare Room—Find a Furnished Home—over Your Lost Dog—Sell That Ice Box or Stove
 each Music for Extra Cash—Rent Your Farm
 arage—Selling Those Chicks or Live Stock—U
 PROFIT AND RESULT-PRODUCING NEWS-ST
 WORLD WANT ADS

WORLD WANT-ADS.

Last Times Today

(A)

Paramount
Theatre

He's looking forward to
"ONE HOUR

WITH YOU"
Who? Why,
MAURICE

MAURICE CHEVALIER
of course—but who is YOU?
Could it be JEANETTE

Could it be GENEVIEVE
Mac DONALD alluring GENEVIEVE TOBIN or his friend CHARLIE RUGGLES?
Confidentially, it's

YOU and YOU and YOU!
All of you will enjoy this new LUBITSCH production

—More Joy—
At St. John in the comedy,
"All Sealed Up"
"Screen Souvenirs"
25c till 1 P. M.

FREE — A PARAMOUNT THEATRE
TICKET will be given with every one week cash Want-Ad-if ad contains ex-

Two lines two tickets will be given—tickets good any day.

STOCKS ACCOMPLISH ONLY MIL
RECOVERY IN WEEKEND SESSION

Wall Street Is Much More Interested in Senate Short Selling Investigation Than in Market Itself; Weekend News Apparently Brings Some Grounds for Encouragement; Youngstown Mills at 30 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, April 23 (P)—Undiminished by sharp declines in the previous session, stocks accomplished a mild recovery today. Volume was reduced and final prices of most leaders represented small advances.

Wall Street was much more interested in the Senate short selling investigation than in the market itself. A dribble of offering during the first half hour scooped out new low levels for a few prominent issues, including U. S. Steel, American Can, Borden, General Foods, Socony-Vacuum and Standard Oil of New Jersey, but narrow declines were largely converted into equally narrow gains. Business totaled 471,370 shares, the smallest for a Saturday since February 27.

Stocks able to show better than fractional net improvement included American Telephone, Rock and Hambro, Coca-Cola, Auburn, Public Service of New Jersey, Santa Fe, Norfolk and Western, Con. Products and Auburn. Soft spots were notably few, but one of them was Alaska Juneau which has figured in Washington testimony on "syndicate" activities. This issue broke more than a point in brisk trading.

Weekend news seemed to bring some grounds for encouragement. Steel mill operations in the Youngstown district are back to 30 per cent of capacity, which would indicate that some orders had picked up. Some other lines may also have gained as a result of firmness in prices. Reports from Washington said the senate planned to push the tax bill and that it was expected congress would adjourn before the political conventions.

Brokers' houses ventured numerous guesses as to what the market would do after next week's U. S. Steel meeting. It was noted that rallies had appeared rather promptly after the last four periodic reports, although this was not taken to mean that the same procedure would necessarily be followed at this time. Numerous other dividend meetings of importance are to be held in the next few days, all because of the high current yields offered in most instances some revisions are obviously being expected.

By Victor Eubank
NEW YORK, April 23 (P)—Bond prices again eased slightly today in the slowest Saturday session since November 21. Sales totaled only $4,569,000 par value.

Dealers were of the opinion that investors and traders were marking time while waiting for a settlement of the tax situation at Washington and for the reports of a number of important utility and industrial corporations on dividends and earnings. The United States government list was fractionally, along with corporate securities. Only the treasury 3-4s, on the sale of but 14 bonds, managed to emerge with a plus sign, the others, however, gave ground only slightly and offerings began to dry up early in the session.

The utilities were subjected to moderate pressure and there were several wide swings on few sales. American & Foreign Power 5s dropped a point or more but rallied for a gain of 3-4. American Telephone was down 1-4 to 1-2, American Water Works 6s 10s 20s 20s. Laclede Gas 6s were exceptionally soft, a loss of 4 points being taken by the 5s. Western Union 5s of 1931 lost 1-4. The average of the industrials was unchanged. Loans of Armour & Co., General Theatres, Gulf Steel, International Match, National Dairy, Tobacco Products of New Jersey and Pure Oil improved slightly. Certained 5-12s were heavy.

French government obligations were again features of the foreign department. The 7-12s conceded 1-2 points of their recent gains, but the 7s again reached a new high for the year with a gain of 1-8. German government 7s lost a point but the 5-12s firmed. British 5-12s gained moderately and loans of Argentine and Japan were steady.

FINANCES

Bond Averages

(Copyright, 1932, Standard Statistics Co.)
April 23.

	Ind.	R.R.	U.S.	Total
Today	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Previous day	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Week ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Month ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Year ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
2 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
3 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
4 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
5 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
6 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
7 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
8 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
9 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
10 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4

Stock Averages

(Copyright, 1932, Standard Statistics Co.)
April 23.

	Ind.	R.R.	U.S.	Total
Today	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Previous day	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Week ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Month ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
Year ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
2 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
3 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
4 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
5 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
6 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
7 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
8 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
9 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4
10 years ago	45.5	72.5	75.1	64.4

Daily Cotton Table

Port movement:	Midg.	Receipts	Exports	Sales	Stock
New Orleans	6.08	4,018	249	1,668,613	20,204
Galveston	6.08	2,344	7,644	500	61,808
Boston	6.08	1,354	608	181,526	14,307
Savannah	6.04	829	280	251,477	13,951
Charleston	6.04	15	15	113,030	13,951
Wilmington	6.00	235	13	57,277	2,693
Norfolk	6.00	235	13	57,277	2,693
Baltimore	6.00	235	13	57,277	2,693
New York	6.10	350	205,204	14,307	14,307
San Francisco	6.10	793	13,230	1,350,484	169,828
Minor ports	6.10	2,344	7,644	500	61,808
Corpus Christi	6.10	2,344	7,644	500	61,808
Total today	6.10	9,316	7,644	16,820	1,484,072
For week	6.10	9,316	7,644	16,820	1,484,072
For month	6.10	9,316	7,644	16,820	1,484,072
For year	6.10	9,316	7,644	16,820	1,484,072
Interim movement:	Midg.	Receipts	Exports	Sales	Stock
Memphis	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
St. Louis	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
St. Paul	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
Chicago	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
Indianapolis	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
St. Louis	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
St. Paul	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
Chicago	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
Indianapolis	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
Total today	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
For week	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
For month	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800
For year	6.30	3,666	2,219	8,540	114,800

NEW YORK COTTON IS MOSTLY STEADY

Opening Declines Are Nearly Regained

NET LOSS OF 1-2 POINTS

Prices Work Back to About Friday Final

NEW YORK, April 23 (P)—Trading in cotton was more active today with increases near month liquidation absorbed by trade buying within a comparatively narrow range, and the undertone generally steady.

A slight opening decline was just about recovered. After selling off to 6.11 at the start, July rallied to 6.15 and closed at 6.14. The final tone of the market was steady at net declines of 1 to 2 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points with active months selling 4 to 5 points net lower right after the call under the near-month liquidation and some overnight selling orders from local or commission house sources.

Prices worked back to about yesterday's final, and the close was within a point or two of the best at 5.95 for May and 6.35 for October.

Some of the selling of May and July was believed to be for Far Eastern account with Bombay mentioned in that connection, while the decline evidently reached trade buying limits in considerable volume.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of week was estimated at 115,000 bales against 69,000 last year.

PRODUCE

Louisiana Produce

NEW ORLEANS, April 23 (P)—(USDA)—New potatoes were firm with Louisiana ungraded Bliss Triumphs selling $2.75-3.00 per 100 lbs. Texas Bliss Triumphs sold $1.00-1.25 per 50-lb. sack for small sizes. Louisiana Creole onions were quoted $2.00-3.50 per 100 lbs. Sweet potatoes brought 65-90c per 100 lbs. Mexican garlic sold 1-2 to 9c per pound.

Louisiana vegetables were steady with beans selling 20-25c per dozen bushels; carrots 25-30; mustard 15-20; shallots 25-30; spinach 20-25 and turnips 35-40. Cabbage brought 75c per dozen heads or $2.00 per cwt.

Iceberg lettuce sold at $3.25-3.50 per crate of 5 dozen heads. Cauliflower sold $2.10-2.25 per crate while artichokes moved at $2.00-2.25 per crate. Celery from Florida sold $3.25-3.50 per crate of 3 to 4 dozen stalks. Okra sold lower at $2.00-2.50 per bushel, while Florida snap beans brought $4.75-6.00 per bushel.

Louisiana strawberries were mostly ordinary and sold 50c-1.75 per 24-pint crate. Fancy delicious apples sold $2.25-2.50 per box. Cuban pineapples brought $2.25 per crate.

Friday Louisiana shipped 103 cars strawberries, 10 cars cabbage, 5 cars sweet potatoes, 4 cars mixed vegetables. Friday Mississippi shipped 2 cars strawberries, 4 cars mixed vegetables, 1 car cabbage and 1 car of greens.

Butter and Eggs

CHICAGO, April 23 (P)—Butter 10-30, steady; creamery samples, 93 score, 19 extra firsts, 90-91, 18-1-2 to 19-1-4; extra firsts, 90-91, 18-1-2 to 19-1-4; 15-17, standard 90 centralized carlots, 19-1-4.

Eggs 30-84; steady; extra firsts 12-1-2 to 13-1-4; fresh graded firsts 11-1-2 to 12-1-2; current receipts 10-1-4 to 11-1-4; storage packed firsts 13-1-4; extras 14-1-4.

Sugar

NEW YORK, April 23 (P)—Raw sugar advanced another 2 points today to the basis of 2.65 for spots. Approximate sales were 16,000 tons, including nearly half in exchanges.

Chicago Poultry

CHICAGO, April 23 (P)—Poultry, alive, 1 car, 43 trucks, easy; broilers, small 22; leghorn broilers 20; Plymouth Rock broilers 23; others unchanged.

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK, April 23 (P)—Foreign exchange steady. Great Britain in dollars, others in cents. Great Britain demand 3.74-3.8; cables 3.74-3.8; 60 day bills 3.72-3.4; France demand 3.93-13.16; Italy demand 5.14; cables 5.14-1.2.

RIVER STAGES

(As of 7 a.m. yesterday.)

Flood Present 24-hour

Stage Station

Mississippi—

St. Louis 30 12.8 0.3 Rise

Memphis 35 22.6 1.3 Fall

Helena 44 33.7 1.6 Fall

Arkansas City 48 40.7 0.7 Fall

Vicksburg 45 40.0 0.3 Fall

Natchez 46 40.3 0.1 Rise

Angola 45 39.3 0.2 Rise

Cumberland—

Nashville 40 12.5 1.2 Fall

Ohio—

Pittsburgh 22 12.0 0.3 Fall

Cincinnati 22 14.9 2.1 Fall

Tennessee—

Chattanooga 33 10.0 0.4 Fall

Arkansas—

Fort Smith 22 5.2 0.3 Rise

Little Rock 23 2.0 0.4 Fall

Red—

Shreveport 39 7.9 0.2 Fall

Alexandria 36 11.2 0.6 Fall

Ouachita—

Camden 30 8.0 0.1 Fall

Monroe 40 37.0 0.3 Fall

NEW YORK STOCKS

Sales in 100s High/Low/Close
Adams Express	14	37 1/2	36 1/4	37 1/4
Air Reduction	479	123	105 1/2	111 1/2
Alaska Jun	1	1 1/2	1 1/4	1 1/2
Allegheny	1	1 1/2	1 1/4	1 1/2
Al Ch & D	429	59 1/2	58	59
Allis Ch Mfg	1	7 1/2	7 1/4	7 1/2
Allis Ch Mfg	1	7 1/2	7 1/4	7 1/2
American Can	16	42 1/2	41 3/4	42 1/2
Am Coml A	3	8 1/4	8	8 1/4
Am F & P	10	4 1/4	4	4 1/4
Am International	3	8 1/4	8	8 1/4
Am Pow & L	5	4 1/4	4	4 1/4
Am Rad St San	1	7 1/2	7 1/4	7 1/2
Am Roll Mill	1	7 1/2	7 1/4	7 1/2
Am S & R	2	5 1/4	5	5 1/4
Am Sil Fdls	209	99 1/2	97 1/2	99 1/2
Am T & T	82	67 1/2	65 1/2	67 1/2
American Tobacco	8	20	19 1/2	20
Am Woolen Pf	24	23 1/2	23	23 1/2
Anacosta	51	5 1/4	5	5 1/4
Arm II A	12	1 1/2	1 1/4	1 1/2
do B	2	2 1/4	2 1/2	2 1/4
Atch T & S P	27	45 1/2	43 1/2	45 1/2
At Refining	1	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
Auburn Auto	78	40 1/2	38 1/2	40 1/2
Aviation Corp	3	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2

Sales in 100s High/Low/Close
Baldwin Locomotive	15	3 1/2	3 1/4	3 1/2
Baltimore & Ohio	2	9 1/2	9	9 1/2
Bendix Aviation	5	7 1/2	7 1/4	7 1/2
Beth Steel	16	13 1/2	12 1/2	13 1/2
Chas & S	8	29 1/2	28 1/2	29 1/2
Ches Corp	9	10	9 1/2	10
C & N W	12	5 1/4	5 1/2	5 1/4
Ch G West	5	6 1/4	6 1/2	6 1/4
Ch G West	5	6 1/4	6 1/2	6 1/4
C M St P & P	1	2 1/4	2 1/2	2 1/4
Congress Pneu Tool	3	2 1/4	2 1/2	2 1/4
Cotton	8	10 1/2	9 1/2	10 1/2
Coca-Cola	81	97 1/2	95 1/2	97 1/2
Coke & E	28	8 1/4	7 1/4	8 1/4
Columbian	2	2 1/4	2 1/2	2 1/4
Coml Solvent	3	6 1/4	6 1/2	6 1/4
Comwealth & So	46	25 1/2	25	25 1/2
Consolidated Natl	81	51 1/2	49 1/2	51 1/2
Cont Textile	1	1 1/4	1 1/2	1 1/4
Cont Baking B	30	27 1/2	27	27 1/2
Contl Ins	1	13 1/4	13 1/2	13 1/4
Cont Motors	6	1	1	1
Cont Oil	12	8 1/4	8 1/2	8 1/4
Cont Shares	2	3 1/4	3 1/2	3 1/4
Corn Products	22	32 1/2	30 1/2	32 1/2
Curtis	5	1 1/4	1 1/2	1 1/4
do A	2	1 1/4	1 1/2	1 1/4

Sales in 100s High/Low/Close
Del Lack & W	1	14	14	14
Dupont	106	29 1/2	28 1/2	29 1/2
Eastman Kodak	14	54 1/2	53 1/2	54 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2

Sales in 100s High/Low/Close
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2
El & Mus	21	2 1/2	2 1/4	2 1/2

Bendix Aviation	5	7 1/4	7	7 1/2	N Y Central	99	20	19
Beth Steel	16	13	12 1/2	12 1/2	N Y N H & H	11	14 1/4	14
Borden	50	29 1/2	28 1/4	28 1/2	Noranda Mines	11	14	13 3/4
Borg Warner	2	6 1/2	6 1/2	6 1/2	Norn American	36	23 1/2	22 3/4
Briggs Mfg	1	6	6	6	Northern Pacific	1	11 1/2	11 1/2
Bklyn Man Tr	9	38 1/2	37 1/2	37 1/2
C					O
					Ohio Oil	16	6 1/2	6

Phone 4800

CLASSIFIED SECTION

Phone 4800

Gems of Peril

by HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

CHAPTER VII
Mary mastered a wild desire to shout at her future mother-in-law. Could nothing crack that magnificent self-assurance? Perhaps. Mrs. Ruyter hadn't known how important the matter was.

When she finally got through to Dirk, Mary could hear him growling sleepily: "What time is it? Three-twenty? Oh, damn it, why wasn't I called? Mary? Listen. Get a cab and go to the corner of Third avenue and — street. The northwest corner. Eddie will meet you there at four. You've half an hour, but you may make it if you hurry. Got it? All right, I'll come as fast as I can." She turned from the instrument, her thoughts twirling. Gloves, bag—she must have money for the cab, had she enough? Better call Tom. But Tom had been up all night and had just turned in for a little sleep. The other chauffeur alternated in the role of gardener's helper and was out on the lawn somewhere in dungarees.

Better get a taxi. Bowen was waiting for an answer to his request that he be allowed to go with her to meet her brother, but Mary mentioned him away absently.

"I can't talk to you now," she said hurriedly and went out. The newspaperman hesitated but there was nothing to do but leave so he followed. Under the portico stood a ramshackle car which Mary, in desperation, was eyeing speculatively. Empty taxicabs don't ply the Long Island by-roads. She'd have to call up the village, and precious seconds were ticking away.

Bowen, observing her dilemma, advanced toward the car, opened the door and paused with a foot on the running-board.

"I'll take you wherever you're going," he offered. "No fooling," he offered. "No fooling, I won't follow you—I'll take you there and run. I've got an edition to catch anyway." There was no choice. She must hurry or run the chance of missing Eddie. She got in swiftly and they went roaring off toward town at a gratifyingly rapid pace. Bowen was mercifully silent, devoting himself to getting the last ounce of speed out of his decrepit car, and once they were in town, to worming it swiftly through the heavy late-afternoon traffic.

A block before they had reached the corner Dirk designated, she asked him to put her down. To make up for her obvious lack of trust she thanked him warmly.

"If I do have anything to give the newspapers I'll tell you first," she promised and gave him her hand. Bowen, fishing for a cigarette and watching the slim figure hurry off, was the victim of mixed emotions. Well, he had said he wouldn't follow, but he could have kicked himself for making the promise. He was getting to be a sofie, letting a pair of heavily-fringed eyes and an artless look sweep him from the line of duty.

Bowen had seen girls who wore that look—girls who, in his travels about New York, later he had discovered to his sorrow that they were "harder cookies" than himself, which was saying a good deal. At least they profited a great deal more from their endeavors than he did from his. From long observation on the New York scene, he had learned that the good, the true and the beautiful are not always what they seem. Yet he was dead sure that Mary Harkness was real. How he knew it, he could not say.

It was a crime to let her get away. She had promised him the story though, so he wasn't cheating the paper, he reflected uneasily. But long experience with such promises had taught him to suspect their worth. Alas, she'd probably call up some day and tell him her dog was lost and consider she'd given him a sensational story. Most people, and particularly idea what the newspaper business women he reflected bitterly, had no way at all about.

rabble in police courts make him sick? Little girls with itching palms and "stick-up" friends put themselves in the way of such treatment when they set out to get-rich-quick. But the reflection was no comfort to him.

Bowen threw his cigarette into the gutter in disgust. It was hell, but he was falling in love.

Suddenly the girl's face lighted up and she ran forward at sight of someone. For a glad instant Bowen believed it was himself. Then the chap from the telephone booth brushed against him as he hurried to cross the street.

Bowen caught a glimpse of a tanned boyish jaw, unshaven, and hunted gray eyes, as he looked hurriedly right and left before plunging into the traffic. The blue suit was wrinkled and matted, and he wore no hat. Mary had rushed to the curb and was holding out her hands. The boy had reached the middle of the street now and stood between two rushing streams of cars. A break in the traffic—one more leap—and he would have reached the other side.

The seal of the news-hunter awoke in Bowen and, driven by every other voice, there, if you like, went the Jupiter murderer—and here Bowen stood! If ever there was a fugitive from justice, that boy looked and acted the part. The reporter hurried across.

He had gained the middle of the street, too, and was just a few steps behind Harkness, waiting for a chance to go on, when a long black streak swerved out of its place in line and shot down the middle lane as if heading straight for the boy.

A shaft of warning burst from Bowen's lungs. He lunged and tried to grasp the boy but Harkness had heard and jumped back. The car shot past almost in the same instant, everying deliberately toward Harkness, who stumbled and fell backward, striking the pavement at Bowen's feet.

Bowen, white and sobbing with shock and fury, saw the car take the corner on a wide swing and shoot away, its number obscured in a cloud of smoke. The boy tried to regain his feet and was reeling drunkenly on his hands and feet. Bowen looked down and saw him slump to the ground and go limp.

There was an instant huc-and-cry. A policeman came running—there was no traffic officer on the corner—and someone commandeered a passing cab and took after the vanished car. "Hit-and-run driver!" The city streets know no more savage rallying-cry.

But Bowen, who had seen what he had seen, knew better. To him the meaning of the seeming accident was damnable clear. The boy, who had been down and saw him slump to the ground and go limp.

Classified Business Directory Service by Experts

The firms and individuals represented in this column are ready to serve you every need. Each is an expert in the particular service of which it makes a specialty. You will find them all courteous, reliable and efficient. Use this handy guide to the professional and business services they offer

Automobiles

RENOIT NASH MOTOR CO.
General Repairs, Sales and Service.
Gas and Oil. 200 Hall. Phone 2352.

Beauty School

Enroll Now for Summer Course of Beauty Culture. Earn While Learning.
MONROE BEAUTY SCHOOL
215 HARRISON STREET

Commercial Refrigeration

Expert Service On Any Type Machine. Sire Cold Refrigerating Co.
PHONE 4307.

Drug Store

Phone-North Side Pharmacy-4500
Drugs-Sundries-Soda
We Deliver-Phone 4500

Glass

BAILEY GLASS CO.—"Everything in Glass." Windows, mirrors, picture framing, resilvering. 700 Grand. Phone 36

Lawn Mowers—Bicycles

A. KELLER & SON
Lawn Mowers Sharpened $1. Called for and delivered. Phone 440. 200 N. Second.

Locksmith

KEYS FOR ANY LOCK, safes opened and repaired. 114 Walnut. Day phone 121. Night phone 107-J. C. C. Lindley.

Mattresses Renovated

FURNITURE COVERINGS, MATTRESSES RENOVATED, $1.00.
The Renovator of Mattresses, GRESHAM. Phone 1145.

Notary Public

IRENE SIMMS REID
NOTARY PUBLIC
NEWS-STAR—WORLD OFFICE

Printing

LETTER HEADS, envelopes, ruling and binding. Monroe Printing Co. Jack Boyer, manager. Phone 4300.

Restaurant

PHONE 4994—FRENCH NO. 2
We deliver dinners, sandwiches, cigars, cold drinks. French drip coffee.

Termite Control

FIGHT TERMS NOW—Especially fire ants and other termites. Guaranteed treatment by licensed and bonded operators. K. R. Hill, Phone 1410.

Vulcanizing

NEW AND USED TIRES
Buy and exchange
2008 DeSiard St. Phone 2767.

Welding and Repairing

Machine Working and Repair Shop—113 Hall.
We Buy and Sell Used Cars and Parts.
Phone 1598. Nights 4183.

Classification Index

MONROE NEWS-STAR
— and —
MORNING WORLD
Classified Advertising RATES
PHONE 4800

CLOSING TIME FOR WANT ADS
NEWS-STAR—WORLD OFFICE
MORNING WORLD—WORLD OFFICE
ALL ADS RUN IN
Morning World

News-Star

OR SUNDAY NEWS-STAR—WORLD
1 Time 15¢ per line
2 Times 25¢ per line
3 Times 35¢ per line
4 Times 45¢ per line
5 Times 55¢ per line
6 Times 65¢ per line
7 Times 75¢ per line
8 Times 85¢ per line
9 Times 95¢ per line
10 Times 1.00 per line
11 Times 1.10 per line
12 Times 1.20 per line
13 Times 1.30 per line
14 Times 1.40 per line
15 Times 1.50 per line
16 Times 1.60 per line
17 Times 1.70 per line
18 Times 1.80 per line
19 Times 1.90 per line
20 Times 2.00 per line
21 Times 2.10 per line
22 Times 2.20 per line
23 Times 2.30 per line
24 Times 2.40 per line
25 Times 2.50 per line
26 Times 2.60 per line
27 Times 2.70 per line
28 Times 2.80 per line
29 Times 2.90 per line
30 Times 3.00 per line
31 Times 3.10 per line
32 Times 3.20 per line
33 Times 3.30 per line
34 Times 3.40 per line
35 Times 3.50 per line
36 Times 3.60 per line
37 Times 3.70 per line
38 Times 3.80 per line
39 Times 3.90 per line
40 Times 4.00 per line
41 Times 4.10 per line
42 Times 4.20 per line
43 Times 4.30 per line
44 Times 4.40 per line
45 Times 4.50 per line
46 Times 4.60 per line
47 Times 4.70 per line
48 Times 4.80 per line
49 Times 4.90 per line
50 Times 5.00 per line
51 Times 5.10 per line
52 Times 5.20 per line
53 Times 5.30 per line
54 Times 5.40 per line
55 Times 5.50 per line
56 Times 5.60 per line
57 Times 5.70 per line
58 Times 5.80 per line
59 Times 5.90 per line
60 Times 6.00 per line
61 Times 6.10 per line
62 Times 6.20 per line
63 Times 6.30 per line
64 Times 6.40 per line
65 Times 6.50 per line
66 Times 6.60 per line
67 Times 6.70 per line
68 Times 6.80 per line
69 Times 6.90 per line
70 Times 7.00 per line
71 Times 7.10 per line
72 Times 7.20 per line
73 Times 7.30 per line
74 Times 7.40 per line
75 Times 7.50 per line
76 Times 7.60 per line
77 Times 7.70 per line
78 Times 7.80 per line
79 Times 7.90 per line
80 Times 8.00 per line
81 Times 8.10 per line
82 Times 8.20 per line
83 Times 8.30 per line
84 Times 8.40 per line
85 Times 8.50 per line
86 Times 8.60 per line
87 Times 8.70 per line
88 Times 8.80 per line
89 Times 8.90 per line
90 Times 9.00 per line
91 Times 9.10 per line
92 Times 9.20 per line
93 Times 9.30 per line
94 Times 9.40 per line
95 Times 9.50 per line
96 Times 9.60 per line
97 Times 9.70 per line
98 Times 9.80 per line
99 Times 9.90 per line
100 Times 10.00 per line

MORNING WORLD

1 Time 15¢ per line
2 Times 25¢ per line
3 Times 35¢ per line
4 Times 45¢ per line
5 Times 55¢ per line
6 Times 65¢ per line
7 Times 75¢ per line
8 Times 85¢ per line
9 Times 95¢ per line
10 Times 1.00 per line
11 Times 1.10 per line
12 Times 1.20 per line
13 Times 1.30 per line
14 Times 1.40 per line
15 Times 1.50 per line
16 Times 1.60 per line
17 Times 1.70 per line
18 Times 1.80 per line
19 Times 1.90 per line
20 Times 2.00 per line
21 Times 2.10 per line
22 Times 2.20 per line
23 Times 2.30 per line
24 Times 2.40 per line
25 Times 2.50 per line
26 Times 2.60 per line
27 Times 2.70 per line
28 Times 2.80 per line
29 Times 2.90 per line
30 Times 3.00 per line
31 Times 3.10 per line
32 Times 3.20 per line
33 Times 3.30 per line
34 Times 3.40 per line
35 Times 3.50 per line
36 Times 3.60 per line
37 Times 3.70 per line
38 Times 3.80 per line
39 Times 3.90 per line
40 Times 4.00 per line
41 Times 4.10 per line
42 Times 4.20 per line
43 Times 4.30 per line
44 Times 4.40 per line
45 Times 4.50 per line
46 Times 4.60 per line
47 Times 4.70 per line
48 Times 4.80 per line
49 Times 4.90 per line
50 Times 5.00 per line
51 Times 5.10 per line
52 Times 5.20 per line
53 Times 5.30 per line
54 Times 5.40 per line
55 Times 5.50 per line
56 Times 5.60 per line
57 Times 5.70 per line
58 Times 5.80 per line
59 Times 5.90 per line
60 Times 6.00 per line
61 Times 6.10 per line
62 Times 6.20 per line
63 Times 6.30 per line
64 Times 6.40 per line
65 Times 6.50 per line
66 Times 6.60 per line
67 Times 6.70 per line
68 Times 6.80 per line
69 Times 6.90 per line
70 Times 7.00 per line
71 Times 7.10 per line
72 Times 7.20 per line
73 Times 7.30 per line
74 Times 7.40 per line
75 Times 7.50 per line
76 Times 7.60 per line
77 Times 7.70 per line
78 Times 7.80 per line
79 Times 7.90 per line
80 Times 8.00 per line
81 Times 8.10 per line
82 Times 8.20 per line
83 Times 8.30 per line
84 Times 8.40 per line
85 Times 8.50 per line
86 Times 8.60 per line
87 Times 8.70 per line
88 Times 8.80 per line
89 Times 8.90 per line
90 Times 9.00 per line
91 Times 9.10 per line
92 Times 9.20 per line
93 Times 9.30 per line
94 Times 9.40 per line
95 Times 9.50 per line
96 Times 9.60 per line
97 Times 9.70 per line
98 Times 9.80 per line
99 Times 9.90 per line
100 Times 10.00 per line

ALL ADS RUN IN

Morning World

1 Time 15¢ per line
2 Times 25¢ per line
3 Times 35¢ per line
4 Times 45¢ per line
5 Times 55¢ per line
6 Times 65¢ per line
7 Times 75¢ per line
8 Times 85¢ per line
9 Times 95¢ per line
10 Times 1.00 per line
11 Times 1.10 per line
12 Times 1.20 per line
13 Times 1.30 per line
14 Times 1.40 per line
15 Times 1.50 per line
16 Times 1.60 per line
17 Times 1.70 per line
18 Times 1.80 per line
19 Times 1.90 per line
20 Times 2.00 per line
21 Times 2.10 per line
22 Times 2.20 per line
23 Times 2.30 per line
24 Times 2.40 per line
25 Times 2.50 per line
26 Times 2.60 per line
27 Times 2.70 per line
28 Times 2.80 per line
29 Times 2.90 per line
30 Times 3.00 per line
31 Times 3.10 per line
32 Times 3.20 per line
33 Times 3.30 per line
34 Times 3.40 per line
35 Times 3.50 per line
36 Times 3.60 per line
37 Times 3.70 per line
38 Times 3.80 per line
39 Times 3.90 per line
40 Times 4.00 per line
41 Times 4.10 per line
42 Times 4.20 per line
43 Times 4.30 per line
44 Times 4.40 per line
45 Times 4.50 per line
46 Times 4.60 per line
47 Times 4.70 per line
48 Times 4.80 per line
49 Times 4.90 per line
50 Times 5.00 per line
51 Times 5.10 per line
52 Times 5.20 per line
53 Times 5.30 per line
54 Times 5.40 per line
55 Times 5.50 per line
56 Times 5.60 per line
57 Times 5.70 per line
58 Times 5.80 per line
59 Times 5.90 per line
60 Times 6.00 per line
61 Times 6.10 per line
62 Times 6.20 per line
63 Times 6.30 per line
64 Times 6.40 per line
65 Times 6.50 per line
66 Times 6.60 per line
67 Times 6.70 per line
68 Times 6.80 per line
69 Times 6.90 per line
70 Times 7.00 per line
71 Times 7.10 per line
72 Times 7.20 per line
73 Times 7.30 per line
74 Times 7.40 per line
75 Times 7.50 per line
76 Times 7.60 per line
77 Times 7.70 per line
78 Times 7.80 per line
79 Times 7.90 per line
80 Times 8.00 per line
81 Times 8.10 per line
82 Times 8.20 per line
83 Times 8.30 per line
84 Times 8.40 per line
85 Times 8.50 per line
86 Times 8.60 per line
87 Times 8.70 per line
88 Times 8.80 per line
89 Times 8.90 per line
90 Times 9.00 per line
91 Times 9.10 per line
92 Times 9.20 per line
93 Times 9.30 per line
94 Times 9.40 per line
95 Times 9.50 per line
96 Times 9.60 per line
97 Times 9.70 per line
98 Times 9.80 per line
99 Times 9.90 per line
100 Times 10.00 per line

News-Star

OR SUNDAY NEWS-STAR—WORLD
1 Time 15¢ per line
2 Times 25¢ per line
3 Times 35¢ per line
4 Times 45¢ per line
5 Times 55¢ per line
6 Times 65¢ per line
7 Times 75¢ per line
8 Times 85¢ per line
9 Times 95¢ per line
10 Times 1.00 per line
11 Times 1.10 per line
12 Times 1.20 per line
13 Times 1.30 per line
14 Times 1.40 per line
15 Times 1.50 per line
16 Times 1.60 per line
17 Times 1.70 per line
18 Times 1.80 per line
19 Times 1.90 per line
20 Times 2.00 per line
21 Times 2.10 per line
22 Times 2.20 per line
23 Times 2.30 per line
24 Times 2.40 per line
25 Times 2.50 per line
26 Times 2.60 per line
27 Times 2.70 per line
28 Times 2.80 per line
29 Times 2.90 per line
30 Times 3.00 per line
31 Times 3.10 per line
32 Times 3.20 per line
33 Times 3.30 per line
34 Times 3.40 per line
35 Times 3.50 per line
36 Times 3.60 per line
37 Times 3.70 per line
38 Times 3.80 per line
39 Times 3.90 per line
40 Times 4.00 per line
41 Times 4.10 per line
42 Times 4.20 per line
43 Times 4.30 per line
44 Times 4.40 per line
45 Times 4.50 per line
46 Times 4.60 per line
47 Times 4.70 per line
48 Times 4.80 per line
49 Times 4.90 per line
50 Times 5.00 per line
51 Times 5.10 per line
52 Times 5.20 per line
53 Times 5.30 per line
54 Times 5.40 per line
55 Times 5.50 per line
56 Times 5.60 per line
57 Times 5.70 per line
58 Times 5.80 per line
59 Times 5.90 per line
60 Times 6.00 per line
61 Times 6.10 per line
62 Times 6.20 per line
63 Times 6.30 per line
64 Times 6.40 per line
65 Times 6.50 per line
66 Times 6.60 per line
67 Times 6.70 per line
68 Times 6.80 per line
69 Times 6.90 per line
70 Times 7.00 per line
71 Times 7.10 per line
72 Times 7.20 per line
73 Times 7.30 per line
74 Times 7.40 per line
75 Times 7.50 per line
76 Times 7.60 per line
77 Times 7.70 per line
78 Times 7.80 per line
79 Times 7.90 per line
80 Times 8.00 per line
81 Times 8.10 per line
82 Times 8.20 per line
83 Times 8.30 per line
84 Times 8.40 per line
85 Times 8.50 per line
86 Times 8.60 per line
87 Times 8.70 per line
88 Times 8.80 per line
89 Times 8.90 per line
90 Times 9.00 per line
91 Times 9.10 per line
92 Times 9.20 per line
93 Times 9.30 per line
94 Times 9.40 per line
95 Times 9.50 per line
96 Times 9.60 per line
97 Times 9.70 per line
98 Times 9.80 per line
99 Times 9.90 per line
100 Times 10.00 per line

MORNING WORLD

1 Time 15¢ per line
2 Times 25¢ per line
3 Times 35¢ per line
4 Times 45¢ per line
5 Times 55¢ per line
6 Times 65¢ per line
7 Times 75¢ per line
8 Times 85¢ per line
9 Times 95¢ per line
10 Times 1.00 per line
11 Times 1.10 per line
12 Times 1.20 per line
13 Times 1.30 per line
14 Times 1.40 per line
15 Times 1.50 per line
16 Times 1.60 per line
17 Times 1.70 per line
18 Times 1.80 per line
19 Times 1.90 per line
20 Times 2.00 per line
21 Times 2.10 per line
22 Times 2.20 per line
23 Times 2.30 per line
24 Times 2.40 per line
25 Times 2.50 per line
26 Times 2.60 per line
27 Times 2.70 per line
28 Times 2.80 per line
29 Times 2.90 per line
30 Times 3.00 per line
31 Times 3.10 per line
32 Times 3.20 per line
33 Times 3.30 per line
34 Times 3.40 per line
35 Times 3.50 per line
36 Times 3.60 per line
37 Times 3.70 per line
38 Times 3.80 per line
39 Times 3.90 per line
40 Times 4.00 per line
41 Times 4.10 per line
42 Times 4.20 per line
43 Times 4.30 per line
44 Times 4.40 per line
45 Times 4.50 per line
46 Times 4.60 per line
47 Times 4.70 per line
48 Times 4.80 per line
49 Times 4.90 per line
50 Times 5.00 per line
51 Times 5.10 per line
52 Times 5.20 per line
53 Times 5.30 per line
54 Times 5.40 per line
55 Times 5.50 per line
56 Times 5.60 per line
57 Times 5.70 per line
58 Times 5.80 per line
59 Times 5.90 per line
60 Times 6.00 per line
61 Times 6.10 per line
62 Times 6.20 per line
63 Times 6.30 per line
64 Times 6.40 per line
65 Times 6.50 per line
66 Times 6.60 per line
67 Times 6.70 per line
68 Times 6.80 per line
69 Times 6.90 per line
70 Times 7.00 per line
71 Times 7.10 per line
72 Times 7.20 per line
73 Times 7.30 per line
74 Times 7.40 per line
75 Times 7.50 per line
76 Times 7.60 per line
77 Times 7.70 per line
78 Times 7.80 per line
79 Times 7.90 per line
80 Times 8.00 per line
81 Times 8.10 per line
82 Times 8.20 per line
83 Times 8.30 per line
84 Times 8.40 per line
85 Times 8.50 per line
86 Times 8.60 per line
87 Times 8.70 per line
88 Times 8.80 per line
89 Times 8.90 per line
90 Times 9.00 per line
91 Times 9.10 per line
92 Times 9.20 per line
93 Times 9.30 per line
94 Times 9.40 per line
95 Times 9.50 per line
96 Times 9.60 per line
97 Times 9.70 per line
98 Times 9.80 per line
99 Times 9.90 per line
100 Times 10.00 per line

ALL ADS RUN IN

Morning World

1 Time 15¢ per line
2 Times 25¢ per line
3 Times 35¢ per line
4 Times 45¢ per line
5 Times 55¢ per line
6 Times 65¢ per line
7 Times 75¢ per line
8 Times 85¢ per line
9 Times 95¢ per line
10 Times 1.00 per line
11 Times 1.10 per line
12 Times 1.20 per line
13 Times 1.30 per line
14 Times 1.40 per line
15 Times 1.50 per line
16 Times 1.60 per line
17 Times 1.70 per line
18 Times 1.80 per line
19 Times 1.90 per line
20 Times 2.00 per line
21 Times 2.10 per line
22 Times 2.20 per line
23 Times 2.30 per line
24 Times 2.40 per line
25 Times 2.50 per line
26 Times 2.60 per line
27 Times 2.70 per line
28 Times 2.80 per line
29 Times 2.90 per line
30 Times 3.00 per line
31 Times 3.10 per line
32 Times 3.20 per line
33 Times 3.30 per line
34 Times 3.40 per line
35 Times 3.50 per line
36 Times 3.60 per line
37 Times 3.70 per line
38 Times 3.80 per line
39 Times 3.90 per line
40 Times 4.00 per line
41 Times 4.10 per line
42 Times 4.20 per line
43 Times 4.30 per line
44 Times 4.40 per line
45 Times 4.50 per line
46 Times 4.60 per line
47 Times 4.70 per line
48 Times 4.80 per line
49 Times 4.90 per line
50 Times 5.00 per line
51 Times 5.10 per line
52 Times 5.20 per line
53 Times 5.30 per line
54 Times 5.40 per line
55 Times 5.50 per line
56 Times 5.60 per line
57 Times 5.70 per line
58 Times 5.80 per line
59 Times 5.90 per line
60 Times 6.00 per line
61 Times 6.10 per line
62 Times 6.20 per line
63 Times 6.30 per line
64 Times 6.40 per line
65 Times 6.50 per line
66 Times 6.60 per line
67 Times 6.70 per line
68 Times 6.80 per line
69 Times 6.90 per line
70 Times 7.00 per line
71 Times 7.10 per line
72 Times 7.20 per line
73 Times 7.30 per line
74 Times 7.40 per line
75 Times 7.50 per line
76 Times 7.60 per line
77 Times 7.70 per line
78 Times 7.80 per line
79 Times 7.90 per line
80 Times 8.00 per line
81 Times 8.10 per line
82 Times 8.20

Phone 4800

CLASSIFIED SECTION

Phone 4800

Gems of Peril

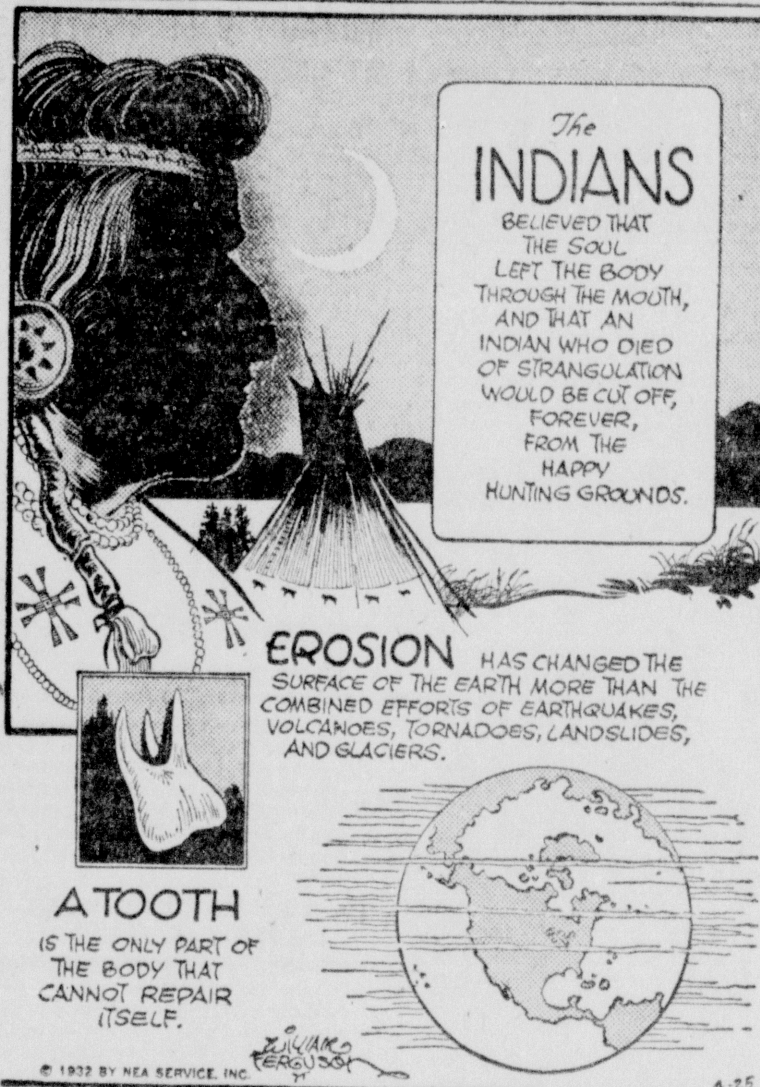

by HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

Classified Business Directory

Service by Experts

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lost, Found, Strayed 2

THE LOSERS' SERVICE BUREAU

TO FINDERS
If you have found a dog, purse, jewelry, fur or any other article that is not advertised in today's News-Star, or Morning World, please call at the Losers' Service Bureau. This service is provided without additional cost to our advertisers and facilitates the recovery of lost articles.

TO LOERS
When you advertise a lost article of any kind in the News-Star and Morning World your advertisement will receive the benefit of free listing in our Losers' Service Bureau. This service is provided without additional cost to our advertisers and facilitates the recovery of lost articles.

CONTRACTORS

Carpenters, Contractors 9
WANTED — Carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, electricians, millmen for painting, etc. Also experienced men for carpenters, bakers, meat parlors, laundries, etc. Write to J. R. Watkins, 607 Kentucky St., Memphis, Tenn.

EMPLOYMENT

Agents, Salesmen 14
SALESMEN — Sell uniforms, covers, etc. Give age, education, experience in first letter. Compton Co., 1009 N. Dearborn, Chicago.

Female Help Wanted 15

WOMEN TEACHERS WANTED for vacation work. Expenses guaranteed. Give age, education, experience in first letter. Compton Co., 1009 N. Dearborn, Chicago.

Male Help Wanted 16

ENGINEERING SALESMEN who have followed these columns have seen our advertisement for a position of sales representative for a large engineering firm. We are now looking for a man who can develop into a consultant with an international prominence, water treatment company. Full details necessary for consideration. Box 107, 307 West 38th St., N. Y.

Special Notices 3

EXPERT REPAIRING — Fans and all electrical appliances. Reasonable. Phone 2353-W.

EXPERT FURNITURE REPAIR, upholstery, lowest prices. Work guaranteed. Picture framing. Phone Mr. Goss, 1937.

BUSINESS SERVICES

Dressmaking, Sewing 4
HEMSTITCHING — Silk, blue, etc.; mended, 66 per yd. 401 Wood; Phone 1235.

Miscellaneous 6

MEN'S IMPROVED ROSE — Rayon, rayon, 22 pairs $1.00, postpaid, satisfaction guaranteed. Economy Hosiery Co., Ashboro, N. C.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
Line	Arrive	Depart	Time
EAST BOUND
No. 208 — Fast	9:17 am	9:22 am
No. 209 — Fast	9:30 am	9:35 am
WEST BOUND
No. 208 — Fast	8:35 am	8:40 am
No. 209 — Fast	8:48 am	8:53 am

SITUATIONS WANTED 17

LADY WANTS WORK — HOUSEKEEPING OR ANY OTHER WORK. CONSIDERED APPLY 804 ALABAMA OR WRITE "M. M." 209 PLUM STREET.

MISCELLANEOUS

Household Goods 18
FOR SALE — Beds complete $3.50 and $5. Dressers $5. Wardrobe $4.50. Gas Range, table, 2 linoleum rugs. 211 South Fifth.

Office, Store Fixtures 21

FOR SALE — $750 CASH REGISTER AT BARGAIN MUST BE QUICK SALE. APPLY WOMAN'S SHOP, 418 P. M.

MISCELLANEOUS

Chicks 23-A
DRUMM'S SUMMER PRICES C. O. D. Officially blood tested. Three qualities. Per 100: Leghorns, Junior $1.50; Sovereigns $2.00; Select $1.80; Rocks, Reds, Wyandots, $2.50; Set Tuesday, Bassett Hatchery, Basile, La.

Livestock for Sale 25

FOR SALE OR TRADE — Fresh Jersey cows. Consider beef on trade. 7 miles on Highway 165, At Mid-Way Camp, turn East, first house on left across R. R. tracks, L. N. Robin.

Seeds and Plants 26

LOW LESPEDZA NOW — Dodder-free seed. Common, $4.50; Korean, $5.00; Kona, $7.00 per 100 lbs. Loretta beans, $1.00; Whippoorwill peas, 75c per bu. Prices f.o.b. Halls, Tenn. Prompt shipment. Farmers' Implement and Seed Co.

Wanted to Purchase 28

WANTED TO BUY — Second hand hot plate and toaster. Phone 4017-J.

FINANCIAL

Investments 30
WILL TRADE my equity in furnished home at 3400 Gordon avenue for car or diamond. Write Box 43, Collinston, La.

RENTALS

Apartments for Rent 32
FOR RENT — Furnished living room, bedroom, kitchenette. Private entrance. $25 mo. Bill paid. 208 Arkansas.

Automobiles for Sale 47

1927 DODGE coupe, $50 cash. Personal Finance Co. Phone 3134.

RENTALS

Business Purposes 35
SEVERAL NICE offices for rent; prices recently adjusted. Lights, gas and janitor service furnished. See Sales, Kustin Bldg. Phone 461.

Houses for Rent 36

FOR RENT — Six-room house. Breakfast room, hardwood floors, built-in features. Close in. West Monroe. Also two furnished rooms. Phone I. F. Shaw.

Light Housekeeping 37

FOR RENT — Two light housekeeping rooms. $17 month. 508 South Fourth.

Wanted to Rent 39

WANTED — Three or four-room furnished apartment or small furnished house. Desirable neighborhood. Phone 1576-J.

AUTOMOBILES

Automobiles for Sale 47
1927 DODGE coupe, $50 cash. Personal Finance Co. Phone 3134.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1927 FORD ROADSTER
$295 — A real bargain. Better see it today. — Easy terms.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PICKUP
Truck
With closed cab. Must be sold this week.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1928 HUDSON SEDAN
Can be bought for small payment and monthly notes $24.25.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

AUTOMOBILES

Automobiles for Sale 47
1927 DODGE coupe, $50 cash. Personal Finance Co. Phone 3134.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1927 FORD ROADSTER
$295 — A real bargain. Better see it today. — Easy terms.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PICKUP
Truck
With closed cab. Must be sold this week.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1928 HUDSON SEDAN
Can be bought for small payment and monthly notes $24.25.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD TUDOR
$50 down. — Monthly notes $24.70.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1929 FORD PHAETON
$165 — $45 down. — Monthly notes $15.60. New tires, new paint, motor overhauled.

REPOSSESSED AUTOMOBILES

1931 FORD ROADSTER
$165 — New paint; motor thoroughly overhauled. $45 down. — Small notes.

CHAPTER VIII
Mary mastered a wild desire to shout at her future mother-in-law. Could nothing crack that magnificent self-assurance? But perhaps Mrs. Ruyter hadn't known how important the matter was.

When she finally got through to Dirk, Mary could hear him growling sleepily: "What time is it? Three-thirty? Oh, damn it, why wasn't I called? Mary? Listen. Get a cab and go to the corner of Third avenue and — street. The northwest corner. Eddie will meet you there at four. You've half an hour, but you may make it if you hurry. Got it? All right, run. I'll come as fast as I can."

She turned from the instrument, her thoughts twirling. Gloves, bag — she must have money for the cab. Had she enough? Better call Tom. But Tom had been up all night and had just turned in for a little sleep. The other chauffeur alternated in the role of gardener's helper and was out on the lawn somewhere in dunes.

Better get a taxi. Bowen was waiting for an answer to his request that he be allowed to go with her to meet her brother, but Mary motioned him away absently.

"I can't talk to you now," she said hurriedly and went out. The newspaperman hesitated but there was nothing to do but leave so he followed. Under the portico stood a ramshackle car which Mary, in desperation, was eyeing speculatively. Empty taxicabs don't ply the Long Island by-roads. She'd have to call up the village, and precious seconds were ticking away.

Bowen, observing her dilemma, advanced toward the car, opened the door and paused with a foot on the running-board.

"I'll take you wherever you're going," he offered. "No fooling," he offered. "No fooling. I won't follow you — I'll take you there and run. I've got an edition to catch anyway."

There was no choice. She must hurry or run the chance of missing Eddie. She got in swiftly and they went roaring off toward town at a gratifying rapid pace. Bowen was mercifully silent, devoting himself to getting the last ounce of speed out of his decrepit car, and once they were in town, to warming it swiftly through the heavy late-afternoon traffic.

A block before they had reached the corner Dirk designated, she asked him to put her down. To make up for her obvious lack of trust she thanked him warmly.

"If I do have anything to give the newspapers I'll tell you first," she promised and gave him her hand. Bowen, fishing for a cigarette and watching the slim figure hurry off, was the victim of mixed emotions. Well, he had said he wouldn't follow, but he could have kicked himself for making the promise. He was getting to be a sofie, letting a pair of heavily-fringed eyes and an artless look sweep him from the line of duty.

Bowen had seen girls who wore that look of dewy innocence before, in his travels about New York. Later he had discovered to his sorrow that they were "harder cookies" than himself, which was saying a good deal. At least they profited a great deal more from their endeavors than he did from his. From long observation on the New York scene, he had learned that the good, the true and the beautiful are not always what they seem. Yet he was dead sure that Mary Harkness was real. How he knew it, he could not say.

It was a crime to let her get away. She had promised him the story though, so he wasn't cheating the paper, he reflected uneasily. But long experience with such promises had taught him to suspect their worth. Also, she'd probably call up some day and tell him her dog was lost and consider she's given him a sensational story. Most people, and particularly idea what the newspaper business women, he reflected bitterly, had no was all about.

Well — if he didn't find a telephone pretty quick he wouldn't make the final with the story he did have. He chugged along to the corner, looking for a drug store. There was one across the street.

He had to stand and wait outside the only telephone booth the store afforded. Cursing under his breath, he paced back and forth before its closed glass door. His impatience mounted rapidly as he waited. Just standing with his elbow on the shelf, holding the receiver at his ear. Now and then he jiggled the hook. It was maddening. If he couldn't get his number, why didn't the fool hang up?

Bowen's vicious glances presently had their effect or the young man tired of waiting, for soon, choosing a time when the fuming Bowen was glaring into the depths of a cigar counter, he opened the door of the booth and slipped out.

Bowen caught only a frightened glance as the boy hurried out. A fat woman who had just come in oozed into the booth, and the reporter gave her a dirty look and set out to find another drug store. Outside he looked about. The boy who had been in the booth stood in the shelter of the doorway, now and then peering furtively out.

Just then Bowen's eye fell on Mary Harkness standing on the opposite corner, looking anxiously about. Bowen stared appreciatively. What a prize subject she would be for the photographers if it turned out that she WAS what he feared she was — a smart little gold-digger too smart to look the part. There would be pictures of her standing, sitting, with legs crossed, and looking through the bars, probably. Hard luck! Why did the mere thought of Mary Harkness tossed in with the rest of the rabble in police courts make him sick? Little girls with itching palms and "stick-up" friends put themselves in the way of such treatment when they set out to get rich-quick. But the reflection was no comfort to him.

The firms and individuals represented in this column are ready to serve you every need. Each is an expert in the particular service of which it makes a specialty. You will find them all courteous, reliable and efficient. Use this handy guide to the professional and business services they offer.

Automobiles

RENOIT NASH MOTOR CO.
General Repairs, Sales and Service.
Gas and Oil 200 Hall Phone 2339.

Beauty School

Enroll Now for Summer Course of Beauty Culture. Earn While Learning.
MONROE BEAUTY SCHOOL
215 HARRISON STREET

Commercial Refrigeration

Expert Service On Any Type Machine. Sure Cold Refrigerating Co.
PHONE 4307

Drug Store

Phone — North Side Pharmacy — 4500
Drugs — Sundries — Soda
We Deliver — Phone 4504

Glass

BAILEY GLASS CO. — "Everything in Glass." Windshields, mirrors, picture framing, resins, 700 Grand. Phone 36

Lawn Mowers — Bicycles

A. KELLER & SON
Lawn Mowers Sharpened $1. Called for and delivered. Phone 840. 200 N. Second.

Locksmith

KEYS FOR any lock, safes opened and repaired. 114 Walnut. Day phone 121. Night phone 107-J. C. C. Lindley.

Mattresses Renovated

FURNITURE COVERINGS, MATTRESSES RENOVATED, $1.00.
The Originator of Renovation.
GRESHAM. PHONE 1145.

Notary Public

IRENE SUMMERS REID
NOTARY PUBLIC
NEWS-STAR — WORLD OFFICE

Printing

LETTER HEADS, envelopes, ruling and binding. Monroe Printing Co. Jack Boyer. Manager. Phone 4800.

Restaurant

PHONE 4984 — FRENCH NO. 2
We deliver dinners, sandwiches, cigars, cold drinks, French drip coffee.

Termite Control

FIGHT PESTS NOW — Especially fly ants and silver fish. Guaranteed treatment by licensed and bonded operators. K. R. Hill. Phone 1430.

Vulcanizing

FREE

A & W Root Beer

One Free

with every Sandwich purchased during the balance of April.

Remember

all our 26 employees are well paid and no tipping is required or expected.

FREE

A & W ROOT BEER

One Free With Every Sandwich Purchased This Month.

All employees have health certificates. All dishes, glasses and cooking utensils are sterilized. We have the most modernly equipped sandwich shop in the South. Visit our kitchen any time and be convinced. All foods handled and served by white help only.

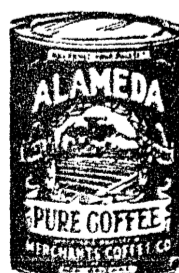

A & W MALTED MILKS

10c

Why Pay More?

Try our PROSPERITY SPECIAL Orange Juice—Ham or Bacon—Two Eggs—Buttered Toast and Gravy—Coffee, Tea, Butter-milk, Hot Chocolate or Root Beer—Served in Hours Daily

25c

Alameda Coffee

Served with pure 20% Cream. Try a cup.

A & W Sandwich Shop

I. W. ALLEN, Owner

Follow the crowds and you will know why we are the busiest place in town.

HUNT CONTINUES FOR LINDY'S BABY

Veil of Secrecy Is Still Maintained; Capone Offer Flayed

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 23 (AP)—Behind the veil of secrecy long since cast about the case, efforts to effect the return of kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., continued today.

John Hughes Curtis, the Norfolk, Va., shipbuilder who has worked for weeks to bring the child back to the Soutland mountain home here, disappeared for parts unknown. He had returned but a few hours earlier from an extended absence, the nature of which he declined to divulge.

One of his two associates, the very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, disclosed he had been absent for several hours on an airplane flight early in the morning. Dean Dobson-Peacock returned with Mr. Curtis last night. He said he made the flight accompanied only by a pilot and that they returned "in time for breakfast."

A naval plane, in which he was believed to have flown, was absent from the Norfolk naval air station from 2:30 to 7 a.m.

Simultaneously with Curtis' departure, the yacht Macon, which had been connected with his activities in the Lindbergh case, sailed from Norfolk. Col. Charles H. Consovo, its owner, disclaimed information concerning its use but asserted the Norfolk intermediaries have authority to do "what ever they want to do with the yacht."

Meanwhile, at Washington, Senator Hiram Bingham, (R. Conn.) declared the fact that Al Capone twice has offered to find the Lindbergh baby if released from custody, lends support to a belief the kidnaping "has been done by friends of Capone for this very purpose."

He based his opinion on the renewed offer of Capone to effect the return of the baby if Col. Lindbergh would obtain for him a temporary absence from his prison cell. Capone at Chicago denied making such an offer but reiterated his statement of weeks ago that he would do everything he could to restore the child to his parents if he were liberated.

STUDENTS NAMES FOR RALLY GIVEN

Will Represent Ouachita Parish High at Baton Rouge Event

Names of Ouachita parish high school students who will participate in the annual state high school rally at Baton Rouge next Friday and Saturday were announced yesterday. The students are as follows:

Ruth Murphy, first year algebra; Mary Mulhern, second year algebra; Fred Workman, civic biology; Margaret Easterling, chemistry; Elaine Reister, civics; Annie Williams, eighth grade home economics; Cleo Chambers, commercial geography; Oliver Ross, boys' debating; Sarah Talbert, girls' debating; Robert Faulk, declamation for boys; Sybil Thompson, declamation for girls; Dorothy Thompson, English literature; Alice Daimwood, English pronunciation; Mae Truett, food and nutrition; Edna Arnold, first year French; Estelle Hudson, second year French; Eugene McNabb, general science; Ardelle Johnson, plane geometry; Edward Reeves, American history; Rosa Rutledge, general history.

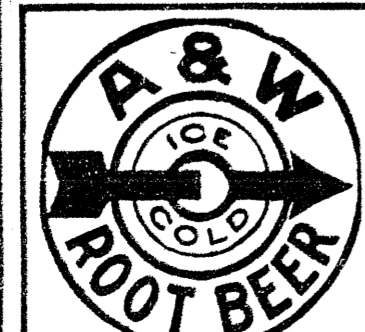

Clara Belle Kennedy, home management; Billie Black, impromptu speaking; Robert Faulk, interpretative reading; Charles Davis, interpretative reading; (girls); Dawson Kennedy, Latin, first year; Avonia Gerola, Latin, second year; Brownlow Hastings, physics; Weldon Pettit, spelling; Mamie Skipper, first year shorthand; Sara Minnie Bagland, second year shorthand; Fannie Moore Carter, typewriting.

Boys' quartet—Tom Downs, Louis Monroe, John Frantom, Brooks Owen. Girls' quartet—Hazel Bowlin, Sara Mae Adams, Lucille Smith, Dorothy Kizer.

Mixed quartet—Tom Downs, John Frantom, Hazel Bowlin, Lucille Smith. Baseball—James Hollingsworth, Amos Franklin, Sam Phelan, Frank Houston, Brooks Owen, Clifford Johnson, Nelson Elard, Harry Soren, Holston Gary, Bill Black, Pete Rabbury, Elmer Hunter, Milton Butler, Tennis—Gladys—Hollis Venable, Tennis—Gladys—Hollis Venable, Roy Hall.

High and low hurdles—Brooks Owen.

Joe Curran of Flint, Mich., veteran soccer player, has returned to England.

J. VERNON STANGER

Director of Shreveport Symphony orchestra, which will appear here May 2.

COLORED ORATOR WILL SPEAK HERE

Mass Meeting Will Be Held at Negro High School Here May 5

Announcement is made by C. H. Myers, president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that Dean William Pickins, field secretary, will address a public mass meeting May 5 at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Monroe colored high school. Both white and colored are invited to attend.

Dean Pickins is said to be an orator of outstanding ability of his race. He has addressed many universities in the west and in California, especially at the University of California where students and professors of many races attended and are said to have been highly instructed.

Dean Pickins is a graduate of Yale university and was honored with membership in the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, which is based solely on scholarship. He was a former professor of Greek and sociology in Wiley university and is author of a number of textbooks.

Following the program at the colored high school here, there will be a reception given at the Miller-Ray auditorium. The arrangements for the mass meeting are in charge of the following committee: C. H. Myers, Dr. A. M. Mackel, W. M. Sherman, S. Pierce, J. L. Hardy, W. M. Holt, while the plans for the reception are being carried out by Dr. O. V. Cooper, Dr. J. C. Ray and H. H. Marbles.

WHITE'S FERRY HIGHWAY IS NOW NEARLY COMPLETED

White's Ferry road is now nearly completed from West Monroe to Bayou D'Arbonne and it will be thrown open to traffic soon. R. P. Benson had this contract originally but it was sublet and later on Herman McGuire took over the work and now has it virtually completed. The routing of the old highway is slightly changed.

A bridge is proposed for erection later in the year along this route.

LEWIS FUNERAL HELD

The funeral of George W. Lewis, 54, was held at the Baptist church in Jonesboro, yesterday morning. Interment was made in the cemetery in that town. He is survived by his widow and four children who are: Mrs. Leslie Roberts, Crowley; Mrs. B. B. Bass, Jonesboro; A. D. Lewis, Shreveport and Stanley Lewis, Jonesboro.

BUSINESS SEEMS TO BE UPON MEND

Report on Industry and Agriculture for Month of March Is Given

That business is on the mend, is shown by the reports of industry and agriculture for the month of March as prepared by Charles W. Swallow, of Shreveport, state director of the Louisiana employment bureau.

He shows for Monroe as follows:

"MONROE.—Industrial activities in this locality were described as materially improved. One paper mill resumed operations, employing their regular force of approximately 520 men. Most of the plants, including printing establishments and transportation lines, reported close to normal schedules. Production in the carbon black industry remained below normal, with reduced forces employed. The volume of municipal improvements, highway and bridge construction increased compared with February. Building included residences and remodeling work providing part-time employment for a number of men, with the supply in excess of the demand."

MILITARY BALL SWATTERS AT CAMPS TO WIN PRIZES

Outstanding baseball players at each of the 51 Citizens Military Training camps will receive a prize baseball and bat, it was announced yesterday by the headquarters of the fourth corps area, Atlanta, Ga.

The balls and bats will be autographed by Babe Ruth, "king of the swing." It was announced. The balls are donated annually by Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, and the bats are given by a firm at Louisville, Ky.

Suspension of the sentence imposed on Alex Brown was denied by federal court here yesterday. Brown was involved in the Gueydan liquor conspiracy. Judge Ben C. Dawkins ruled that the man must serve the term originally imposed.

In arguing the motion, Brown's counsel from New Orleans stated his client was 45 years of age and had never been involved in previous

SUSPENSION OF SENTENCE IS DENIED TO ALEX BROWN

When the motion for suspension was denied, Brown's counsel asked that the place of incarceration be changed to Leavenworth, which was granted.

COLORED CANDIDATES
The Monroe colored high school has four girls who are candidates for the honor of "May Queen." Votes can be cast at the colored high school for Mary Cann, grade 9; Laura Hunter, grade 8; Monteal Myles, grade 10; or Juanita Antone, grade 11.

troubles and that he had a family to support.

When the motion for suspension was denied, Brown's counsel asked that the place of incarceration be changed to Leavenworth, which was granted.

COLORED CANDIDATES
The Monroe colored high school has four girls who are candidates for the honor of "May Queen." Votes can be cast at the colored high school for Mary Cann, grade 9; Laura Hunter, grade 8; Monteal Myles, grade 10; or Juanita Antone, grade 11.

WEATHER-PROOF MOVING VAN INSURED

MONROE TRANSFER & WAREHOUSE COMPANY, INC.
780
Proper trucks for handling all classes freight and merchandise.

The TIRE That Taught THRIFT To MILLIONS!

Extra Values
GUM-DIPPED CORDS

The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA CORD PLYS
UNDER THE TREAD

This is a patented construction, and the two extra cord plys are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and tests show 26% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

NON-SKID TREAD

Tough, live rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Scientifically designed non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

COMPARE • CONSTRUCTION • QUALITY • PRICE
4.40-21
$3.52	Each
WHEN BOUGHT IN PAIRS
Firestone
COURIER TYPE
SIZE	Our Cash Price Each	Special Brand Mail Order Price Each	Our Cash Price Per Pair
4.40-21.....	$3.63	$3.63	$7.04
4.50-21.....	3.98	3.98	7.74
50x3 1/2 Clin.	3.57	3.57	6.92
Firestone
SENTINEL TYPE
SIZE	Our Cash Price Each	Special Brand Mail Order Price Each	Our Cash Price Per Pair
4.40-21.....	$3.95	$3.95	$7.66
4.50-21.....	4.37	4.37	8.46
4.75-20.....	5.20	5.20	10.08
5.00-19.....	5.39	5.39	10.46
5.25-21.....	6.63	6.63	12.86
Other Sizes Proportionately Low

Listen to the "VOICE of FIRESTONE" every Monday Night over N. B. C. nationwide network

CIRCLE S OIL CO., NO. 1

401 DeSiard Street Phone 55

CIRCLE S OIL CO., NO. 2

1516 DeSiard Street Phone 162

Drive In And Equip Your Car Today

Outstanding Features

- 74 HORSEPOWER 6-CYLINDER ENGINE
- STRAIGHT 8 ENGINE
- LONGER WHEELBASE
- STREAMLINE STYLING
- ROOMIER AND MORE COMFORTABLE FISHER BODIES
- SOUND-PROOFED BODY CONSTRUCTION
- RIDE REGULATOR AND DOUBLE-ACTION HYDRAULIC SHOCK ABSORBERS
- FREE WHEELING AND THE SYNCHRO-MESH TRANSMISSION
- SILENT SECOND GEAR
- ENGINE DECARBONIZER
- FULL AUTOMATIC CHOKE
- OIL TEMPERATURE REGULATOR
- PRESSURE-LUBRICATED PISTON PINS
- DOWN-DRAFT CARBURETION

THE SIX $875
THE EIGHT $975
Prices Two-Door Sedans
L. A. B. Lining
Liberal GMAC
Time Payment Plan
Products of General Motors

More People are praising their value
Every Day!

TWIN CITY MOTOR COMPANY, Inc.
412 Walnut Street Telephone 2588

OLDSMOBILE 6 and 8

Perfect Summer Reception

Ten-tube superheterodyne receiver for both long and short wave signals. Cabinet of matched Butt Walnut. An outstanding receiver with true Fada tone quality.

The New FADA "66"

Short and Long Wave Radio

The new Fada 66 is two radio sets in one chassis and one cabinet. First, of course, a fine radio to receive regular broadcasts, entertainment from American stations with all the tone quality and performance for which Fada is famous. Then, plus all this, the new thrill of short wave reception. Short wave is particularly adapted to summer and daytime reception, affording static-free programs at all times—even when uninterrupted long wave reception is impossible. See this marvelous new radio at this store—or better still—hear it in your home! You will incur no obligation.

Complete With Tubes

$99.50

Easy Terms—No Interest

Phone 3900 for a Demonstration

MONROE FURNITURE CO., LTD.

FREE

A & W
Root Beer

One Free
with every Sandwich purchased during the balance of April.

Remember
all our 26 employees are well paid and no tipping is required or expected.

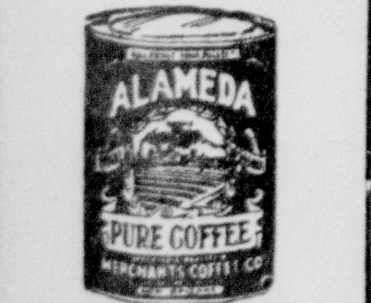

FREE
A & W ROOT BEER
One Free With Every Sandwich Purchased This Month.

All employees have health certificates. All dishes, glasses and cooking utensils are sterilized. We have the most modernly equipped sandwich shop in the South. Visit our kitchen any time and be convinced. All foods handled and served by white help only.

A & W
MALTED MILKS
10c

Why Pay More?
Try our PROSPERITY SPECIAL Orange Juice—Ham or Bacon—Two Eggs—Buttered Toast and Grits—Coffee, Tea, Buttermilk, Hot Chocolate or Root Beer—Served 18 Hours Daily

Alameda Coffee
Served with pure 20% Cream. Try a cup.

A & W
Sandwich Shop
I. W. ALLEN, Owner

Follow the crowds and you will know why we are the busiest place in town.

HUNT CONTINUES FOR LINDY'S BABY

Veil of Secrecy Is Still Maintained; Capone Offer Flayed

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 23 (AP)—Behind the veil of secrecy long since cast about the case, efforts to effect the return of kidnapped Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., continued today.

John Hughes Curtis, the Norfolk, Va., shipbuilder who has worked for weeks to bring the child back to the Sourland mountain home here, disappeared for parts unknown. He had returned but a few hours earlier from an extended absence, the nature of which he declined to divulge.

One of his two associates, the very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, disclosed he had been absent for several hours on an airplane flight early in the morning. Dean Dobson-Peacock returned with Mr. Curtis last night. He said he made the flight accompanied only by a pilot and that they returned "in time for breakfast."

A naval plane, in which he was believed to have flown, was absent from the Norfolk naval air station from 3:30 to 7 a.m.

Simultaneously with Curtis' departure, the yacht Macon, which had been connected with his activities in the Lindbergh case, sailed from Norfolk. Col. Charles H. Consovo, its owner, disclaimed information concerning its use but asserted the Norfolk intermediaries have authority to do "whatever they want to do with the yacht."

Meanwhile, at Washington, Senator Hiram Bingham, (R. Conn.) declared the fact that Al Capone twice has offered to find the Lindbergh baby if released from custody, lends support to a belief the kidnapping "has been done by friends of Capone for this very purpose."

He based his opinion on the renewed offer of Capone to effect the return of the baby if Col. Lindbergh would obtain for him a temporary absence from his prison cell. Capone at Chicago denied making such an offer but reiterated his statement of weeks ago that he would do everything he could to restore the child to his parents if he were liberated.

STUDENTS NAMES FOR RALLY GIVEN

Will Represent Ouachita Parish High at Baton Rouge Event

Names of Ouachita parish high school students who will participate in the annual state high school rally at Baton Rouge next Friday and Saturday were announced yesterday. The students are as follows:

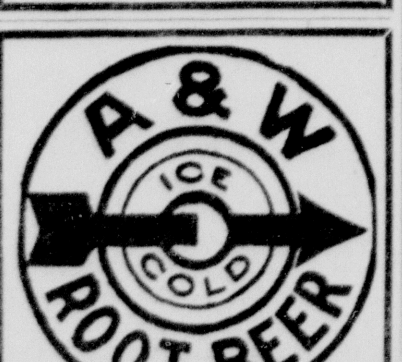

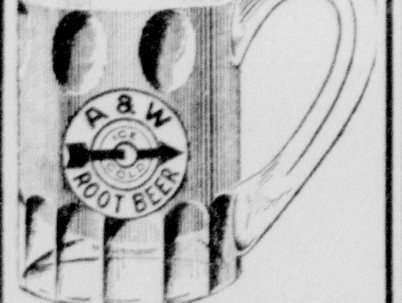

Ruth Murphy, first year algebra; Mary Mulhern, second year algebra; Fred Workman, civic biology; Margaret Easterling, chemistry; Elaine Rester, civics; Annie Williams, eighth grade home economics; Cleo Chambers, commercial geography; Oliver Boy, boys' debating; Sarah Talbert, girls' debating; Robert Faulk, declamation for boys; Sybil Thompson, declamation for girls; Dorothy Flanagan, English literature; Alice Daimwood, English pronunciation; Mae Truett, food and nutrition; Edna Arnold, first year French; Estelle Hudson, second year French; Eugene McNabb, general science; Ardelle Johnson, plane geometry; Edward Reeves, American history; Rosa Rutledge, general history.

Clara Belle Kennedy, home management; Billie Black, impromptu speaking; Robert Faulk, interpretative reading (boys); Clarissa Davis, interpretative reading (girls); Dawson Kennedy, Latin, first year; Avonia Gerald, Latin, second year; Brownlow Hastings, physics; Weldon Pettit, spelling; Marie Skipper, first year shorthand; Sara Minnie Ragland, second year shorthand; Fannie Moore Carter, typewriting.

Boys' quartet—Tom Downs, Louis Monroe, John Frantom, Brooks Owen. Girls' quartet—Hazel Bowlin, Sara Mae Adams, Lucille Smith, Dorothy Kizer.

Mixed quartet—Tom Downs, John Frantom, Hazel Bowlin, Lucille Smith. Baseball.—James Hollingsworth, Amos Franklin, Sam Ebert, Frank Hornton, Brooks Owen, Clifford Johnson, Nelson Bland, Harry Stron, Holstun Gantt, Billie Black, Pete Rasbury, Fluitt Hundley, Milton Butler.

Tennis (singles)—Hollis Venable, Roy Hale.
High and low hurdles, Brooks Owen.

J. VERNON STANGER

Director of Shreveport Symphony orchestra, which will appear here May 2.

COLORED ORATOR WILL SPEAK HERE

Mass Meeting Will Be Held at Negro High School Here May 5

Announcement is made by C. H. Myers, president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that Dean William Piekins, field secretary, will address a public mass meeting May 5 at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Monroe colored high school. Both white and colored are invited to attend.

Dean Piekins is said to be an orator of outstanding ability of his race. He has addressed many universities in the west and in California, especially at the University of California where students and professors of many races attended and are said to have been highly instructed.

Dean Piekins is a graduate of Yale university and was honored with membership in the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, which is based solely on scholarship. He was a former professor of Greek and sociology in Wiley university and is author of a number of textbooks.

Following the program at the colored high school here, there will be a reception given at the Miller-Ray auditorium. The arrangements for the mass meeting are in charge of the following committee: C. H. Myers, Dr. A. M. Mackel, W. M. Sherman, S. Pierce, J. L. Hardy, W. M. Holt, while the plans for the reception are being carried out by Dr. O. V. Cooper, Dr. J. C. Ray and H. H. Marbles.

WHITE'S FERRY HIGHWAY IS NOW NEARLY COMPLETED

White's Ferry road is now nearly completed from West Monroe to Bayou D'Arbonne and it will be thrown open to traffic soon. R. P. Benson had this contract originally but it was sublet and later on Herman McGuire took over the work and now has it virtually completed. The routing of the old highway is slightly changed.

A bridge is proposed for erection later in the year along this route.

LEWIS FUNERAL HELD
The funeral of George W. Lewis, 84, was held at the Baptist church in Jonesboro, yesterday morning. Interment was made in the cemetery in that town. He is survived by his widow and four children who are: Mrs. Leslie Roberts, Crowley; Mrs. B. B. Bass, Jonesboro; A. D. Lewis, Shreveport and Stanley Lewis, Jonesboro.

BUSINESS SEEMS TO BE UPON MEND

Report on Industry and Agriculture for Month of March Is Given

That business is on the mend, is shown by the reports of industry and agriculture for the month of March as prepared by Charles W. Swallow, of Shreveport, state director of the Louisiana employment bureau.

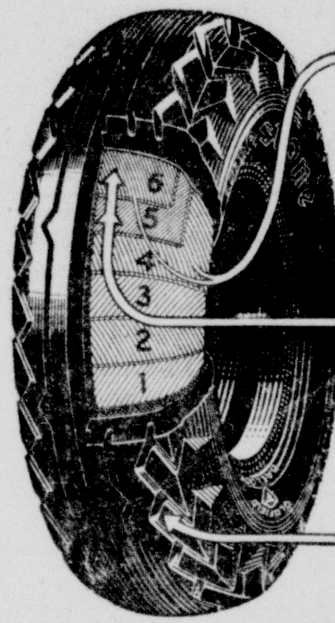

He shows for Monroe as follows: "MONROE.—Industrial activities in this locality were described as materially improved. One paper mill resumed operations, employing their regular force of approximately 520 men. Most of the plants, including printing establishments and transportation lines, reported close to normal schedules. Production in the carbon black industry remained below normal, with reduced forces employed. The volume of municipal improvements, highway and bridge construction increased compared with February. Building included residences and remodeling work providing part-time employment for a number of men, with the supply in excess of the demand."

Outstanding baseball players at each of the 51 Citizens Military Training camps will receive a prize baseball and bat, it was announced yesterday by the headquarters of the fourth corps area, Atlanta, Ga.

MILITARY BALL SWATTERS AT CAMPS TO WIN PRIZES

The balls and bats will be autographed by Babe Ruth, "king of swat," it was announced. The balls are donated annually by Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, and the bats are given by a firm at Louisville, Ky.

The TIRE That Taught THRIFT To MILLIONS!

Extra Values
GUM-DIPPED CORDS

The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA CORD PLYS UNDER THE TREAD

This is a patented construction, and the two extra cord plys are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and tests show 26% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

NON-SKID TREAD

Tough, live rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Scientifically designed non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

COMPARE CONSTRUCTION • QUALITY • PRICE

4.40-21				6
$3.52 Each
WHEN BOUGHT IN PAIRS
Firestone				Firestone
COURIER TYPE				SENTINEL TYPE
SIZE	Our Cash Price Each	Special Brand Mail Order Price Each	Our Cash Price Per Pair	SIZE	Our Cash Price Each	Special Brand Mail Order Price Each	Our Cash Price Per Pair
4.40-21	$3.63	$3.63	$7.04	4.40-21	$3.95	$3.95	$7.66
4.50-21	3.98	3.98	7.74	4.50-21	4.37	4.37	8.46
4.75-20				4.75-20	5.20	5.20	10.08
5.00-19				5.00-19	5.39	5.39	10.45
5.25-21				5.25-21	6.63	6.63	12.86

Other Sizes Proportionately Low

256-324

256-442

Listen to the "VOICE of FIRESTONE" every Monday Night over N. B. C. nationwide network

CIRCLE S OIL CO., NO. 1
401 DeSiard Street Phone 55

CIRCLE S OIL CO., NO. 2
1516 DeSiard Street Phone 162

Drive In And Equip Your Car Today

Outstanding Features

- 74-HORSEPOWER 6-CYLINDER ENGINE
- 87-HORSEPOWER STRAIGHT 8 ENGINE
- LONGER WHEELBASE
- STREAMLINE STYLING
- ROOMIER AND MORE COMFORTABLE FISHER BODIES
- SOUND-PROOFED BODY CONSTRUCTION
- RIDE REGULATOR AND DOUBLE-ACTION HYDRAULIC SHOCK ABSORBERS
- FREE WHEELING AND THE SYNCHRO-MESH TRANSMISSION
- SILENT SECOND GEAR
- ENGINE DECARBONIZER
- FULL AUTOMATIC CHOKE
- OIL TEMPERATURE REGULATOR
- PRESSURE-LUBRICATED PISTON PINS
- DOWN-DRAFT CARBURETION
- THE SIX $875
- THE EIGHT $975
- Prices Two-Door Sedan F. & B. Lansing Liberal GMAC Time Payment Plan Products of General Motors

TWIN CITY MOTOR COMPANY, Inc.
412 Walnut Street Telephone 2588

OLDSMOBILE 6 and 8

SUSPENSION OF SENTENCE IS DENIED TO ALEX BROWN

Suspension of the sentence imposed on Alex Brown was denied by federal court here yesterday. Brown was involved in the Gueydan liquor conspiracy. Judge Ben C. Dawkins ruled that the man must serve the term originally imposed.

In arguing the motion, Brown's counsel from New Orleans stated his client was 45 years of age and had never been involved in previous troubles and that he had a family to support.

When the motion for suspension was denied, Brown's counsel asked that the place of incarceration be changed to Leavenworth, which was granted.

COLORED CANDIDATES

The Monroe colored high school has four girls who are candidates for the honor of "May Queen." Votes can be cast at the colored high school for Mary Canna, grade 8; Laura Hunter, grade 8; Montiel Myles, grade 10; or Juanita Antone, grade 11.

WEATHER-PROOF MOVING VAN INSURED

MONROE TRANSFER & WAREHOUSE COMPANY
780
Proper trucks for handling all classes freight and merchandise.

Perfect Summer Reception

The New

FADA "66"

Short and Long Wave Radio

The new Fada 66 is two radio sets in one chassis and one cabinet. First, of course, a fine radio to receive regular broadcasts, entertainment from American stations with all the tone quality and performance for which Fada is famous. Then, plus all this, the new thrill of short wave reception. Short wave is particularly adapted to summer and daytime reception, affording static-free programs at all times—even when uninterrupted long wave reception is impossible. See this marvelous new radio at this store—or better still—hear it in your home! You will incur no obligation.

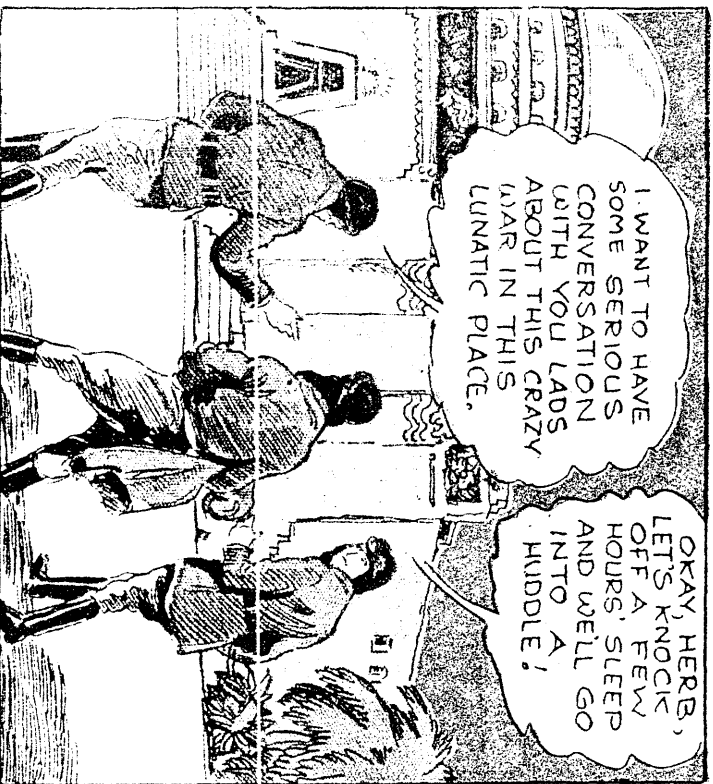

Complete With Tubes

$99.50

Easy Terms—No Interest

Phone 3900 for a Demonstration

MONROE FURNITURE CO., LTD.

d. "With our house . . . Then, with a rying seemed to on top of me. I ew seconds." piers on his farm who died a short the hospital. at first to estab- with Rosemark, and other com- the path of the . was not felt in ie wind was high, rainstorm, accom- ik here last night as done. the outskirts of hich Memphis is about nine miles floore and a crew ealth department f the tornado, as and police of- remark merchant

Page Three)

1 AUTO DURING IN SOUTH

ril 25.--(AP)--Eight n automobile ac- over the week- haps were con- plete of summer t crowded high- da each reported re was one each asss. Mississippi ymobile near De- he life of Frank senger, Ala., and nden, Ala., was collied with a f Fellsmere, Fla., automobile over- re and Hugh Hall ey, Fla., by an uck his bicycle. s killed at Little ash with a car who was fleeing s. L. Scott of it and killed by failed to stop. of New Orleans report. La., when : laden automo- aries M. Tuiley wiss. was found ter it hit a tele-

ier otham

Regan He parted ired for Stang to Regan decided at : that Stang was iced his hammer n in a sweeping l to the Stangan use calmly. He missed his head f speaking hair; uple of hairs at "blackguard," he to do me under, b you." (In his g invents an oc- ad Stang caught -and unlike Re-

Page Three

Fiction and Features

Monroe's Flying World

Comics and Magazine

AND NEWS-STAR

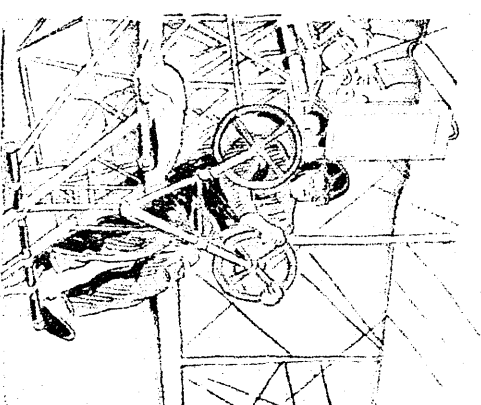

SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

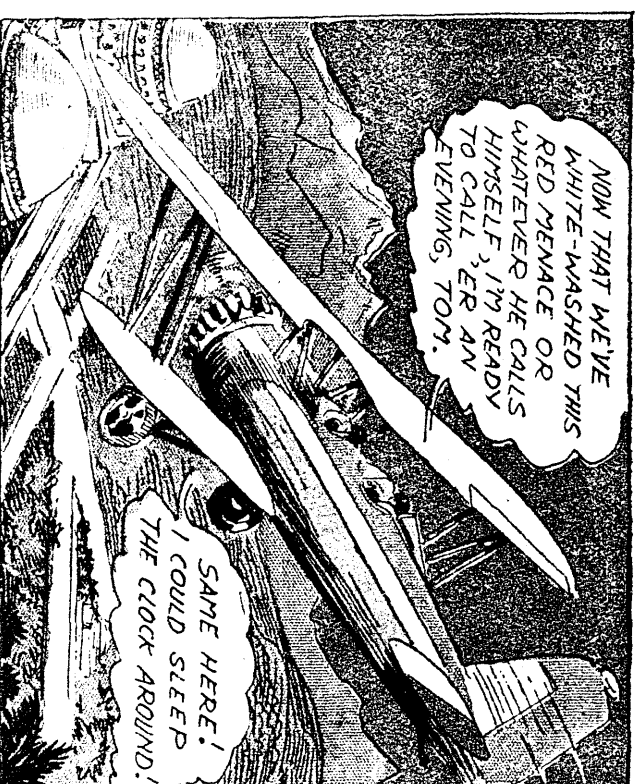

TOMMY AND SKEETER HAVE WON THEIR FIRST AERIAL TILT WITH THE "CRIMSON KID," OUT-MANEUVERING HIM IN THE CLOUDS. THE BOYS DID NOT FIRE A SHOT, SIMPLY EVADING THE ENEMY PILOT AS THEY TESTED HIS FLYING ABILITY. THEY INTEND TO HELP KING IXTOL RETAIN HIS THRONE, BUT HAVE DETERMINED TO WAGE A "BLOODLESS" WAR AGAINST THE HIGH ULLAH'S FORCES IF POSSIBLE.

PROGRESS of FLIGHT—
GLENN CURTISS—
THE FIRST FLYING PRODUCT OF THE "AERIAL EXPERIMENT ASSOCIATION" WAS THE RED WING, WHICH FLEW ON MARCH 12, 1908. NEXT WAS BUILT THE WHITE WING. THIS SECOND PLANE, HOWEVER, WOULD NOT TAKE THE AIR. OWING TO ITS SIZE IT COULD NOT BE STORED IN A HANGAR, AND IT WAS ALLOWED TO REST OUTSIDE. THE FABRIC OF THE WINGS STARTED TO DISINTEGRATE FROM INFLUENCES OF THE WEATHER AND WARWASH WAS APPLIED TO SAVE THEM. THEN THE SHIP FLEW. ANOTHER CURTISS SHIP, THE "JUNE BUG," WON THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN TROPHY ON JULY 4, 1908, BY FLYING ONE KILOMETER STRAIGHTAWAY. IN THE WINTER OF 1910, CURTISS ESTABLISHED A FLYING CAMP AT NORTH ISLAND, CALIFORNIA, IN SAN DIEGO BAY.

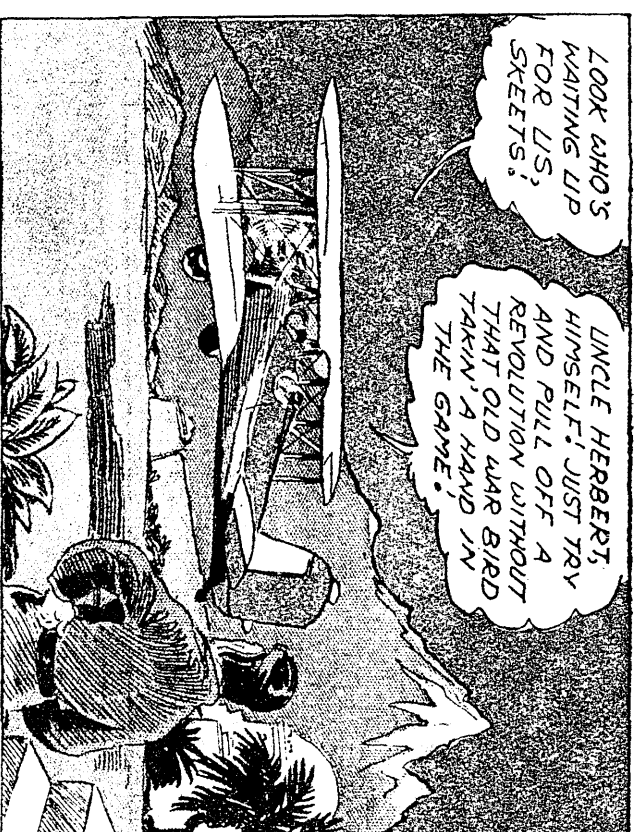

PUSHER PLANE BUILT BY GLENN CURTISS IN 1912 STILL IN OPERATION TODAY —

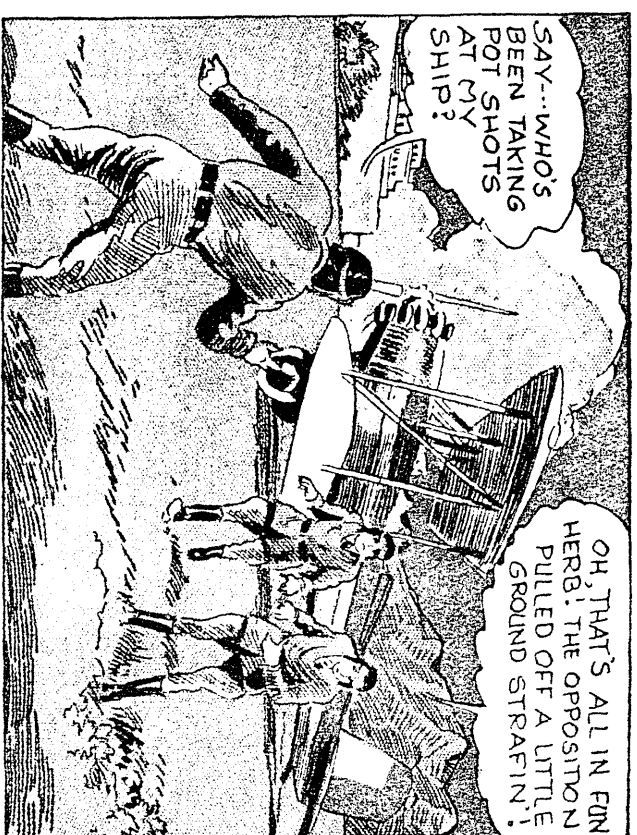

NOW THAT WE'VE WHITE-WASHED THIS RED MENACE OR WHATEVER HE CALLS HIMSELF, I'M READY TO CALL 'ER AN EVENING, TOM.

SAME HERE! I COULD SLEEP THE CLOCK AROUND!

LOOK WHO'S WAITING LIP FOR US, SKEETS!

UNCLE HERBERT, HIMSELF! JUST TRY AND PULL OFF A REVOLUTION WITHOUT TAKIN' A HAND IN THE GAME.

SAY--WHO'S BEEN TAKING POT SHOTS AT MY SHIP?

OH, THAT'S ALL IN FUN, HERB! THE OPPOSITION PULLED OFF A LITTLE GROUND STRAFIN'!

HER udy, scattered
it portion, cool-
; Tuesday parti-
erte southerly
udy, colder to-cloudy, colder

VE CENTS

EE

**** ***

KILLED, AND TO D, HURT

Fatally In-roof Caves
Her

INJURED

s Working
Also Are Twister

April 25--(P)--A re killed, several dead and a score
ed by a tornado
northern end of

53, a farm wife,
ospital of injuries
oof of her house
3 in. Her hus-
ing in the fields,
re three negroes
All were brought

arris, 65, of Mil-ten brought to a

3, who said she 200 pounds, told ked up from the home east of Mil-
g through the air
vral hundred feet.
ud.
wife was killed,
embled a "black
astounding speed

SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

TOMMY AND SKEETER HAVE WON THEIR FIRST AERIAL TILT WITH THE "CRIMSON KID," OUT-MANEUVERING HIM IN THE CLOUDS. THE BOYS DID NOT FIRE A SHOT, SIMPLY EVADING THE ENEMY PILOT AS THEY TESTED HIS FLYING ABILITY. THEY INTEND TO HELP KING XTOL RETAIN HIS THRONE, BUT HAVE DETERMINED TO WAGE A "BLOODLESS" WAR AGAINST THE HIGH ULLAH'S FORCES IF POSSIBLE.

PROGRESS OF FLIGHT—

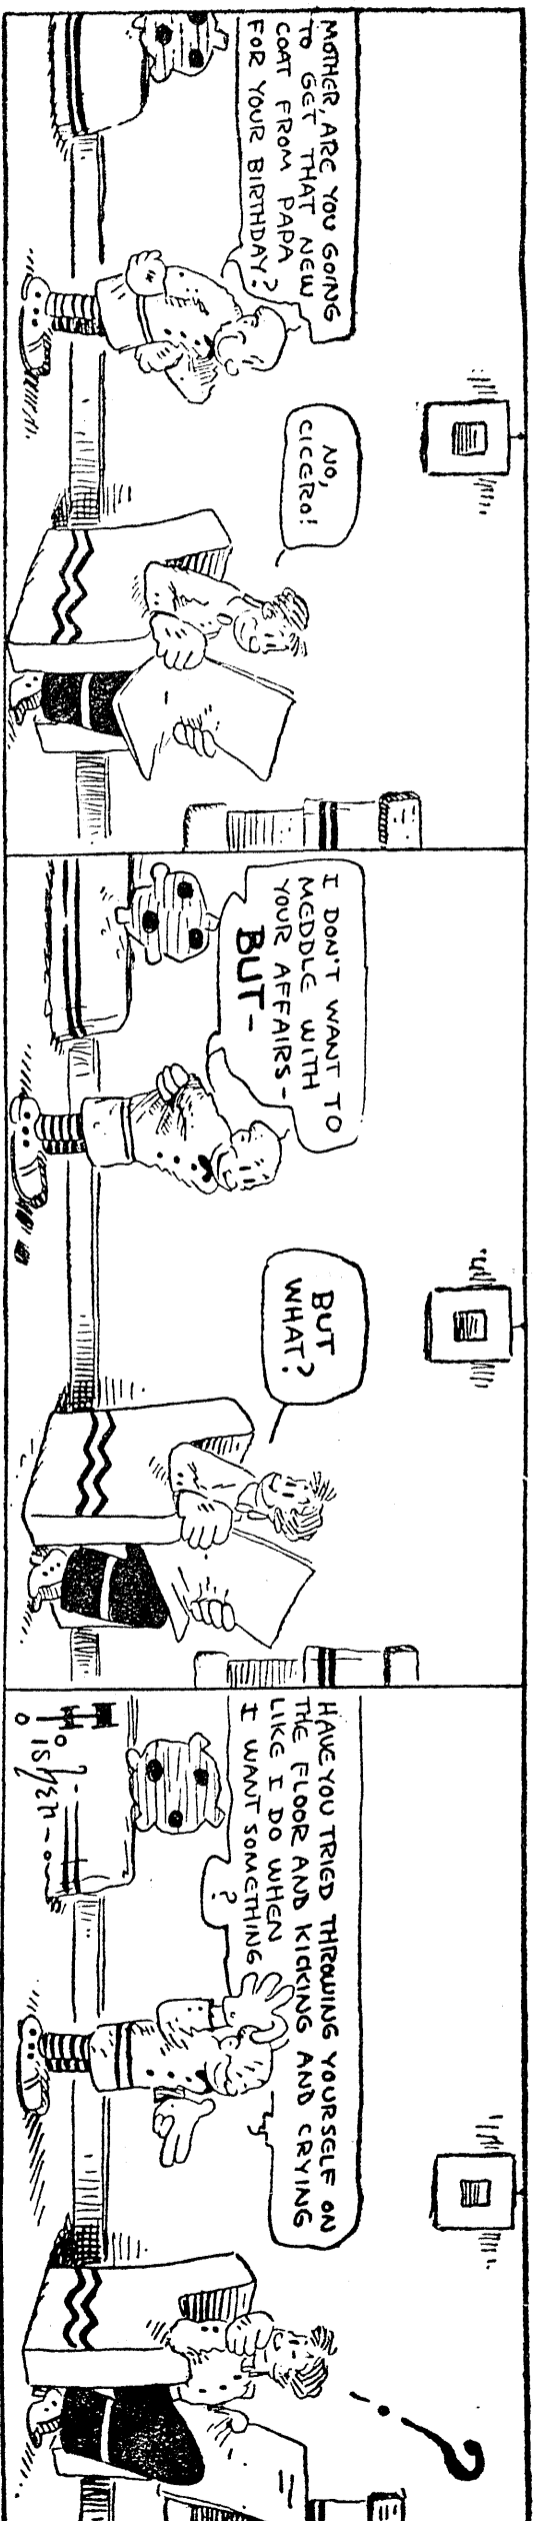

GLENN CURTISS—
THE FIRST FLYING PRODUCT OF THE "AERIAL EXPERIMENT ASSOCIATION" WAS THE RED WING, WHICH FLEW ON MARCH 12, 1908. NEXT WAS BUILT THE WHITE WING. THIS SECOND PLANE, HOWEVER, WOULD NOT TAKE THE AIR. OWING TO ITS SIZE IT COULD NOT BE STORED IN A HANGAR, AND IT WAS ALLOWED TO REST OUTSIDE. THE FABRIC OF THE WINGS STARTED TO DISINTEGRATE FROM INFLUENCES OF THE WEATHER AND VARNISH WAS APPLIED TO SAVE THEM. THEN THE SHIP FLEW. ANOTHER CURTISS SHIP, THE "JUNE BUG" WON THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN TROPHY ON JULY 4, 1908, BY FLYING ONE KILOMETER STRAIGHTAWAY. IN THE WINTER OF 1910, CURTISS ESTABLISHED A FLYING CAMP AT NORTH ISLAND, CALIFORNIA, IN SAN DIEGO BAY.

PUSHER PLANE BUILT BY GLENN CURTISS IN 1912 STILL IN OPERATION TODAY—

SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

MUTT AND JEFF

The Perfect Disguise But the Same Old Habits

By BUD FISHER

One F with every Sat chased during
of April.

A & Root

Remel
all our 26 en well paid and is required or

FRI

A & W RO
One Free With E
Purchased Th

All employees have gates. All others E
ing. When it's ac back the good time and business. A times. All free served by white h

A & MAL
MIL

10

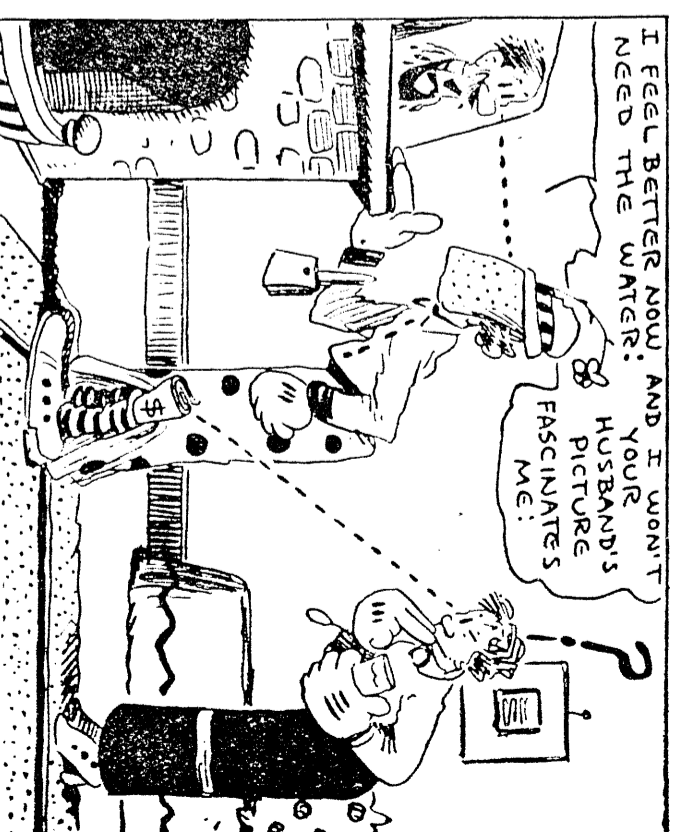

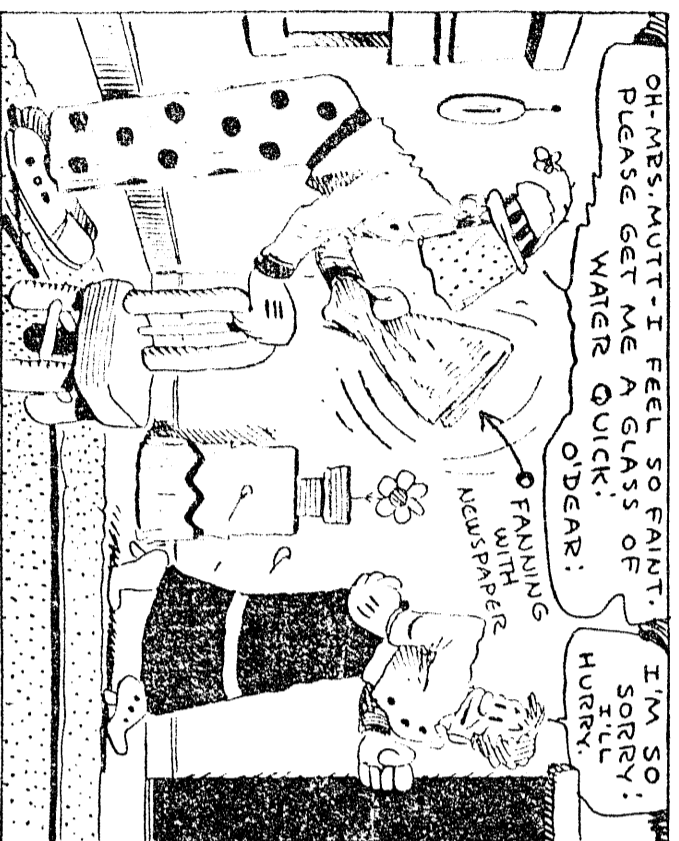

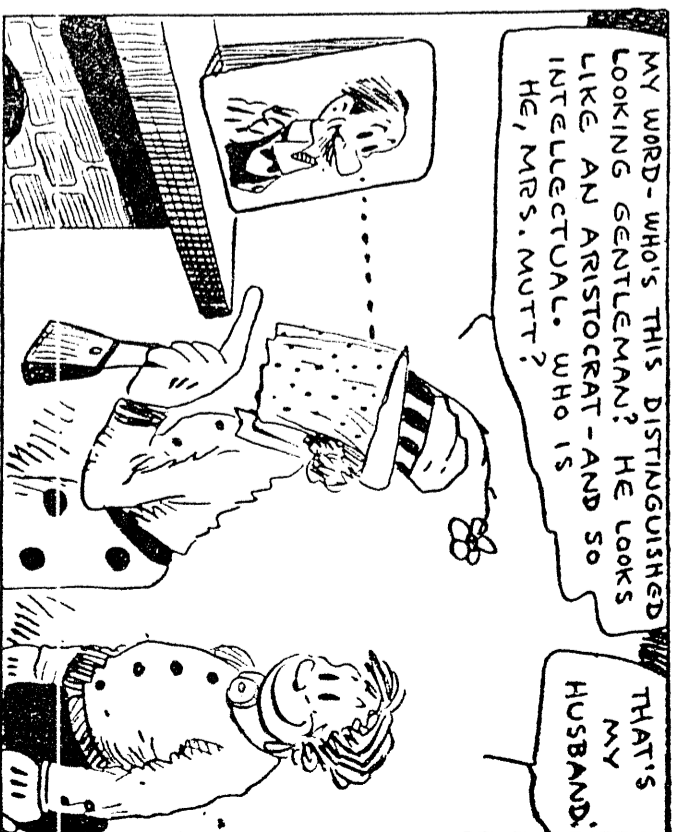

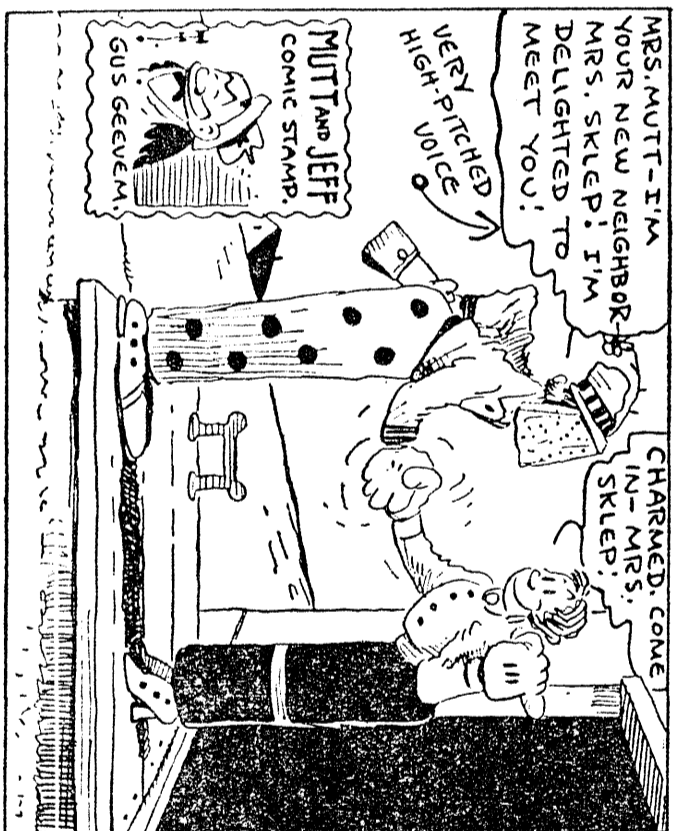

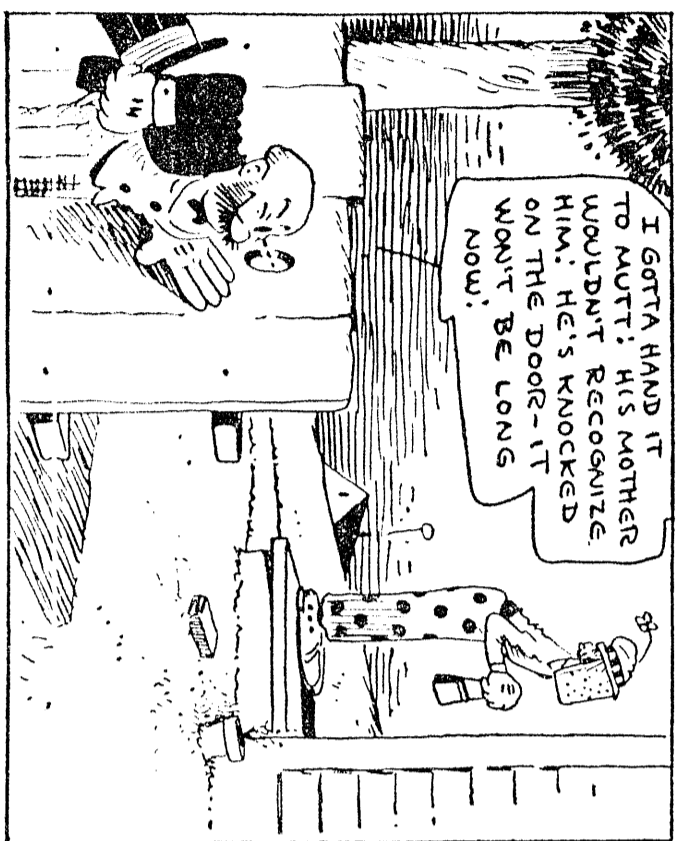

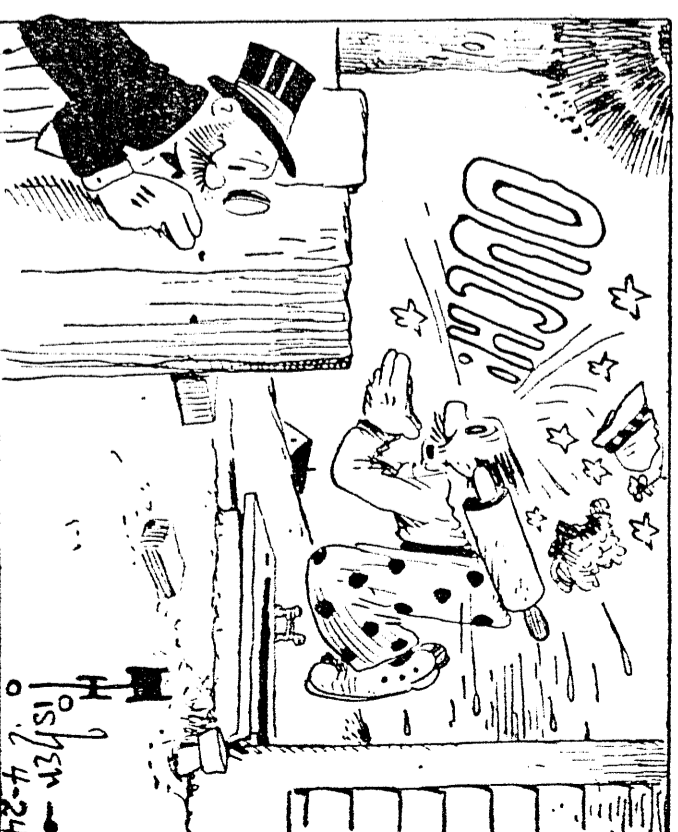

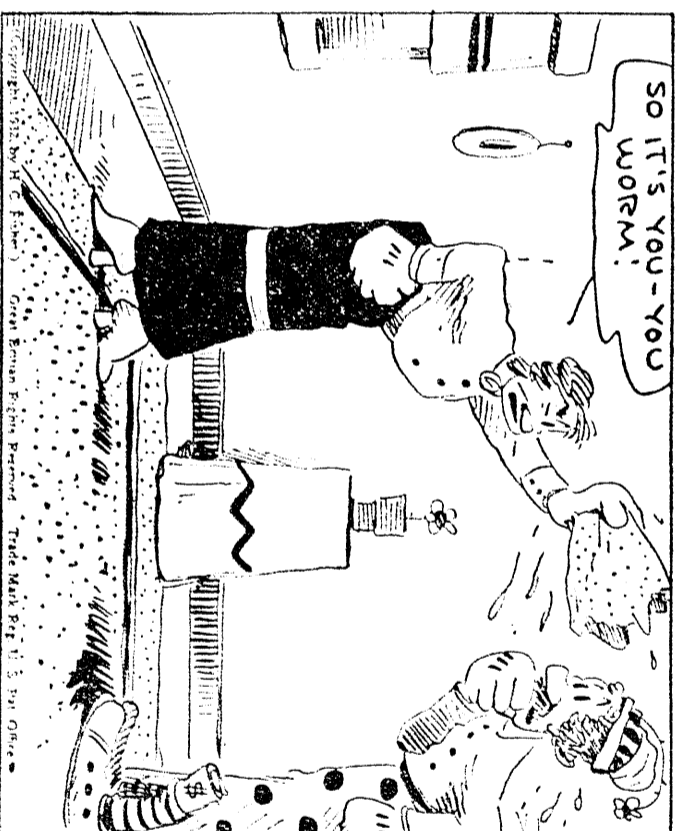

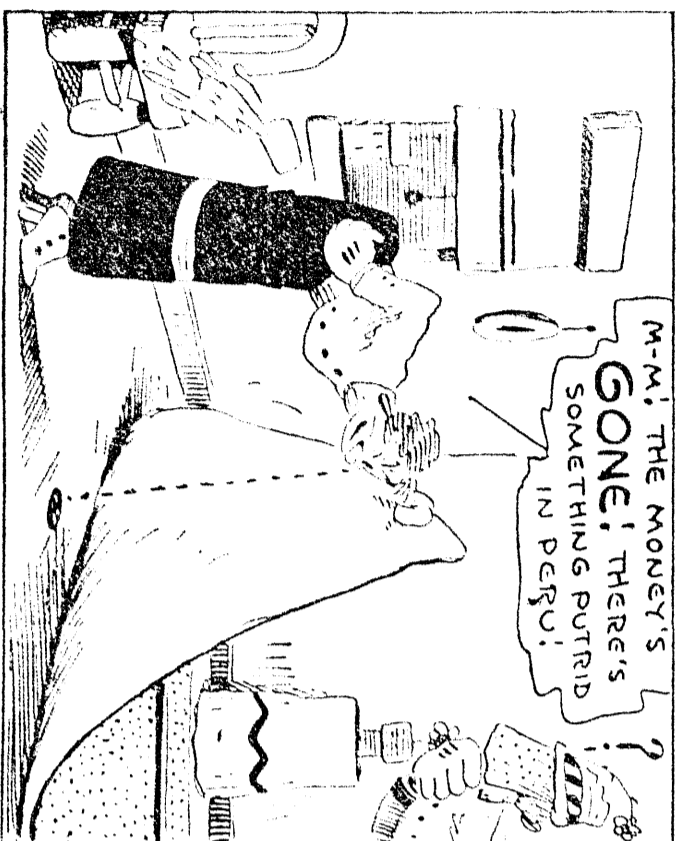

My Pug
The PROSPER
Gang have him
Three Eggs Burn
Cris - Cakes - Tr
Hot Chocolate or
Beer - Served 25
Daily

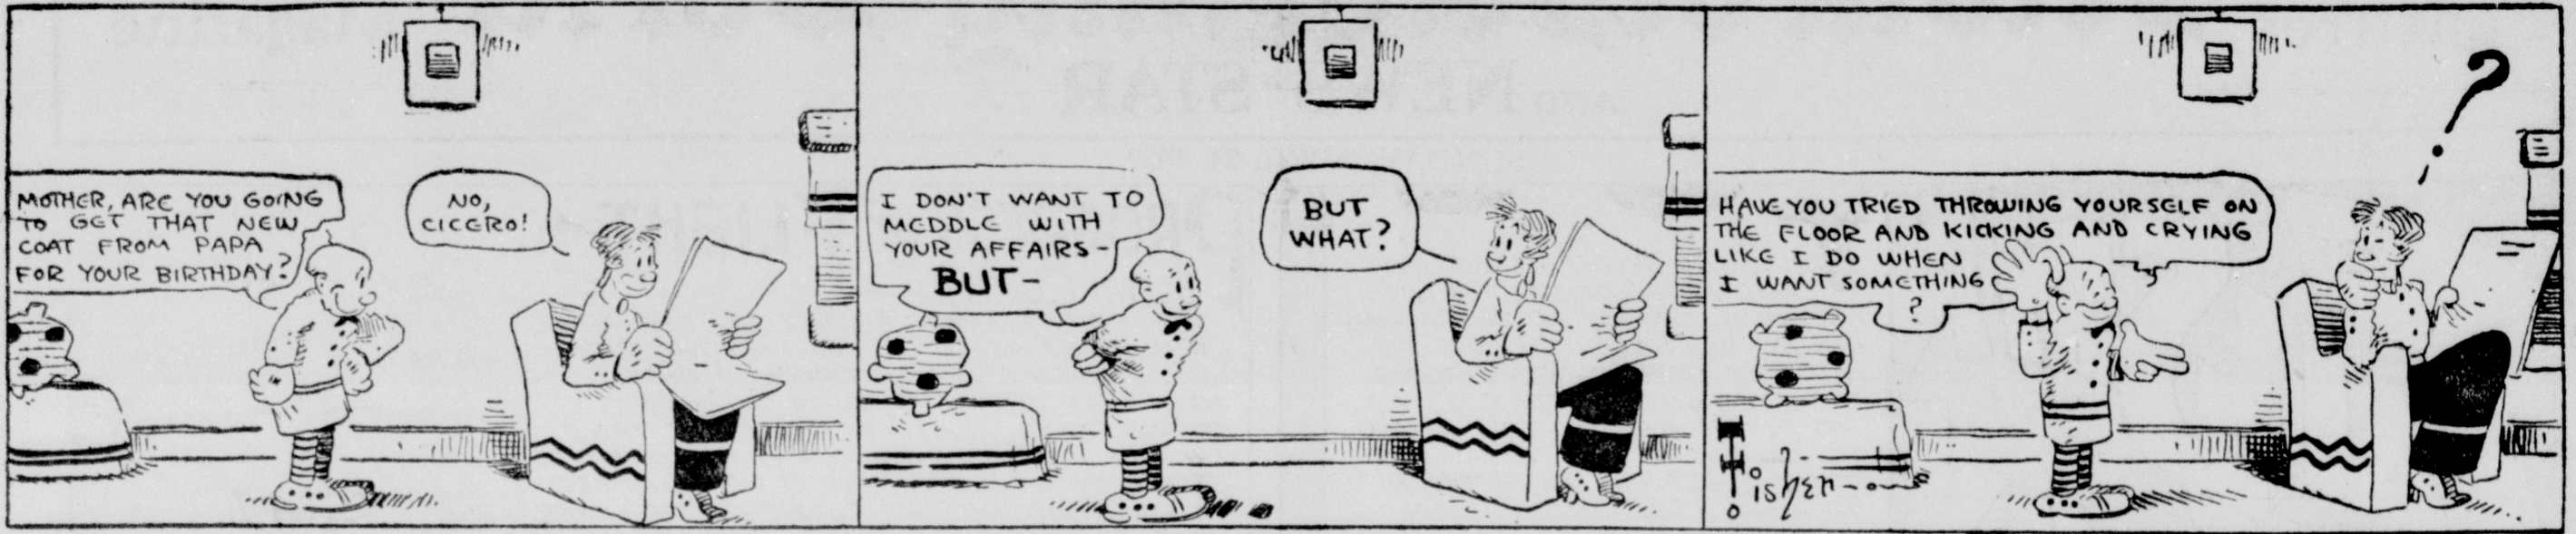

Alam
Coff
Served with Cream. Try e

A & Sandwic
I. W. ALLE

Follow the crowd know why we f
place in town

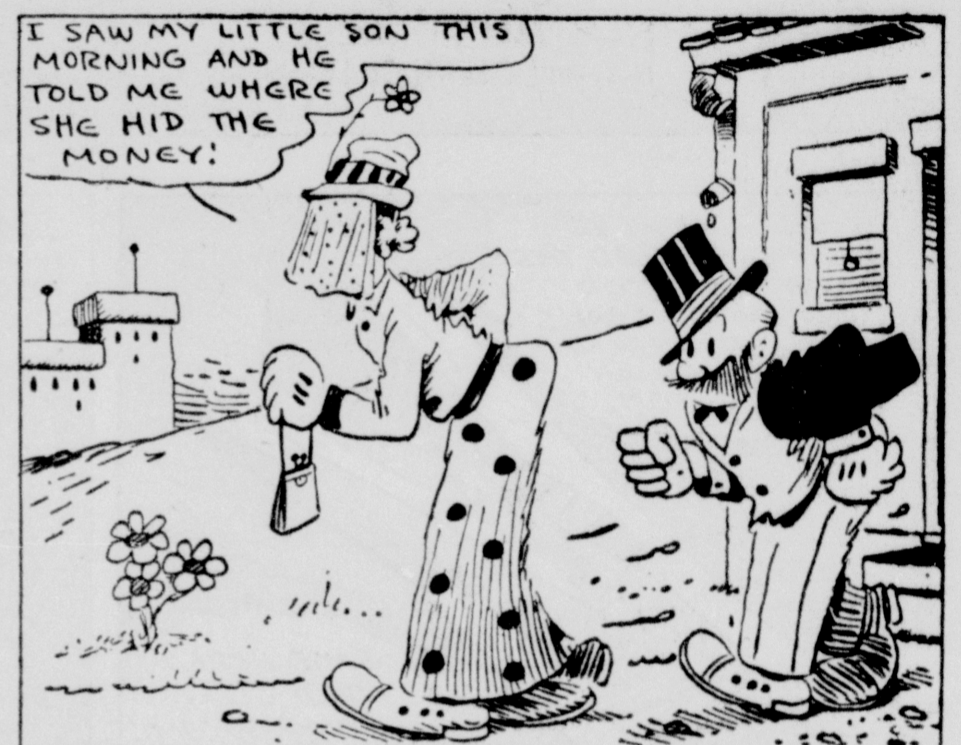

MUTT AND JEFF

~ The Perfect Disguise But the Same Old Habits ~

By BUD FISHER

(Copyright, 1932—by H. C. Fisher, Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
Great Britain Rights Reserved

Monroe Morning World

Don't Tell Auntie

By R. F. James

Shh! Stowaways Aboard—
And Auntie Goes Gay!

SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

Trade Mark Registration Applied For

1 "YO HO HO, five and seven-eighths bells and not a man in sight," says Captainess Ella. "We'll all enjoy a lovely rest on my yacht. We'll go to bed at eight and get up at six every morning for two whole weeks. This simple life. Ahh—ahhh!"

"If she only does turn in at eight, we'll make hot-cha while the moon shines," stage-whispers Jane to Elaine.

2 "A VAST, you land-lubbers," call the girls down the hatch. For the little cut-ups have stowed away Reggie and Ronnie Blake and their other buddy-pals in the hold. "Your aunt won't make us walk the plank if we come up?" asks Ronnie. "Oh, she's tucked away and gone sleepy-bye long ago," Jane tells him. But, WAIT—

3 WELL, will you lamp the lady who's crashed the party! Dead-pan Ella, herself! The revelry and chuckles on the starboard deck woke her up but instead of consigning the boys to the brig she declared herself in on the jollity. "Make the most of tonight's hey-hey," she tells her dancing partner. "for tomorrow we all sail home." But the girls have IDEAS, too.

(To be Continued)

HER
oudy, scattered
it portion, cool-
Tuesday parti-
sante southerly
udy, colder to-cloudy, colder

VE CENTS

EE

* * *

KILLED; AID TO
D, HURT

Fatally In-roof Caves
Her

INJURED

s Working
Also Are
Twister

April 23.—(P)—A re killed, several dead and a score
ed by a tornado
northern end of

33, a farm wife,
spital of injuries
off of her house
1 in. Her hus-
ing in the fields,
re three negroes
All were brought

Arms, 65, of Mil-
ten brought to a

3, who said she
200 pounds, told ked up from the
ome east of Mil-
g through the air
al hundred feet,
nd.
wife was killed,
embled a "black
astounding speed

id, "hit our house
. Then, with a ything seemed to on top of me. I ew seconds."
pers on his farm
the wreckage who died a short
the hospital.
at first to estab-
with Rosemark,
and other com-
the path of the

, was not felt in e wind was high,
rainstorm, accom-
k here last night
as done.

the outskirts of hich Memphis is about nine miles
Moore and a crew
eath's department
f the tornado, as and police of-

semark merchant,
Page Three)

I AUTO
DURING IN SOUTH

ril 23.—(P)—Eight n automobile ac-over the week-hops were compote of summer
it crowded high-da each reported re was one each as, Mississippi

mobile near Debe life of Frank semer, Ala., and nden, Ala., was collied with a

f Fellsme, Fla., automobile over-
e and Hugh Hall
ey, Fla., by an
uck his bicycle.
s killed at Little ash with a car
who was fleeing as L. Scott of it and killed by failed to stop
of New Orleans report, La., when laden automomies M. Tulley
viss, was found ter it hit a tele-

tier
otham

Regan. He patted
ted for Stang to

Regan decided at that Stang was
sted his hammer
n in a sweeping
l to the Stangian nse calamity. He missed his head

f speaking) hair;
uple of hairs at blackguard," he

to do me under,
h you." (In his
g invents an oc-

ad Stang caught
-and unlike Re-

Page Three

Monroe Morning World

Don't Tell Auntie

By R. F. James

Shh! Stowaways Aboard—
And Auntie Goes Gay!

SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1932

Trade Mark Registration Applied For

1 "YO HO HO, five and seven-eighths bells and not a man in sight," says Captainess Ella. "We'll all enjoy a lovely rest on my yacht. We'll go to bed at eight and get up at six every morning for two whole weeks. This simple life. Ahh—ahhh!"

"If she only does turn in at eight, we'll make hot-cha while the moon shines," stage-whispers Jane to Elaine.

2 "A VAST, you land-lubbers," call the girls down the hatch. For the little cut-ups have stowed away Reggie and Ronnie Blake and their other buddy-pals in the hold. "Your aunt won't make us walk the plank if we come up?" asks Ronnie. "Oh, she's tucked away and gone sleepy-bye long ago," Jane tells him. But, WAIT—

3 WELL, will you lamp the lady who's crashed the party! Dead-pan Ella, herself! The revelry and chuckles on the starboard deck woke her up but instead of consigning the boys to the brig she declared herself in on the jollity. "Make the most of tonight's hey-hey," she tells her dancing partner, "for tomorrow we all sail home." But the girls have IDEAS, too.

(To be Continued)

FR

A & Root

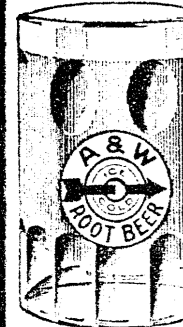

One with every Sached during of April.

Remel

all our 26 e well paid and is required or

FR

A & W RO

One Free With 1 Purchased TI

All employees g cates. All dishes g ing users are have the most not sandwich step in t our kitchen, and i vined. All foods served by white h

A & MAL

MIL

10

Why Pay

Try our PROSPER Orange Juice—He Two Eggs—Butte Grits—Coffee, To Hot Chocolate, or Beer—Served 25 Daily

Alam

Coff

Served with Cream. Try a

A & Sandwic

I. W. ALLE

Follow the crowd know why we a place in town.

Highlights of Broadway

From the Circle to the Square

by JACK LAIT

"I'M SO HA, A-PPY!"

Oh, What a Snore!

W INIFRED LORRAINE, charming wife of Robert Lorraine, the actor, was in our country recently, and on her return home to London she wrote a by-line article in the Express, of which the following are excerpts:

Strange New York; vehemently denied by Americans as representing America. The language is as heterogeneous as the food: cold-stew, oyster stew, pastrami (a spiced bully beef), conical sweets (pastrami), and pips' feet. The cry of the hungry and workless is terrible. Desperate, haggard men catch hold of you on Broadway in full daylight... 300,000 unemployed sleep in the subway every night.

Oh, come, come now, Winnie. Not 300,000! Isn't that a bit tall? The ordinary subway car seats 44. That would mean that 6,818 long cars are occupied nightly by sleepers who pay $15,000 a night at a nickel a nap. And that is if they all sleep sitting up. Most sub sleepers go full length after 2 A.M. It is indeed true, pitifully true, that there are many of them. However, nowhere near the number you estimate in your article, which is generally accurate. But no desperate, haggard men have yet caught hold of me on Broadway in full daylight or the fuller night-light. I fear, sweet lady, you are Winnie-the-pooh!

Start Laughing

When Ward Greene wrote his latest novel, "Weep No More," he touched the heart of his pet speakeasy skipper, Leo, whom we know and love, in the Village, by giving him copious and affectionate mention. Leo is a simple soul, and never in his most ambitious flights did he envision himself immortalized through the covers of a best seller. So he has paid off in his own and only medium—he has invented a Weep No More cocktail. And, because Greene wrote the book, Leo feels the cocktail must be green.

That presented a pretty problem. Greene opens his story over a mint julep that makes your mouth water. But mint juleps and Greenwich Village don't mix. Greene speaks with him with and passion of the good Georgia corn Laker. That, too, does not flow around Abingdon Square. But grappa is indigenous and plentiful and at least LOOKS like the cornucopia of a best seller. It is as the base of his opus malus, tinted it with cream de menthe, which approximates the hue of the julep, and added a dash of absinthe and some lime-juice for style.

"No matter how blue you may be when you come in," says Leo, "two of these green darlings—and you'll weep no more."

What's in a Hat?

Miss Bessie Longages of 70 Lincoln Avenue, Riverside, Ill., writes me (among other kind expressions) on a card which poses up in my mail every day and which might as well be firmly stamped with now as any time— "What's in a hat?"

Bessie, dear, don't you know there's a depression on? Besides, I've taken screen tests in every other type of topper and no likes. In a high hat I look like an undertaker, in a cap I look like a janitor, in a sombrero I look like a mushroom, in a derby—don't ask. Without any hat at all, the thinning of the curls in front drives away the femme trade. I have been editing copy so many years that I feel like a butcher, and by ancient tradition a butcher may wear a hat all year. So I cling to the last (season's) straw. Besides, it has been a mighty mild Winter on the Hardened Artery and a mighty thin one, too. In a crisis a feller can eat straw—you can't say as much for felt.

Dorothy Gish, Big Sister of L'il Lil, Back Into Her Own as a Comedy Lead in the Legit, the Delicious Principal of "The Bride the Sun Shines On."

Talkie No. 1

Talkies had a nineteenth anniversary a few days ago, marking the date of the first simultaneous projection of sight and sound, when Thomas A. Edison made the first public showing in the Colonial Theatre on upper Broadway of a scene from "Julius Caesar," a vocal song and the crash of a plate. It did not deliver much of a stir.

Oscar Apfel, who directed the affair, is now a character actor in modern talkies. He had been handling Edison films for a year when the inventor called him to Orange to work on a combination of his two creations, the Edison phonograph record and the Edison celluloid film. The subject could only run seven minutes, the capacity of a record-face. The method was crude. The camera was connected with a wire pulley to the phonograph machine, thus securing some synchronization. A huge horn connected with the phonograph was above the players' heads, out of range of the camera. When shown, the two devices were strung together by a wire behind the screen and all ended well if both started at once.

IN A WHIRL OF SPLENDOR

Ruth Harrison, of Harrison and Fisher, an Artistic and Talented Youngster from "Way Out West," Who Has Clicked in the Big Houses of the Big Burrs as a Versatile and Vigorous Danseuse, Shown in a Remarkable Solo Figure.

Petty Larceny

Ben De Casseres, literary what-not and Don Herold, comedy sketcher and humorist, went to it all over the front page of Rob Wagner's Hollywood mag, Script. Ben said Don had swiped his wheeze, "Someone has said that genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains. I say that genius is an infinite capacity for giving pain." So he pitches this at Don: "Alexander Pope said 'Whatever is is right.' I say, 'Whatever is is re-write.'"

Oh, don't think this devastates Don so that he can't come back. He admits there may have been a little grabadocio on his part, but he intimates that Ben didn't write the wisecrack in the first place and intimates that Emerson wrote it. Elbert Hubbard lifted it from Emerson, and Ben kidnapped it when El wasn't looking.

Rob says it's all a lot of hooey over a little bloeey. He says a new version or perversion of any of the old bromides is anybody's right and anybody's property, such as "You can lead a boy to college but you can't make him think." "A little widow is a dangerous thing." "A rolling stone gathers no moss, but it gains a certain polish." Probably hundreds have written these or snappers similar to them, plagiarizing from no one, because they are all natural to minds grooved for the mechanics of epigram.

So, Ben, if you stand by your own line, now you have reclaimed it, and if genius is an infinite capacity for giving pain, you are a genius.

Idiosyncrazies

When Bing Crosby was elected into the Priars, the first thing he did for the club was to buy the grillroom a new radio. And everybody who ever had to listen in on the old one will say Bing banged the Bernard-Schreib, music pubs, enjoyed what we wrote about the Wabash, Mississippi, Sicance, etc., songs, and our big deplorable over the ignoring of our own Hudson, and makes known he has "Hudson, River, Moon," words and music by Andrew Downing, Okay, Charlie, come over to my house and sing it for me.

Joe Schorr says Bert Ennis says that Barbara Stanwyck (nee Ruby Stevens) took her name from a poster advertising Jane Stanwyck in "Barbara Frietche."

VICTORY SMILE

Happy, Indeed, Is Mrs. Grace Caroline Thomasson, as This Photo Shows. It Was Taken After One of the Many Court Battles from Which She Emerged Triumphant.

UNTIL he was 73 years old, Hugh Thomasson had successfully retained his bachelorhood while amassing one of the biggest private fortunes in St. Louis.

His formula was simple enough: One merely had to keep so busy outwitting shrewd capitalists that there would be little time left to match wits with shrewd altar-conscious young women. But trouble began the moment Mr. Thomasson retired from active business. Once the "in conference" barrier was removed from his secluded life, it became easy for Dan Cupid to find an entrance. Thus it was that eight days after pretty Mrs. Grace Caroline Mahood met him, Bachelor Thomasson found himself married.

From then on his life became a bewildering maze of law suits, petitions, subpoenas, sanity hearings, fights with his bride and honeymooners. Indeed, the whole pattern of Mr. Thomasson's life changed to such an extent that he might have found it convenient to live in the county courthouse. Even now the solution of his tangled problems is puzzling to the community which once knew him only as a very rich, respectable and quiet business man.

What happened in Mr. Thomasson's life until he was 73 years old can be summed up in a sentence: He worked hard, invested in real estate and made a lot of money.

What happened AFTER he was 73 years old takes up the rest of this story.

First of all, Mr. Thomasson was living quietly in his own fashionable hotel, the Fairmont. For recreation he played a violin.

One day a bellboy handed him a note. It was from a young woman living in the hotel, who said she was interested in studying the violin and that she and Mr. Thomasson had mutual friends. The lonely, aged bachelor decided to see her.

Grace Caroline Mahood was delighted. A pretty, attractive blonde. And she DID like to hear Mr. Thomasson play the violin. Really, it was difficult to believe that although she was only 29 years old she had been married three times previously.

One husband died soon after their marriage, and the other two she divorced. She operated a tea room in Youngstown, Ohio, for a time and, when it failed, went to St. Louis to study the violin. A friend of hers, Conrad Frederick, also came to St. Louis, and later was to become the family chauffeur.

First days of exchanging ideas, of telling each other their life histories and of violin music. Then suddenly a visit to the home of the justice of the Peace in Waterloo, Illinois, famous center for quick and easy marriages.

Finding himself with a wife, former Bachelor Thomasson realized that wives

About a Rich Old Bridegroom's Amazing, Amusing Whirl of Love-and-Legal Whirligigs

For 73 Years He Was a Bachelor, Then Along Came a Bewitching Blonde---and Trouble

Elderly Hugh Thomasson

Looks Sleepy. But Perhaps He Is Only Dizzy from the Whirl of Legal Papers That Have Been Swimming About His Head Since Marriage. Life of Late, Has Been for Him One Lawsuit After Another.

have to be fed, clothed and pampered. He gave Grace Caroline a $5,000 automobile, paid a $400 hotel bill she owed and overwhelmed her with a check for $10,000. Then he bought her a $35,000 Spanish home in the fashionable suburb of Clayton.

After that he gave her a note for $25,000, a life settlement to pay her $1,000 a month, nearly $100,000 in jewelry and furs—and little things like that.

And then he yelled "uncle." That is, he filed an annulment suit, charging he had been kidnapped and tricked into marriage and out of money. Grace Caroline filed a counter suit for alimony.

Two days before the scheduled date of the trial the Thomassons were reported missing. Police and attorneys for both sides made a frantic search. The two were found in Kansas City, and to the consternation of all concerned, quietly announced it was all a mistake, or something. They really were very happy, hadn't the slightest intention of parting and were on their second honeymoon.

But Mr. Thomasson's attorney, Stephen C. Rogers, and his second cousin, Mrs. Ella F. Boles, didn't believe it. They had Mrs. Thomasson arrested on a kidnapping charge. At the same time Mrs. Boles sought to be appointed Thomasson's guardian, charging he was of unsound mind and incapable of handling his own affairs.

About this time the Thomassons complicated affairs by getting married again—this time by a Methodist minister. But that didn't end their troubles, for the series of suits and petitions became more bewildering than ever.

An involuntary bankruptcy suit was filed against Thomasson by his creditors. His funds were tied up to such an extent he was forced to ask for an allowance of $150.

Mrs. Boles withdrew her guardianship petition, but the family chauffeur, Conrad Frederick promptly filed a suit

DISENCHANTED "COTTAGE" This is the $35,000 Spanish home, is a fashionable St. Louis suburb, Which Millionaire Thomasson Bought for His Young Bride. Because of Their Many "Honeymoons" They Seldom Live There.

to set aside Thomasson's marriage and other contracts and to order a sanity hearing for Thomasson. The chauffeur even wanted to be appointed a trustee.

Finally the finances of Thomasson were placed in the hands of three receivers, but the latter became so upset by the tangle of affairs that they resigned. Then another cousin, Elmira Townsend, filed a competency suit against Thomasson and Mrs. Thomasson's former attorney sued her, claiming she agreed to give him half of the property she obtained from her husband.

If all this sounds involved it is only a faint reflection of the turmoil of events that swirled about Mr. Thomasson within a few short months. Eventually all the cases (with the exception of the competency charge) came to trial and were dismissed in Circuit Court. The elderly capitalist and his young wife agreed to share equally in the estate.

That seemed the end of the comedy drama, but recently the court declared Thomasson mentally unsound and appointed a Public Administrator as his guardian. Immediately relatives filed suit to set aside the appointment of a guardian. Then the St. Louis County Trust Company filed suit to set aside deed of trust on the Thomasson property and arrested Mrs. Thomasson to insure her appearance in court.

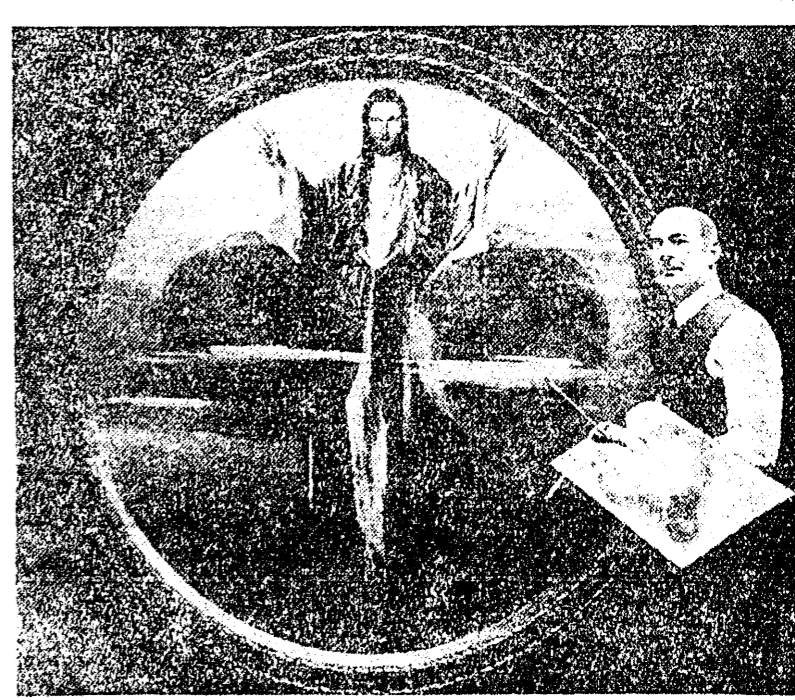

All this could go on indefinitely, but it has to end sometime. The trust company's case is still pending and the Thomassons, when last heard from, had gone on another "honeymoon."

Painting of Christ That Mystified London

UNUSUAL, indeed, is the painting reproduced in the photo at right. It is a "problem" picture of Christ and has created a stir throughout artistic and religious circles in England. Beside it stands its proud creator, Will Longstaff.

In spite of its unorthodox features, the picture has been hailed as a masterpiece. It shows Christ as a muscular, athletic young man, wearing a small military moustache and an imperial beard. The figure is floating in the clouds, arms outstretched over two hemispheres, as though in benediction. Stranger still, however, is the manner in which Artist Longstaff was commissioned to paint the picture. One day Mr. Longstaff's telephone bell rang. "Paint me a picture of the Christ," said a man's voice. Mr. Longstaff, satisfied that his mysterious patron was able to pay, carried out the commission.

The mystery man called several times to watch the progress of the work—but never revealed his name. Usually, when he paid, it was in cash. Then he made a curious request. He asked that the picture be sent to Dr. F. W. Norwood, pastor of City Temple, London, and that he preach a sermon on it. Dr. Norwood did—and the subject of his sermon was "If Thou Hast Known." Meanwhile the name of the donor was never learned.

Artist Will Longstaff, of London, Standing Beside His Unusual Painting, Showing Christ Wearing Military Moustache and Imperial Beard. As He Floats in Clouds, Christ's Hands Are Raised in Benediction Above the Two Hemispheres.

It was 1916. Elliott Dexter Kissed the Hand of America's Sweetheart, Mary Pickford, as Part of His Part in "A Romance of the Redwoods." One of the Greatest Pictures Ever Made by Cecil B. De Mille. And What's Become of Dexter, Who Left Film in 1919 After a Breakdown?

Highlights of Broadway

From the Circle to the Square

by JACK LAIT

Petty Larceny

Ben De Casseres, literary what-not and Don Herold, comedy sketcher and humorist, went to it all over the front page of Rob Wagner's Hollywood mag, Script. Ben said Don had swiped his wheeze, "Someone has said that genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains. I say that genius is an infinite capacity for giving pain." So he pitches this at Don: "Alexander Pope said 'Whatever is is right.' I say, 'Whatever is is re-write.'"

Oh, don't think this devastates Don so that he can't come back. He admits there may have been a little grabadocio on his part, but he intimates that Ben didn't write the wisecrack in the first place and intimates that Emerson wrote it. Elbert Hubbard lifted it from Emerson, and Ben kidnaped it when El wasn't looking.

Rob says it's all a lot of hooey over a little blooze. He says a new version or perversion of any of the old bro-mides is anybody's right and anybody's property, such as "You can lead a boy to college, but you can't make him think." "A little widow is a dangerous thing." "A rolling stone gathers no moss, but it gains a certain polish." Probably hundreds have written these or snappers similar to them, plagiarizing from no one, because they are all natural to minds grooved for the mechanics of epigram.

So, Ben, if you stand by your own line, now you have reclaimed it, and if genius is an infinite capacity for giving pain, you are a genius.

Idiosyncrasies—

When Bing Crosby was elected into the Friars, the first thing he did for the club was to buy the grillroom a new radio. And everybody who even had to listen in on the old one will say Bing banged the bell.

Charlie Scholtz of Bernard-Scholtz, music pubs, enjoyed what we wrote about the Wabash, Mississippi, Swanee, etc., songs, and our big deploration over the ignoring of our own Hudson, and makes known he has "Hudson River Moon," words and music by Andrew Donnelly. Okay, Charlie, come over to my house and sing it for me.

Jose Schorr says Bert Ennis says that Barbara Stanwyck (nee Ruby Stevens) took her name from a poster advertising Jane Stanwyck in "Barbara Frietche."

Dorothy Gish, Big Sister of Li'l Lil, Back Into Her Own as a Comedy Lead in the Legit, the Delicious Principal of "The Bride the Sun Shines On."

copy so many years that I feel like a butcher, and by ancient tradition a butcher may wear a hat all year. So I cling to the last (season's) straw. Besides, it has been a mighty mild Winter on the Hardened Artery and a mighty thin one, too. In a crisis a feller can eat straw—you can't say as much for felt.

Talkie No. 1

Talkies had a nineteenth anniversary a few days ago, marking the date of the first simultaneous projection of sight and sound, when Thomas A. Edison made the first public showing in the Colonial Theatre on upper Broadway of a scene from "Julius Caesar," a violin solo, a vocal song and the crash of a plate. It did not deliver much of a stir.

Oscar Apfel, who directed the affair, is now a character actor in modern talkies. He had been handling Edison films for a year when the inventor called him to Orange to work on a combination of his two creations, the Edison phonograph record and the Edison celluloid film. The subject could only run seven minutes, the capacity of a record-face. The method was crude. The camera was connected with a wire pulley to the phonograph machine, thus securing some synchronization. A huge horn connected with the phonograph was above the players' heads, out of range of the camera. When shown, the two devices were strung together by a wire behind the screen and all ended well if both started at once.

IN A WHIRL OF SPLENDOR, Ruth Harrison, of Harrison and Fisher, an Artistic and Talented Youngster from 'Way Out West,' Who Has Clicked in the Big Houses of the Big Burg as a Versatile and Vigorous Danseuse, Shown in a Remarkable Solo Figure.

Cosmo Hamilton, playwright, on the air, reminiscing about J. M. Barrie, says a returned big-game shooter, at the Savage Club in London, took the floor and held it—and talked on and on and on about an adventure, and came to "the lion chased us to the brink of a yawning chasm"—when Sir James inquired: "Was it yawning before you arrived?"

In 1732, in the Weekly Post Boy, New York's first gossip sheet, appeared the following paid ad:

To be seen in the house of Mr. Hamilton Howatson at the Sign of the Spread Eagle, near Whitehall Slip, Punch's Opera and many other Curiosities too tedious to Mention.

A lot of them haven't grown any less tedious in the 200 intervening years.

Managers of theatres in China playing American or Continental pictures have to give a lecture and demonstration before the start, elucidating what a kiss is, how it's operated, what it's intended to accomplish (and that's a big subject!), because Chinese don't kiss and have no notion of the significance of the darn thing when we do. Well, all I can say is, they don't know what they're missing.

Margaret Anglin, who admits she is 36 (and not in magazine ads) came to New York 40 years ago to take what then were elegantly called "elocution lessons," and the school was at the Northeast corner of Broadway and 40th Street, which is exactly where the WOR New York studio is housed, and in that studio Miss Anglin has made radio a finer institution for her contribution to it.

The platinum blonde sweetie of a chiseling Times Square gambler gifted him with platinum cufflinks bearing a facsimile of his initials. One of the boys who has carried many of the gals' I. O. U. tabs, observed: "Just where those initials must feel most at home—on the cuff!"

VICTORY SMILE

Happy, Indeed, Is Mrs. Grace Caroline Thomasson, as This Photo Shows. It Was Taken After One of the Many Court Battles from Which She Emerged Triumphant.

UNTIL he was 73 years old, Hugh Thomasson had successfully retained his bachelorhood while amassing one of the biggest private fortunes in St. Louis.

His formula was simple enough: One merely had to keep so busy outwitting shrewd capitalists that there would be little time left to match wits with shrewd altar-conscious young women.

But trouble began the moment Mr. Thomasson retired from active business. Once the "in conference" barrier was removed from his secluded life, it became easy for Dan Cupid to find an entrance. Thus it was that eight days after pretty Mrs. Grace Caroline Mahood met him, Bachelor Thomasson found himself married.

From then on his life became a bewildering maze of law suits, petitions, subpoenas, sanity hearings, fights with his bride and honeymoons. Indeed, the whole pattern of Mr. Thomasson's life changed to such an extent that he might have found it convenient to live in the county courthouse. Even now the solution of his tangled problems is puzzling the community which once knew him only as a very rich, respectable and quiet business man.

What happened in Mr. Thomasson's life until he was 73 years old can be summed up in a sentence: He worked hard, invested in real estate and made a lot of money.

What happened AFTER he was 73 years old takes up the rest of this story.

First of all, Mr. Thomasson was living quietly in his own fashionable hotel, the Fairmont. For recreation he played a violin.

One day a bellboy handed him a note. It was from a young woman living in the hotel, who said she was interested in studying the violin and that she and Mr. Thomasson had mutual friends. The lonely, aged bachelor decided to see her.

Grace Caroline Mahood was decidedly pretty. An attractive blonde. And she DID like to hear Mr. Thomasson play the violin. Really, it was difficult to believe that although she was only 29 years old she had been married three times previously.

One husband died soon after their marriage, and the other two she divorced. She operated a tea room in Youngstown, Ohio, for a time and, when it failed, went to St. Louis to study the violin. A friend of hers, Conrad Frederick, also came to St. Louis, and later was to become the family chauffeur.

Eight days of exchanging ideas, of telling each other their life histories and of violin music. Then suddenly a visit to the home of the Justice of the Peace in Waterloo, Illinois, famous center for quick and easy marriages.

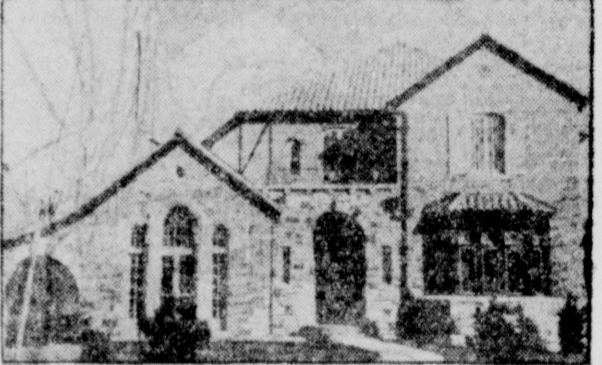

Finding himself with a wife, former Bachelor Thomasson realized that wives

About a Rich Old Bridegroom's Amazing, Amusing Whirl of Love-and-Legal Whirligigs

For 73 Years He Was a Bachelor, Then Along Came a Bewitching Blonde---and Trouble

Elderly Hugh Thomasson Looks Sleepy. But Perhaps He Is Only Dizzy from the Whirl of Legal Papers That Have Been Swimming About His Head Since Marriage. Life, of Late, Has Been for Him One Lawsuit After Another.

DISENCHANTED "COTTAGE" This is the $35,000 Spanish Home, is a Fashionable St. Louis Suburb, Which Millionaire Thomasson Bought for His Young Bride. Because of Their Many "Honeymoons" They Seldom Live There.

have to be fed, clothed and pampered. He gave Grace Caroline a $5,000 automobile, paid a $400 hotel bill she owed and overwhelmed her with a check for $10,000. Then he bought her a $35,000 Spanish home in the fashionable suburb of Clayton.

After that he gave her a note for $25,000, a life settlement to pay her $1,000 a month, nearly $100,000 in jewelry and furs—and little things like that.

And then he yelled "uncle." That is, he filed an annulment suit, charging he had been kidnaped and tricked into marriage and out of money. Grace Caroline filed a counter suit for alimony.

Two days before the scheduled date of the trial the Thomassons were reported missing. Police and attorneys for both sides made a frantic search. The two were found in Kansas City, and to the consternation of all concerned, quietly announced it was all a mistake, or something. They really were very happy, hadn't the slightest intention of parting and were on their second honeymoon.

But Mr. Thomasson's attorney, Stephen C. Rogers, and his second cousin, Mrs. Ella F. Boles, didn't believe it. They had Mrs. Thomasson arrested on a kidnapping charge. At the same time Mrs. Boles sought to be appointed Thomasson's guardian, charging he was of unsound mind and incapable of handling his own affairs.

About this time the Thomassons complicated affairs by getting married again—this time by a Methodist minister. But that didn't end their troubles, for the series of suits and petitions became more bewildering than ever.

An involuntary bankruptcy suit was filed against Thomasson by his creditors. His funds were tied up to such an extent he was forced to ask for an allowance of $150.

Mrs. Boles withdrew her guardianship petition, but the family chauffeur, Conrad Frederick promptly filed a suit to set aside Thomasson's marriage and other contracts and to order a sanity hearing for Thomasson. The chauffeur even wanted to be appointed a trustee!

Finally the finances of Thomasson were placed in the hands of three receivers, but the latter became so upset by the tangle of affairs that they resigned. Then another cousin, Elmira Townsend, filed a competency suit against Thomasson and Mrs. Thomasson's former attorney sued her, claiming she agreed to give him half of the property she obtained from her husband.

If all this sounds involved it is only a faint reflection of the turmoil of events that swarmed about Mr. Thomasson within a few short months. Eventually all the cases (with the exception of the competency charge) came to trial and were dismissed in Circuit Court. The elderly capitalist and his young wife agreed to share equally in the estate.

That seemed the end of the comedy drama, but recently the court declared Thomasson mentally unsound and appointed a Public Administrator as his guardian. Immediately relatives filed suit to set aside the appointment of a guardian. Then the St. Louis County Trust Company filed suit to set aside deed of trust on the Thomasson property and arrested Mrs. Thomasson to insure her appearance in court.

All this could go on indefinitely, but it has to end sometime. The trust company's case is still pending and the Thomassons, when last heard from, had gone on another "honeymoon."

Painting of Christ That Mystified London

UNUSUAL, indeed, is the painting reproduced in the photo at right. It is a "problem" picture of Christ and has created a stir throughout artistic and religious circles in England. Beside it stands its proud creator, Will Longstaff.

In spite of its unorthodox features, the picture has been hailed as a masterpiece. It shows Christ as a muscular, athletic young man, wearing a small military moustache and an imperial beard. The figure is floating in the clouds, arms outstretched over two hemispheres, as though in benediction.

Stranger still, however, is the manner in which Artist Longstaff was commissioned to paint the picture. One day Mr. Longstaff's telephone bell rang. "Paint me a picture of the Christ," said a man's voice. Mr. Longstaff, satisfied that his mysterious patron was able to pay, carried out the commission.

The mystery man called several times to watch the progress of the work—but never revealed his name. Finally, when he paid, it was in cash. Then he made a curious request. He asked that the picture be sent to Dr. F. W. Norwood, pastor of City Temple, London, and that he preach a sermon on it. Dr. Norwood did—and the subject of his sermon was "If Thou Hadst Known." Meanwhile the name of the donor was never learned.

Artist Will Longstaff, of London, Standing Beside His Unusual Painting, Showing Christ Wearing Military Moustache and Imperial Beard. As He Floats in Clouds, Christ's Hands Are Raised in Benediction Above the Two Hemispheres.

It was 1916... Elliott Dexter Kissed the Hand of America's Sweetheart, Mary Pickford, as Part of His Part in "A Romance of the Redwoods." One of the Greatest Pictures Ever Made by Cecil B. De Mille. And What's Become of Dexter, Who Left Films in 1919 After a Breakdown?

Riga's Daring Scheme to Steal Reno's Trade With "Dollar Divorces"

Inside Details of How a Famous European Impresario's Decree Started the Elite's Rush to the Newest 'Divorce Paradise' on the Baltic Sea

Copyright, Keystone View Co.

The "Dollar Divorce" Courthouse in Riga, Latvia, Latest Fashionable Mecca for the Mismatched and the Incompatible of All Nations.

DIVORCES—one dollar each! This astonishing low-priced bid for the creme de la creme of the world's divorce trade has just been made by Riga, capital of far-off Latvia. It will be interesting to see what answer the rival divorce "mills" of Paris, Madrid, Reno, Mexico and Russia will make to this challenge.

Riga has already cut deeply into their trade. When Max Reinhardt, master showman of Central Europe, won a decree recently in a Latvian court, the wild rush of the fashionable and the famous to the Baltic seaport began in earnest.

That you can do matrimonial division for one hundred American pennies in Riga did not interest the elite of the Old and New Worlds half so much as what that news stood for. The dollar divorce intrigued both men and women as a symbol of the ease and simplicity with which they could definitely silence the last unhappy echoes of their wedding bells.

Numerous American social lights of the first magnitude have tripped into the northern city during the past few months. Among these was no less a personage than the former Alice Muriel Astor, only daughter of the late John Jacob Astor. Princess Alice is said to be seeking her freedom from Prince Serge Obolensky, her exiled Russian blueblood husband.

In Riga all a would-be divorcee has to do is to establish residence in the old Slav city for one year and testify that she hasn't lived with her legal mate for three years. With that—Presto! the thing is done.

Latvia has a chilly, unpleasant climate, but it isn't so bad if the visitor only drops in for twenty-four hours or so at a time. You come in one night and the next morning you're in court, filing your papers and telling it to the judge.

One year later you come back. You have proof of your residence for the entire twelve months even if you have been following the social crowd's wanderings from Vienna to Paris, from the Riviera to Capri and St. Moritz all that time.

Under the Latvian law the presumption is that any couple who have been separated for three years or more have no desire to continue in what is sometimes called conjugal bliss. The man or woman can claim a divorce whether the other consents or not. If you don't know where your legal wife or husband is, why bother? Ignorance of the other's whereabouts is sufficient divorce grounds—in Riga.

Reinhardt's successful suit for divorce came as a bombshell to the thousands who have smiled at the impresario's long, but vain, efforts to wriggle free of Elsa Heims, the woman to whom he had been married for two decades and by whom he has two sons. Throughout Central Europe it is whispered that the producer of "The Miracle," unforgettable masterpiece of Continental stagecraft, has for years desired to wed Helene Thimig, the beautiful Viennese dramatic star.

But Elsa Heims—who twenty-five years ago was Germany's outstanding star—was recalcitrant. She said Herr Max would never win his freedom from her.

So it was that the great producer journeyed a little over a year ago to Riga, one of the most obscure capitals of Europe. The Berlin wizard only did this, it is said, after his attorneys had scoured the entire world to find a place where Max could be absolutely certain of getting his divorce.

Max bought a fine house in Riga. He even put on several shows at the Riga Municipal Theatre to the delight and appreciation of the Latvians. He stayed in dreary old Riga for a whole year after filing his papers.

And what did his furious wife do then? Why, she, speaking through the attorneys that until then had won her almost every skirmish with Max, said, "He can't marry Helene, after all. The divorce is illegal."

She said it good and loud, with all sorts of legal documents, writs, summonses and subpoenas. The squabble revolved around a single question: Was Max Reinhardt, a bonafide citizen of Latvia?

If he wasn't, Mrs. Reinhardt's attorneys held that his "dollar divorce," though as good as gold in Riga, wasn't worth the foolscap it was printed on in Germany and Austria. How important this point was one gathers when taking into consideration that the European Belasco's main possessions—his theatres, his beautiful country home and his limousine, priceless antiques and rare paintings lay in those two countries. Consequently, all of these luxuries could be confiscated by their client.

To all this the legal advisers of the Berlin "miracle man" made the astonishing answer, that Reinhardt was a "stateless!"

Asked what they meant by that they pointed out that Max had been born in Pozsony, Hungary, a city which became part of Czechoslovakia after the World War.

A Cubistic Conception of Max Reinhardt, Wizard of the European Stage, Whose Recent Riga Decree Started the Slav City's Vogue as the "Reno of the Baltic."

A Panoramic View of Riga's Skyline, the First Sight That Greets Divorce-Seekers' Eyes as They Sail into the Old Baltic Harbor.

The next thing poor Max knew bailiffs were taking possession of his wonderful $10,000 piano, his costly limousine and also many other things of which he is very fond. Back to the courts went his legal batteries and opened up with big verbal barrages.

They said this seizing procedure was both unjustified and heartless. Heinz Adamez, financial manager of the Reinhardt theatre concern, testified that all of the company's theatres were teetering on the brink of bankruptcy and that, as a result, their guiding genius, "the gentleman with the golden theatrical touch," had practically no income.

An anonymous charge of perjury was promptly placed against the calamity-howling Heinz. At this writing experts were examining the finances of Max's many projects and it was predicted that, however this inventor turns out, the "Miracle Man" would be left free to marry his beloved Helene Thimig.

Swiss beauty, whom he plans to train to become the greatest woman conductor in the world.

D'Albert in Latvia successfully disentangled himself from Frau Hilda Fels, the sixth bride of his career, no less. Recently he told a newspaper correspondent that he had had enough of wedding bells. To him women had brought nothing but excitement and trouble. Then suddenly on March 4 D'Albert died while planning to lead a seventh bride to the altar, this time the lovely young Virginia Sanetti.

In the United States the divorce question has for a long time proved a major sociological problem. Each year five hundred thousand Americans are separated by court decrees. Morris L. Ernst, the well-known New York attorney, estimates that at least a half-million more split the matrimonial bonds either by private agreements or by legal separations. The reasons so many wealthy residents go to places like Riga, Paris or Mexico for their decrees is because of the confusing differences between the divorce laws of the various commonwealths of their own country.

Often people divorced in one State find that they are considered legally married in another. If they marry again they may be arrested in the second State as bigamists. A man may start action for divorce in one State and find that his wife has already won a decree in another.

The complications often are endless. One court will say, "No alimony and the man gets the custody of the children!" In another part of the country a second court may be saying, "The woman gets the little ones and one-third of her husband's income."

Often foreign divorces are held illegal in the United States. However, except in the instances of Nevada and a few other States, the plaintiff finds speedier and simpler relief in a foreign tribunal.

There certainly is a lot of money in the racket for the town chosen. Paris lawyers have made millions getting divorces for rich Americans. Madrid threw its hat into the international divorce ring a few weeks ago when the Cortes passed a new bill providing for six-month decrees. There the final petition is now granted by mutual consent. However, it takes half a year for the papers to become effective.

Drab old Riga has lately been sprucing up under the spur of its thriving new trade. A few years ago the ancient Slav city was hardly a place to go without a flashlight, but today shows, cabarets and cafes are to be found in every corner of the seaport.

Some visitors come for a day and stay for weeks. It has become very chic to spend a short, gay season in Riga. Some of the "best people" are there.

Ulamorous Helene Thimig, the Viennese Dramatic Star, Whom Max Reinhardt Has Long Wanted to Marry, According to His Recently Divorced Wife, Elsa Heims.

Statuesque Frau Reinhardt, Divorced Wife of the Celebrated Producer. Photographed with Her Two Young Sons.

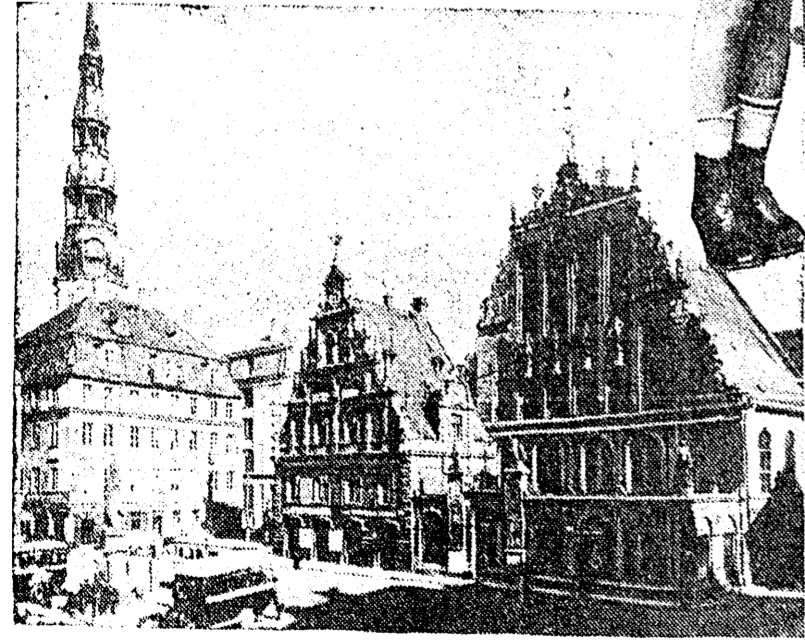

"So what?" asked Mrs. Reinhardt's barristers.

"Just this," answered their rivals, "all such persons were given the prerogative of choosing their native country. The date for doing this has long since expired. Hence, Max Reinhardt, having neglected to say what nation he was a citizen of, became a 'man without a country' until he swore allegiance to the Latvian flag."

"Oh, yeah?" yelled the angry attorneys of Elsa Heims. "We'll see about that, we will!"

Disgruntled Russian Couples in a Soviet Courtroom Signing the Papers Which Grant Them Immediate Divorce. Though This Marriage-Splitting Procedure Is Even Simpler Than the Latvian One, Few Americans Have Taken Advantage of It.

Old World Squares Like This in Riga, Latvia, Are Now Thronged with American and European Social and Theatrical Lights, Seeking Easy Divorce.

King Features Syndicate, Inc., 1933.

THE

cloudy, scattered east portion, cool-
light; Tuesday part-moderate southerly
cloudy, colder totally cloudy, colder

FIVE CENTS

EE

KILLED; SAID TO AD, HURT

fe Fatally In-
Roof Caves
Her

INJURED

oes Working
Also Are
Twister

April 25.—(P)—A
were killed, several
ed dead and a score
ured by a tornado
he northern end of
y.

65, a farm wife,
hospital of injuries
roof of her house
red in. Her hus-
working in the fields,
were three negroes
All were brought

Harris, 63, of Mil-
when brought to a

23, who said she
1, 200 pounds, told
picked up from the r home east of Milling through the air
several hundred feet
mud.

ie wife was killed,
resembled a "black astonishing speed

said, "hit our house
ar. Then, with a everything seemed to d on top of me. I
few seconds."

elpers on his farm
t of the wreckage
e, who died a short
ng the hospital.
e at first to estab-
n with Rosemark,
le and other com-
in the path of the

if, was not felt in
the wind was high,
rainstorm, accom-
uck here last night
was done.

on the outskirts of which Memphis is
e about nine miles
Moore and a crew
health department
of the tornado, as
s and police of-

osemark merchant,

Page Three

N AUTO
S DURING
ID IN SOUTH

April 25.—(P)—Eight
l in automobile ac-
th over the week-
shaps were comspite of summer
ght crowded high-

orida each reported
there was one each
tansas, Mississippi

atomobile near De-
the life of Frank essmer, Ala., and Linden, Ala., was ar collided with a t of Fellsmeire, Fla.,

r automobile overurne and Hugh Hall
lpley, Fla., by an truck his bicycle,
was killed at Little clash with a car
who was fleeing ries L. Scott of s hit and killed by t failed to stop.
lo of New Orleans
revoport, La., when r laden automo-
Charles M. Tulley
Miss, was found
after it hit a tele-

tier
otham

n Regan. He patted waited for Stang to

L. Regan decided at ay, that Stang was sisted his hammer
own in a sweeping
ill to the Stangian

sense calamity. He v missed his head
of speaking) hair;
couple of hairs at

blackguard," he ed to do me under,
with you." In his
ang invents an oc-

hand Stang caught
le-and unlike Re-

Page Three

Riga's Daring Scheme to Steal Reno's Trade With "Dollar Divorces"

Inside Details of How a Famous European Impresario's Decree Started the Elite's Rush to the Newest 'Divorce Paradise' on the Baltic Sea

Copyright, Keystone View Co.

The "Dollar Divorce" Courthouse in Riga, Latvia, Latest Fashionable Mecca for the Mismatched and the Incompatible of All Nations.

DIVORCES—one dollar each! This astonishing low-priced bid for the creme de la creme of the world's divorce trade has just been made by Riga, capital of far-off Latvia. It will be interesting to see what answer the rival divorce "mills" of Paris, Madrid, Reno, Mexico and Russia will make to this challenge.

Riga has already cut deeply into their trade. When Max Reinhardt, master showman of Central Europe, won a decree recently in a Latvian court the wild rush of the fashionable and the famous to the Baltic seaport began in earnest.

That you can do matrimonial division for one hundred American pennies in Riga did not interest the elite of the Old and New Worlds half so much as what that news stood for. The dollar divorce intrigued both men and women as a symbol of the ease and simplicity with which they could definitely silence the last unhappy echoes of their wedding bells.

Numerous American social lights of the first magnitude have tripped into the northern city during the past few months. Among these was no less a personage than the former Alice Muriel Astor, only daughter of the late John Jacob Astor. Princess Alice is said to be seeking her freedom from Prince Serge Obolensky, her exiled Russian blueblood husband.

In Riga all a would-be divorcee has to do is to establish residence in the old Slav city for one year and testify that she hasn't lived with her legal mate for three years. With that—Presto! the thing is done.

Latvia has a chilly, unpleasant climate, but it isn't so bad if the visitor only drops in for twenty-four hours or so at a time. You come in one night and the next morning you're in court, filing your papers and telling it to the judge.

One year later you come back. You have proof of your residence for the entire twelve months even if you have been following the social crowd's wanderings from Vienna to Paris, from the Riviera to Capri and St. Moritz all that time.

Under the Latvian law the presumption is that any couple who have been separated for three years or more have no desire to continue in what is sometimes called connubial bliss. The man or woman can claim a divorce whether the other consents or not. If you don't know where your legal wife or husband is, why bother? Ignorance of the other's whereabouts is sufficient divorce grounds—in Riga.

Reinhardt's successful suit for divorce came as a bombshell to the thousands who have smiled at the impresario's long, but vain, efforts to wriggle free of Elsa Heims, the woman to whom he had been married for two decades and by whom he has two sons.

Throughout Central Europe it is whispered that the producer of "The Miracle," unforgettable masterpiece of Continental stagecraft, has for years desired to wed Helene Thimig, the beautiful Viennese dramatic star.

But Elsa Heims—who twenty-five years ago was Germany's outstanding star—was recalcitrant. She said Herr Max would never win his freedom from her.

So it was that the great producer journeyed a little over a year ago to Riga, one of the most obscure capitals of Europe. The Berlin wizard only did this, it is said, after his attorneys had scoured the entire world to find a place where Max could be absolutely certain of getting his divorce.

Max bought a fine house in Riga. He even put on several shows at the Riga Municipal Theatre to the delight and appreciation of the Latvians. He stayed in dreary old Riga for a whole year after filing his papers.

And what did his furious wife do then? Why, she, speaking through the attorneys that until then had won her almost every skirmish with Max, said, "He can't marry Helene, after all. The divorce is illegal."

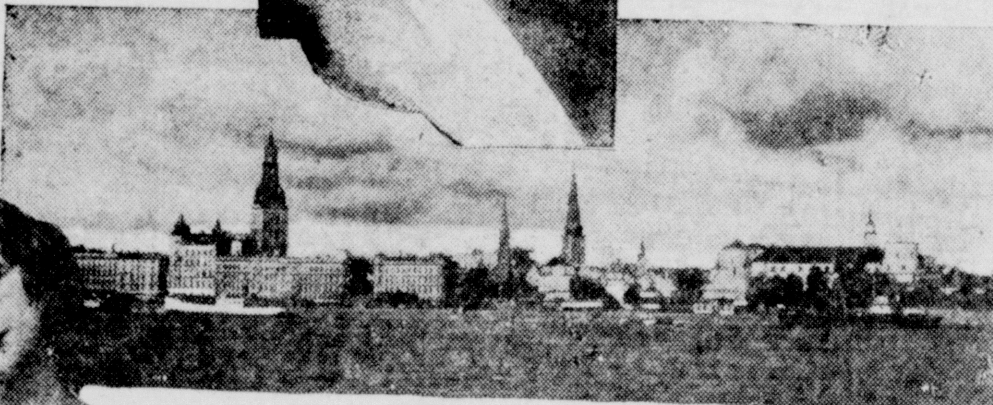

She said it good and loud, with all sorts of legal documents, writs, summonses and subpoenas. The squabble revolved around a single question: Was Max Reinhardt, a bonafide citizen of Latvia?

If he wasn't, Mrs. Reinhardt's attorneys held that his "dollar divorce," though as good as gold in Riga, wasn't worth the foolscap it was printed on in Germany and Austria. How important this point was when taking into consideration that the European Belasco's main possessions—his theatres, his beautiful country home and his priceless antiques and rare paintings lay in those two countries. Consequently, all of these luxuries could be confiscated by their client.

To all this the legal advisers of the Berlin "miracle man" made the astonishing answer that Reinhardt was a "stateless!"

Asked what they meant by that they pointed out that Max had been born in Pozsony, Hungary, a city which became part of Czechoslovakia after the World War.

A Cubistic Conception of Max Reinhardt, Wizard of the European Stage, Whose Recent Riga Decree Started the Slav City's Vogue as the "Reno of the Baltic."

A Panoramic View of Riga's Skyline, the First Sight That Greeted Divorce-Seekers' Eyes as They Sail into the Old Baltic Harbor.

The next thing poor Max knew bailiffs were taking possession of his wonderful $10,000 piano, his costly limousine and also many other things of which he is very fond. Back to the courts went his legal batteries and opened up with big verbal barrages.

They said this seizing procedure was both unjustified and heartless. Heinz Adametz, financial manager of the Reinhardt theatre concern, testified that all of the company's theatres were teetering on the brink of bankruptcy and that, as a result, their guiding genius, "the gentleman with the golden theatrical touch," had practically no income.

An anonymous charge of perjury was promptly placed against the calamity-howling Heinz. At this writing experts were examining the finances of Max's many projects and it was predicted that, however this inventory turns out, the "Miracle Man" would be left free to marry his beloved Helene Thimig.

Glamorous Helene Thimig, the Viennese Dramatic Star, Whom Max Reinhardt Has Long Wanted to Marry, According to His Recently Divorced Wife, Elsa Heims.

Other familiar figures of Europe's amusement world lately won divorces in Riga. Eugene d'Albert, famous French composer and pianist, was one of these and Felix Weingartner, the internationally illustrious concert orchestra conductor, another. Both are in their sixties and both are seasoned voyagers on the stormy sea of matrimony.

Weingartner divorced his fourth wife and shortly after married No. 5, Carner Studer, a twenty-three-year-old whom he plans to train to become the greatest woman conductor in the world.

D'Albert in Latvia successfully disentangled himself from Frau Hilda Fels, the sixth bride of his career, no less. Recently he told a newspaper correspondent that he had had enough of wedding bells. To him women had brought nothing but excitement and trouble. Then suddenly on March 4 D'Albert died while planning to lead a seventh bride to the altar, this time the lovely young Virginia Sanetti.

In the United States the divorce question has for a long time proved a major sociological problem. Each year five hundred thousand Americans are separated by court decrees. Morris L. Ernst, the well-known New York attorney, estimates that at least a half-million more split the matrimonial bonds either by private agreements or by legal separations. The reasons so many wealthy residents go to places like Riga, Paris or Mexico for their decrees is because of the confusing differences between the divorce laws of the various commonwealths of their own country.

Often people divorced in one State find that they are considered legally married in another. If they marry again they may be arrested in the second State as bigamists. A man may start action for divorce in one State and find that his wife has already won a decree in another.

The complications often are endless. One court will say, "No alimony and the man gets the custody of the children!" In another part of the country a second court may be saying, "The woman gets the little ones and one-third of her husband's income."

Often foreign divorces are held illegal in the United States. However, except in the instances of Nevada and a few other States, the plaintiff finds speedier and simpler relief in a foreign tribunal.

There certainly is a lot of money in the racket for the town chosen. Paris lawyers have made millions getting divorces for rich Americans. Madrid threw its hat into the international divorce ring a few weeks ago when the Cortes passed a new bill providing for six-month decrees. There the final petition is now granted by mutual consent. However, it takes half a year for the papers to become effective.

Drab old Riga has lately been sprucing up under the spur of its thriving new trade. A few years ago the ancient Slav city was hardly a place to go without a flashlight, but today shows, cabarets and cafes are to be found in every corner of the seaport.

Some visitors come for a day and stay for weeks. It has become very chic to spend a short, gay season in Riga. Some of the "best people" are there.

Statuesque Frau Reinhardt, Divorced Wife of the Celebrated Producer. Photographed with Her Two Young Sons.

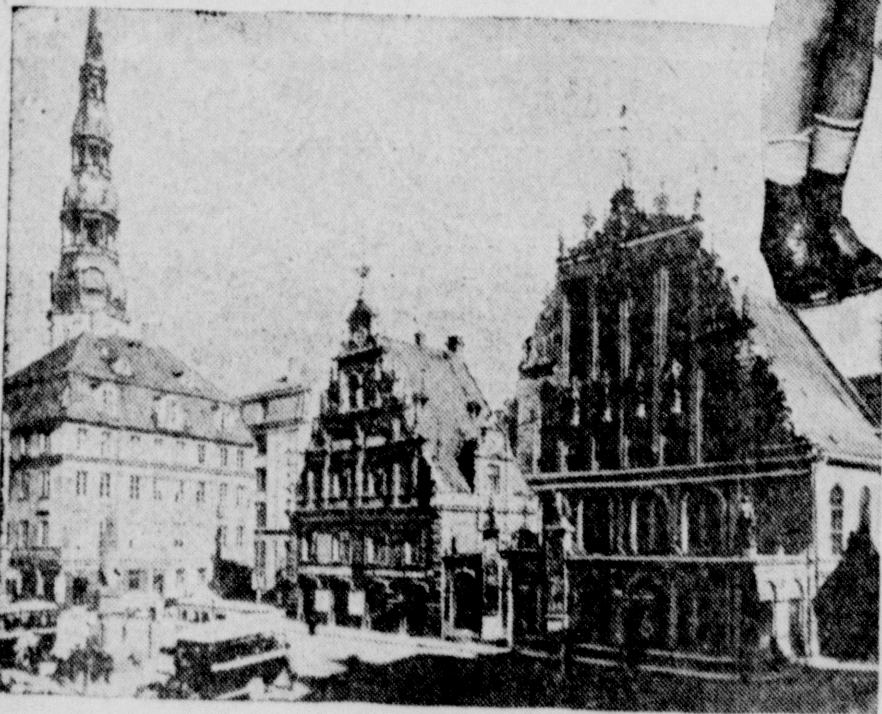

"So what?" asked Mrs. Reinhardt's barristers.

"Just this," answered their rivals, "all such persons were given the prerogative of choosing their native country. The date for doing this has long since expired. Hence, Max Reinhardt, having neglected to say what nation he was a citizen of, became a 'man without a country' until he swore allegiance to the Latvian flag!"

"Oh, yeah?" yelled the angry attorneys of Elsa Heims. "We'll see about that, we will!"

Disgruntled Russian Couples in a Soviet Courtroom Signing the Papers Which Grant Them Immediate Divorce. Though This Marriage-Splitting Procedure Is Even Simpler Than the Latvian One, Few Americans Have Taken Advantage of It.

Old World Squares Like This in Riga, Latvia, Are Now Thronged with American and European Social and Theatrical Lights, Seeking Easy Divorce.

FR

A & Root

One

with every Sa chased during
of April.

Reme

all our 26 e
well paid an
is required or

FR

A & W RO

One Free With 1
Purchased TAll employees have cates. All dishes, g ing utensils are
have the most mo
sandwich shop in vined. All food served by white h

A &

MAL'

MIL

10

Why Pay

Try our PROSPER
Orange Juice—H
Two Eggs—Butte
Grits—Coffee, T
Hot Chocolate on
Beer—Served 15
Daily

Alam

Coff

Served with

Cream. Try

A & Sandwic

I. W. ALLE

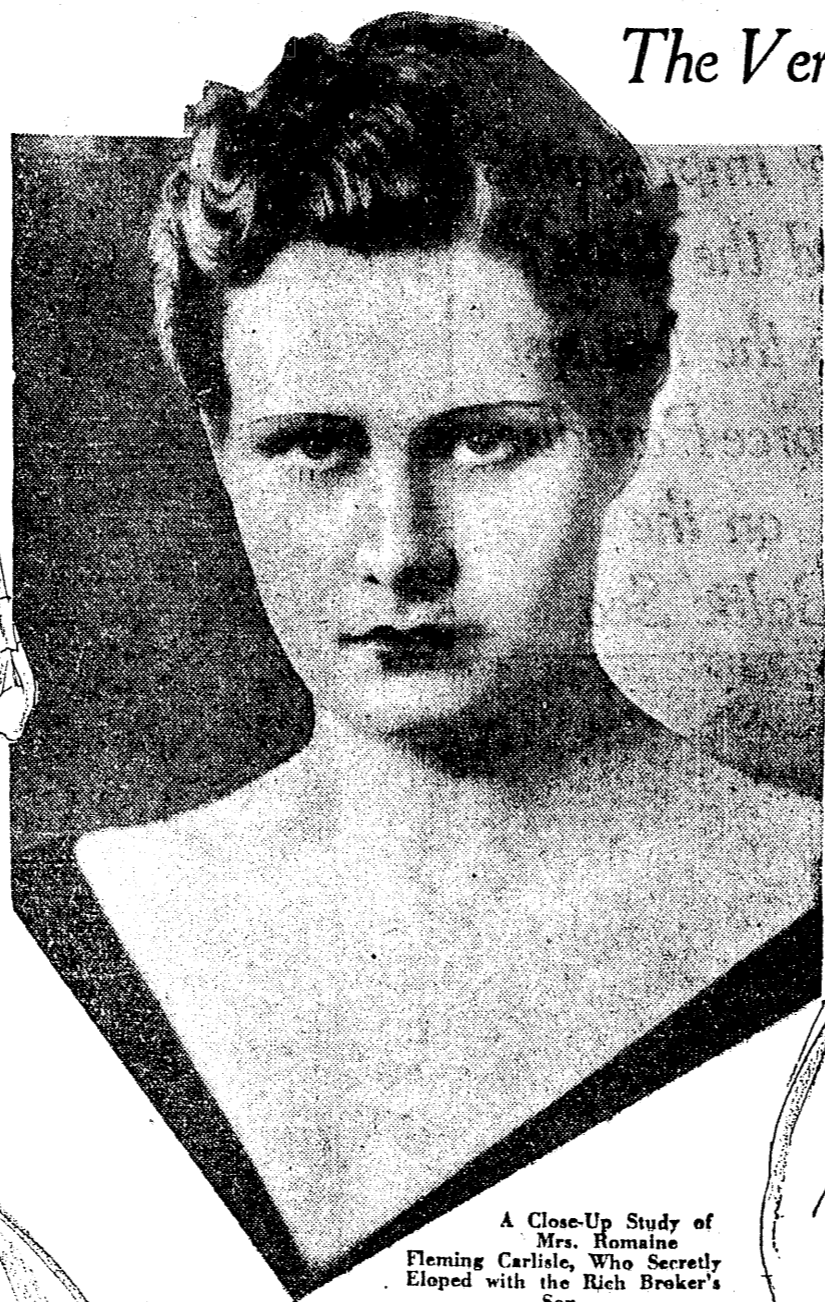

Follow the crowd
know why we
place in town

So the Millionaire's Son Wed the Pretty Taxi-Dancer

"DANCE?" asked the handsome young college boy.
"Let's go!"

When Romaine Fleming, pretty platinum blonde, hostess in a Broadway ten-cents-a-dance mill and Allan P. Carlisle, Harvard student and son of Jay F. Carlisle, one of New York's richest Wall Street brokers, exchanged this terse colloquy they little dreamed they were embarking on an adventure

The Very Up-to-Date Romance Involving Fashionable Park Avenue, the Great White Way, Millions, an Elopement and Love in a Tenement Apartment

A Close-Up Study of Mrs. Romaine Fleming Carlisle, Who Secretly Eloped with the Rich Broker's Son.

months. Recently, the young bridegroom decided to face his parents. The Carlises were very nice, "Bring the girl home," they said, "we'd like to meet her."

So the next evening, instead of dancing jazzy music under the glittering eyes of electric lights, Mrs. Carlisle, Jr., sat in the luxurious hotel drawing-room and conversed with her young husband's patrician parents.

"They were very nice but—" she told Helen later and the single word, "but," held a world of significance.

Allan never went back to Harvard. He made Romaine quit her taxi-dancing. "I'm going to work. I want to support my wife just as every man should."

They took up housekeeping in a tiny two-room flat in Greenwich Village—which is a romantic place, but many a social mile from life in the best New York hotels and Park Avenue evenings. Allan was given a small allowance. Whatever his family thought of that would bring them laughter and tears, love and bitterness.

Pretty Romaine Fleming, the Cinderella Taxi-Dancer of Broadway, Is Shown Assuming the Cold and Haughty Look with Which She Greeted Her Wealthy Father-in-Law's Proposal That She Divorce Her Husband and Live on a Large Alimony Allowance.

Allan and Romaine danced one number, two, three, ten in succession. Then they sat at a table, drank ginger ale and talked. And as they talked a man came up and placed a loving cup on their table. They had won a prize dancing contest he said. Allan hadn't known there was one.

The bright lights of the Broadway dance hall faded as they sat there. The music—jazzy music and old fashioned waltz tunes alike—grew very vague as the two young people, both just turned twenty, sat at the little marble-topped table and looked into each other's eyes.

Every time the music stopped an attendant came up to the millionaire broker's son and took a ten-cent ticket away from him. Because sitting out a dance with a hostess costs the same as a taxi or a wait.

Allan gave up the tickets mechanically. When they were gone, he thought more strange of them and hurried back to talk with Romaine Fleming who had come to Broadway a few months before from Greenwich, Pa.

It was the holiday season and each night—after he had excused himself from fashionable parties given by Park Avenue society people, Allan came back to dance and talk—mostly the latter—was his new, blonde friend.

Then Allan went back to college. His studies had always interested him but now he found them dull. He discovered it difficult to listen to the daily lectures on trigonometry, calculus and Latin.

A pretty, blonde head, Romaine's smiling, clear-cut features never left his mind. Allan wrote her every day, secretly visited her during every holiday and weekend. His parents he never told. The wealthy family who have a year-round suite in one of New York's most elite hotels mightn't understand, he feared.

School became more intolerable every day. The popular tune "Ten Cents a Dance" creased itself over and over in his mind. He saw Romaine dancing with young men and old, handsome men and ugly ones.

And Romaine? While she danced with other men she thought only of the good-looking boy up at Harvard. She talked of him perpetually to her sister Helen Emerson Fleming, also a taxi-dancer in the same Broadway hall.

There seemed nothing incongruous to Helen in the Cinderella romance. College boys and rich older men were the best patrons of the place in which both of them worked. Why shouldn't her sister fall in love with Allan Carlisle, young, good-looking and wealthy, and he with her?

But Helen and Romaine never quite realized how deeply in love the Wall Street magnate's son really was until last year's Christmas holidays. Then about one o'clock one morning Allan

Allan P. Carlisle, the Park Avenue Prince Charming, Who Spurned New York's Society Buds to Wed a Broadway Dancemill Hostess.

On Their Wedding Night the Cinderella Bride and Her Wealthy Groom Danced—But Not Together. The Taxi-Dancing Wife, at Left, Does Her "Ten-Cent-a-Dance" Stunt While, on Right, Her Harvard Student-Husband Attends a Park Avenue Society Ball.

told them of the State's five-day law. "We'll get married somehow," declared Allan, "if we have to ride to China to do it."

The couple took another taxi to Port Chester, New York. Day was breaking as they reached that town. They roused a clergyman and, with their taxi-driver and the preacher's wife as witnesses, were wed.

The next night the pretty bride, Mrs. Romaine Fleming Carlisle, was back at her usual occupation, whirling in the arms of strange gentlemen—at ten cents a dance!

"What else could I do?" she asked her sister. "Allan went to a party given by a group of Park Avenue debutantes and I didn't want to stay alone on my wedding night."

After the holidays, Allan went back to Harvard and Romaine continued her bunion-taxi work. The boy didn't like the idea much but he hadn't yet told his parents of the secret nuptials.

Weeks lengthened into his elopement, they didn't want him to starve.

One morning the elder Carlisle called on his daughter-in-law while Allan was out hunting a job.

"What's this?" the street broker asked Romaine to give up his son.

"He offered me more than any dance hall girl could ever possibly hope to make," she declared later. "He said he would pay all my expenses to Reno and that he would take Allan with him to Europe."

Romaine refused the bargain. A few days later the Carlises left for Europe's fashionable watering-places, leaving the pair to weave for themselves whatever destiny they could. Allan insisted that his wife should continue to live with him on his slender income added to what he could make at a job.

"I want to provide for my wife," was the way he put it, "I must have a job. Any job will do."

Interviewed in their humble two-room apartment, Romaine said, "I am the happiest girl in the world. I never thought when that good-looking young man asked me to dance that I would marry him."

"Of course the money part never entered my head. I have learned that the son of a millionaire can be terribly handicapped. I, too, must go to work."

The Whirlwind Nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Loveland, in Phoenix, Recently Surprised American Society. She Was the Ex-Wife of Theodore Pratt, Oil Millionaire, and He Was a Cowboy Guide.

King Features Syndicate, Inc., 1933.

Romaine (at Right) and Three of the Friends Who Are Aiding Her in Her Search for a Job.

So the Millionaire's Son Wed the Pretty Taxi-Dancer

"DANCE?" asked the handsome young college boy.
"Let's go!"

When Romaine Fleming, pretty platinum blonde, hostess in a Broadway ten-cents-a-dance mill and Allan P. Carlisle, Harvard student and son of Jay F. Carlisle, one of New York's richest Wall Street brokers, exchanged this terse colloquy they little dreamed they were embarking on an adventure

The Very Up-to-Date Romance Involving Fashionable Park Avenue, the Great White Way, Millions, an Elopement and Love in a Tenement Apartment

A Close-Up Study of Mrs. Romaine Fleming Carlisle, Who Secretly Eloped with the Rich Broker's Son.

months. Recently, the young bridegroom decided to face his parents. The Carlises were very nice, "Bring the girl home," they said, "we'd like to meet her."

So the next evening, instead of dancing jazzy music under the glittering eyes of electric lights, Mrs. Carlisle, Jr., sat in the luxurious hotel drawing-room and conversed with her young husband's patrician parents.

"They were very nice but—" she told Helen later and the single word, "but," held a world of significance.

Allan never went back to Harvard. He made Romaine quit her taxi-dancing. "I'm going to work. I want to support my wife just as every man should."

They took up housekeeping in a tiny two-room flat in Greenwich Village—which is a romantic place, but many a social mile from life in the best New York hotels and Park Avenue evenings. Allan was given a small allowance. Whatever his family thought of that would bring them laughter and tears, love and bitterness.

Pretty Romaine Fleming, the Cinderella Taxi-Dancer of Broadway, Is Shown Assuming the Cold and Haughty Look with Which She Greeted Her Wealthy Father-in-Law's Proposal That She Divorce Her Husband and Live on a Large Alimony Allowance.

Allan and Romaine danced one number, two, three, ten in succession. Then they sat at a table, drank ginger ale and talked. And as they talked a man came up and placed a loving cup on their table. They had won a prize dancing contest he said. Allan hadn't known there was one.

The bright lights of the Broadway dance hall faded as they sat there. The music—jazzy music and old fashioned waltz tunes alike—grew very vague as the two young people, both just turned twenty, sat at the little marble-topped table and looked into each other's eyes.

Every time the music stopped an attendant came up to the millionaire broker's son and took a ten-cent ticket away from him. Because sitting out a dance with a hostess costs the same as a fox-trot or a waltz.

Allan gave up the tickets mechanically. When they were gone, he bought more strings of them and hurried back to talk with Romaine Fleming who had come to Broadway a few months before from Greensburg, Pa.

It was the holiday season and each night—after he had excused himself from fashionable parties given by Park Avenue society people, Allan came back to dance and talk—mostly the latter—with his new, blonde friend.

Then Allan went back to college. His studies had always interested him but now he found them dull. He discovered it difficult to listen to the daily lectures on trigonometry, calculus and Latin.

A pretty, blonde head, Romaine's smiling, clean-cut features never left his mind. Allan wrote her every day, secretly visited her during every holiday and weekend. His parents he never told. The wealthy family who have a year-round suite in one of New York's most elite hotels mightn't understand, he feared.

School became more intolerable every day. The popular tune "Ten Cents a Dance" crooned itself over and over in his mind. He saw Romaine dancing with young men and old, handsome men and ugly ones.

And Romaine? While she danced with other men she thought only of the good-looking boy up at Harvard. She talked of him perpetually to her sister Helen Emerson Fleming, also a taxi-dancer in the same Broadway hall.

There seemed nothing incongruous to Helen in the Cinderella romance. College boys and rich older men were the best patrons of the place in which both of them worked, why shouldn't her sister fall in love with Allan Carlisle, young, good-looking and wealthy, and he with her?

But Helen and Romaine never quite realized how deeply in love the Wall Street magnate's son really was until last year's Christmas holidays. Then about one o'clock one morning Allan

Allan P. Carlisle, the Park Avenue Prince Charming, Who Spurned New York's Society Buds to Wed a Broadway Dancehall Hostess.

On Their Wedding Night the Cinderella Bride and Her Wealthy Groom Danced—But Not Together. The Taxi-Dancing Wife, at Left, Does Her "Ten-Cent-a-Dance" Stunt While, on Right, Her Harvard Student-Husband Attends a Park Avenue Society Ball.

told them of the State's five-day law. "We'll get married somehow," declared Allan, "if we have to ride to China to do it."

The couple took another taxi to Port Chester, New York. Day was breaking as they reached that town. They roused a clergyman and, with their taxi-driver and the preacher's wife as witnesses, were wed.

The next night the pretty bride, Mrs. Romaine Fleming Carlisle, was back at her usual occupation, whirling in the arms of strange gentlemen—at ten cents a dance!

"What else could I do?" she asked her sister. "Allan went to a party given by a group of Park Avenue debutantes and I didn't want to stay alone on my wedding night."

After the holidays, Allan went back to Harvard and Romaine continued her bunion-taxi work. The boy didn't like the idea much but he hadn't yet told his parents of the secret nuptials.

Weeks lengthened into his elopement, they didn't want him to starve.

One morning the elder Carlisle called on his daughter-in-law while Allan was out hunting a job. The Wall Street broker asked Romaine to give up his son.

"He offered me more than any dance hall girl could ever possibly hope to make," she declared later. "He said he would pay all my expenses to Reno and that he would take Allan with him to Europe."

Romaine refused the bargain. A few days later the Carlises left for Europe's fashionable watering-places, leaving the pair to weave for themselves whatever destiny they could. Allan insisted that his wife should continue to live with him on his slender income added to what he could make at a job.

"I want to provide for my wife," was the way he put it, "I must have a job. Any job will do."

Interviewed in their humble two-room apartment, Romaine said, "I am the happiest girl in the world. I never thought when that good-looking young man asked me to dance that I would marry him."

"Of course the money part never entered my head. I have learned that the son of a millionaire can be terribly handicapped. I, too, must go to work."

Allan asserted he was very happy to have married a poor girl instead of a daughter of the elite. "I have met many girls in society," he declared soberly, "who have disappointed me with their shallowness and affection. Romaine isn't like them. She doesn't drink or smoke and is quite happy and contented in our little apartment."

The Cinderella bride's sister is still taxi-dancing on Broadway. "Suppose Romaine did marry a rich man's son?" she said. "What of it? For a girl who wants to marry a wealthy man there's no place like a ballroom. I meet about 900 men a week—all kinds, with a good sprinkling of well-to-do ones. Why, I've turned down a couple of millionaires myself."

Another love romance that recently startled American social circles was the one that culminated recently in the marriage of the former Mrs. Theodore Pratt and Alfred Loveland, twenty-three-year-old cowboy guide. The millionaires engaged Loveland as a chauffeur and soon afterwards a romance developed.

The Whirlwind Nuptials of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Loveland, in Phoenix, Recently Surprised American Society. She Was the Ex-Wife of Theodore Pratt, Oil Millionaire, and He Was a Cowboy-Guide.

Romaine (at Right) and Three of the Friends Who Are Aiding Her in Her Search for a Job.

GRANNY looked up from her sewing as the gate-latch clicked. It might be the boy from the Baby Shoppe to take away the half dozen tiny dresses she had just finished; it might be the mailman leaving some advertisements, the only kind of mail Granny received nowadays; or it might be—Pepper! The thought that it might be Pepper lighted a spark of happiness in Granny's eyes as she watched the bend in the path.

If it should be Pepper, Granny would take precious care not to frighten her away again. It was nearly a week now since the girl had last come up the path.

And she was not coming now. It was only the mailman, Granny sighed as she went on with her sewing. She had so hoped it would be Pepper.

She was a mystery, was Pepper. She had been dropping in for a daily visit ever since the morning, way back in the early summer, when she stopped at the little house on the edge of town to ask for a drink. She was from New York, she worked at something or other in the winter, she had traveled a good deal and she was staying at a rather cheap hotel down by the lake. That much Granny knew, but no more. She didn't even know Pepper's last name.

"Just call me 'Pepper,' the girl had said, 'and I'll come a-runnin'!'"

And straight into Granny's heart she had run, slang, rouge, lipstick and all. There was something wistful and appealing under the port sophistication. Maybe she was lonely, too. Seemed funny, though, that she should leave the hotel, where there were other young folks, and come to see an old woman. But it was wonderful for Granny.

Then, in a moment of weakness, Granny had spoiled everything. She had given way to a longing to talk about her troubles—the loneliness of age, with family and friends all gone; her fear of the time when she could no longer work; her horror of ending her days as a charge upon the community.

Pepper had listened intently, a thoughtful pucker on her brow. She had expressed her sympathy in a style all her own, slangy but sincere. Then she had uncoiled her silken legs and whisked away; and she had not come back.

"No way to treat sunshine," Granny told herself wretchedly.

AGAIN the gate-latch clicked. Again Granny looked up, hopefully, eagerly. And this time she gave a glad cry. It was Pepper! She waved her hand as she passed the window, and Granny got up so quickly that she upset her basket. Her heart was beating fast, her hands were trembling as she hobbled to the door. Pepper had come again!

The cutest girl, she was. Perched there in her old place on the lumpy sofa, her red curls gay against the faded cushions, her big eyes shining, a new spatter of golden freckles across her saucy nose, she made such a pretty picture that Granny just sat and looked at her and forgot to sew. And it wasn't because of Granny's old eyes, or because she'd stayed away, after all. She'd been on a long hike up in the mountains and only just got back.

GRANNY'S relief was profound. She was a silly old woman, imagining all kinds of things that weren't true. She smiled fondly at Pepper. "The trip's done you lots of good, child. You've lost that sort of peaked look you had."

Pepper did not answer. She leaned closer, her elfin face curiously excited. "Listen, Granny! I've got something to tell you!"

Granny nodded happily. She always felt grateful when Pepper called her by that dear name.

"Remember what you was tellin' me the other day?" the girl began. "About that nice home for old ladies, up on the hill, where you'd go if you only had the money; and if you just had a room there, you'd be so happy, and not have to worry any more about goin' to the poorhouse?"

Granny flushed. It sounded terrible, spoken right out in plain words like that. "Why—why, of course," she stammered.

PEPPER PUTS ONE OVER

by Lillian Taft Maize

Granny's feet, lowered her voice mysteriously. "You see, Granny, the merchants of this town are puttin' on a popularity contest. For every dollar's worth of merchandise anybody buys, they get the right to put in ten votes. Now, these young fellows had been savin' their votes, see? Keepin' 'em to dump in at the last minute and put their cards on the table. She's a high school blonde that they're all kinda sweet on. I mean they were, up to last night. Then she quered herself, all right. She turned the leader of the bunch down cold and went to a dance with a ritzy chap from the Big Town."

"Dear, dear!" Granny chuckled. "And what will the boys do now?"

"Well, that's what they were holdin' that meetin' for, tryin' to figure out what to do with those votes. One thing they knew, and that was they weren't goin' to vote for any girl. You see, Granny, these boys are through with girls, forever! And just then was when I slid down the bank and right into the middle of the meetin'! After the first shock, they were glad I'd come, because I brought 'em a swell idea. I told 'em how they could get a kick out of it and do some good at the same time, and they're comin' over in a few minutes to talk it over with you."

"With—me?" Granny questioned blankly. "What for?"

"They're goin' to make you their candidate! And you're bound to win because one of their fathers has just furnished a big apartment house and they've got votes enough to run you miles ahead of everyone else."

"But—I don't understand!" stuttered Granny.

PEPPER fixed her with a stern eye. "Haven't you been listenin' to my spiel, Granny? They're comin' to see their candidate, to get your full name and so on. That means that you're the one who's goin' to win that big prize!"

Granny stared at the girl. "Granny's head was swimming. 'You mean—the berries?' she asked uncertainly.

hundred dollars! Five hundred big round dollars!"

Five hundred dollars! Granny's lips moved soundlessly, framing the words. They would give all that money to an old woman, just to get even with a girl!

"Why, that ain't right!" Granny said flatly. "It ain't fair!"

THE instant the word was spoken, Pepper whirled out to the porch, closing the door upon herself and her accomplices. The window was open and Granny could hear their voices. Once Pepper popped her head in to ask for Granny's full your proposition, gentlemen," she said formally, "and she's willin' to act as your candidate. Ain't you, Mrs. Bush?"

Granny stared helplessly at them. She wanted to say she wouldn't do it, but how could she, with Pepper's beguiling, threatening eyes upon her?

"Yes!" she quavered.

Pepper shook her head. "I'm afraid to let you. I've been thinkin' about it all afternoon, and I got cold feet myself. No tellin' what'll happen, and I'm not goin' to take any chances with you, Granny. But you're goin' to get that prize, just the same, believe me! I've got one grand and glorious idea, and it's goin' to work!"

Granny didn't understand about the cold feet or the glorious idea, but she did understand that she was not to get up and dress in the wide-skirted old black silk gown, the tiny, beaded-trimmed bonnet and the black mitts that Pepper had carefully men started a chant. It had a marching rhythm, and each phrase ended with an explosive burst of sound that soon provoked the amusement of the fun-loving element. They joined in the chant with a vigor.

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!" they roared.

"Bess a lona!"

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!"

"We want to see Bessalena!"

And then she was before them, hobbling across the stage on the arm of the mayor, looking down

at them through her glistening spectacles—a quaint little figure in a rusty black silk dress that swept voluminously from waist to floor.

THERE was a moment of tense silence. Then the house seethed with excitement. Voices were raised, and the mayor, looking at the audience, then raised his hand and in the gesture was a simple dignity before which the questioning ceased and the chant broke off abruptly.

"I am going to tell you two little stories," she said, "and then I am going to ask you a question, and I want you to tell me what you really think."

"I've sort of slipped out of things of late, livin' out on the Old Fern Road that's so rutty nobody ever drives that way any more. I'm so old that all the folks that were my friends are dead and gone, and the younger ones have just about forgotten me. I guess. But there's some that remember my husband, Nathan Bush, when he was a young merchant with a name for square dealin', and our daughter Evelyn, and our grandson Alan, who went away to the war with the other boys—and never came back."

"One story is about Alan when he was a little bit of a fellow, just startin' in to school; so full of spirits he couldn't sit still, and always playin' some pranks like boys do. One day he played a joke on a man that lived in a big house near the school, a queer man with a black scowl for children. And little Alan was all ready to streak it, fast as he could go, when he pointed to the smoke comin' out of the chimney that day and yelled: 'Mister! Your house is on fire!'"

"But the man didn't chase Alan. He turned and ran across the meadow to his house and up to the room where his young invalid wife lay in her bed, and brought her out safely in his arms. Because the house was on fire! And the child's joke saved that woman's life."

The old woman paused, and the audience waited, motionless, quiet.

THE other story is about another joke she went on after a moment. "This joke was played by bigger children who were thinkin' only of their game, and never dreamin' that they were bringin' about a misfortune on an old woman had been prayin' for, day and night. She was pretty near to the end of the road—no money, no friends, not goin' to be able to work much longer. And then those big children, havin' their joke, opened to her the door of a home where there's peace and rest for tired old women. Maybe she should have said 'No' when they asked her to play their game with them; maybe it wasn't right to let them go on with their joke. And I want you to tell me what you really think. Was it fair? Was it honest? Should she let 'em open that door?"

It sounded like one big voice, that hearty "Yes!" that followed her question.

She was holding out her hands to them. "Oh, I thank you with all my heart!" they heard her say as they quieted. "You've crowded my old years with your friendship, and I thank you—I bless you!"

The trembling hands fell at her sides and she turned slowly away. But the mayor detained her and again checked the applause. Someone had remembered, he said, that Mrs. Bush used to have a very nice voice, and they wanted him to ask her if she wouldn't sing one of the old songs.

As she hesitated, they loudly encouraged her. And at last she came back to them. She did want to do something for them, she said, and though she didn't have much of a voice any more, she'd do the best she could, and maybe they'd be good enough to help her on the chorus.

They were delighted to help her. Lastly they swung into the chorus, and were so pleased with the effect that they would not let her stop when she made her first bowing retreat. They wanted another song, and another.

It was not until the Mayor interposed, reminding them that they must not overtax her strength, that they allowed her to go. And as she hobbled away, waving the hand that held the check, heavy cheers surged across the foot-lights for Bessalena Butterfield Bush.

IT was long past midnight, but Granny was sitting bolt upright in her bed, a pink bank check in her hand, her eyes going alternately from it to Pepper, who was standing before the glass smearing her face with cream. It had given Granny a real turn to see someone that looked like herself walking into her room.

Most incredible of all was the story Pepper had told of impersonating Granny before that big audience, telling them some of the stories Granny had told Pepper, reminding them of bygone days, awakening old memories, so that some of them were coming up to shake hands with her.

"But I fit out before they got to me!" Pepper said gleefully, between wipes.

name. She could hear them spelling it out: Bessalena Butterfield Bush. And then Pepper's voice again, talking the slang jargon that was almost like a foreign language.

"Can't you put it over without havin' her come into the spotlight?" she was demanding.

"Aw, gee! They want to see the winner, don't they?"

"You remember what I said! She's old, and she ain't goin' down here to be gazed! If there's any chance of any rough stuff bein' pulled, I want to know it now!"

"Aw, there won't be anything like that! All she's gotta do is walk on, take her check and walk off again if she don't want to stay."

"She don't!" Pepper said crisply. "And you see to it that she sets off quick, before somebody starts something!"

There was a chorus of "Aws" and "Sures" much shuffling of feet, the click of the rate-and Pepper was back in the room, running over to Granny, hugging her excitedly.

"I knew you'd do it!" she exclaimed. "I knew you'd be a good sport!"

Granny was clasping and unclasping her trembling hands. "I can't do it, child!" she whimpered. "Face all those people. All those eyes starin' at me! I just can't!"

"You can, Granny!" Pepper said firmly. "You're goin' to lie down now and have a long nap. When you wake up, I'll have a nice supper ready for you, and then I'll help you dress."

The girl's strong arm was around her, lifting her out of her chair. The girl's strong will was carrying her on resistlessly.

Granny made one more plea. "I haven't got a thing to wear! All my clothes are as old-fashioned as the hills."

PEPPER chuckled. "Don't let that worry you any! I wouldn't let you wear new clothes if you had 'em!"

Tucked neatly into her bed, the shades of her little room drawn, and the door closed, Granny was supposed to drop off at once into a restful sleep. But for a long time her eyes were wide open, her white head shaking a ceaseless negative on the pillow, as she visualized the fantastic thing they expected her to do. "I can't!" she was murmuring, when sleep at last overcame her. "I just can't!"

They were the first words she spoke when she awakened, and Pepper, standing at the bedside looking down at her, nodded soothingly. "All right, Granny," she agreed. "You needn't!"

Granny gasped. "You—you mean—I don't have to do it?" she asked. "You're not goin' to—make me—get up on—that stage?"

Pepper shook her head. "I'm afraid to let you. I've been thinkin' about it all afternoon, and I got cold feet myself. No tellin' what'll happen, and I'm not goin' to take any chances with you, Granny. But you're goin' to get that prize, just the same, believe me! I've got one grand and glorious idea, and it's goin' to work!"

Granny didn't understand about the cold feet or the glorious idea, but she did understand that she was not to get up and dress in the wide-skirted old black silk gown, the tiny, beaded-trimmed bonnet and the black mitts that Pepper had carefully

men started a chant. It had a marching rhythm, and each phrase ended with an explosive burst of sound that soon provoked the amusement of the fun-loving element. They joined in the chant with a vigor.

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!" they roared.

"Bess a lona!"

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!"

"We want to see Bessalena!"

And then she was before them, hobbling across the stage on the arm of the mayor, looking down

at them through her glistening spectacles—a quaint little figure in a rusty black silk dress that swept voluminously from waist to floor.

THERE was a moment of tense silence. Then the house seethed with excitement. Voices were raised, and the mayor, looking at the audience, then raised his hand and in the gesture was a simple dignity before which the questioning ceased and the chant broke off abruptly.

"I am going to tell you two little stories," she said, "and then I am going to ask you a question, and I want you to tell me what you really think."

"I've sort of slipped out of things of late, livin' out on the Old Fern Road that's so rutty nobody ever drives that way any more. I'm so old that all the folks that were my friends are dead and gone, and the younger ones have just about forgotten me. I guess. But there's some that remember my husband, Nathan Bush, when he was a young merchant with a name for square dealin', and our daughter Evelyn, and our grandson Alan, who went away to the war with the other boys—and never came back."

"One story is about Alan when he was a little bit of a fellow, just startin' in to school; so full of spirits he couldn't sit still, and always playin' some pranks like boys do. One day he played a joke on a man that lived in a big house near the school, a queer man with a black scowl for children. And little Alan was all ready to streak it, fast as he could go, when he pointed to the smoke comin' out of the chimney that day and yelled: 'Mister! Your house is on fire!'"

"But the man didn't chase Alan. He turned and ran across the meadow to his house and up to the room where his young invalid wife lay in her bed, and brought her out safely in his arms. Because the house was on fire! And the child's joke saved that woman's life."

The old woman paused, and the audience waited, motionless, quiet.

THE other story is about another joke she went on after a moment. "This joke was played by bigger children who were thinkin' only of their game,

and never dreamin' that they were bringin' about a misfortune on an old woman had been prayin' for, day and night. She was pretty near to the end of the road—no money, no friends, not goin' to be able to work much longer. And then those big children, havin' their joke, opened to her the door of a home where there's peace and rest for tired old women. Maybe she should have said 'No' when they asked her to play their game with them; maybe it wasn't right to let them go on with their joke. And I want you to tell me what you really think. Was it fair? Was it honest? Should she let 'em open that door?"

It sounded like one big voice, that hearty "Yes!" that followed her question.

She was holding out her hands to them. "Oh, I thank you with all my heart!" they heard her say as they quieted. "You've crowded my old years with your friendship, and I thank you—I bless you!"

The trembling hands fell at her sides and she turned slowly away. But the mayor detained her and again checked the applause. Someone had remembered, he said, that Mrs. Bush used to have a very nice voice, and they wanted him to ask her if she wouldn't sing one of the old songs.

As she hesitated, they loudly encouraged her. And at last she came back to them. She did want to do something for them, she said, and though she didn't have much of a voice any more, she'd do the best she could, and maybe they'd be good enough to help her on the chorus.

They were delighted to help her. Lastly they swung into the chorus, and were so pleased with the effect that they would not let her stop when she made her first bowing retreat. They wanted another song, and another.

It was not until the Mayor interposed, reminding them that they must not overtax her strength, that they allowed her to go. And as she hobbled away, waving the hand that held the check, heavy cheers surged across the foot-lights for Bessalena Butterfield Bush.

IT was long past midnight, but Granny was sitting bolt upright in her bed, a pink bank check in her hand, her eyes going alternately from it to Pepper, who was standing before the glass smearing her face with cream. It had given Granny a real turn to see someone that looked like herself walking into her room.

Most incredible of all was the story Pepper had told of impersonating Granny before that big audience, telling them some of the stories Granny had told Pepper, reminding them of bygone days, awakening old memories, so that some of them were coming up to shake hands with her.

"But I fit out before they got to me!" Pepper said gleefully, between wipes.

name. She could hear them spelling it out: Bessalena Butterfield Bush. And then Pepper's voice again, talking the slang jargon that was almost like a foreign language.

"Can't you put it over without havin' her come into the spotlight?" she was demanding.

"Aw, gee! They want to see the winner, don't they?"

"You remember what I said! She's old, and she ain't goin' down here to be gazed! If there's any chance of any rough stuff bein' pulled, I want to know it now!"

"Aw, there won't be anything like that! All she's gotta do is walk on, take her check and walk off again if she don't want to stay."

"She don't!" Pepper said crisply. "And you see to it that she sets off quick, before somebody starts something!"

There was a chorus of "Aws" and "Sures" much shuffling of feet, the click of the rate-and Pepper was back in the room, running over to Granny, hugging her excitedly.

"I knew you'd do it!" she exclaimed. "I knew you'd be a good sport!"

Granny was clasping and unclasping her trembling hands. "I can't do it, child!" she whimpered. "Face all those people. All those eyes starin' at me! I just can't!"

"You can, Granny!" Pepper said firmly. "You're goin' to lie down now and have a long nap. When you wake up, I'll have a nice supper ready for you, and then I'll help you dress."

The girl's strong arm was around her, lifting her out of her chair. The girl's strong will was carrying her on resistlessly.

Granny made one more plea. "I haven't got a thing to wear! All my clothes are as old-fashioned as the hills."

PEPPER chuckled. "Don't let that worry you any! I wouldn't let you wear new clothes if you had 'em!"

Tucked neatly into her bed, the shades of her little room drawn, and the door closed, Granny was supposed to drop off at once into a restful sleep. But for a long time her eyes were wide open, her white head shaking a ceaseless negative on the pillow, as she visualized the fantastic thing they expected her to do. "I can't!" she was murmuring, when sleep at last overcame her. "I just can't!"

They were the first words she spoke when she awakened, and Pepper, standing at the bedside looking down at her, nodded soothingly. "All right, Granny," she agreed. "You needn't!"

Granny gasped. "You—you mean—I don't have to do it?" she asked. "You're not goin' to—make me—get up on—that stage?"

Pepper shook her head. "I'm afraid to let you. I've been thinkin' about it all afternoon, and I got cold feet myself. No tellin' what'll happen, and I'm not goin' to take any chances with you, Granny. But you're goin' to get that prize, just the same, believe me! I've got one grand and glorious idea, and it's goin' to work!"

Granny didn't understand about the cold feet or the glorious idea, but she did understand that she was not to get up and dress in the wide-skirted old black silk gown, the tiny, beaded-trimmed bonnet and the black mitts that Pepper had carefully

men started a chant. It had a marching rhythm, and each phrase ended with an explosive burst of sound that soon provoked the amusement of the fun-loving element. They joined in the chant with a vigor.

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!" they roared.

THE

cloudy, scattered east portion, cool-
th; Tuesday parti-cloudy, colder today cloudy, colder

IVE CENTS

EE

KILLED; SAID TO AD, HURT

fe Fatally In-
Roof Caves
Her

INJURED

Working
Also Are
Twister

April 25.—(P)—A
were killed, several
ed dead and a score
ured by a tornado
he northern end of

65, a farm wife,
hospital of injuries
roof of her house
ved in. Her hus-
working in the fields,
were three negroes
All were brought

Harris, 65, of Mil-
when brought to a

23, who said she
200 pounds, told
picked up from the home east of Mil-
through the air
several hundred feet
mud.

se wife was killed,
resembled a "black
y astonishing speed

said, "hit our house
er. Then, with a everything seemed to d on top of me. I
few seconds"

helpers on his farm
t of the wreckage
e, who died a short
og the hospital.
e at first to establish with Rosemark,
le and other com-
in the path of the

if, was not felt in
the wind was high,
rainstorm, accom-
count here last night
was done.

on the outskirts of
which Memphis is
e about nine miles
Moore and a crew
health department
of the tornado, as
s and police of-

Rosemark merchant,
Page Three

N AUTO
S DURING
ID IN SOUTH

April 25.—(P)—Eight in automobile ac-
th over the week-
ishaps were com-
spite of summer
ght crowded high-

rida each reported here was one each tansas, Mississippi
and—

automobile near De-
the life of Frank lessemer, Ala., and Linden, Ala., was ar collided with a t of Fellsme, Fla.,

r automobile over-
une and Hugh Hall
ipley, Fla., by an truck his bicycle.

was killed at Little clash with a car
who was fleeing ries L. Scott of hit and killed by e failed to stop le of New Orleans revert, La., when r laden automo-
Charles M. Tulley
Miss, was found
after it hit a tele-

tier
iotham

n Regan. He patted val for Stang to

L. Regan decided at ay, that Stang was oisted his hammer
own in a sweeping
ill to the Stangian

sense calamity. He
v missed his head
of speaking) hair;
couple of hairs at

blackguard," he sd to do me under,
with you." (In his
ang invents an oc-

le-and Stang caught
he—and unlike Re-

Page Three

GRANNY looked up from her sewing as the gate-latch clicked. It might be the boy from the Baby Shoppe to take away the half dozen tiny dresses she had just finished; it might be the mailman leaving some advertisements, the only kind of mail Granny received nowadays; or it might be—Pepper! The thought that it might be Pepper lighted a spark of happiness in Granny's eyes as she watched the bend in the path.

If it should be Pepper, Granny would take precious care not to frighten her away again. It was nearly a week now since the girl had last come up the path.

And she was not coming now. It was only the mailman, Granny sighed as she went on with her sewing. She had so hoped it would be Pepper.

She was a mystery, was Pepper. She had been dropping in for a daily visit ever since the morning, way back in the early summer, when she stopped at the little house on the edge of town to ask for a drink. She was from New York, she worked at something or other in the winter, she had traveled a good deal and she was staying at a rather cheap hotel down by the lake. That much Granny knew, but no more. She didn't even know Pepper's last name.

"Just call me 'Pepper,' the girl had said, "and I'll come a-runnin'!"

And straight into Granny's heart she had run, slang, rouge, lipstick and all. There was something wistful and appealing under the pert sophistication. Maybe she was lonely, too. Seemed funny, though, that she should leave the hotel, where there were other young folks, and come to see an old woman. But it was wonderful for Granny.

Then, in a moment of weakness, Granny had spoiled everything. She had given way to a longing to talk about her troubles—the loneliness of age, with family and friends all gone; her fear of the time when she could no longer work; her horror of ending her days as a charge up on the community.

Pepper had listened intently, a thoughtful pucker on her brow. She had expressed her sympathy in a style all her own, slangy but sincere. Then she had uncoiled her silken legs and whisked away; and she had not come back.

"No way to treat sunshine," Granny told herself wretchedly.

AGAIN the gate-latch clicked. Again Granny looked up, hopefully, eagerly. And this time she gave a glad cry. It was Pepper! She waved her hand as she passed the window, and Granny got up so quickly that she upset her basket. Her heart was beating fast, her hands were trembling as she hobbled to the door. Pepper had come again!

The cutest girl, she was. Perched there in her old place on the lumpy sofa, her red curls lay against the faded cushions, her big eyes shining, a new spattering of golden freckles across her saucy nose, she made such a pretty picture that Granny just sat and looked at her and forgot to sew. And it wasn't because of Granny's tale of woe that she'd stayed away, after all. She'd been on a long hike up in the mountains and only just got back.

GRANNY'S relief was profound. She was a silly old woman, imagining all kinds of things that weren't true. She smiled fondly at Pepper. "The trip's done you lots of good, child. You've lost that sort o' peaked look you had."

Pepper did not answer. She leaned closer, her elfin face curiously excited. "Listen, Granny! I've got something to tell you!"

Granny nodded happily. She always felt grateful when Pepper called her by that dear name.

"Remember what you was tellin' me the other day?" the girl began. "About that nice home for old ladies, up on the hill, where you'd go if you only had the money; and if you just had a room there, you'd be so happy, and not have to worry any more about goin' to the poorhouse?"

Granny flushed. It sounded terrible, spoken right out in plain words like that. "Why—why, of course," she stammered.

Pepper caught Granny's hands, work and all, and shook them vigorously. "Congrats, Mrs. Bush!" she caroled. "You can take a walk up to that home and pick you out a room, whenever you're ready!"

Granny stared at the girl. Surely she wouldn't joke about anything like that, but what in the world...

"You see it was like this!" Pepper was saying, the words fairly tumbling from her eager lips. "I was lyin' up on a cliff this morning, sunnin' myself after my swim, and a bunch of young fellas came and parked right below me on the beach. They'd come out there to hold an important meeting, and I'll say they used a lotta words. But I was half asleep and their chatter didn't register any until I heard 'em talkin' about the prize, and then I sure did tune in."

"The—prize?" Granny queried.

"You said it! Five hundred berries for the most popular girl in the town of Lorendo!"

Granny knit puzzled brows. "For—canning?" she asked dubiously.

Pepper emitted a jovious hoot. "Canning is good! And you're the one that's going to 'can' 'em!"

She slipped to a hassock at

PEPPER PUTS ONE OVER

by Lillian Taft Maize

hundred dollars! Five hundred big round dollars!"

Five hundred dollars! Granny's lips moved soundlessly, framing the words. They would give all that money to an old woman, just to get even with a girl!

"Why, that ain't right!" Granny said flatly. "It ain't fair!"

your proposition, gentlemen," she said formally, "and she's willin' to act as your candidate. Ain't you, Mrs. Bush?"

Granny stared helplessly at them. She wanted to say she wouldn't do it, but how could she, with Pepper's beguiling, threatening eyes upon her? "Y-yes!" she quavered.

THE instant the word was spoken, Pepper whirled out to the porch, closing the door upon herself and her accomplices. The window was open and Granny could hear their voices. Once Pepper popped her head in to ask for Granny's full

Pepper shook her head. "I'm afraid to let you. I've been thinkin' about it all afternoon, and I got cold feet myself. No tellin' what'll happen, and I'm not goin' to take any chances with you, Granny. But you're goin' to get that prize, just the same, believe me! I've got one grand and glorious idea, and it's goin' to work!"

Granny didn't understand about the cold feet or the glorious idea, but she did understand that she was not to get up and dress in the wide-skirted old black silk gown, the tiny, head-trimmed bonnet and the black mitts that Pepper had carefully

men started a chant. It had a marching rhythm, and each phrase ended with an explosive burst of sound that soon provoked the amusement of the fun-loving element. They joined in the chant with a vim.

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!" they roared.

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush! Bess a leena!"

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush!"

"We want to see Bessalena!"

And then she was before them, hobbling across the stage on the arm of the mayor, looking down and never dreamin' that they were bringin' about a miracle that an old, old woman had been prayin' for, day and night. She was pretty near to the end o' the road—no money, no friends, not goin' to be able to work much longer. And then these big children, havin' their joke, opened to her the door of a home where there's peace and rest for tired old women. Maybe she should have said 'No' when they asked her to play their game with them; maybe it wasn't right to let them go on with their joke. And I want you to tell me what you really think. Was it fair? Was it honest? Should she let 'em open that door?"

It sounded like one big voice, that hearty "Yes!" that followed her question.

She was holding out her hands to them. "Oh, I thank you with all my heart!" they heard her say as they quieted. "You've crowned my last years with your friendship, and I thank you—I bless you!"

The trembling hands fell at her sides and she turned slowly away. But the mayor detained her and again checked the applause. Someone had remembered, he said, that Mrs. Bush used to have a very fine voice, and they wanted him to ask her if she wouldn't sing one of the old songs.

As she hesitated, they loudly encouraged her. And at last she came back to them. She did want to do something for them, she said, and though she didn't have much of a voice any more, she'd do the best she could, and maybe they'd be good enough to help her on the chorus.

They were delighted to help her. Lustily they swung into the chorus, and were so pleased with the effect that they would not let her stop when she made her first bobbing courtesy. They wanted another song, and another. It was not until the Mayor interposed, reminding them that they must not overtax her strength, that they allowed her to go. And as she hobbled away, waving the hand that held the check, hearty cheers surged across the footlights for Bessalena Butterfield Bush.

IT was long past midnight, but Granny was sitting bolt upright in her bed, a pink bank check in her hand, her eyes going alternately from it to Pepper, who was standing before the glass smearing her face with cream. It had given Granny a real turn to see someone that looked like herself walking into her room.

Most incredible of all was the story Pepper had told, of impersonating Granny before that big audience, telling them some of the stories Granny had told Pepper, reminding them of bygone days, awakening old memories, so that some of them were coming up to shake hands with her.

"But I lit out before they got to me!" Pepper said gleefully, between wipes.

"They were coming up — to shake hands—with me?" Granny breathlessly asked.

"In droves!" Pepper said. She was crying, her knotted hands over her face, her body racked with sobs. Seemed as if she couldn't stop, once she had started, until her heart's burden of loneliness and fear had been wept away. And Pepper understood. She just put her strong arms around Granny and held her tight, let her have her cry out, then began to tell about some good luck she had had, herself.

"Just think, Granny," she crowed, "this masquerade stuff put me next to the very idea I've been searchin' for all summer. I've been tryin' to dope out a better vaudeville act for next season, and I'll say I was gettin' the heebies over it because there wasn't one glimmer in th' old dome. But I've got it now! And it's sure goin' to be a winner. Course I'll have an entirely different patter, but I can use a bunch of the same old songs, and—"

"Songs!" Granny echoed faintly. "Did you—did I—sing?"

"I'll say you did! I had it all fixed up with one of the boys to suggest it to the mayor, and it certainly made a hit!"

Granny swallowed hard. "What—kind of songs—did you—did I sing?"

Pepper gathered up her jars and bottles, stuffed a white wig into the big box, crowded her close-fitting hat down over her flaming tatch of hair and came across the room with her airy swagger. But as she stood by the bedside, Granny saw, for an instant, a tender wistfulness in the big brown eyes.

"You needn't worry any about the songs," Pepper assured her. "They were real nice, lady-like songs — the dear old chestnuts that everybody loves."

Granny gave a sigh of relief. "You see," Pepper said softly, "I had a dear Granny — once. They were her songs — that I sang." She stooped and brushed Granny's cheek with her lips, then dashed to the door. "So long!" she called.

The door closed with a bang. Granny sat for a long time, treasuring the sweetness of the girl's caress. When she looked again at the check, it was through happy tears.

Above the strip of paper, with its promise of freedom from fear, of rest for wearied hands, "the most popular girl in the town of Lorendo" bowed her grateful head.

(Copyright 1932, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

"But I lit out before they got to me!" Pepper said gleefully, between wipes.

name. She could hear them spelling it out; Bessalena Butterfield Bush. And then Pepper's voice again, talking the slang jargon that was almost like a foreign language.

"Can't you put it over without havin' her come into the spotlight?" she was demanding.

"Aw, gee! They want to see the winner, don't they?"

"You remember what I said! She's old, and she ain't goin' down there to be gazed! If there's any chance of any rough stuff bein' pulled, I want to know it now!"

"Aw, there won't be anything like that! All she's gotta do is walk on, take her check and walk off again if she don't want to stay."

"She don't!" Pepper said crisply. "And you see to it that she gets off quick, before somebody starts something!"

There was a chorus of "Aws" and "Sures," much shuffling of feet, the click of the gate—and Pepper was back in the room, running over to Granny, hugging her excitedly.

"I knew you'd do it!" she exclaimed. "I knew you'd be a good sport!"

Granny was clasping and unclasping her trembling hands. "I can't do it, child!" she whimpered. "Face all those people. All those eyes starin' at me! I just can't!"

"You can, Granny!" Pepper said firmly. "You're goin' to lie down now and have a long nap. When you wake up, I'll have a nice supper ready for you, and then I'll help you dress."

The girl's strong arm was around her, lifting her out of her chair. The girl's strong will was carrying her on resistlessly.

Granny made one more plea. "I haven't got a thing to wear! All my clothes are as old-fashioned as the hills."

PEPPER chuckled. "Don't let that worry you any! I wouldn't let you wear new clothes if you had 'em!"

Tucked neatly into her bed, the shades of her little room drawn and the door closed, Granny was supposed to drop off at once into a restful sleep. But for a long time her eyes were wide open, her white head shaking a ceaseless negative on the pillow, as she visualized the fantastic thing they expected her to do. "I can't!" she was murmuring, when sleep at last overcame her. "I just can't!"

They were the first words she spoke when she awakened, and Pepper, standing at the bedside looking down at her, nodded soothingly. "All right, Granny," she agreed. "You needn't!"

Granny gasped. "You — you mean—I don't have to do it?" she asked. "You're not going to—make me—get up on—that stage?"

They were the first words she spoke when she awakened, and Pepper, standing at the bedside looking down at her, nodded soothingly. "All right, Granny," she agreed. "You needn't!"

Granny gasped. "You — you mean—I don't have to do it?" she asked. "You're not going to—make me—get up on—that stage?"

"I've told Mrs. Bush about laid across a chair. She sat up in bed and thankfully ate the good soup that Pepper brought her, and then, tired out from so much excitement, was ready to go to sleep again almost immediately.

She roused once or twice to smile at Pepper, who was busy with a large box that she had opened on the dresser. She was dabbing something on her face from a jar that she'd taken out of the box. A later squint, from one sleepy eye, showed that she was still busy. She'd put on Granny's dress and bonnet and spectacles, and was drawing the silk mitts on. Queer that just putting on Granny's clothes should make the child look old. Seemed as if her hair was white instead of red under the little bonnet.

The old lady in the mirror turned and looked long and searchingly at the old lady in the four-post bed, then back at her own reflection. "I'm good!" she said in a low, ecstatic tone. "Ye gods, but I'm good!"

"Of course you are!" murmured Granny. "You're a real good girl!"

The old lady in the mirror floated away. The bedroom door opened and closed softly. A moment later the gate-latch clicked.

EVERY seat in the open-air theater was filled, every foot of ground that afforded a view of the stage was close-packed by an excited, chattering throng. They swayed and craned their necks to locate the candidates, who were seated in a flower-canopied box.

The applause was tremendous as the mayor came forward and beamed upon them all. In his hand he carried an envelope with an important-looking red seal. This envelope contained, he stated, the name of the winner of the popularity contest, the name certified by the counters of the votes, a committee of prominent business men. This name he would now read.

The silence was profound as the mayoral penknife was searched for, found and applied to the envelope. From it the mayor took a sheet of paper and a pink bank check. He cleared his throat.

"It is my great privilege," he said sonorously, "to inform you that the prize of five hundred dollars, presented by the Lorendo Merchants' Association to our most popular girl, has been won by—"

He squinted at the check, adjusted his glasses, squinted again, slowly read the name:

"Bessalena Butterfield Bush."

A gasping sound greeted the announcement, followed by a loud buzz as everybody began to talk and to question. Down near the stage a group of young

THERE was a moment of tense silence. Then the house seethed with excitement. Voices were questioning, voices demanding to know what right they had to enter an old woman in a contest for the most popular girl. There were a few shrill cat-calls and derisive hoots.

The mayor, so flustered that he made no attempt to bring them to order, had silently handed the pink check to the old woman. From behind the scenes someone was frantically beckoning her to come off, but she did not heed the summons. She stood quietly looking at the audience, then raised her hand and in the gesture was a simple dignity before which the questionings ceased and the chant broke off abruptly.

"I am going to tell you two little stories," she said, "and then I am going to ask you a question, and I want you to tell me what you really think."

"I've sort o' slipped out of things of late, livin' out on the Old Ferry Road that's so rutty nobody ever drives that way any more. I'm so old that all the folks that were my friends are dead and gone, and the younger ones have just about forgotten me, I guess. But there's some that remember my husband, Nathan Bush, when he was a young merchant with a name for square dealin', and our daughter Evelyn, and our grandson Alan, who went away to the war with the other boys—and never came back."

One story is about Alan when he was a little bit of a fellow, just startin' in to school; so full of spirits he couldn't sit still, and always playin' some pranks like boys do. One day he played a joke on a man that lived in a big house near the school, a queer man with a black scowl for children. And little Alan was all ready to streak it, fast as he could go, when he pointed to the smoke comin' out of the chimney that day and yelled: 'Mister! Your house is on fire!'

"But the man didn't chase Alan. He turned and ran across the meadow to his house and up to the room where his young invalid wife lay in her bed, and brought her out safely in his arms. Because the house was on fire! And the child's joke saved that woman's life."

The old woman paused, and the audience waited, motionless, quiet.

THE other story is about another joke," she went on after a moment. "This joke was played by bigger children who were thinkin' only of their game,

FR

A & Root

One

with every Se chased during
of April.

Reme

all our 26 e
well paid and is required or

FR

A & W RO

One Free With 1
Purchased TAll employees have cater. All dishes
ing utensils are
have the most mo
sandwich shop in our kitchen and i vined. All food served by white lA & MAL'
MIL

10

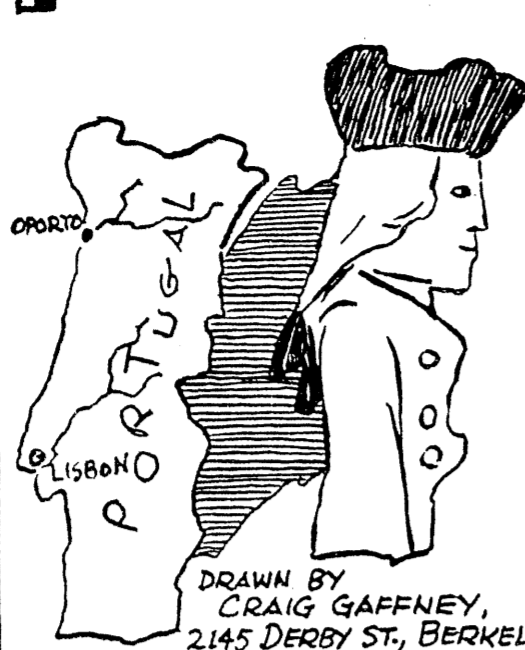

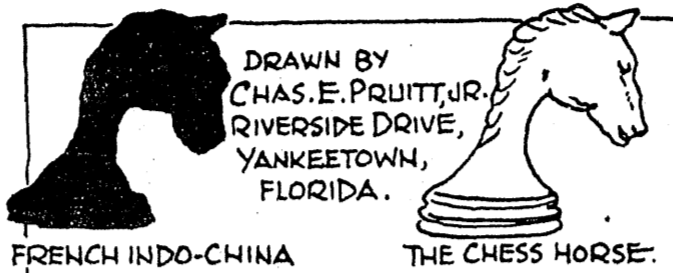

Why Pay

Try our PROSPE
Orange Juice - H
Two Eggs - Butte
Grits - Coffee, T
Hot Chocolate on
Beer - Served 28
DailyAlam
CoffServed with Cream. TryA &
Sandwic

L. W. ALLE

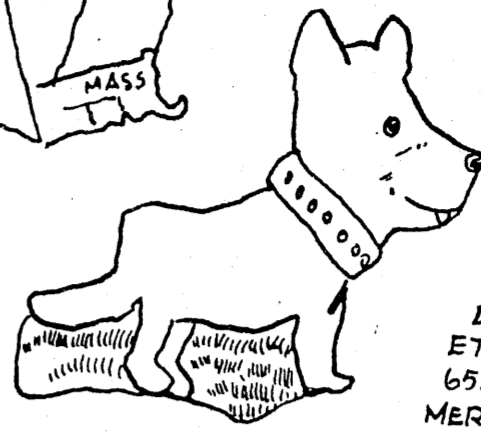

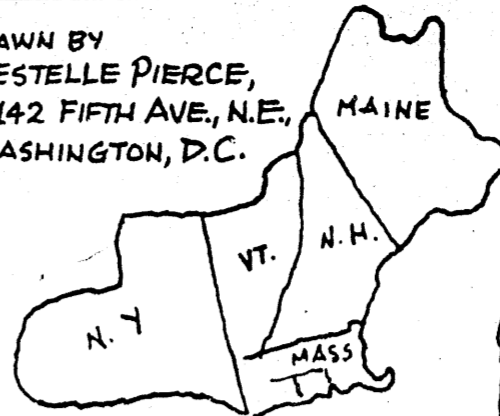

Follow the crowd
know why we
place in town.

PICTURES IN THE MAP.

DRAWN BY CRAIG GAFFNEY,
2145 DERBY ST., BERKELEY, CALIF.DRAWN BY ALBERT APPEL, JR.,
510 W. ELEANOR ST., PHILADELPHIA.DRAWN BY
CHAS. E. PRUITT, JR.,
RIVERSIDE DRIVE,
YANKEETOWN,
FLORIDA.

FRENCH INDO-CHINA

THE CHESS HORSE.

DRAWN BY ESTELLE PIERCE,
1142 FIFTH AVE., N.E.,
WASHINGTON, D.C.DRAWN BY ETHEL SMYTH,
6530 ROGERS AVE.,
MERCHANTVILLE, N.J.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Origin Of European Languages

By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN THE TIME OF THE ROMANS WESTERN EUROPE WAS PEOPLED BY TRIBES OF GERMANIC "BARBARIANS." AMONG THESE TRIBES WERE TO BE FOUND MANY LANGUAGES, NONE OF WHICH HAD BEEN PUT INTO WRITING.

WHEN THE LEGIONS OF JULIUS CAESAR AND HIS SUCCESSORS HAD ADDED A LARGE PART OF EUROPE TO THE DOMINIONS OF ROME, LATIN, THE LANGUAGE OF THE CONQUERORS, BECAME THE OFFICIAL LANGUAGE IN THE CAPTURED TERRITORY.

CONTACT WITH THE ROMANS ADDED MANY LATIN WORDS TO THE TONGUES OF THE CONQUERED NATIONS. FROM THIS MELTING POT OF LANGUAGES EMERGED FRENCH, SPANISH, ITALIAN AND PORTUGUESE.

THE NORDIC TRIBES OUTSIDE THE EMPIRE CONTINUED TO SPEAK THEIR OWN DIALECTS, FROM WHICH IN TIME DEVELOPED MODERN GERMAN, ENGLISH, DUTCH, SWEDISH, DANISH, NORWEGIAN AND ICELANDIC.

AFTER THE ROMAN EMPIRE COLLAPSED LATIN REMAINED THE LANGUAGE OF THE CHURCH. MONKS AND PRIESTS IN EVERY LAND WERE TAUGHT LATIN AND ALL THE SERVICES WERE CONDUCTED IN THAT TONGUE.

THIS WIDESPREAD USE OF LATIN PROVED OF GREAT VALUE DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

IF, FOR EXAMPLE, A GERMAN WISHED TO COMMUNICATE WITH A FRIEND IN SWEDEN, HE WOULD DICTATE THE MESSAGE IN GERMAN TO A MONK, WHO PROCEEDED TO WRITE THE LETTER IN LATIN.

ON RECEIVING THE LETTER, THE SWEDISH WOULD TAKE IT TO A PRIEST AND HAVE HIM TRANSLATE THE MESSAGE FROM LATIN INTO SWEDISH.

THUS WE SEE THAT LATIN WAS A VALUABLE INSTRUMENT OF COMMUNICATION IN A DAY WHEN FEW MEN OUTSIDE OF THE CLERGY COULD READ OR WRITE.

ULFILAS, A CHRISTIAN BISHOP WHO LIVED IN THE 4TH CENTURY WAS THE FIRST TO PUT A "BARBARIAN" LANGUAGE INTO WRITING.

ULFILAS SET OUT TO CONVERT THE PAGAN GOTH TO CHRISTIANITY. HE FELT THAT HIS WORK WOULD BE FACILITATED IF HE COULD TRANSLATE PARTS OF THE BIBLE INTO THE GOTHIC TONGUE.

THE GOTH HAD NO WRITING, BUT ULFILAS DEvised A SYSTEM BY USING COMBINATIONS OF LATIN LETTERS TO REPRESENT THE VARIOUS SOUNDS OF SPOKEN GOTHIC.

AFTER THIS WAS DONE, HE TRANSLATED THE SCRIPTURES INTO THE NEW WRITING AND TAUGHT MANY OF THE GOTH TO READ IT.

©, 1932, BY J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

By THE 9TH CENTURY THE NATIONS OF WESTERN EUROPE FELT THE GROWING NEED OF PUTTING THEIR FAMILIAR EVERYDAY SPEECH INTO WRITING.

CHARLEMAGNE RECOMMENDED THE USE OF THE POPULAR LANGUAGE INSTEAD OF LATIN, BUT WRITTEN FRANKISH, OR FRENCH, WAS NOT WIDELY USED UNTIL SEVERAL CENTURIES LATER.

WRITTEN GERMAN ALSO DATES FROM CHARLEMAGNE'S TIME. BEFORE THAT TIME THE GERMANS DEPENDED UPON ORAL TRADITION.

LONG POEMS RECOUNTING THE GREAT DEEDS OF THEIR NATIONAL HEROES HAD BEEN COMMITTED TO MEMORY AND PASSED ON FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION BY WORD OF MOUTH.

MODERN ENGLISH IS THE DAUGHTER OF ANGLO-SAXON, THE LANGUAGE BROUGHT TO BRITAIN BY INVADING GERMAN TRIBES IN THE 5TH CENTURY. ANGLO-SAXON LOOKS LIKE A FOREIGN LANGUAGE TO US NOW, ALTHOUGH MANY OF THE WORDS SEEM FAMILIAR.

ANGLO-SAXON	ENGLISH
CU	= COW
BAERLIC	= BARLEY
DRINC	= DRINK
HORS	= HORSE
HAT	= HOT
MODOR	= MOTHER
NOSU	= NOSE
EALD	= OLD
MARE	= MORE
ATH	= OATH
CLAEFRE	= CLOVER
AERLICE	= EARLY
BRIDD	= BIRD
DOCGA	= DOG

AFTER THE NORMANS CONQUERED ENGLAND IN THE 11TH CENTURY THEIR LANGUAGE, NORMAN-FRENCH, GRADUALLY MERGED WITH ANGLO-SAXON TO FORM ENGLISH.

HERE IS A SAMPLE OF ENGLISH AS IT WAS WRITTEN IN THE 16TH CENTURY.

"THE NORTHERNE PAIRTS OF SCOTLAND ARE FULL OF MONTANES, AND VERIE RUDE AND HOMLIE KYND OF PEOPLE DOETH INHABITE, WHICH IS CALLED REID-SCHANKIS (REDSHANKS), OR WYLD SCOTTIS. THEY BE CLOATHED WITH ANE MANTLE, WITH ANE SCHIRT FASHIONED AFTER THE IRISCH MANER, GOING BAIR LEGGED TO THE KNIE. ALL SPEIK IRISCH, FEIDING VPOUN FISCHES, MILK, CHEISE AND FLESCHES, AND HAVING GREAT NUMBERIS OF CATTELL."

PICTURES IN THE MAP.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Origin Of European Languages

By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN THE TIME OF THE ROMANS WESTERN EUROPE WAS PEOPLED BY TRIBES OF GERMANIC "BARBARIANS". AMONG THESE TRIBES WERE TO BE FOUND MANY LANGUAGES, NONE OF WHICH HAD BEEN PUT INTO WRITING.

WHEN THE LEGIONS OF JULIUS CAESAR AND HIS SUCCESSORS HAD ADDED A LARGE PART OF EUROPE TO THE DOMINIONS OF ROME, LATIN, THE LANGUAGE OF THE CONQUERORS, BECAME THE OFFICIAL LANGUAGE IN THE CAPTURED TERRITORY.

CONTACT WITH THE ROMANS ADDED MANY LATIN WORDS TO THE TONGUES OF THE CONQUERED NATIONS. FROM THIS MELTING POT OF LANGUAGES EMERGED FRENCH, SPANISH, ITALIAN AND PORTUGUESE.

THE NORDIC TRIBES OUTSIDE THE EMPIRE CONTINUED TO SPEAK THEIR OWN DIALECTS, FROM WHICH IN TIME DEVELOPED MODERN GERMAN, ENGLISH, DUTCH, SWEDISH, DANISH, NORWEGIAN AND ICELANDIC.

AFTER THE ROMAN EMPIRE COLLAPSED LATIN REMAINED THE LANGUAGE OF THE CHURCH. MONKS AND PRIESTS IN EVERY LAND WERE TAUGHT LATIN AND ALL THE SERVICES WERE CONDUCTED IN THAT TONGUE.

THIS WIDESPREAD USE OF LATIN PROVED OF GREAT VALUE DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

IF, FOR EXAMPLE, A GERMAN WISHED TO COMMUNICATE WITH A FRIEND IN SWEDEN, HE WOULD DICTATE THE MESSAGE IN GERMAN TO A MONK, WHO PROCEEDED TO WRITE THE LETTER IN LATIN.

ON RECEIVING THE LETTER, THE SWEDISH PRIEST WOULD TAKE IT TO A FRIEND AND HAVE HIM TRANSLATE THE MESSAGE FROM LATIN INTO SWEDISH.

THUS WE SEE THAT LATIN WAS A VALUABLE INSTRUMENT OF COMMUNICATION IN A DAY WHEN FEW MEN OUTSIDE OF THE CLERGY COULD READ OR WRITE.

ULFIAS, A CHRISTIAN BISHOP WHO LIVED IN THE 4TH CENTURY WAS THE FIRST TO PUT A "BARBARIAN" LANGUAGE INTO WRITING.

ULFIAS SET OUT TO CONVERT THE PAGAN GOTH TO CHRISTIANITY. HE FELT THAT HIS WORK WOULD BE FACILITATED IF HE COULD TRANSLATE PARTS OF THE BIBLE INTO THE GOTHIC TONGUE.

THE GOTH HAD NO WRITING, BUT ULFIAS DEvised A SYSTEM BY USING COMBINATIONS OF LATIN LETTERS TO REPRESENT THE VARIOUS SOUNDS OF SPOKEN GOTHIC.

AFTER THIS WAS DONE, HE TRANSLATED THE SCRIPTURES INTO THE NEW WRITING AND TAUGHT MANY OF THE GOTH TO READ IT.

BY THE 9TH CENTURY THE NATIONS OF WESTERN EUROPE FELT THE GROWING NEED OF PUTTING THEIR FAMILIAR EVERYDAY SPEECH INTO WRITING.

CHARLEMAGNE RECOMMENDED THE USE OF THE POPULAR LANGUAGE INSTEAD OF LATIN, BUT WRITTEN FRANKISH, OR FRENCH, WAS NOT WIDELY USED UNTIL SEVERAL CENTURIES LATER.

WRITTEN GERMAN ALSO DATES FROM CHARLEMAGNE'S TIME. BEFORE THAT TIME THE GERMANS DEPENDED UPON ORAL TRADITION.

LONG POEMS RECOUNTING THE GREAT DEEDS OF THEIR NATIONAL HEROES HAD BEEN COMMITTED TO MEMORY AND PASSED ON FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION BY WORD OF MOUTH.

MODERN ENGLISH IS THE DAUGHTER OF ANGLO-SAXON, THE LANGUAGE BROUGHT TO BRITAIN BY INVADING GERMAN TRIBES IN THE 5TH CENTURY. ANGLO-SAXON LOOKS LIKE A FOREIGN LANGUAGE TO US NOW, ALTHOUGH MANY OF THE WORDS SEEM FAMILIAR.

ANGLO-SAXON	ENGLISH
CU	= COW
BAERLIC	= BARLEY
DRINC	= DRINK
HORS	= HORSE
HAT	= HOT
MODOR	= MOTHER
NOSU	= NOSE
EALD	= OLD
MARE	= MORE
ATH	= OATH
CLAEFRE	= CLOVER
AERLICE	= EARLY
BRIDD	= BIRD
DOGA	= DOG

AFTER THE NORMANS CONQUERED ENGLAND IN THE 11TH CENTURY THEIR LANGUAGE, NORMAN-FRENCH, GRADUALLY MERGED WITH ANGLO-SAXON TO FORM ENGLISH.

HERE IS A SAMPLE OF ENGLISH AS IT WAS WRITTEN IN THE 16TH CENTURY.

"THE NORTHERNE PAIRTS OF SCOTLAND ARE FULL OF MONTANES, AND VERIE RUDE AND HOMLIE KYND OF PEOPLE DOETH INHABITE, WHICH IS CALLED REID-SCHANKIS (REDSHANKS), OR WYLD SCOTTIS. THEY BE CLOATHED WITH ANE MANTLE, WITH ANE SCHIRT FASHIONED AFTER THE IRISCH MANER, GOING BAIR LEGGED TO THE KNIE. ALL SPEIK IRISCH, FEIDING VPOUN FISCHES, MILK, CHEISE AND FLESCHES, AND HAVING GREAT NUMBERIS OF CATTELL."

FR
A & Root

One
with every Sa chased during
of April.

Reme
all our 26 e
well paid an is required or

FR

A & W RO

One Free With 1
Purchased T

All employees have ates. All dishes
ing utensils are
have the most mo
sandwich shop in our kitchen are vined. All food served by white

A & MAL'

MIL

10

Why Pay

Try our PROSPE
Orange Juice - H
Two Eggs - Butte
Grits - Coffee, T
Hot Chocolate or
Beer - Served 18
Daily

Alam
Coff

Served with Cream. Try

A & Sandwic

L. W. ALLE

Follow the crowd
know why we
place in town.

MOON MULLINS

by Frank Willard

KITTY HIGGINS

MOON-KEY

APRIL 24

COMIC TRADING
STAMP.

KAYO, AS OLD
KING GASPARILLA,
THE PIRATE BOLD.

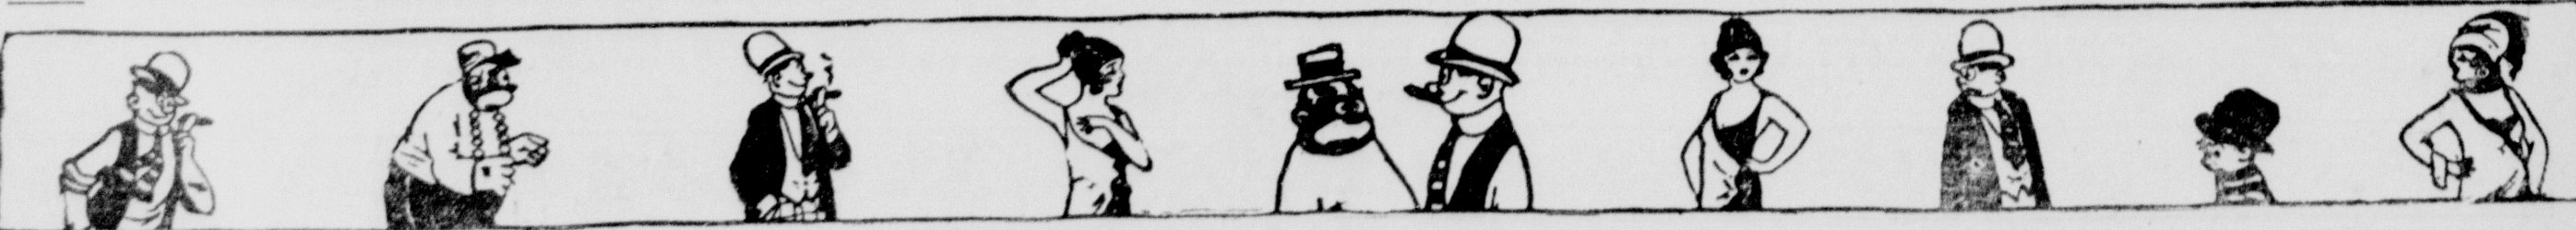

MOON MULLINS

by Frank Willard

KITTY HIGGINS MOON-KEY

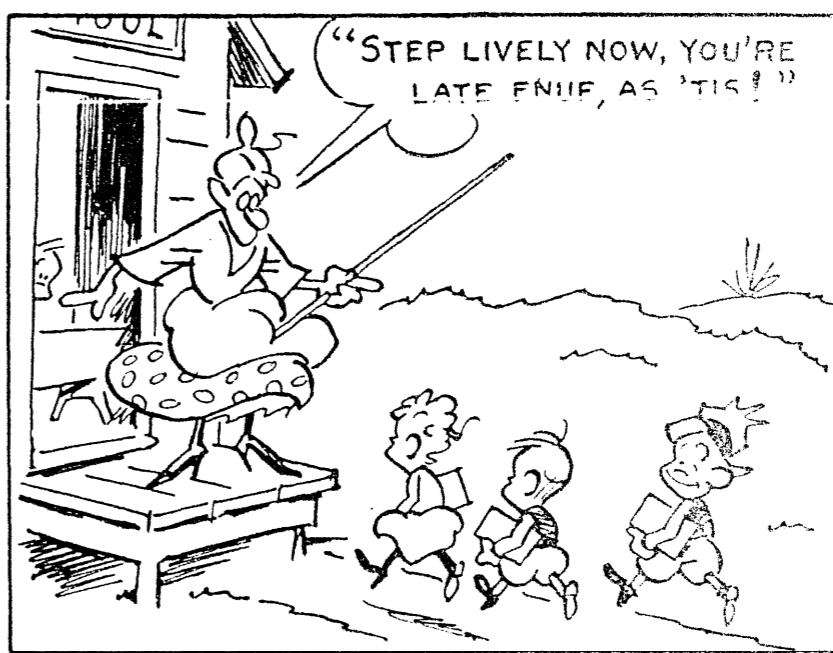

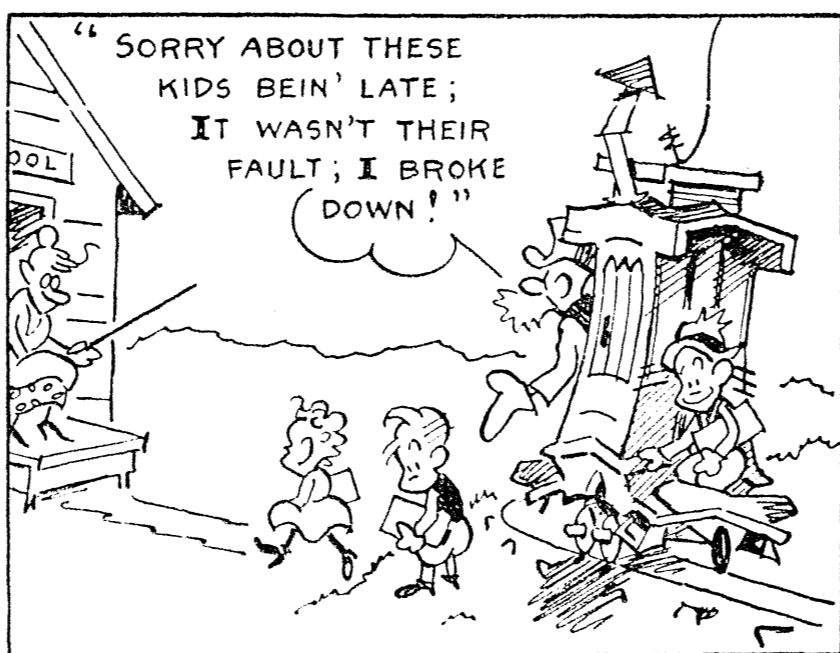

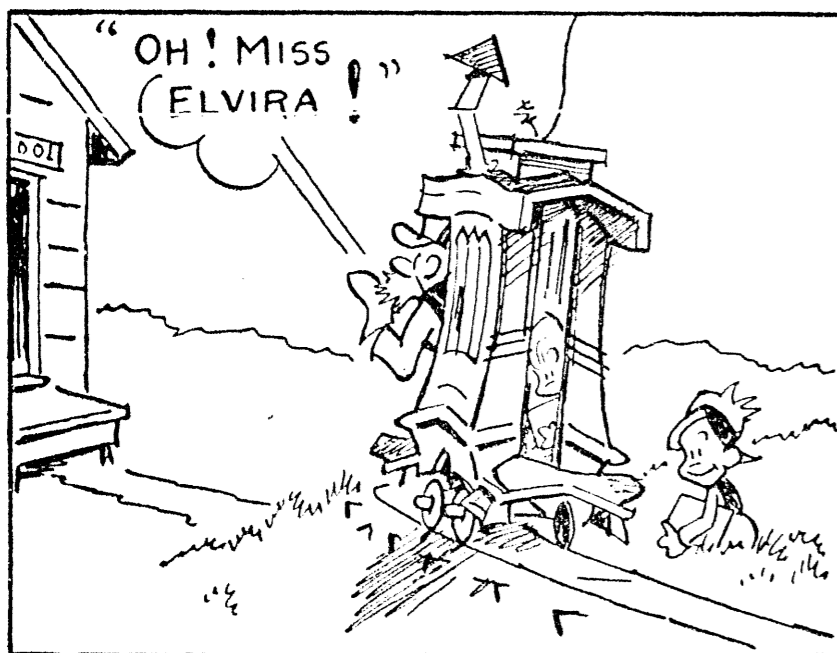

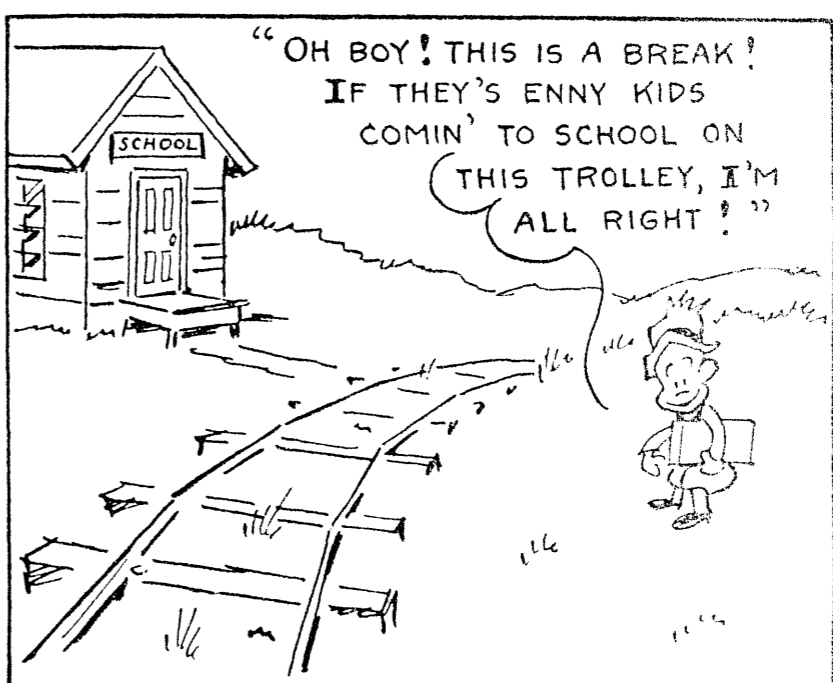

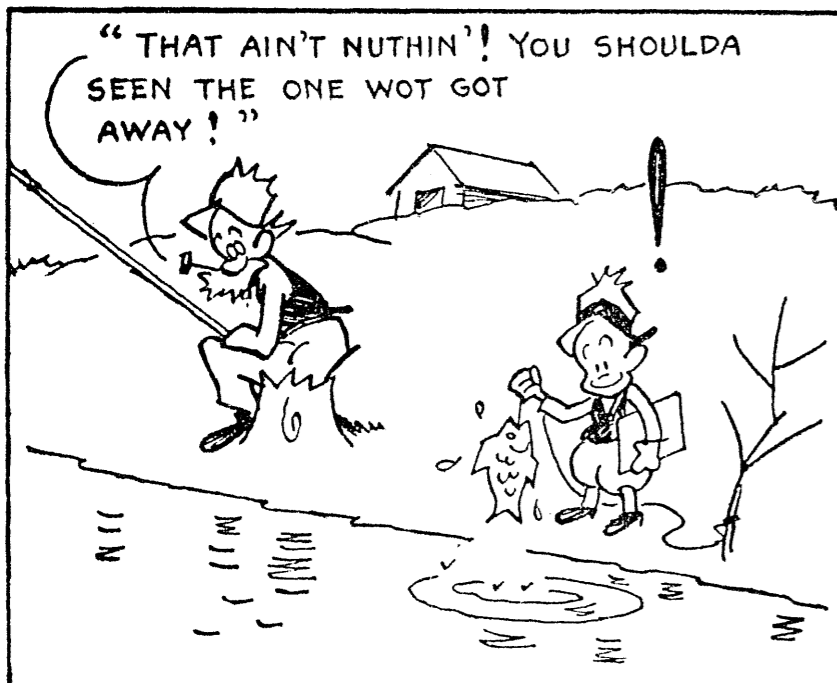

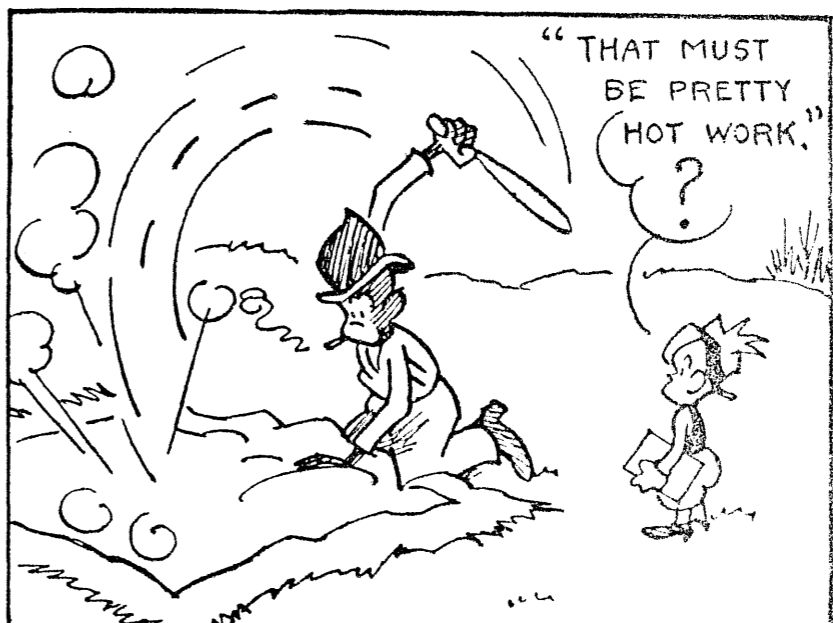

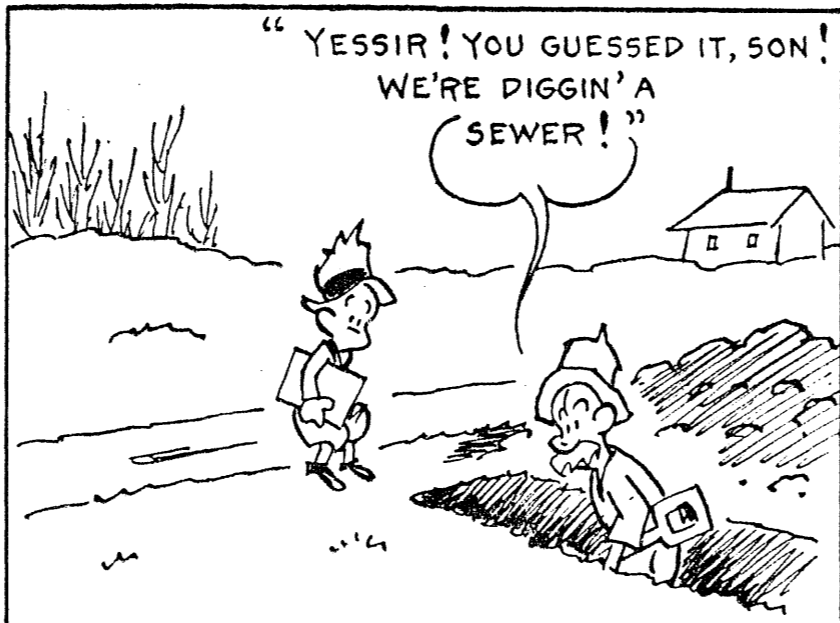

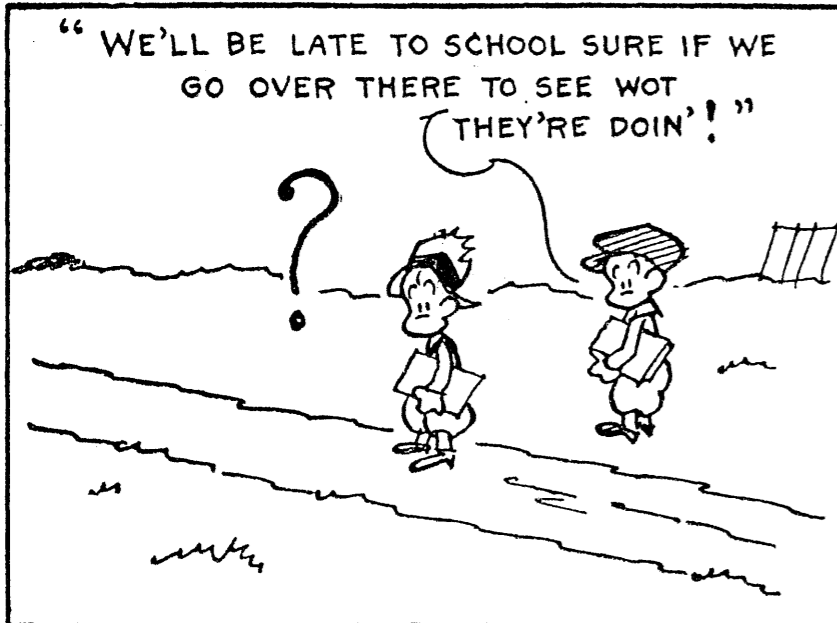

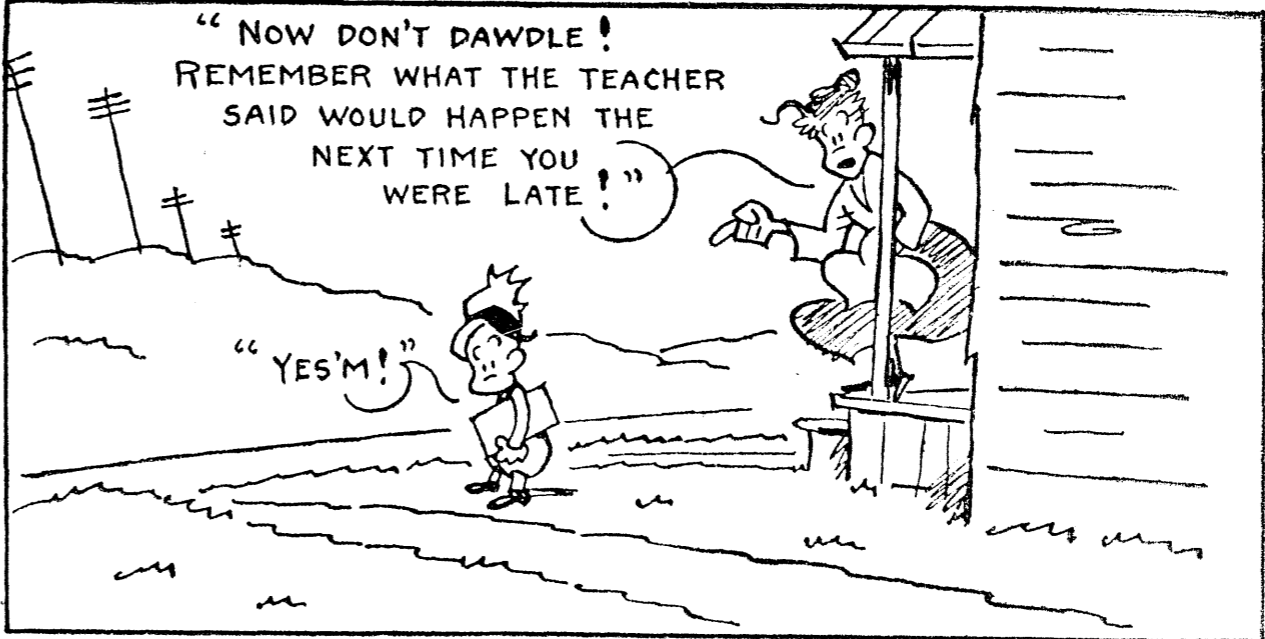

APRIL 24
COMIC TRADING
STAMP.

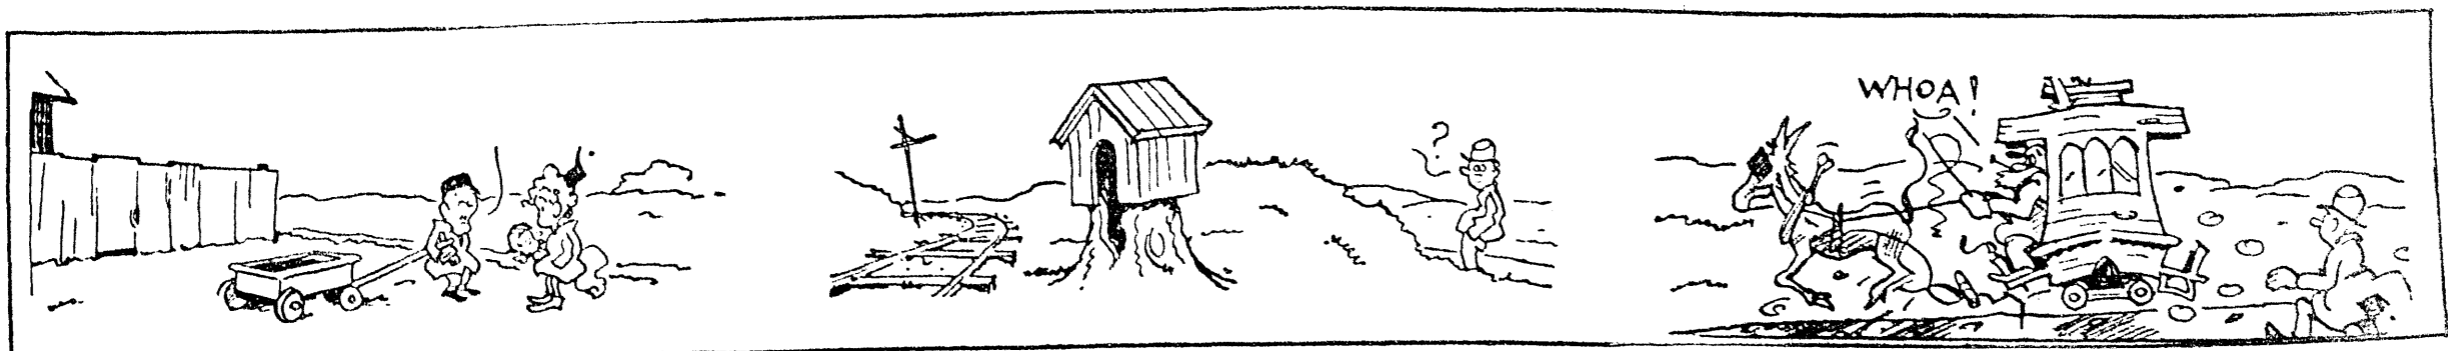

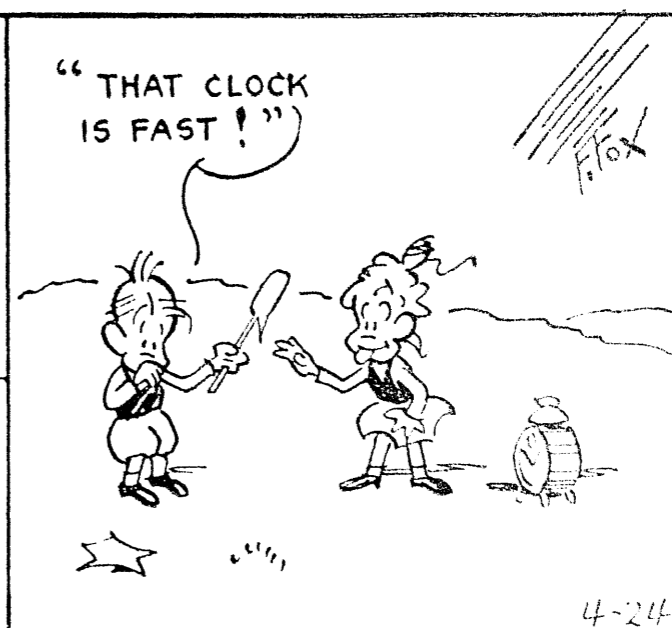

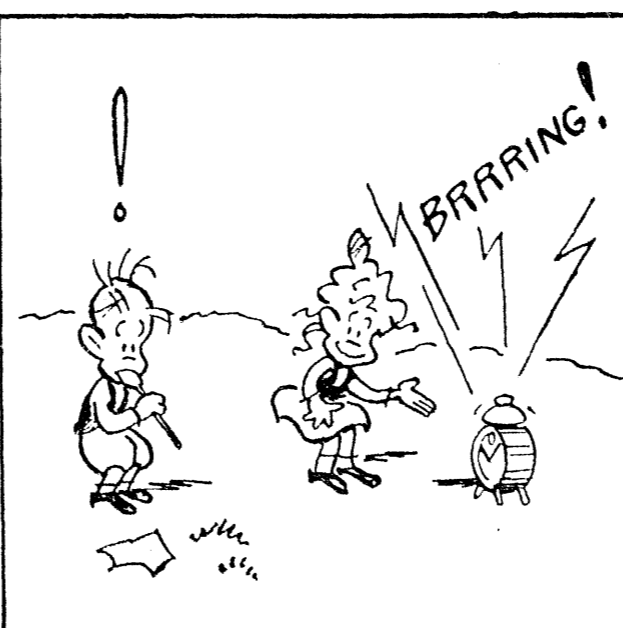

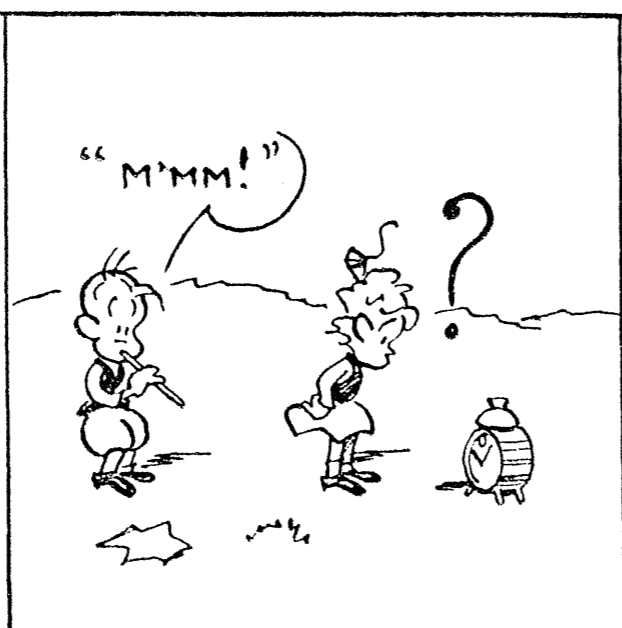

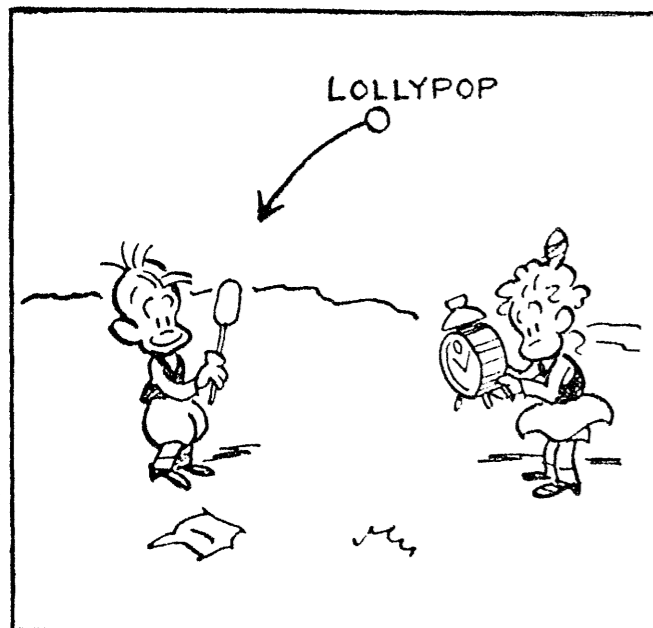

TOONERVILLE FOLKS

BY FONTAINE FOX

Copyright, 1932, by Fontaine Fox, Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
Great Britain Rights Reserved

LITTLE STANLEY

ATHER
cloudy, scattered heaviness, cool-
light; Tuesday part-moderate southerly
cloudy, colder toterly cloudy, colder

FIVE CENTS

EE

KILLED; SAID TO AD, HURT

ife Fatally Ina Roof Caves
n Her

S INJURED

oes Working
1 Also Are y Twister

n., April 23.—(P)—A
were killed, several ted dead and a score
jured by a tornado
the northern end of lay.

o. 63, a farm wife,
s hospital of injuries
a roof of her house aved in. Her hus-
working in the fields,
were three negroes
1. All were brought

t Harris, 63, of Mil-
when brought to a

, 23, who said she
n 200 pounds, told
picked up from the er home east of Mil-lying through the air
several hundred feet.

It must
ose wife was killed,
resembled a "black
th astonishing speed

said, "hit our house
oar. Then, with a
everything seemed to nd on top of me. I a few seconds."

helped on his farm ut of the wreckage
le, who died a short
ing the hospital.
le at first to estab-
with Rosemark,
ille and other com-
l in the path of the self, was not felt in the wind was high,

id rainstorm, accom-
truck here last night

was done,
on the outskirts of f which Memphis is are about nine miles to Moore and a crew

health department
e of the tornado, as ws and police of-

Rosemark merchant,

on Page Three)

IN AUTO IS DURING ND IN SOUTH

April 23.—(P)—Eight
ed in automobile acuth over the weekmishaps were com-
spite of summer
ught crowded high-

Florida each reported
there was one each
Kansas, Mississippi

automobile near Dest the life of Frank Bessemer, Ala., and Linden, Ala., was car collided with a ng of Fellsme, Fla., her automobile over-gurne and Hugh Hall

hipley, Fla., by an struck his bicycle.

was killed at Little a clash with a car
n who was fleeing arles L. Scott of as hit and killed by at failed to stop.

ello of New Orleans
hreveport, La., when quor laden automo-
Charles M. Tulley
y. Miss. was found
e after it hit a tele-htier Gotham

den Rogan. He patted waited for Stang to

ed. Rogan decided at say, that Stang was hoisted his hammer down in a sweeping
d ill to the Stangian

o sense calamity. He ow missed his head er of speaking hair;
a couple of hairs at

y "blackguard," he died to do me under,
with you." (In his
Stang invents an oc-

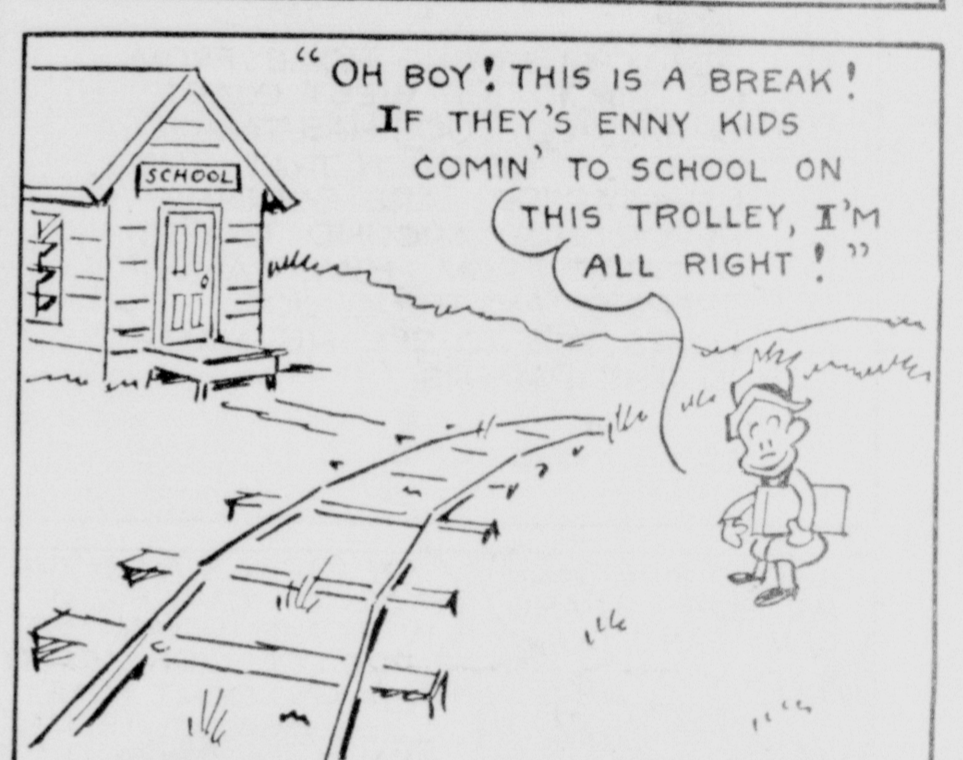

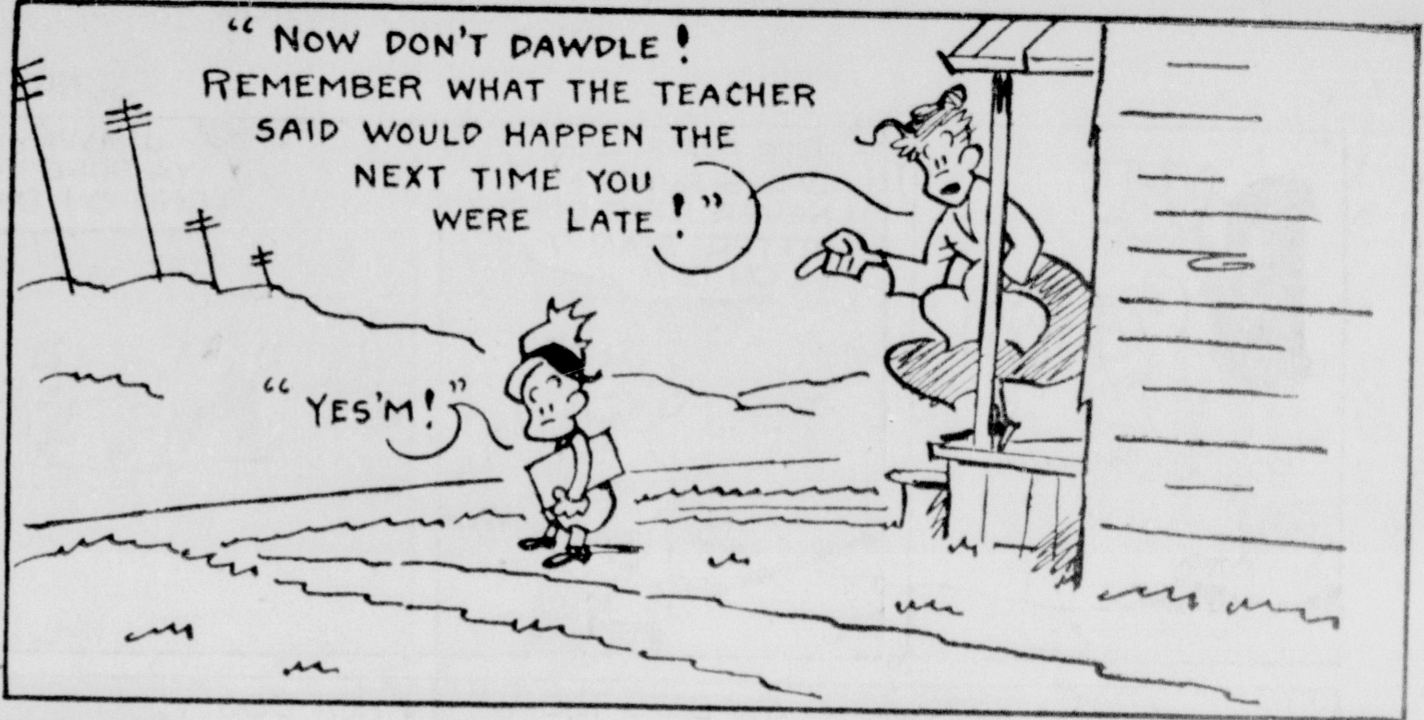

hand Stang caught
tle—and unlike Re-

on Page Three)

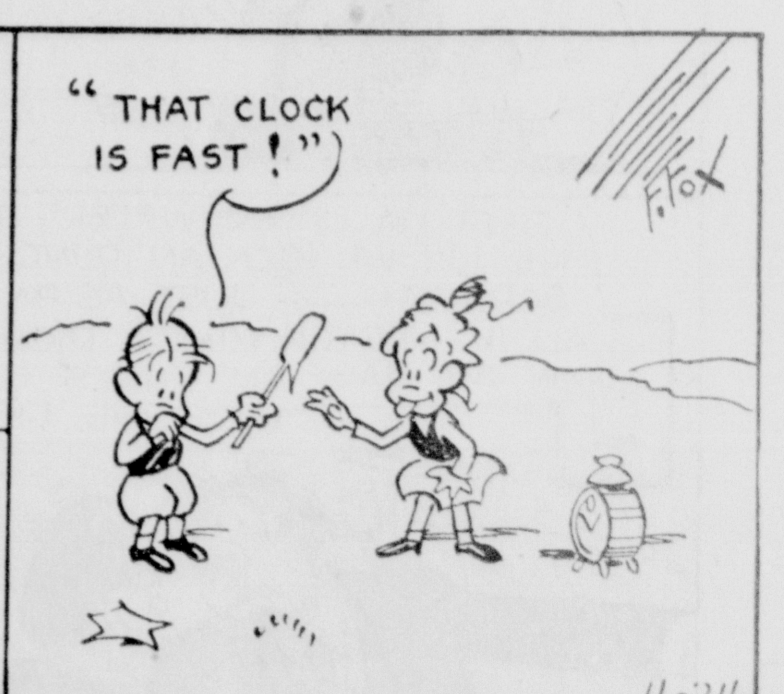

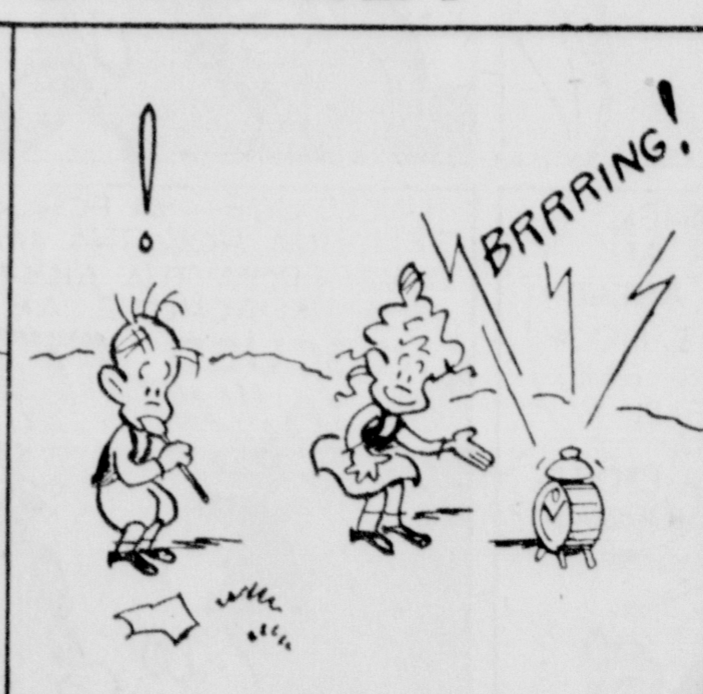

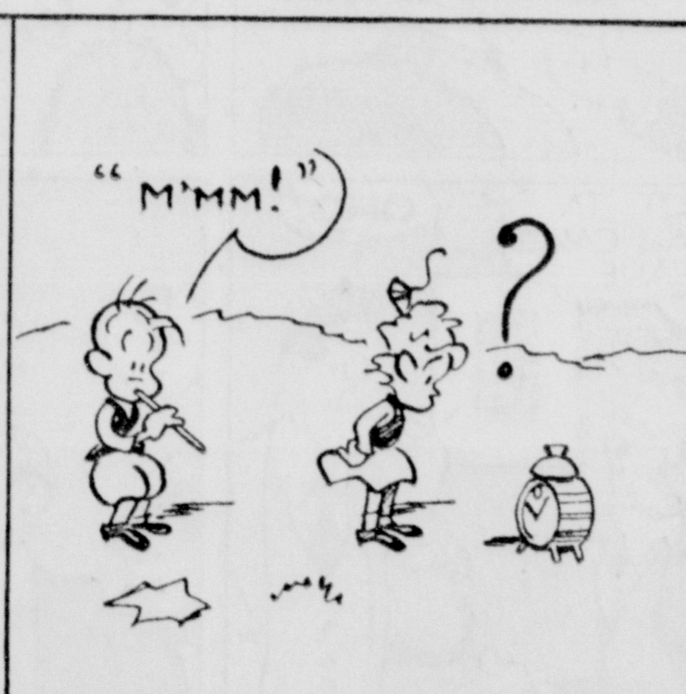

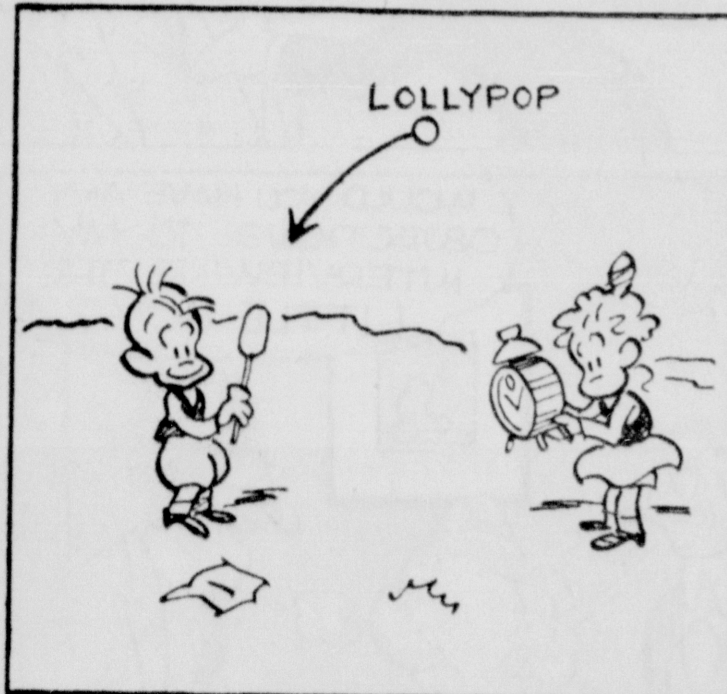

TOONERVILLE FOLKS

BY FONTAINE FOX

Copyright, 1932-33 by Fontaine Fox, Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
Great Britain Rights Reserved

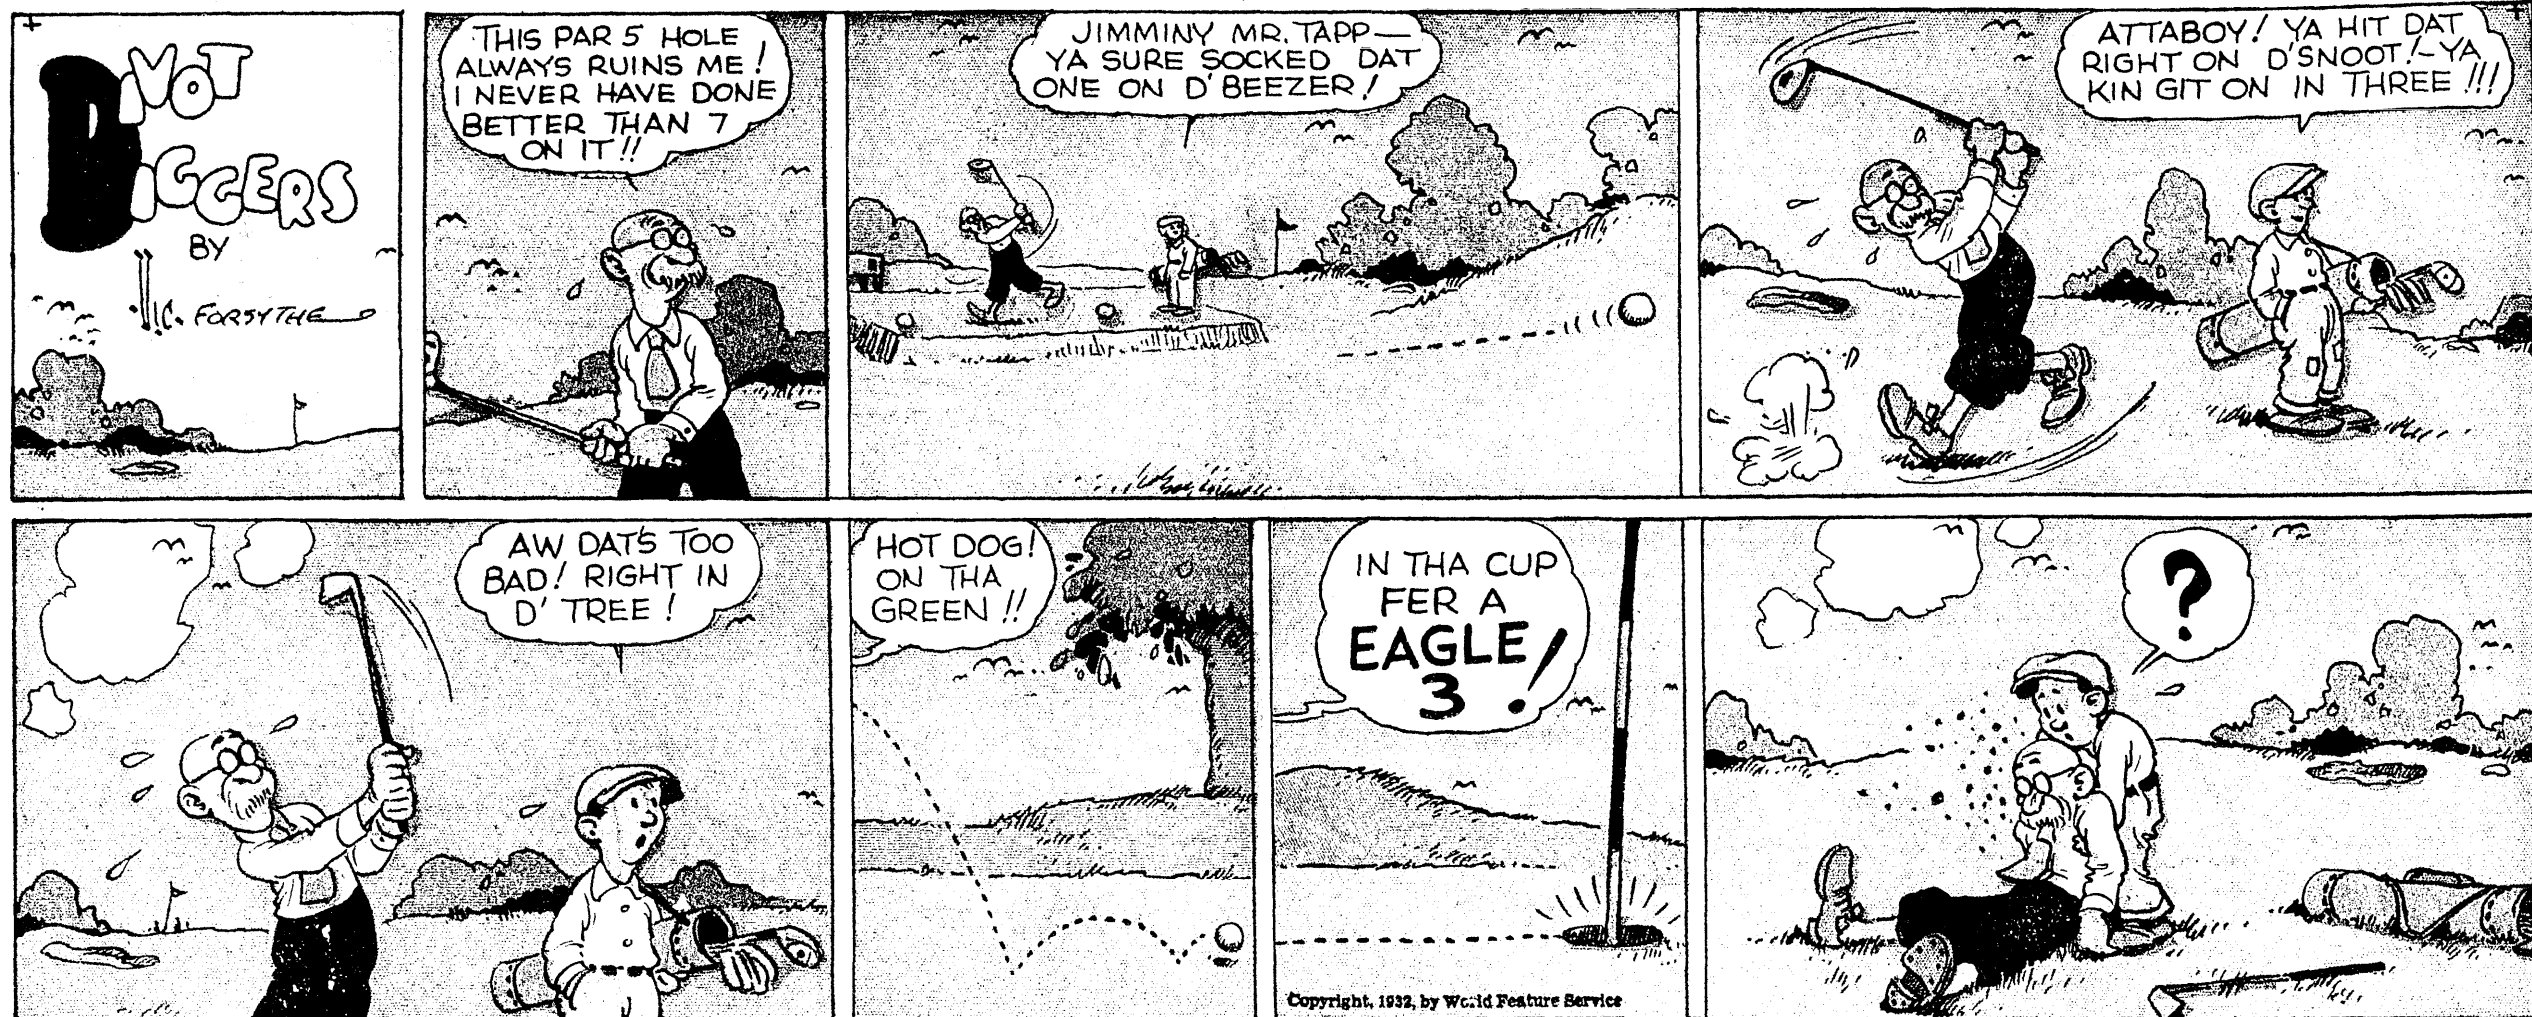

LITTLE STANLEY

4-24

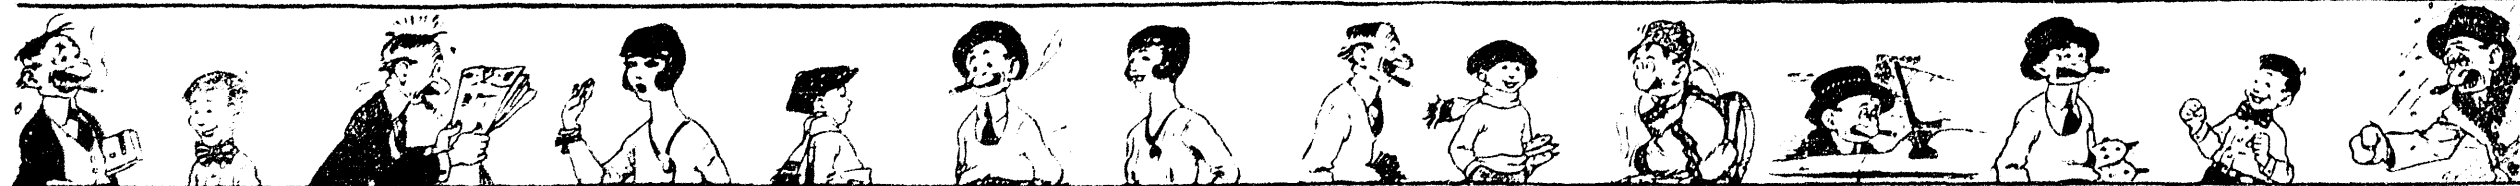

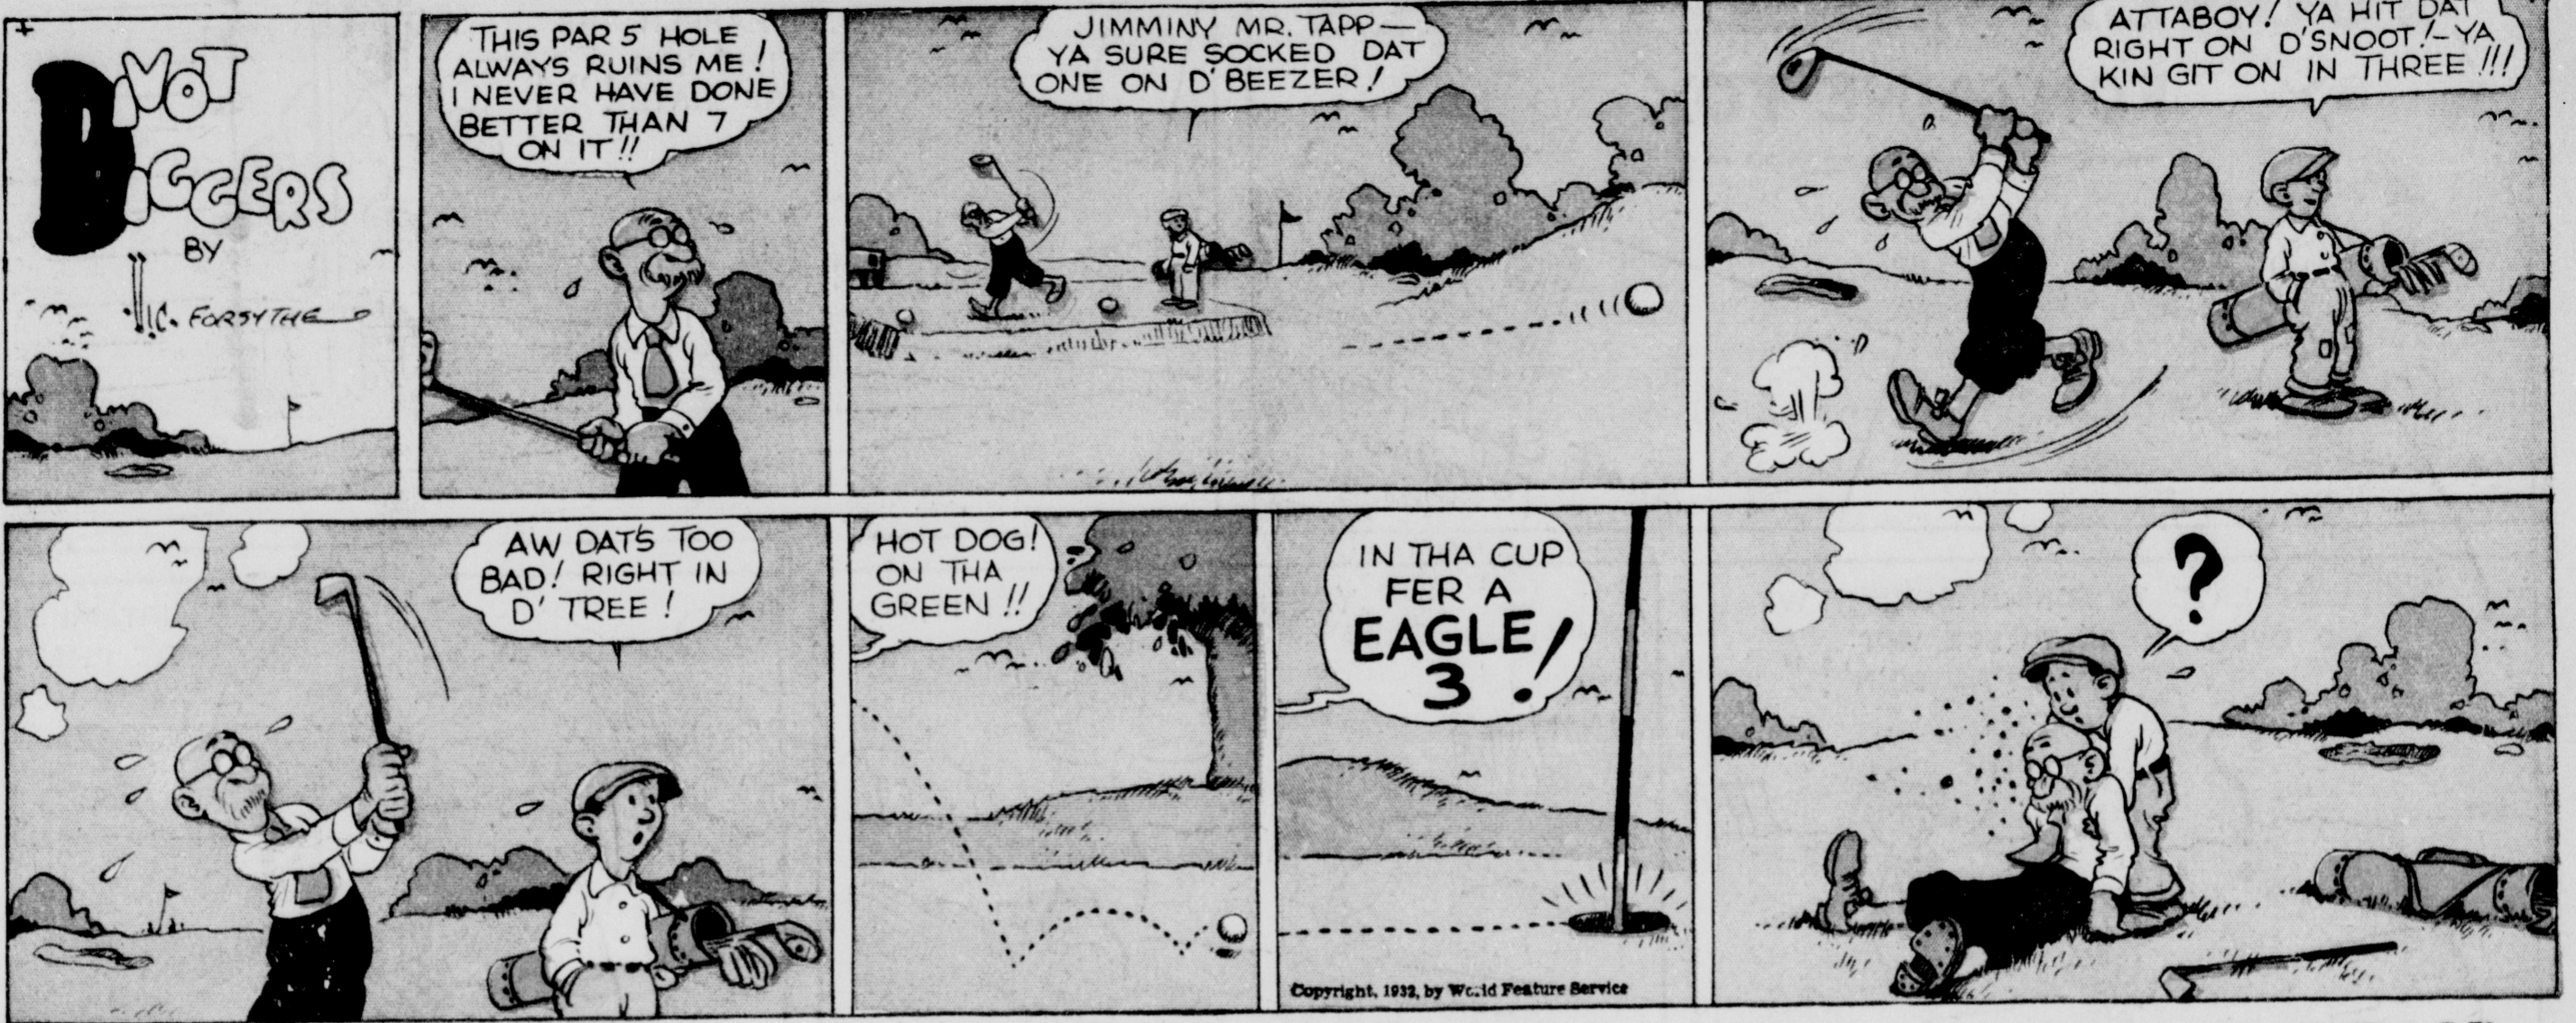

JOE JINKS

Trade Mark, 1932, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By Vic

JOE JINKS

Trade Mark, 1932, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By Vic

